PARIS, January 28. — Germany's reply to the recent note of the allied ambassadors, which was handed to Lord D'Abernon, the British ambassador, by Foreign Minister Stresemann in Berlin on Tuesday, again protests against the refusal of the allies to give immediately a bill of particulars on Germany's alleged violations of the disarmament clauses in the treaty of Versailles. It also reasserts that Germany has really disarmed and is fully entitled to the evacuation of the Cologne area.

The Berlin communication reviews the note of the Council of Ambassadors which was handed to Chancellor Luther on Monday and which declined to examine the question of the non-evacuation with Germany or to go into further details regarding the reasons for maintaining the allied forces in the Cologne zone. The German note then says that the allies have given "merely a formal reply which in no sense advances an affair of such grave significance to Germany and European reconciliation."

No Defence Allowed.

The Stresemann communication continues: "The allied governments continue to keep the German government as well as public opinion in ignorance of the material facts on which they seek to base the decisions they took several weeks ago. The German people again find themselves accused of not having executed the treaty without being given the possibility of defending themselves against these accusations. The allied governments draw from a unilateral judgment of facts the gravest consequences, and in their last note, refuse in the most formal manner even to examine the affair jointly with the German government."

The note adds that Germany cannot understand why she is reproached with misunderstanding Articles 428 and 429 of the Versailles treaty. In this connection it states:

"She has not contested and does not contest that these articles make the evacuation of the northern zone of the Rhineland on Jan. 10, 1925, depend upon certain conditions. Her affirmation bears on the point that these preliminary conditions have been executed. The fact of Germany's disarmament is too evident for the allied governments to justify non-fulfillment (of the evacuation clauses) by the present state of German disarmament."

The communication points out that the allies seem to consider that progressive evacuation under Article 429 "represents a favorable advantage to Germany that depends upon their decision."

Contradiction of Treaty.

That would be an evident contradiction to the text of the treaty, it is argued, which does not permit a doubt that the provisions of Article 429 constitute a right as imperative as that of Article 428.

In conclusion the note states: "General interest in fruitful political collaboration does not permit an indefinite continuance of the present situation which leaves in uncertainty the fate of a great German territory and its population. The German government, therefore assumes that the allied governments will with the briefest delay, communicate the promised specifications, thereby establishing a condition necessary for an agreement designed to dispel the controversy that has arisen."

The note is signed by Foreign Minister Stresemann.

PLEASED WITH RADIO

Baffin Land Missionaries Take Much Joy Out of Radio Set.

TORONTO, Jan. 28.—(Canadian Press).—Visiting the radio station whose broadcasting was heard while they were in the frozen North was the pleasure recently afforded Mr. and Mrs. Belvin Atkinson of Toronto. The station they heard was KDKA, Pittsburgh, and the point at which it was heard was at Lake Harbor, Baffin Land. Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson are missionaries working under the supervision of Wycliffe Anglican College, Toronto. At their lonely post at Lake Harbor there are besides themselves only two fur traders, the remainder of the population being Eskimos. They state that the radio receiving sets is one of the greatest joys that can be had by those living on the outposts of civilization.

FACTORY DESTROYED

VANCOUVER, B.C. Jan. 27—Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the factory and stock of the Children's Vehicle Company, Limited, near Central Park, Monday night. The loss, estimated at $30,000 is partly covered by insurance.

DIPHTHERIA EPIDEMIC IN NOME, ALASKA ANTI-TOXIN BEING RUSHED BY DOG TEAM

Several Deaths Already—Only One Doctor to Combat the Disease is Overworked—Eskimos Especially Susceptible—Schools Closed.

ANCHORAGE, ALASKA, Jan. 28.— (Canadian Press). — Moving on a four hundred mile snow-covered path in response to telegraph and radio call, the fastest and most faithful dog teams in this district were on the road to Nenaina, Alaska, to-day in a race against the advance of the diphtheria epidemic raging at Nome. The teams carried three hundred thousand units of anti-toxin to be used in fighting the epidemic. Four deaths were reported there since the outbreak on Monday.

The serum which left here this morning was supplied by Dr. J. B. Beeson who made a six hundred mile dog team trip to Iditarod in 1920 with diphtherin anti-toxin. When the serum reaches Nenaina it will be transfered to a team of nine dogs owned by William Shannon who expects to make the sixty mile leg of the dash to Talovana in one mush, Succeeding teams will follow the Tanana river to the Yukon river thence to Nulato, 100 miles east of Norton Sound, cut across Norton Bay and overland to Nome.

May Get Aeroplane.

The United States public health service, in response to a request relayed by radio, cable and by land telegraph, has ordered 1,000,000 anti-toxin units despatched from Seattle.

This must come by way of Seward and the Alaskan Railroad to Nenaina 400 miles away, and thence by dog team. This would take 50 days.

Dan Sutherland, delegate in Congress from Alaska, has sent word that he is trying to get an airplane to fly from Fairbanks, Alaska, and pick up the anti-toxin at Nenaina. By this means it would take a week to bring the life-saving agent from Seattle.

The one physician has already shown signs of overwork, and George Maynard, Mayor of Nome, has appointed a special health board and engaged at public expense all the available nurses. The schools have been closed, and Nome has been quarantined. A large percentage of those afflicted are Eskimos, who in previous epidemics here have proved very susceptible to diseases that have scourged the white race.

PEACE NOTE IN WAGES DISPUTE

Frank Hodges Suggests That British Miners and Owners Meet Together.

PROPOSES TRUCE.

LONDON, Jan. 28. — (Canadian Press).—Owners of coal mines and representatives of the miners will meet on Thursday to discuss the new wage agreement which the men have asked for, but it is not expected that much headway in the negotiations will be made for a while. There is evidence of a spirit of conciliation on both sides, despite the rather inflammatory attitude of the secretary of the Miners' Federation, A. J. Cook.

Frank Hodges, a miner who was a Minister in the late Labor Government, and who incidentally is expected shortly to become the first paid secretary of the International Miners' Federation, tells his followers that propaganda will not fill the stomachs of the miners' wives and children. He suggests that it would be better for both the miners and the mine-owners to drop their propaganda for six months and sit down together and inquire into the working conditions of the miners.

This declaration is rather notable, seeing that Mr. Hodge was Civil Lord of the Admiralty in the Ramsay MacDonald Government and formerly one of the greatest advocates for "direct action."

For the other side, Evan Williams, chairman of the coal mine owners' organization, urges that time and calm discussion ought to solve the present difficulties. He willingly admits that the bulk of the miners are more reasonable than they are given credit for, while the discussions on the matters in question so far invariably have been conducted in good temper.

PETERBOROUGH LED SHIVERING ONTARIO

Wintery Blast from the North Swept Province Last Night.

TORONTO, January 28.— (Canadian Press).—Ontario shivered last night in another wintery blast from the north which carried the mercury down far below zero right across the province. Eastern Ontario probably was the hardest hit with 28 recorded at Ottawa and 36 below at Peterboro but Western Ontario followed closely behind with 18 below at London and vicinity, slightly colder at points farther east and about 3 below in the Niagara Fruit belt.

Weather forecasts indicate milder conditions this afternoon and tonight.

Forty degrees below zero were reported from several points in Quebec this morning.

WOOD TRUSTED HEADS OF BANK

Another Director Who Never Questioned Annual Statements of Home Bank.

BOARD CONCURRED.

TORONTO, Jan. 28.—(Canadian Press).—S. Casey Wood, Home Bank director, who took the witness stand in his own defence, was under cross-examination by D. L. McCarthy, Crown counsel, all day Tuesday. He was cross-examined about his actions and bank business during his term as director, and when adjournment came at 5 o'clock Mr. McCarthy had got to May, 1922, in the bank's history. It was thought that the cross-examination will be concluded to-day.

Certain loans to H. J. Daly, which were in the minutes of the board meetings, Mr. Wood said were never read. He said it was quite possible that they were written in the minutes and omitted when read to the board. Other loans of which the board knew nothing, he said, were matters of internal policy. He admitted that Mason as general manager must have known that Daly was making loans from the bank but could think of no consideration Mason got.

Asked concerning the increased deposits shown in the annual statements, Wood said he had never questioned them, believing that they were legitimate deposits. The board, he said, had never called for a list of securities, taking the word of the general manager that they were satisfactory. The directors also took the word of the general manager for appropriations made against bad debts, etc. The only action of the board was to concur in the appropriations when presented. Mr. Wood said he never went behind the management or the auditor to find out anything about the condition of the bank.

THE WEATHER

If you keep a diary of present happenings for future reference, you should put under this date: "This morning was one of the coldest I ever experienced. The temperature was given officially as being 36 degrees below zero." And you would be correct. Last evening the temperature began to drop after sunset. At eight o'clock it was 15 below, at 9, 20 below, at 10, 25 below, and still going down fast. This morning at 6 o'clock the thermometer stood at 36 degrees below. This is the lowest official record, with one exception that has been recorded in Peterboro. That exception was Monday, Feb. 17, 1896, when we had it 38 below. This morning was very calm, the air was dry, and the conditions particularly favorable to a low reading. As you will never see another total eclipse, it is quite probable that you will never see a colder dip than that of this morning—at least in Peterboro. —W.P.

FINNS PROUD OF LITERATURE.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Jan. 28.—(Associated Press).—To demonstrate that Finland has a large native literature, a fair of the printing trades was recently held here. The Finns boast of being the most literate nation in the world. They point with pride to the fact that their little country has 75 bookshops in he cities, 219 in the country, 400 bookstall agents and some 820 newsstands.

SEVEREST BLIZZARD OF WINTER HIT MANITOBA

Pioneers Described it as the Worst in Their Experience.

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 28.—What is described by train passengers arriving here as the worst blizzard in their experience—and some of them are pioneers—raged Tuesday over Manitoba. In some instances the trains from the west were delayed, telephone and electric power wires were snapped and the snow was drifting into huge drifts, making the roads into many towns impassable.

It was the worst blizzard of the winter.

In Winnipeg, snow was being piled in drifts along the principal thoroughfares, greatly inconviencing pedestrian and street traffic. The electric railway system was partially disorganized, and the city's power services were interrupted. Railway transportation also was affected by the storm, snow ploughs having been despatched to several points, where trains are having difficulty in reaching their destinations.

The temperature was somewhat higher than during the week-end, but colder weather is forecast for the west.

FARMER LOST BARNS.

Livestock, Machinery and Hay Were Completely Destroyed.

ULVERTON, Que., Jan. 28.—(Canadian Press).—Three barns, together with thirty-eight head of cattle, two horses, machinery, fifty tons of hay, straw, meal, etc., belonging to Mr. Joseph Mooney, were destroyed by fire early Monday. The cause of the fire is unknown.

CUT OFF BY ICE.

Many Hamlets on the Maine Coast Isolated.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 28.—Serious ice conditions along the Maine Coast were reported here yesterday by the coast guard cutter Ossipee, returning from an inspection trip in that region. Penobscot, Frenchman's and Krecho Bays and North Haven were reported completely closed. Bad conditions existed about Stonington and Swan Island. Officers said that an ice breaker was absolutely necessary if the inhabitants are not to suffer great hardships. Along the broken coast are many island hamlets now barred from the world by an increasing ring of ice.

COFFER DAM BLOWN.

14 Tons of Dynamite Used in Explosion on Ottawa River.

HULL, Que., Jan. 28.—The big coffer dam, about a mile above the concrete dam of the Hull and Ottawa Power Company at Bryson, was successfully destroyed Tuesday. A charge of fourteen tons of dynamite was exploded, in the presence of officials of the company and prominent engineers of the district.

HIS TALENT SAVED HIM

Youthful Violinist Played "Ave Maria" as Defence in Court.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(Canadian Press).—Jamaica Police Court resounded with frenzied applause recently when Arthur Loserman played Gounods "Ave Maria" on his violin. It was Loserman's defense against a charge of disorderly conduct laid against him by residents of the apartment house where he lived. His co-tenants and the superintendent charged that when he played it was "not music." But John Pfeiffer, court attendant, and formerly a member of the Metropolitan Opera House orchestra advised Magistrate Conway that the nineteen-year-old boy played "like an artist" and the charge was dismissed.

NOT HELPING K. OF C.

The Immigration Department Will Apply Its Standards.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 28. — (By Canadian Press).—"The Department of Immigration and Colonization will not undertake to direct an immigration Agency for any organization," M. J. Egan, Deputy Minister of the Department, said yesterday, in commenting on a proposal considered by the officials of the Knights of Columbus in Conference at Winnipeg.

"The Department will examine any agency established by any society and insist that immigration standards are maintained." The Department had no knowledge of any intention on the part of the Knights of Columbus to take part in Canadian immigration activities.

SURPLUS OF $5,754,370 REPORTED BY QUEBEC LIQUOR COMMISSION

One Million Transferred to Reserve Account and $150,000 to Insurance Reserve.

2,823 COMPLAINTS.

Sales for Year Ending April 30, 1924 Totalled $19,812,731.

QUEBEC, Jan. 28. — The annual report of the Quebec Liquor Commission tabled in the Legislature Tuesday by Hon. Jacob Nicol, Provincial Secretary, shows a surplus of $4,604,370 in addition to $1,000,000 applied to reserve for working capital and $150,000 to reserve for insurance. The report covers the year ended April 30, 1924.

Sales for the year totalled $19,812,731; revenue for permits, duties seizures and fines, less enforcement expenses $1,337,273, which, with earnings amounting to $4,417,097 made a total of $5,754,370. Less the two amounts applied to reserve, this brought the figures to the total revealed by the surplus.

Beer manufactured and sold within the province totalled over 25,000,000 gallons with a sales value of over fourteen and a half million dollars. Nearly half a milion gallons of beer were imported from Ontario, with a sales value of $327,689 while 498,111 gallons were exported from the province.

87 Retail Stores

Eighty-seven liquor commission stores were operated during the year. The highest sales record was established in the Montreal Peel street store with $1,322,615.

The police department shows that the majority of illicit operations are being carried on by resorts and "clubs", whereas cases against bootleggers for selling spurious liquor were few. The situation in Hull, Que., was reported improved.

Resorts for the illicit sale of liquor are still known to be in operation at Sherbrooke.

Complaints for the year totalled 3,823 of which 3,325 were investigated and cases made.

MAY WHEAT 2.11¾.

Winnipeg Price Set High Mark for World. —Farm Page

WINNIPEG, Man. Jan. 28.—Winnipeg grain markets again led the world in strength yesterday, May wheat climbing to the record price of $2.11 3-4 and July to $2.09 3-4. Both futures closed at the high mark which represented a gain of 6 1-4 cents for May, and 7 1-8 cents for July over Monday's close. The opening gong was met by a rush of buying orders, but offerings were extremely limited and came mostly from spreaders who were selling Winnipeg May against purchases in Chicago. Canadian millers, country speculators and exporters were all in the market. The coarse grains were erratic, but all closed higher.

STORES ARE OPEN UNTIL 9 O'CLOCK

Housewives Advised to Lay in Store During Bargains.

The city's stores will be open until half past nine o'clock this evening to allow intending purchasers to take advantage of the Dollar Day bargains that are on sale in most of the stores.

In view of the long winter season stretching out to a possibly late spring, and the unfavorable conditions under which many families are living in days when employment is not too general, it would seem a wise course for the far-seeing housewife, and manager, to consider carefully the undeniable bargains offered by Dollar Day merchants. The stores are filled with useful things which may be purchased on this one day at a real discount.

STAFF OF PALACE REMAIN AT POSTS

Royal Household Not Inconvenienced by Electricians' Strike.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—(Canadian Press cable)—Although they are subject to the call of the Electrical Trades Union, which has declared a strike of electricians, engineers, stokers, fitters and elevator men employed by the office of works in the public buildings because an electrician's helper had not paid his dues to the union, the staffs of Buckingham Palace and the British Museum have not yet joined the strikers.

The law courts and parliament buildings are affected by the strike, but as parliament is not in session no serious results have been noted at the stately pile in Westminster. The King and Queen are at present staying at Sandringham and will be there for some time yet.

With the exception of those employed at Buckingham Palace and the Museum all the staffs of the buildings controlled by the office of works have ceased work. The number on strike is considerably less than 1,000.

W. D. Stinson, Reeve of Omemee, Elected on First Ballot.

LINDSAY, January 28.— At the opening session of the County Council Tuesday, Reeve W. D. Stinson of Omemee, was elected Warden of the County of Victoria, securing a majority of the votes on the first ballot.

Mr. Stinson is a well known business man in the village of Omemee and has been reeve for the past four years.

THE CZAR CALLED HIMSELF MASTER

LENINGRAD, Jan. 28.—(Associated Press).—The Revolution Museum has received an interesting document from the Moscow Government. It is the census return which was filled in by the Czaristic family in 1897. The answer of the then Czar and Czarina to the question, "What is your profession?" was "Master and mistress of the Russian Empire."

U. S. STEEL TOTAL EARNINGS SMALLER

Twenty-seven Millions Below 1923 Statement Survey Shows.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. — Total earnings of the United States Steel Corporation in 1924 according to preliminary figures based on the final quarterly report made public Tuesday, fell almost $27,000,000 below 1923. The fourth quarter's earnings of $30,762,231 brought the total for the year up to $152,937,130 contrasted with $179,646,674 in the preceding year.

After distributing about $10,000,000 more in dividends through the medium of cash payments, the corporation closed the year with a final surplus of $4,234,092 compared with $14 292,390 for 1923.

The "Regular" extra dividend of 50 cents a share, which has been paid by the corporation each quarter since the beginning of 1924, was declared by the directors in addition to the regular payments of $1.25 a share on the common and $1.75 a share on the preferred stock. An appropriation of $20,000,000 for additions and improvements to property were authorized. The same amount was set aside last year.

Although an enormous expansion in business marked the closing quarter of the year in the steel industry, its effects were not reflected in the earnings of the United States Steel Corporation because the lower price schedule adopted earlier in the year applied to most of the new orders. The full benefits of recent steel price increases and the expansion of unfilled tonnage probably will be shown in the report for the first quarter of this year.

RACE FOR A VOTE

Early Bird Captured the Worm in This Case.

RENFREW, Ont., Jan. 28. — (Canadian Press).—An interesting sidelight on the activity of both Union and non-Union members of St. Andrews Church, Renfrew, Ontario, in the Church Union voting, is revealed in a story told by one of the workers. Not long before the poll was closed it was found that there was a woman entitled to vote whose home is in the village of Douglas, 12 miles from here. Two cars were despatched to bring her, the two going in order to make sure of locating the home. As they were entering Douglas, they met another car leaving that village for Renfrew. In the car was the voter, captured by the opposite side.

AN EYEFUL OF FASHIONS

By HEDDA HOYT.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Jan. 28 (United Press).—When the Metropolitan Opera House opened its winter season this year, anyone looking for evening fashions, as they will be worn by the "Four Hundred" this season—got an eyeful!

Crowding the rear aisles stood the garlic-eating throng who probably know more about real music than they do about clothes and fashionable dress. Passing through them came the marvelously gowned women mingling their various perfumes with more plebeian scents.

One always looks for the most prevalent colors worn at the opening night of the opera, for these colors are the ones which will lead during the winter season. This year more white was worn than any other color. The boxes which formed the horseshoe ring were one glittering mass of white jewelled gowns. Most of these frocks were very simple as to line, but were handsomely beaded in seed pearls or crystals. Neck-lines are still rather high rounding affairs, and only occasionally one sees a gown with the neckline cut lower in back than in front. Real lowcut gowns of other years are not to be seen. Perhaps this is because the higher neckline is more youthful.

Next in importance to the all-white gown are the green frocks, which were worn both by young girls and by matrons with silvery hair. The pink evening frock about which we have long been hearing was not in evidence. This seemed unusual as the opera has become famous the past two seasons for its pink and bright red frocks. Gold is a popular color this year, but in mentioning gold one should say that the gold cloth gown is not as popular as the gold lace one.

Fans are the one feature of which the Horse-Shoe-Circle never ceases to tire. This season they may either match the frock or be of an entirely contrasting color. One charming woman carried a huge white ostrich fan with her white beaded frock, whereas others in white used more colorful fans. There is a vari-colored fan which is new and very lovely. Here each feather in the fan is of a different pastel shade. A young woman in a gold lace frock chose a fan in shades of gold, rose, orchid and nile green.

A New Note.

A new note is the wearing of the corsage upon the left shoulder. Many persons wore sprays of orchids on the shoulder arranging their Spanish shawls or wraps so that they fell off the shoulder. The orchid is literally worn on the shoulder and not just below it. It is fastened to the shoulder seam. Sometimes the imitation rose or cluster of silk carnations was worn in the same manner, although these were not nearly so effective as the corsages of orchid.

Spanish shawls were the dominate wraps despite the somewhat chilly evening. Black and white shawls embroidered in vivid colors were plentiful, and the all-white shawl, worn over the white gown, was well represented. Solid colored shawls in brilliant shades, such as red, blue and orange, offer a suggestion to one who is tired of the colorfully embroidered shawl. Real silk shawls dye very easily, and a shawl of solid red is really very lovely under the evening lights. Many younger girls were wearing them.

A few women wore gloves. These were long, white kid, of course. Younger women, however, have given up wearing gloves at evening entirely.

Head Dresses.

In mentioning head-dresses, we wont speak of the "glittering tiaras" which the ultra-Fashionables wear from season to season. Columns have been written of these costly jewels. But this season there are many new ornaments for the hair which are lovely though uncostly. Firstly, there are those flat bandeaus of brilliants which come to a peak in the centre front and are worn flat on the forehead. They are more effective if the forehead is bare as they form a perfect frame for the face and are bound to be flattering to youth. The brilliants extend just across the forehead, and a band of narrow silver ribbon extends around the head hidden by the hair. Another youthful headdress, if it may be called that, is the narrow ribbon velvet band with the huge silk rose attached at one side. This is particularly becoming to the bobbed head.

Evening Hints.

Skirts are longer for evening than for daytime, being about ten inches from the floor.

Silhouettes remain straight and slender and waistlines, if there be waistlines, are low.

Silver footgear leads above all others. One wishing to vary this, however, will find the new velvet or satin slipper in bright color good; pump shapes lead with the single straps following in popularity.

Metal brocade capes are among the season's smartest wraps. They may be collared and bordered about the hem in fur, ostrich or marabou. Green and gold brocade mixtures are lovely.

VARIED OPINIONS ON TREATY RESULT

Increased Trade Between Russia and Japan Expected by Some.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan. 28. — (Special.)—With the recent signing of the Russo-Japanese agreement at Peking, leading business men in Japan have expressed varied opinions regarding the immediate effect of the agreement on Russo-Japanese trade, according to passengers who reached Vancouver from the Orient on the Canadian Pacific S. S. Empress of Asia.

Mr. H. G. Fujwara of the Osaka Russo-Japanese Trading Co., is quoted as saying that the signing of the treaty should mean the immediate exchange of commodities between the two countries.

The fear that Russia will have a radical influence on Japan as a result of the treaty is not entertained by prominent business men, according to the Osaka manager of the Mitzui Company, Mr. Nyori.

Other leaders in the Japanese business world have expressed the opinion that with industrial conditions in Russia as they are to-day, trade between the two countries cannot be expected to pick up any appreciable degree.

THE JAMES HORN KNITTING COMPANY

Pure Yarn Hosiery direct from the Factory to the Homes. This is our plan, and it has been such a success, we are doubling our selling staff, and turning out entire production through this gateway. In a short time we will have representatives in every city and town in Canada.

In these modern times, when all attentions are centred on cutting down cost of Ready-to-wear Garments, the plan usually adopted is to reduce the quality of the goods. This is done by substituting cheap and inferior raw materials, and in the second place the process of manufacturing is neglected. We absolutely will not reduce the high quality of our goods, and to prove this we have adapted a trade-mark, "Select-Knit," which is stamped on every pair of Hose manufactured in our plant, and further we are selling direct to the consumer, which is a proof that we are standing behind our product, and in this way are selling a high-grade Hosiery for the price of inferior lines. Why can this be done? Because our customers purchase their Hose at first cost.

Our plant is new and modern in every respect, which enables us to produce goods at least possible cost.

The yarn that goes into our Hosiery is especially selected, and only skilled workmanship is employed.

Our direct representatives are a part of this organization, and are trained and instructed to give you courteous service.

We cordially invite our customers to visit our plant and see the process of manufacture from beginning to end.

For a free demonstration of our lines, 'phone or write our representative, Mrs. A. M. Cowling, 304 Park Street, Peterborough. 'Phone 1557.

REEVE J. L. M'CAMUS OF CAVAN IS WARDEN OF UNITED COUNTES

Takes Office After Six Years' Service in Ranks of Council.

INAUGURAL MEETING.

Letter Points Out the Neglect of Pioneers' Graves in District.

COBOURG, Jan. 28.—(Special)—Eleven new faces were noted among the forty members of the Counties Council of Northumberland and Durham at its opening session at Cobourg on Tuesday evening, Deputy-Reeve D. S. Austin, Murray Township; Reeve Carmen Baker, Brighton; Deputy Reeve Stuart Fallis, Cavan; Reeve N. H. Grilis, Seymour Township; Reeve J. H. Hess, Hastings; Reeve H. R. Mouncey, Alnwick; Deputy-Reeve A. R. McKenzie, Haldimand; Deputy-Reeve C. N. Paliser, Campbellford; Deputy-Reeve R. Peake, Seymour; Deputy-Reeve Jas. Ross, Brighton Township; Reeve R. Snetsinger, Coborne; Deputy-Reeve C. A. Wight, Darlington.

County Clerk Colonel Neil Y. Mac Machton, called the gathering to order at 8 p.m. and asked Rev. Canon T. J. Sawyers of St. Peter's Church to open the meeting with a Scripture lesson and prayer. The vote of thanks to Canon Sawyer was moved by Reeve J. A. Butler of Newcastle seconded by Reeve J. H. Hess, Hastings.

Ex-Wardens N. Fowlds, Hastings; F. W. Bowen, N.C.C. Orono; William Maybee, M.C., Wooller; H. B. Phillips, Brighton; F. Slade, Haldimand; and A. A. Powers, Cornwall, were asked to take seats within the bar.

The business of electing a warden was the first item to come before the meeting, fifteen minutes being allowed for nominations, and, owing to one absentee, twenty votes being required for election.

Reeve M. J. Elliott, Bowmanville, was nominated by Reeve C. Davidson, Campbellford, seconded by Reeve H. H. Holdaway, Port Hope.

Voting is by open ballot for this office. The first two ballots resulted in a tie—nineteen votes for each candidate, Reeve M. J. Holman Clarke, not coming in until just before the third ballot was taken. A majority of one vote gave J. L. McCamus the Wardenship for 1925 and at the request of the clerk, he retired, with his mover and seconder, took the oath of office, was invested with the official robe, and returning to the Council Chamber, was received by the members standing, and escorted to the Warden's Chair.

Extends Greetings

In thanking his fellow members for the honor which they had conferred upon him, the warden-elect expressed the sincere pleasure which he had always felt in their associations together, ever since he first became a member of the council six years ago, when ex-warden Maybee was in office. "We have not always agreed,, but I have found you gentlemen upon every occasion."

Warden McCamus also voiced his sincere regret at the unavoidable absence of Reeve W. T. Wood of Millbrook, owing to the serious illness of his mother, now in her eighty-second year.

He welcomed the old members heartily and extended the glad hand to those meeting for the first time upon the board. Any information to these relative to the work of the council would be gladly vouchsafed.

The business items that would chiefly demand attention were briefly outlined, including the administration of justice, the county road system, and the share of responsibility in connection with work on the provincial highway.

The minutes being taken as read, printed copies being in the members hands, the reading of communications followed.

Noteworthy Record.

It is worthy of note that there have been but three county clerks holding office since 1842—Morgan Jellett from 1842 to 1863; D. A. MacNachton, 1863 to 1891, and his son, Colonel Neil F. MacNachton, from that date up to the present time. Four county treasurers have held office in the same period: Hon. Zacheus Burnham, 1842 to 1852; Hon. Asa Burnham, 1852 to 1873, when the two offices were merged in one person, the MacNachtons, father and son, fulfilling the duties up to the present time.

Some Important Business.

The largest items in the communications referred, chiefly to roads, administration of justice and schools.

Three tenders were received for the printing contract, which expires on March 1st. Referred to Contingencies Committee.

Estimates for the county roads for 1925 were referred to the Finance Committee.

Communications from the Globe Indemnity Company regarding insurance protecting the counties in case of litigation in connection with accidents occurring during repairs to the roads, rates being given, was referred to the Roads and Bridges Committee.

A communication from ex-Mayor Col. F. D. Boggs, Cobourg, asking to be appointed auditor of criminal justice accounts, was laid upon the table.

The usual yearly grant was requested by the county hospitals at Cobourg, Port Hope and Bowmanville, and an invitation extended to visit the local hospital while the Council was in session. The first part was referred to the Finance Committee, and the invitation accepted with thanks, Wednesday afternoon being the time mentioned if convenient arrangements could be made.

Communications from the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, and the Salvation Army, asking aid in their rescue work, were also referred to the Finance Committee.

The matter of granting the $300 asked by The Canadian Institute for the Blind, and the request from The Ontario Municipal Association that the annual fee of $25 for towns and cities, and $10 for villages and townships, be paid, was left with the finance committee.

Forestry Committee.

The request from the department of forestry, that a committee of three members, holding office for ten years, be appointed by each county, was left with the county property committee. The names of ex-Warden W. Fowlds and Reeve Peter Haig of Haldimand Township, were suggested by the chief forester, because of proximity to the area reforested during the past year.

Neglected Cemeteries.

A communication regarding neglected cemeteries, often the burial places of many of the pioneer settlers, and yet left as an eyesore, asking the council to take action, and pointing out the duty of the inspection and proper maintenance, was laid upon the table.

The Ontario Good Roads Association, which meets in Toronto, February, 25, 26 and 27, asked that delegates be appointed and the annual fees, $15 for towns, and $5 for villages and townships be paid. This was left with roads and bridges committee. The conference of the department of public highways will be held February 23 and 24, with the annual banquet on Wednesday, the 26th inst. and the council was reminded that reservations must be applied for at an early date.

The liability of the council for 25 per cent. of the total purchase price ($8,000) of the Cobourg and Port Hope Toll Road, in 1919, has not as yet been discharged, and the communication was referred to the finance committee.

Road Estimate

The Department of Roads and Highways gave the following as the estimate for 1925. Roads to be paved: Bowmanville to Newcastle, 8.15 miles, $27,000 a mile, $139,050.00; Port Hope westerly 5 miles, $135,000.00; Trenton to Brighton, 8.58 miles, $231,660.00; Cobourg to Brighton, 7 miles, $189,000.00.

For surface treatment: Peterborough to Frazerville 2.10 miles, $900 amile ,$1,890.00; Oshawa to Bowman ville, $645.00; Cobourg to Port Hope, $580.00; Port Hope to Newcastle, $1500.00; Welcome to Dale, $263.00. Maintainence of pavement: Port Hope to Frazerville, $100 a mile, $179,000, Grafton to Colborne, $810.00; Colborne to Brighton $750. Snow cleaning $250.00; Total—$703,188.00.

Protect Sheep Raisers

A communication from clerk of Welland County asked co-operation in petitioning the government for better protection for sheep raisers who suffer severe financial loss owing to the ravages of dogs, largely from the urban localities. A deputation to be appointed if thought necessary. Referred to Legislative Committee.

Reports in schools in No. 2 District by Colonel Odell and Colonel Snyder were referred to School Committee.

Other communications were read and referred to the proper committees.

Moved by Reeve W. J. Corbett, Cobourg, seconded by Reeve W. F. Elliott, of Murray Township, that the reeves be a committee to appoint standing committees for current year. The committee retired and appointed as chairman, Reeve Thomas Baker, Darlington Township, spoken of as "the daddy of us all", now sitting under the sixteenth Warden to hold office since he first became, a member of the Counties Council.

Brief addresses were made by the Ex-Wardens present.

GREAT INCREASE IN TEA DRINKING.

The last few years have witnessed a tremendous increase in tea drinking. Production has fallen far behind demand. Tea now costs more than at any time in the last 75 years. It may even reach $1.00 per pound, for the price is expected to rise still further. When such profits are being made by the tea plantations, over production and a sudden drop in prices is bound to come. It may take a year or longer or the price might fall when least expected. Not even experts can foretell what will occur.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—(United Press).—Uncle Sam now produces helium gas at six cents per cubic foot, whereas when first discovered it cost $2,000 a foot. The U. S. plant is at Ft. Worth, Texas. The gas, which is non-inflamable, became famous through its use on the new U. S. dirigibles.

FRANCE SMILES AT WEALTHY TOURISTS

Frowns at Her Own Refugees—Wants the Cash.

PARIS, Jan. 28—The French government has no desire to hinder or check the arrival of foreign tourists, Camille Chautemps, minister of the interior, has explained in a letetr to the president of the Nice Chamber of Commerce, who had expressed fear that certain regulations in course of preparation would affect the tourist trade unfavorably. Vexatious formalities for visiting foreigners will be avoided by a temporary document, he says, obtainable from hotel keepers, which will take the place of the identity card.

M. Chautemps feels, however, that owing to the fact that the foreign population of France has recently been composed of refugees from various European countries, a closer check should be kept on immigration. Some of these refugees have willingly accepted the burdens which accompany residence in France in the matter of formalities and taxations. Others, on the contrary, have shown no desire to comply with the regulations; they do not register their addreses, obtain identity cards or pay taxes.

Failure to produce receipts for income and other taxes will be followed by a refusal of the authorities to issue or renew the foreigner's identity card.

AN INTERESTING CASE

Employee Sues Employer for $10,000 Damages in Vancouver Case.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 28.—(Canadian Press).—Interesting developments are promised in a case to be heard next month. The plaintiff is Mrs. Lily Ralph, the defendant W. F. Hanbury, who employed her. Mrs. Ralph claims $10,000 general damages and $237 special damages for alleged injuries sustained Oct. 19 last when, she says, she was ejected from Mr. Hanbury's Cartier avenue residence where she had been employed as a nursemaid. The statement of claim recites that the plaintiff was seated in a chair, that Mr. Hanbury caught hold of her feet, pulled her from the chair and dragged her feet foremost alone the floor, downstairs and out to the street. She was severely injured, she asserts. Mr. Hanbury, in his defense, maintained that Mrs. Ralph, being duly paid her wages, was requested to leave; she refused to do so and he "gently laid hands on her, using no more force than was necessary to remove her from said premises."

CIVIL SERVICE SALARIES.

Although the present time is not the best in the world for announcing an increase in Civil Service salaries, the Examiner does not believe there will be much complaint over the statement that a revision is to be made which will make the high cost of living bonus a permanen taddition to the salaries of all employees earning $2,500 a year or less.

The bonus has been passed from year to year since it was first granted, and with the purchasing power of the dollar not as close to being as great as in pre-war days, there is justification for making it a permanent increase.

The other method was never satisfactory, and the present revision should pay for itself in creating a better spirit among Civil Service employees and in developing more efficiency and better service.

There are, of course, complaints about the cost of overhead in the Government service.

The fault does not lie in too large salaries, for the average is comparatively low, but rather in the condition that there are too many civil servants.

Better results would undoubtedly be secured in many departments if they were manned with fewer and better paid employees.

Efficiency can be best obtained from satisfied employees—if they are given enough work to keep them busy and paid properly.

THE LEMIEUX ACT.

A Western contemporary comes to the fore with a solution of the problem of how to deal with the situation caused by the upset of the Lemieux Act by the decision of the Privy Council, that the Dominion Parliament in passing the Act had usurped jurisdiction which really belonged to the Provinces.

That the majority of the people of Canada are anxious to have the principle of the Lemieux Act retained, the almost unanimous opinion of the newspapers of the country shows beyond a doubt.

The measure, which opens the way to conciliation and arbitration in disputes over wages and conditions before extremes are restorted to, has been of good service in Canada, and while it lacks the merit of being compulsory, it is too useful to be scrapped.

The Western paper argues that the Dominion Parliament should pass the Act again in its present form, with a proviso that its provisions shall apply only in such Provinces as voluntarily accept the Act.

That seems a practicable way out of the different.

There does not seem much doubt that if the Federal Parliament were to carry out this proposal that the majority of the Provinces would accept the chance, and thus the benefit of the Lemieux Act would be retained.

WARDEN H. B. RYE.

The election of Reeve H. B. Rye of North Monaghan as Warden of the county of Peterborough will afford a great deal of satisfaction not only to his constituents in that township but to the very many citizens of Peterborough who know and esteem Mr. Rye.

It also provides the county body with a presiding officer of sound judgment, conscientious in his appreciation of his responsibility toward the people he represents.

Warden Rye has proved himself of excellent service as Reeve of North Monaghan, and has been a valued member of the County Council.

There is no doubt whatever that in the position to which he has been elected by his fellow-legislators his record for public service will be considerably enhanced.

Living as he does just at the city's door and being in close contact with the residents of Peterborough, as well as having an intimate knowledge of the problems of the rural districts, Mr. Rye's term of office may well be counted upon to bring a closer entente between Council and city in the questions in which both are interested, and perhaps to establish a beneficial linking up of urban and rural residents in the general interest.

The Examiner congratulates both Mr. Rye and the county upon the selection of the Reeve of North Monaghan as Warden for 1925.

PAVING OPERATIONS.

While the best paving programme is admittedly that which calls for the construction of a certain amount each year, the Aldermen who are opposing any permanent road construction in Peterborough during 1925 are voicing popular opinion very closely.

The city will be called upon to deal with several major undertakings this year, including the sewage disposal plant and the proposed addition to the Collegiate Institute.

In view of these works and the fact that an especially large amount of paving was done last year, the Council will be making no mistake if it decides that for 1925 the programme be suspended.

The tax rate will necessarily have to remain at a high level, and any avenue of relief from the burden will be gratefully received by the people, for whom under the present conditions of unemployment it is a hard struggle to carry on.

Under ordinary conditions, the Examiner would be glad to endorse an extension of the mileage of paved streets, believing that permanent roadways are the only economical traffic arteries in the long run.

But there must be a halt somewhere, and for this year at least Peterborough would do well to suspend any permanent road building.

A year's delay in the programme will not be a serious matter, and will be accepted by the ratepayers as a proof that the city fathers are not blind to the conditions as they are at present.

IS THE FARMER DISCONTENTED?

There is room for the suspicion that a great deal is being said in the name of the Canadian farmer without warrant, says the Ottawa Journal. The last census showed that, out of a total population of 8,788,643, there were 4,436,041 classified as "rural." That is relatively a very large number of people who might be regarded as being agrarians, or as making their livelihood, directly or indirectly, out of the soil. Who, without obvious presumption, could claim to be the mouthpiece of such a large and widely scattered class? To ask the question is to find the answer in the negative.

There is a universal disposition to sympathize with the farmers of Canada. They have undoubtedly been acutely pinched by the unequal play of deflation. But it is one thing to sympathize, and quite another to agree with the remedies proposed by those who are presumptuously articulate in their behalf. The disabilities from which our farmers have suffered since 1919 have been due wholly to economic causes, and, that being so, only economic remedies would be of the slightest avail. Certainly it can do no good, although capable of infinite mischief, to attempt by legislative measures to find a cure.

Thus far, the spokesmen in behalf of the farmers of Canada have been westerners. They may be able to speak for a certain number in the Prairie Provinces; but it is doubtful if they have a mandate from the entire rural population of the West. They certainly have not been given authority by the farmers of Ontario, Quebec or the Maritime Provinces. We must all remember, moreover, that it is the disposition of organized groups, such as the grain growers, to emphasize and rather exaggerate what they regard as their disabilities. When they get together, they are prone to stress their troubles, and to be silent about the things that are satisfactory. Perhaps all classes have a similar inclination, especially when they are speaking for political effect; or, still more so, when the speakers are politicians. Mr. Hoey, M.P., for example, is a politician, and for that reason, if for no other, his filibustering announcement of recent date must be appraised at its true value.

SENATE REFORM.

There appears every reason to believe that the House of Commons will attempt to perform a surgical operation upon the Senate during the next session of Parliament. The august Upper Chamber ran foul of the elective body, last year, when it pruned the branch line program approved by the Government. At that time Premier King announced his intention of bringing in legislation to curtail the Senate's powers and a similar objective is contained in a notice of motion filed recently by a Progressive member.

Should the House of Commons make a serious attempt to modify the powers of veto vested in the Senate, an interesting situation will arise. Under the British North America Act it is manifestly impossible for the Commons to change the status of the Senate without the Upper Chamber consenting to have its own claws clipped. The Canadian system of government is based upon the B. N. A. Act which can only be amended by the Imperial Government upon receipt of an address from both Canadian Houses. It is extremely doubtful, therefore, whether the Senate would concur in a program of the kind proposed by the Government, and if it refused its consent the Imperial authorities would find themselves faced with a delicate problem.

For years the question of Senate reform has been more or less of an issue at Ottawa. The fact that the Upper Chamber is not an elective body has often given rise to hostile criticism. So far, the elder statesmen have escaped serious attention, but it looks as though an attack would be launched upon their citadel next session. Should the Commons succeed in modifying the Senate's powers it is interesting to speculate upon the result. One effect would be to place more responsibility upon the Commons. The elective body would no longer be able to indulge in the comfortable practice of passing a faddist bill, secure in the knowledge that the Senate would kill it and shoulder the blame. On the other hand, the Government would not be so hampered by the hostile majority in the Upper House which confronts every new Canadian administration. One thing is sure, if the Commons goes after the Senate it will add further zest to a session which promises to be extremely interesting.

An important phase of the question that the Government should keep in mind in connection with any proposal for change in the duties or rights of both Houses is a more equitable distribution of work. At present, the Commons has too much and the Senate too little to do. The Senate marks time while waiting for the Commons to take action on various pieces of legislation and, as everybody knows, action in the Commons is often very slow in coming because of the poverbial loquacity of the members, so many of whom apparently take great delight in providing the Hansard reporters with a great deal to do. The Senate, generally speaking, represents age and experience, and a mellowness and thoroughness of view not so often found in the Commons. Although the Upper Chamber may not, under the constitution, initiate legislation involving the expenditure of money, there are a great many matters which might well be turned over to it for discussion and action, thus relieving the Commons of much of its burdensome debate and cutting down the length—and consequently the expense—of the session, while at the same time working no injury to the subjects thus transferred.—Border Cities Star.

A THOUGHT.

WHERE THE GREATEST GLADNESS IS FOUND.

You will never be truly happy until you ocacsionally drink from the cup of sadness. The highest and holiest moments come after we are sincerely sorry for someone else, and then thankful that we have escaped.

When a hundred or more fun-loving, good-natured men gather together and all seemed filled with mirth and gaiety, you may know that these very men will soon have a sad hour. Nature swings back and forth, when it's human.

And this means that a man must be occasionally sad in order to be frequently glad. All that we truly enjoy is simply made so by comparison with the things we might be compelled to suffer.

When you find no chord in your heart that has a sigh in it, you have passed the realm of real happiness into the theatre of horse play.

Be a little sad some of the time that you may be a lot happier most of the time. Too much gaiety blows a man up like a balloon and when he is inflated, his descent is dangerous.

Sadness softens the heart and prepares us to see the light, luster and loveliness of this life.

The clown, when out of his ridiculous role, is the most unhappy actor in all the show.

Feel a little sadness once or twice a day even though you must go out of your way to find it, and then help relieve this sadness and you will find the greatest happiness that this old world has to give.

Sterling demand, $4.79 7-8.

Sterling cables, $4.80¼.

MONTREAL GRAIN.

MONTREAL, Jan. 27—(Canadian Press).—The foreign demand for Canadian grain here to-day was at a standstill. The domestic trade in coarse grains was quiet, and the tone of the market was steady.

Prices for the spring wheat flour scored a further advance of 30 cents per barrel, making a net gain since the first of the year of $1.20 per barrel. The market for winter wheat also displayed further strength and prices were marked up another 20 cents per barrel.

There were no new developments in the millfeed situation and prices were firm. A fair amount of business was done in rolled oats and the tendency was steady.

Prices were well maintained for all grades of eggs and the trade volume was large. The market for potatoes was firm. The undertone of butter continues easier and a further decline is expected in the near future. The demand was limited. The condition of the cheese market was unchanged. Fodder made No. 1 goods were quoted at 19½ to 20 cents per pound, and No. 2 goods at 18½ to 19 cents per pound.

A good export trade was done with United States buyers for Canadian crop beans and prices were firm at $2.90 per bushel.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 27. — (Canadian Press). — Successive waves of speculative buying forced the wheat market to-day up to within a quarter of a cent of $2 a bushel of May delivery, a new price record. Fresh indications of world demand for wheat available to be delivered at once had much to do with stimulating to such an unusual extent the purchase of future contracts. Wheat closed unsettled at a range varying from 1 5-8 lower to 2 7-8 cents net advance; May 1.99 1-8 to 1.99¼, and July 1.70¾ to 1.70 5-8. Corn finished ⅛ to 3-4 up. Oats unchanged to ¼ cent higher, and provisions at two cents lower to 17 cents gain.

EGG PRICES.

OTTAWA, Jan. 27. — (Canadian Press).—Some sections report a slight increase in production, but others, particularly the prairie provinces, report a scarcity. British Columbia receipts are kept well cleared by outside demand. The markets generally are inclined to be nervous and unsettled, with the trade looking for increased receipts and anxious to keep cleaned up from day to day.

A car of Ontario storage firsts with some extras reported sold at 49½ cents delivered Toronto. Live poultry shipped from Western Ontario to Buffalo realized: Chickens 26 to 30; fowl 26 to 30 delivered. Cars of Western frozen poultry are offering Toronto and Montreal. The embargo was also extended to include prohibition of the importation of turkeys, ducks, geese, pigeons and guinea fowl.

Edwards Family Claims a Section of New York Worth $100,000,000 As Gift From King George II

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.— (Canadian Press.)—As far in the past as 1889 and probably earlier, people by the name of Edwards or in any way descended from an Edwards, have been dreaming of the day when the heart of New York might be theirs.

Yesterday in the United States' District Court, suit was filed on behalf of Arthur J. Edwards of Los Angeles, and Wesley J. Edwards, of North Carolina, to recover a valuable tract, now in possession of Trinity Church Corporation.

How much the property involved is worth no one knows. Some say in excess of $100,000,000; others say that $400,000,000 would not be an exaggerated estimate, for it contains such valuable buildings as the twin Trinity structures, New York curb market and other great structures, to say nothing of a valuable water front. The claim is based upon a grant supposed to have been made to Robert E. Edwards, by King George II of England, for aid in fighting France at sea.

In 1778 Edwards is supposed to have leased his property to John and George Cruger for 99 years. Trinity church came into possession of the property through Crugers and should have given up the property upon expiration of the lease in 1886 in the opinion of those who claim the property.

Your doctor advises internal cleanliness

HE WILL tell you that the first results of constipation — headache, sleepless nights, biliousness, backache, etc.—warn that the body is flooded with intestinal poisons. In time these poisons may cause the breakdown of health and lead to serious disease.

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favour Lubrication

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. For sale by all druggists.

TORONTO, Jan. 27.—(Canadian Press).—The arrest of Andrew H. Pepall in Los Angeles, California, on a warrant charging him with the embezzlement of $368,000, was not premature according to Hon. W. F. Nickle, Attorney-General of Ontario, who stated to-day that certified copies of the warrant for his apprehension were mailed to California on Friday last, and should be in Los Angeles to-day.

NEAR BEER HOVERS OVER GERMANY

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—(Associated Press).—Much comment has been caused in Germany by the extensive advertisements of a company producing a new beer containing only one-half of 1 per cent. of alcohol. Brewers are up in arms, as they see a prohibition movement behind this beverage with the small alcoholic content. It has, however, the endorsement of many doctors and physical educators.

The NERVOUS WRECK

by E. J. Rath

©1924 - by NEA Service Inc.

She left the sentence unfinished, for it was leading to things too awful for contemplation.

"Who in blazes is going to catch us?" he demanded. "They won't. It'll take them half an hour to blow up those tires, and they'll burn pretty nearly a gallon of gas doing it. That'll leave them about four gallons, and after fifteen miles or so they'll go dead, like we were. Don't you worry about getting caught."

Sally shook her head in despair.

"Why, we'll be caught before daylight!"

"Bet you five dollars."

"To-morrow, anyway," she went on, ignoring his challenge. "And they'll have a perfectly good case against us. You held them up with a gun—my gun."

"They ought to have been held up. They had it coming to them. They ought to have been shot full of bullets," said the Wreck, fiercely.

Sally was angry, but of course he could not see that. She sat with her fists clenched and her lips set tight.

The flivver went on steadily through the night.

CHAPTER VI.

An Act of Providence.

It was after sun-up when he aroused her by a touch on the arm. Sally's eyes blinked rapidly as she straightened in the seat. The flivver was moving along at a slow pace, intended to promote the comfort of a sleeping passenger.

"'Morning," said the Wreck. "Sorry to wake you, but I wanted your expert opinion."

"'Morning," yawned Sally; then shook herself into full wakefulness and inspected him. "Have you been driving all night?"

If he had, she was prepared to acknowledge a tremendous respect for his endurance, for he was not flying any signals of weariness. But he shook his head with a grin.

"I stopped for a while, after you got asleep. I didn't need any sleep; I just can't sleep. But I let the engine cool out. There wasn't any hurry, anyhow."

"Nobody—passed us?" She asked it anxiously.

The Wreck shook his head and laughed. He was in fine spirits for a man with guilt on his soul.

"What I wanted to ask you about was this wire fence," he said. "We've been following it for a couple of miles. What's it mean?"

Sally inspected the fence which followed the line of the road.

"It's somebody's wire, of course," she answered. "It means there must be a ranch around somewhere."

"Do they have breakfast at ranches?"

"They better had!"

"My idea, too," he said. "Whereabouts would this ranch lie, reckoning without the aid of any mountains or other visible landmarks?"

That brought a smile to her face. Plainly, the Wreck was in excellent fettle this morning. He was disposed to be almost playful.

"I'd say it's on the same side of the road as the fence," replied Sally. "And if we haven't passed any gate yet, we'd better keep on until we hit one. There's sure to be one."

He nodded and continued to drive, while Sally studied the country. It was not mountainous, but decidedly hilly, and she knew at a glance that it must lie at a considerable distance from the Bar-M.

Presently her thoughts returned to the big car and its passengers, and she caught herself looking backward over the rolling road, wondering what had become of them.

"Here's a gate," said the Wreck.

There was more than a gate. There was a plain road, running under it and off into the hills beyond. Without waiting for a consultation, he climbed down, opened the gate, then drove the flivver through. He was going straight ahead when Sally stopped him.

"Always close the gates after you out in this country," she said, jumping out. "They're put there for a reason. Cattle."

"I was in a hurry for breakfast," he explained.

The private road was a long one, as Sally judged it would be; she knew something about the size of ranches. It was nearly a quarter an hour before they came within sight of anything but hills and hollows.

Then the ranch building flashed abruptly into view as the road emerged from a patch of young spruce. Sally studied the picture with a professional eye. The ranch house, the stables, the outbuildings, the corrals, all classified themselves swiftly under her survey.

"That's a pretty big house," she commented. "Looks sort of new, too. They've got a nice location. See the way those hills rise, off yonder, back of the house. Pretty, isn't it?"

"I can't see anything but bacon and eggs," said the Wreck.

"And when they ask questions, we're a couple of tourists. Don't forget that," said Sally, significantly. "I'm supposed to be a dude, too."

The flivver came to a stop in the dooryard, just as a man emerged from the house. He was a tall, lean man, with scraggy mustache, and he stood studying them for several seconds, in evident surprise, before he approached.

"Good monig," called Sally, with a wave of her hand.

"'Mornin', ma'am."

As he walked over to the car he was still scrutinizing them with a pair of steady blue eyes.

"Are you the proprietor?" inquired Sally.

She knew better than that, but she was trying to play a part.

"I'm the foreman, ma'am."

"Oh! Well, I'm sure you're the very person I want to see. Can we get breakfast?"

The foreman rubbed his chin and gave her a further appraisal.

"It sort of depends," he said. "Can you cook?"

"Yes!" It was a chorus from two in the flivver.

For a few seconds the foreman transferred his gaze to the Wreck, who seemed to have acquired sudden interest in his eyes.

"It happens, ma'am, that we ain't furnished with a cook. We had a Chinee, and a Chinee helper. But they blew on us yesterday. But there's plenty of grub, and if you want to cook it, help yourself."

He waved a hand in the direction of the kitchen. There was a scrambling exodus from the flivver. The Wreck beat her to the kitchen door by a couple of yards. The foreman followed.

"I'll show you where everything is," he said. "Tell you the truth, I'm kind of hungry myself. The boys had to rustle their own breakfast this mornin', and they didn't make out none too well. I et some of it, and I know what I'm talkin' about. So if you don't mind, ma'am, while you're cookin' up something, make it liberal in quantity. My name's Charley McSween."

He looked expectantly at the Wreck.

"My name's Williams," said the Wreck, taking the hint.

The foreman shook hands and glanced in the direction of Sally, who was already clearing a place on the stove.

"My wife," said the Wreck.

"Pleased to know you, Mis' Williams."

Sally had whirled about, her cheeks suddenly pink. She shot an amazed glance at Henry Williams and received a look of warning in return. Charley McSween laughed.

"I've seen honeymooners before," he said. "I was married once myself. It ain't nothin' against anybody."

Sally opened her lips to say something, broke into a queer laugh and turned to the stove again.

It was the kind of a breakfast that comes once in a long, long time, when you are ready for even the meanest and find yourself sitting down to the best. The Wreck ate with a concentration that was appalling. Even the foreman, who was accustomed to all sorts of appetites, watched with an admiring eye. Sally and the Wreck were still eating when Charley McSween pushed back his chair.

"I'm sayin' that was a regular breakfast," he declared, as he wiped his mouth. "The lady sure knows how to fry bacon. I kind of like to have my eggs flopped over; but that's nothin' against her, because I didn't say so. Coffee was A-1. I can't say as I usually eat toast, but I've got no objections to it. Can you make biscuits, ma'am?"

"Of course, I can," said Sally. "But I couldn't wait for them this morning."

"I figured you could make 'em," nodded the foreman. "Can you cook meats? I don't mean plain fryin', but all kinds of ways?"

"Quite a number of ways," she smiled.

"I bet you can do tricks with eggs, like makin' omelettes and scrambles and things like that."

"I can do some tricks," she confessed.

"I bet you can," he said admiringly, as he arose from the table. "I sure did enjoy that breakfast. If you folks will excuse me for a little while, I've got some things to do. Just set around and make yourselves comfortable. In case you feel like cleanin' up——"

He glanced at the pile of dishes in the sink.

"Of course we'll wash the dishes," said Sally. "We'll be glad to."

Charley McSween nodded and sauntered out of the kitchen. Sally looked the Wreck in the eye.

"I suppose you thought you had to say that," she remarked.

"Only reason I said it," he answered, returning her look, "couples touring around in flivvers are supposed to be married."

"Reckon you're right," she admitted. "Oh, well, it's not important. You might bring these breakfast dishes over to the sink. I'll wash and you wipe."

He was not very dexterous at wiping, but he got through it without breakage. She put an apron on him, much to his irritation; but he submitted because she explained that it was a sort of regulation in kitchens.

"I don't suppose you've noticed things around here very much," she said, "but this is a pretty swell kitchen for a ranch. That stove cost a lot of money; look at it. And running water in the sink. There isn't anything around here that isn't high grade. Did you see that other cupboard over there? It's full of china—not crockery, but china. I don't know where he gets his bacon, but I never saw that quality served out to ranch hands before. They must live high."

The Wreck wiped the last dish, escaped from the apron and glanced at his watch.

"Only nine o'clock," he said. "We've got all day to make that train."

"I'd clean forgotten," declared Sally. "But we'll find out all about it from Charley McSween."

Charley re-entered the kitchen presently, tilted a chair against the wall and sat down.

"We'll have a little talk," he announced. "Better set down."

Sally drew a chair for herself, but the Wreck propped himself against the table. He wanted to be ready for emergencies. Somebody might have spread an alarm.

"Do you believe in acts of Providence?" asked the foreman, after a moment of thought.

The pair from the flivver exchanged glances.

"No," said the Wreck.

"Yes," said Sally.

"That makes it fifty-fifty," declared Charley McSween, "which is a pretty fair break. As for myself, I believe in 'em. I'll tell you why."

He paused long enough to light a pipe and get it going properly.

"As I said a while back, we had a Chinese cook here and a Chinese dishwasher. Ordinarily we don't run to fancy cookin' But I got that pair of Chinks for a special reason. I'm expectin' the boss. As near as I can make out from his letter, he's about due to-day. He don't come often, but when he does he has to be fed right.

"But these here Chinks jumped on me yesterday. Some of the boys got to foolin' with 'em and scared 'em 'most to death. So they jumped and left me flat, with the boss comin'. What was I goin' to do? You can's run out and pick up cooks like jackrabbits. And when you do get 'em they're mostly very plain workers. I said to myself, 'Charley McSween, you're in a hell of a fix. You ain't got a cook, and you ain't got time to go and fetch one.' And all the time I was rememberin' how particular the boss is about his meals."

He spent a few seconds in thought and resumed.

"Maybe you can see why I asked you about acts of Providence. Only this mornin' I said to myself, 'Nothin' but an act of Providence will replace them unutterable Chinks.' And right then and there Providence steps up and says, 'Here's a lady that can cook rings around any Chink that ever grew a pigtail, along with her husband who can wash dishes fit for the most particular kind of royalty to eat off of.' I'll leave it to you if it ain't so."

Sally smiled, but the Wreck's face had a suggestion of grimness.

"Are you suggesting," he asked, "that my wife and I go to work in your kitchen and get meals for your boss?"

"You've got the idea," said Charley McSween. "Meals for the boss—and the boys."

"Well, get it out of your head. Nothing doing."

The foreman turned to Sally with a slightly pained expression.

"I don't think your husband grasps it, ma'am. He don't seem to quite lay hold of the situation. Here I am with the boss comin', and no cook. Somebody's got to get those meals. I can's cook 'em. There ain't one of the boys can cook good enough. They can rustle things for themselves, but they don't know any city tricks. I've got to have a cook."

Sally smoothed her apron and smiled again.

"It's too bad," she said. "I can see what a fix you're in. You've been very kind to us. We've had a wonderful breakfast and we'd just love to oblige you. But we happen to be catching a train. We're—going east. In fact, we're really behind our time now. So I don't see how we can, Mr. McSween, although otherwise we'd be glad to help you out. Wouldn't we, Henry?"

The Wreck eyed her critically.

TARIFF CLOSES LARGE FACTORY

Says Manager Who Says Overhead is Not Met.

AT WALKERVILLE.

WINDSOR, January 28.—Because of adverse industrial conditions the plant of Canadian Product Corporation at Walkerville will close down indefinitely at the end of this month, E. J. Weil, the local manager announced. The closing down of Canadian Products removed from the border one of the largest industries engaged in the manufacture of automobiles parts, the plant being part of General Motors Corporation in the United States. During the past few weeks the staff has been gradualy depleted. At present it is being maintained only by a few hands and the office staff.

The Canadian Products plant represents an investment of $2,500,000, Manager Weil stated. One of the reasons for the shut-down, he said, was because of unfavorable industrial conditions, and also because tariff concessions did not compensate for increased overhead expenditures and cost of bringing material into Canada. The plant was erected in 1919 and at times had employed nearly 2,000 border residents. Manager Weil stated that it is not likely any of the employees will be transferred to the Oshawa plant of the concern.

Mr. Weil said that no plans regarding the future of the plant at Walkerville have been made except to close it indefinitely. The machinery used for the manufacture of engines and axles will in all probability remain intact. All materials needed for the assembling plant at Oshawa are to be imported from the United States, he said.

It is understood that strong representations have been made to the concern to remain at the border, but these proved futile. Industrial heads state the closing down of the Canadian Products is a serious blow to Windsor and the adjoining municipalities.

GERMANY PLANS SECURITY PACK

Will Probably Link With it Scheme for Evacuation of Cologne.

NEGOTIATIONS OPEN.

(By A. L. Bradford, United Press Correspondent.)

PARIS, Jan. 28.—Conversations will start tomorrow on the subject of a security pact, which Germany wishes to offer France, the Foreign Office said semi-officially this afternoon.

The proposal had not been definitely made at the time of the announcement, but was said to be "imminent."

United Press dispatches from Berlin on Tuesday said Germany would include the suggestion of a security pact in the latest note to the Allies about Cologne.

Other Powers beside France, which may be interested in a guarantee of European security may take part in the conversations.

It is believed here that the German proposal will be linked with a scheme for evacuation of the Cologne area, possibly so closely as to prevent consideration of a possible security pact until the Allies decide what is to be done about Cologne.

BETTER DAIRYING.

The host and hostess were recipients of many beautiful gifts, as well as a number of congratulatory messages from those who were unable to attend.

GERMANY PROTESTS.

Says Country is Disarmed and Cologne Area Should be Released.

PARIS, Jan. 28—Germany's reply to the recent note of the allied ambassadors which was handed to Lord D'Abernon, British ambassador, by Foreign Minister Stresemann in Berlin, yesterday again protests against the refusal of the allies to give immediately a bill of particulars on Germany's alleged violations of the disarmament clauses in the treaty of Versailles. It also re-asserts that Germany has really disarmed and is fully entitled to evacuation of Cologne area.

CANADIAN FORESTS ARE BEING SAVED

Forestry Association Hears Reports on Work of Conservation.

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (Canadian Press)—Expressing the opinion that more had been done in the last ten years to conserve Canadian forests than had ever been done before, Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, assured the Canadian Forestry Association last night that the federal government intends to co-ordinate in future all technical and practical facilities in the Dominion for the preservaton and increase of forestry assets.

He added: "All the money I can get my hands on, I will put to this use, because I belive it will be well spent."

The occasion was the first annual banquet of the association. The retiring president of the association, Lieut.-Col. Percy B. Wilson of Sault Ste. Marie, presided. His Excellency, Governor-General Byng, spoke briefly as one of the "moderate, bald-headed gentlemen on the back of the omnibus," who personified public opinion and needed to be instructed in the habits of forest protection.

Right Hon. Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, G.C.M.G., spoke briefly of forest conservation in Quebec.

Earlier in the day the annual report was presented by Robson Black, manager of the association.

J. A. Gillies, Ottawa, was elected president; Arthur H. Campbell, Montreal, vcie-president, and a representative slate of directors and "directors at large" was appointed.

INBREEDING HARMFUL.

Too much inbreeding has been found to result in reduction of vigor, greater mortality and poorer egg production in the flock. An occasional introduction of strange blood is found desirable.

First—Stop Pain Don't suffer for an hour

When pain comes, stop it. Be ever ready to stop it quickly, night or day. Don't suffer any pain which a moment of rubbing can stop.

These include pains allied to rheumatism, to soreness, to lameness, to chest colds They can be stopped at once For 65 years they have been stopped by rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil.

As for curing the cause of the trouble. Nature usually does that. But don't suffer while you wait. St. Jacobs Oil causes counter irritation. Then it draws the blood to the surface to relieve congestion. In a minute or two you feel that the pain has ebbed. You rejoice in relief.

Perhaps there are other ways. But this is the one way that millions have used—have proved it for 65 years. You can rely on it. Your druggist guarantees it. Why take chances when you know that nothing can be better?

Dont wait for an emergency. It may mean a night of pain. Have St. Jacobs Oil ever ready. Apply it as soon as you feel a pain, or a chest cold. Be ready to soothe it, to check it at once. There will never be a better way. Go get it now to be prepared when pain comes. It may save to you and yours many unhappy hours.

HYGIENE COUNCIL GETS HUGE GRANT

Presented With $25,000 By New York Insurance Company.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 28.—(Canadian Press).—Impressed by the character and effectiveness of the public health work being done in Canada by the Canadian Social Hygiene Council and the very definite effect this work is likely to have in lengthening the span of human life, one of the big insurance companies of New York, which makes a speciality of encouraging scientific effort of this kind on this continent, has offered to the council a grant of $25,000 for the year 1925.

It is understood that this offer has come through the very favorable report made by the officials at the Canadian headquarters of this company in Ottawa, regarding the activities and program of Social Hygiene Council in its combat with the national menace of veneral diseases.

In speaking of the uses to which this money is likely to be put Dr. Gordon Bate, General Secretary of the Council, said: "Though we have 50 branches of our council throughout Canada, and a national program of social hygiene, there have been two definitely weak spots in our movement, and these we now hope to remedy. One has been the need of organizers in both eastern and western Canada. Those we hope to appoint at once and so to get a much firmer hold on points distant from headquarters, which need not only inspiration as to programmes of activity but assistance in carrying them out.

"The second weakness has been in our failure to work out a national scheme for the adequate scientific education of adolescents and children in the meaning of social hygiene, so that from the earliest years onward, there may come to them through proper channels a gradual but accurate knowledge regarding certain biological facts, the maintenance of clean standards of conduct, and the responsibility of every individual for the building up of those fine and healthful social conditions which are the aim of every scientific hygienist.

"In our work so far we have aimed at these objectives by educative work for adults and parents. But we feel that there should be a more aggresive and definite plan to ensure child education along all these lines.

"With the funds from this insurance company we shall be able to place two more organizers in the field and hope to appoint to our headquarters staff one or more experts who, in connection with a group of voluntary advisers will plan just such a national educational scheme as we have long needed. On this advisory committee we will have physiologists, biologists, and hygienists, as well as representatives of those national organizations through which we can later work out all the details of the scheme.

"Two appointments have already been made to our staff in consequence of this grant. A. D. Hardie, M.A., of Cambridge, an experienced educationist, will take charge of our educational department and Dr. A. L. Pequegnat, a public health specialist from Toronto University will organize social hygiene work in the eastern provinces. The western organizer is not yet appointed."

Consequent on this extension of staff and work the Canadian Social Hygiene Council is establishing national headquarters in the old Elm Street Methodist Church building which has one of the largest auditoriums in Toronto with very roomy office space and lecture halls. Here it is planned to establish a health, recreation and social hygiene literature centre to meet the needs of both the Toronto and the National Council.

WIT AND HUMOR.

Little Man—"This is my first visit to a race meeting, and I feel thrilled!" Veteran—"That's the idea, guv'nor. Had any luck?" Little Man—"Oh, yes! I found a jolly place where one can get tea and sandwiches quite reasonably!"

She—"What's wrong with that horrid fellow behind us? He has followed us for the last hour, and looks so fiercely at you." He—"Oh, that's all right—that's my pal—we're just down for the day together."

A British soldier in Belgium, wending his way to camp one morning with a fine rooster in his arms, was stopped by his colonel to know if he had been stealing chickens. "No, colonel," was the reply; "I just saw the old fellow sitting on the wall, and I ordered him to crow for old England, and he wouldn't so I took him prisoner."

Paderewski, the pianist and politician, has often been worried by people who wanted to hear him play. Before one of his recitals he was stopped by a man dressed very loudly, who said to him, "My dear sir, you'll pardon my speaking to you, but the fact is I find I can't get a ticket for your show. Have you, by any chance, a seat to give me?" "I've only one," said Paderewski. "You can have that if you think fit to take it." "Thank you ever so much; and where is this seat?" "At the piano," said Paderewski.

Said the guest, upon approaching his host's home, "Ah, there are some of your family on the verandah. See if I can guess who they are. The girl in the short dress is your daughter, the young man in riding breeches is your son, and the lady in the—er—tea-gown is your charming wife." "No, you are all wrong," said the host. "The girl in the short dress is my grandmother, the young fellow in riding breeches is my wife, and the lady in the tea-gown is my ten-year-old daughter, who lives to dress up in her great-grandmother's clothes."

ITALY'S QUIET

Despite the repeated assertions of Premier Mussolini that all is quiet in Italy, there would seem to have been some disturbances, as shown graphically in this photo. The picture shows a street fight in Rome between the Black Shirt Fascisti and some citizens. Sticks and stones were freely used and many of the combatants went home with bruises and black eyes.

Whites of Eyes Tinged With Yellow? Muddy Complexion? Your Liver is Out of Order!

Mrs. Wm. Bourque, Fox Creek, N. B., writes: "I have been troubled with my liver for a long time, and was so bad I could not do any work. I had severe pains in my stomach that were so bad, at times, I could hardly stand them. Marie dearest,
Hullo again! Ice-boating is certainly the thing for me! Eighty miles an hour is not to be compared with the way we sped along! The other girls looked like a wreck when we were through, but thanks to my ever-faithful friend,

Venezuela Prospered, Now a Soviet Nation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (United Press).—Venezuela, the nearest South American neighbor of the United States, is today prosperous. Back in 1902, the government of Venezuela was having an awful time meeting its bills. The German minister in Washington went to President Roosevelt and proposed that the Venezuelan customs service should be administered by a Belgian commission.

"The United States will not consent to the conversion of Venezuela into a new Egypt," was Roosevelt's emphatic response.

In December of 1908, President Castro was deposed, and was succeeded by Vice-President Gomez, who later was elected to the Presidency. Gomez undertook a programme of political, administrative and economic reorganization which, according to reports here, has been singularly successful. Venezuelans here have recently celebrated the sixteenth anniversary of Gomez' regime, which they describe as the period of Venezuela's economic independence.

Official information now shows that President Gomez has put his country on a sound financial basis, justifying the viewpoint of President Roosevelt in 1902. Venezuela has paid off 75 per cent of the indebtedness which caused her troubles, her liabilities having been reduced from 200,000,000 bolivars (about sixty million dollars) to 50,000,000. Moreover there is a gold surplus in the national treasury of 70,000,000 bolivars. Venezuelan three per cent bonds of consolidated debt issue recently were bid at 99 and higher. The bolivar is the only South American currency at par or higher.

Venezuela has also developed its industries, especially petroleum, the production of which amounted in 1923 to 639,257,475 tons. The long period of order and prosperity throughout the Republic has induced foreign capital and merchants to locate there, and it is said that there are 13,000 American citizens in the city of Maracaibo.

A great network of national highways is under construction and important port improvements are projected.

THIEVES STILL FREE.

Few Convictions for Mail Robberies During the Christmas Rush.

BERLIN, Jan. 28. — (United Press).—The police are still engaged in attempting to entangle the vast system of mail thefts which existed during the Christmas period in Germany. Many letters from the United States containing money were opened, the cash extracted and the letters resealed so cleverly that they were accepted without question. Protests resulted in many postal authorities telling the kickers that the robberies were committed abroad or en route. There have been numerous local prosecutions, but in few cases were there convictions and in practically no cases were there recoveries of stolen mail.

PLANTS ILLUMINE BIBLE

Palestine Botanist Reads New Meaning in the Scriptures After His Study of Flowers of the Holy Land.

New light in thrown on the Bible by Dr. Ephraim Hareunbeni, botanist, of Jerusalem, who is now in New York. For modern interpretations of obscure points in the Scriptures he goes back to nature, and through his scientific knowledge of the plants of the Holy Land he is able to explain certain Biblical symbols that are still in use in the world, though they have lost their original meanings.

The name "Mary," which, with all its various forms, is perhaps the commonest name for women, has long been thought to mean "bitter," and is so interpreted in the dictionaries. Dr. Hareubeni believes that through his botanical study he can show that it means something quite different. The "lilies of the field," usually thought of as being more gaudily arrayed than Solomon, may not have been showy flowers at all, but flowers very simple and humble and still beautiful. And the "rose of Sharon" may have been a tulip.

Dr. Hareubini, who is also known as Rubinowitch, was formerly botanical adviser to the British Government in Palestine. In his eighteen years spent there he identified many plants that are closely related to Bible lore. He shares the love of nature that distinguished the ancient Hebrew philosophers.

Where Scholars Have Failed.

A reason why readers of the Bible have remained unfamiliar with the meaning of the botanical expressions employed by the original writers of Holy Script is that translators and expositors have often given incorrect information regarding the environment in which the various plants grow. Their failure, Dr. Hareubeni thinks, is due to their lack of an intimate knowledge of Hebrew traditions, to their inability to penetrate the legends of the Arabs.

"I am the rose of Sharon," sings the Church, in the Song of Songs. Many have pondered the line and have sought the rose among the blossoms of Palestine. Professor Hareubeni believes that he has identified it in the Tulipa Praecox, an exquisitely beautiful flower that others have barred from the historical ranks of biblical plants because of the fact that no Hebrew or Aramaic name had been found for it.

"About three years ago," said Dr. Hareubeni, "Professor Sloush found in the course of an excavation near Tiberias a marble tablet on which were graven a pomegranate, a vine and the bud of a flower. My wife and I identified the bud as that of a tulip. Hence the professor's discovery shows that the tulip existed in Palestine in olden times. The theme cut into the stone represented the pomegranate, the vine and the 'Habazeleth Ha'sharon' of the Song of Songs. Obviously the hitherto nameless tulip must be identified with the Habazeleth Ha'sharon.

"The theory that the colchium has the right to claim the honor may be disproved by the explanation that in Arabic it is called 'Ishbe,' meaning herb, and that frequently it is referred to as the 'herb of Satan,' or the 'herb of the snake.' Is it not difficult to believe that the beloved of the Song of Songs should liken herself to the least attractive of all the plants of the Holy Land? Would she have vaunted her resemblance to the 'herb of Satan' and the 'herb of the snake' in the presence of her lover? The tulip grows in profusion in the valley of the Sharon, and has been counted among the most beautiful flowers of that region for ages past."

The Sage and Its Lore.

One of the common plants of that country is the salvia, or sage; it is a large family there, with twenty known species, some of which are used by the Arabs for food and for medicine. Since there is no mention in ancient Hebrew literature of the salvia, it has been the common belief that it was not introduced into Palestine until after Bible times. But Dr. Hareubeni finds local color in the scientific names of the various species, as Salvia Palestina, Salvia Judaice, Salvia Syrica, and so on. He has recently discovered that the genus was not nameless in the old Bible days, but that it was called by one of the most significant Hebrew names and that its influence was far reaching. The name was moria, because its fragrance resembled that of myrrh.

"What is more," continued Dr. Hareubeni, "the mountain Moriah, associated with the story of Isaac's sacrifice, is called after the plant." He explained that "Miriam" and "Mary" are its derivatives. There have been many discussions on the subject of the name, which, until Dr. Hareubeni announced his theory, was supposed to mean bitter. The botanist finds that the Arabic name for Salvia Triloba is Miriamya, and asks if it is not reasonable that a plant having a sweet perfume should lend its name to womanhood.

But the importance of the Salvia does not end there. Dr. Hareubeni drew from his portfolio a photograph. What he meant was plainly to be seen. The branches that extended outward and upward and the evenly-spaced cups of the blossoms all suggested that the humble plant had been the model for the seven-branch candlestick. "And he made a candlestick of pure gold; of beaten work made he the candlestick: his shaft and his branch, his bowls, his knobs and his flowers were of the same" (Exodus xxxvii, 17). Throughout the age the symmetry of the sage has been immortalized in the most precious of metals, has played a part in religious services and has held its place in art.

"It was my good fortune to point out that the carvings on the candelabra of the temple represent the calix of the salvia. What is more, the design of the entire candelabra seems to have been patterned after the salvia plant. When Dr. Sloush uncovered a reproduction of the seven-branch candlestick on the shore of Lake Tiberias, archeologists immediately declared that it was a copy of the one used in the temple. But let us look at the plant and we find under every pair of branches the bud ornament mentioned by the law. In the candelabra discovered at Tiberias these buds are lacking. This and other points prove that it was not a copy of the original."

"Lilies of the Field."

Dr. Hareubeni has paid special attention to the "lilies of the field," the "Krinon Agrion," that toil not, neither spin, yet are more wondrously clad than King Solomon. To what flower did Jesus point?

"Whoever reads the passage," says the botanist, "must believe that the reference was to a definite species, a flower abundant in its growth and familiar to His hearers. Some scholars have sought a blossom marked for its great size and its brilliant hue. Others have believed that its petals must be of crimson and purple since the 'lily of the field' was likened to Solomon's glorious apparel. But mark you, the verse says that the 'mighty King was 'not arrayed' like one of these.

"I cannot believe that one of esthetic taste would turn to violent colors for his pleasure. He would rather seek out the less obtrusive, the modest flower. Such was the taste of the ancient Jews, such the taste of Jesus. The theory is borne out in the quoted words. They indicate that the loveliness of the Krinon Agrion was shy, not forcing itself upon the notice of the many; a beauty to which Jesus called attention as a poet revealing the unexpected. I am convinced that we can correctly interpret the 'lilies of the field.' Keeping in mind the verse, 'If God so clothe the grass of the field,' we learn that the Krinon Agrion, whatever it was, must be of the general character of grass. It would not be in keeping with Hebrew tradition to assume that the phrase is merely a figure of speech.

"The oldest translation of Krinon Agrion is that of Dioscorides—Abid Labon, meaning white flower. In my wanderings among the bedouins I found that in the southern part of Gaza the Anthemis, or the daisy, is called Hanun Abiad, which, when translated also means white flower. These people have lived far from foreign influences and have preserved the ancient name of the plant. It is my belief that the Anthemis Palestina (the daisy of Palestine) was the flower referred to by Jesus as the "lily of the field."

FRANCE IMPORTS FOXES

Breeder Intends to Supply French Market From His Farm.

PARIS, Jan. 28.—Forty-five Canadian foxes have been brought into France by M. Bernay, a breeder from Alsace, who intends to develop a farm along the lines of those so succesfully conducted in eastern Canada.

The animals, valued at 20,000 francs apiece, have been transported with great care and very special attentionto their diet. M. Bernay intends to use all forty-five for breeding purposes to form the nucleus of a farm which will be able to supply the French market with skins at considerable reduction on the price paid for imported skins.

FRENCH WRITER SEES DEFECTS IN BASEBALL

Says Game Lacks Appeal Because Both Teams Are Not on Field at the same Time.

France has not forgotten the games played by the Giants and White Sox in Paris. Discussion has followed discussion in the newspapers and magazines until now the controversy has attracted more attention than the tour. Magazines not devoted to sport have become involved in the debates that are taking place, and a "neutral observer" has written in one publication his idea of baseball and just why it can not become a national sport in France.

"To start with," he said, "there is the rather unique situation of one man being opposed to nine. The batter goes to the plate and tries to hit the ball. Nine men are opposed to him. It sounds paradoxical, but it is true nevertheless that the pitcher throws the ball to the catcher and over a sack called the home plate in the hope that he gets the ball where the batter can hit it but fails to do so. If he puts the ball beyond reach of the batter he is penalized and yet if the batter hits the ball he is not considered as having done his duty to his team.

"Then, too, it seems a little one-sided to have the batter up there alone. If he connects with the ball the opposing side has unrestricted opportunity to recover it. What we in France expected to find was that the other members of the batter's team also would be on the field and that they would do all in their power to keep the opposing side from getting the ball when it was batted. To our point of view that would be competition and would make baseball a faster and more exciting game.

"There is another factor in the great American game that has a drawback from our point of view, and that is the fact that when a side is at bat it may be retired without all the nine players facing the pitcher. Some of them come in from the field and just sit on the sidelines, or bench as it is called, and rest and when three of their side have been put out they go onto the field again. In rugby and soccer the players are active during the whole of the playing time, but in baseball there is a lot of resting, a factor which detracts from the interest of the sport.

"It is useless, however, for us to try to adopt the American game and alter it to suit our tastes. Baseball is popular in the United States because it is played according to the wishes of the people there, and differences in nationalities are such that it is not easy for one country to adopt the peculiar sport of another and transfer with it all the fine points of the game."

COFFEE IN BRAZIL.

RIO DE JANIERO, Brazil, Jan. 28.—(United Press).—During the past ten years Brazil has exported 15,000,000,000 pounds of coffee.

One hundred and ninety-seven years ago Major Palheta, of the State of Para, Brazil, was presented with some coffee plants by Senhora Claude d'Oreilliers, of Cayenne, French Guyana, and he planted the first coffee in Brazil.

The first coffee planted in Brazil was in the northern State of Para.

Ribbons of all colors and sorts are appearing on the new spring hats.

WHY BE OFFENSIVE WITH BAD BREATH?

Mr. J. Perry of 792 DeKalb Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I awakened each morning with an unpleasant taste and was often reminded by my wife that my breath was disagreeable.

"I tried perfumed tablets, mouth washes and other camouflages which gave only temporary relief.

"After consulting my dentist and finding my teeth in good condition, I confided in a friend, who suggested that possibly my trouble was constipation—faulty intestinal elimination. After taking a few doses of Carter's Little Liver Pills, my stomach and bowels were relieved, foul and impure gases eliminated.

"I now enjoy a wholesome breath as well as improved health. Carter's Little Liver Pills are small, easy to take, move the bowels in a gentle manner—without discomfort and distress."

OMEMEE ROADS FILLED BY WIND

Farmers Are Busy Hauling Wood—Price from $10 to $13 for Hardwood.

POTATOES 85c. A BAG.

OMEMEE, Jan. 27.—Last week's snowstorm, followed by the high wind, filled the north and south country roads, and in many places fences have been thrown down and new roads broken through the fields. This makes travelling very slow, and a number of upsets have been reported.

Farmers are busy hauling wood to the village, and various prices are asked. Hardwood ranges from $10 to $13 per cord, while softwood may be had at from $6 to $8 per cord.

A few bags of potatoes were offered for sale by a Fleetwood farmer last week, 85c being the price received.

Many quarters of beef have been offered for sale by farmers, who claim it more profitable to butcher them than sell them alive. During the early winter, the price was 10 and 12 cents a lb. per quarter, but the price has declined to 8 and 10 cents and many a housewife has secured a supply at this price.

Eggs are becoming more plentiful, and the price has dropped to 45c per dozen. Butter remains firm at 35c per lb., which is the same as for many weeks previous.

Cutting Ice.

Ice-cutting has commenced in Omemee and many business men are getting in their supply for the summer months. The old-fashioned hand saw worked by man power has been discarded, only to be replaced by a recently invented machine built on a Ford car placed on runners, and operated by the local garage men. This device has been the centre of attraction for several days, and is a time and labor-saver, as a 300 blocks can be cut in an hour.

VITAMIN "X" DISCOVERY

Scientist Finds Way to Turn Normal Animals Into Giants.

BERKELEY, Calif., Jan. 28.—(Canadian Press.)—Dr. Herbert M. Evans, one of the foremost scientists in anatomy and glandular nutrition and a faculty member of the University of California, announces the development of a glandular nutrition with which he claimed to have had remarkable success in physical control and propagation of animals.

The discovery has been termed vitamin "X" by Dr. Evans, who states that research work has been carried out for some time with guinea pigs, rats and tadpoles.

Dr. Evans called attention to a small gland at the base of the brain called the hypopysis of pituitary gland. cience, he said, already had met with sucess in removing that gland from animals and substituting fluid extracted from it by injections given the same animals. Continuing, he said:

"We were astonished to find that if we treated animals with this fluid, provided it was not given by the mouth but under the skin or in body cavities where it would not come in contact with the digestive tissues and was administered daily rather than at infrequent intervals, we could turn normal animals into giants."

He stated that efforts were being made by him and his assistants to purify the pituitary gland fluid so that it might even be used in human cases as a restorative.

FABLES ON HEALTH

The next lesson Mr. Mann of Anytown learned about his bedroom after he had lowered the windows at the top and raised them from the bottom, was that he was sleeping under too heavy covers.

"Heavy covers are not always the warmest" Mrs. Mann told him. "Two light-weight wool blankets are warmer than one heavy blanket.

"When two pieces are used there is a layer of air between them. which, after it has been warmed, serves almost as well as another piece of cover. And air weighs nothing."

Mr. Mann said—not anything. But the wife of Mr. Mann removed a heavy wool quilt from his bed, and replaced it with two wool blankets.

"Light covers do not hinder the blood circulation either," she added, as she tucked the blankets in.

WIDER SKIRTS.

Wider skirts are noticed in the spring fashions. The flat back, a short skirt and the molded bodice are other features.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

The Editor of The Examiner.

Sir: In reply to Mr. Sedgewick's letter in last night's issue I wish to quote from "Rules and Forms of Procedure of the Presbyterian Church in Canada."

On page 26 it says: "The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada consists of such proportion of the ministers on the roll of the several Presbyteries as may from time to time be determined by the Assembly, with consent of the Presbyteries, and an equal number of elders."

On page 27 reference is made to the appointment at the Assembly of substitutes in the place of those who are reported as having failed to appear, and then the words occur: "The roll as thus amended shall be the permanent roll of the Assembly." The Assembly presumes that those not present at the first sederunt and who had been duly appointed by their Presbyteries will put in an appearance later, as they do in most cases.

It is thus clear that it is the law of the church that the roll of the Assembly shall be an "equal number" of ministers and elders. If some elders regard so lightly their appointment as commissioners as to fail to put in an appearance at all surely the blame should rest neither on the Assembly nor on the ministers if at some Assemblies ministers are slight in the majority.

MINISTERS AND MISSIONS.

Editor of Examiner..

Dear Sir,—May I be permitted a small space to reply in part to Mr. Moore's letter of recent date?

He states that so far no ministers who have resigned from their anti-union churches have offered themselves for the work in the Northwest. Isn't it a trifle soon? The United Church does not come into being before next June, and surely it's a little too much to expect any minister to rush off now, leave his family on the street, and take up work in a locality where he may get little or no financial reward and have no organization behind him.

Surely Mr. Moore must have heard Dr. Edmison when he spoke recently on the subject of home missions. Dr. Edmison made it very plain that it is a lack of funds, not men which is hampering the home mission work. In the face of this we find the Presbyterian Church Association rejoicing because a number of wealthy congregations have voted out of the Union. A further statement said that most of these congregations voting for Union, in the West, are little places requiring financial aid anyway. And so the Presbyterians—I should say the anti-Union ones—want to keep to themselves their wealth. As an example of unlimited selfishness I have never known the equal.

If by combining churches in small centres in the East and West, we can send one dollar more for home mission work in the West, then for the sake of those poor people vote for Union.

In conclusion, just why should Anglicans intrude in this discussion? As usual, Mr. Burnham tries out his clumsy wit, but only succeeds in being ridiculous.

CHURCH REVENUE $1,600.

Annual Meeting of St. Andrew's Church, Omemee.

OMEMEE, Jan. 28.—The annual meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian congregation, Omemee, was held on Friday evening, with a good representation present. The pastor, Rev. J. A. Black, occupied the chair, and Mr. H. Lamb acted as secretary. The session reported two deaths and two baptisms, and an addition of eight members to the roll, but there were eight losses.

The Sunday School had a good year, with five who had perfect attendance. $22 was given to missions; over $100 was contributed during the year.

The Guild had held meetings for one-half the year, gave $5 to missions, and paid the interest of $19.25 on a note.

The W. M. S. had flourished during the year. A bale valued at $25 was prepared and sent away, while $82 in cash was forwarded to headquarters.

The auditors' report showed a revenue of over $1,600, while there was a small deficit which is being arranged for.

A hearty vote of thanks was given the treasurer, Mr. Thomas Magee, for his efficient services.

The question of Church Union is the live issue before the congregation now.

CONFEDERATION LIFE BIG YEAR

Gain in Business in 1924 Was Enormous—Earns Biggest Surplus.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Confederation Life Association was held at the Head Office in Toronto, on Tuesday, Jan. 27 and the report of the directors to shareholders and policyholders was very gratifying. During 1924 a number of new records were made.

The Association made a remarkable gain in new business, the total amount written being $34,161,846. Assurances in force at December 31st were $184,480,802, which was more than double the amount in force at the end of 1918.

The income from premiums, interest and other sources of revenue showed a substantial gain over 1923, and the surplus earned was $1,437,615—the largest in the history of the Association.

Assets increased by $3,735,789 and now amount to $40,625,490. This represents a gain of 30% in assets in four years.

The mortality ratio was very low, being only 42.1% of the expected.

The investments of the Company were reviewed and, the trend toward mortgage loans instead of bond and debentures emphasized, due to the decreasing interest return in the latter class of securities.

It was reported mortgage interest collections for year showed a substantial increase over the previous year, indicating a decided improvemen in conditions in Manitoba and Saskatchewan where the Association has largely confined its investments under farm mortgages. It would appear that many Western farmers are settling down to a more normal state, and facing the future with a great deal more confidence.

In moving the adopition of the report the General Manager, Mr. C. S. Macdonald, paid tribute to the loyalty and industry of the entire organization which had resulted in a record of achievements in the face of generally unsettled and unfavourable conditions.

Specific mention was also made of the growth of the Association's business in Great Britain, the West Indies and Central America.

G. N. GORDON, M.P., HONORED GUEST IN HOME TOWN

Addresses Canadian Club and is Entertained at Banquet Later.

AMONG FRIENDS.

BRIGHTON, Jan. 28.—(Special to The Examiner).—G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., was the speaker of the evening, invited by the Canadian Club of Brighton to address them on Monday at their first meeting in the New Year.

Mr. Gordon is an old Brighton boy, and the Oddfellows' Hall was packed to overflowing by his old-time school friends, and people of the town and surrounding district, who came to hear Mr. Gordon, upon his return to Brighton.

The address selected by the Deputy Speaker was "The Growth and Development of Constitutional Government as Adopted by Canada," and much interest was shown by those present, in the skilfully prepared and well-given address.

A banquet was tendered to Mr. Gordon by the House Committee of the Canadian Club, and an address was presented to him by Mr. George Drewry, barrister, and chairman of the Board of Education at Brighton.

For Mr. Gordon's entertaining address, the Rev. R. S. I. Wilson, pastor of the Methodist Church at Brighton, and the Rev. E. W. Pickford, the minister of the Anglican Church, respectively moved and seconded a vote of thanks.

The following address was read to Mr. Gordon by Mr. Drewry:

To George N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons.

I have been asked by the Executive of the Canadian Club in the village of Brighton, on this your first visit to your native town to attend a public function since you left here many years ago, after completing here your education at the High School, to tender to you in writing our thanks for your kindness in coming here to address us on a subject of so much interest to us all and to congratulate you on the success which has attended you in the city of your adoption.

While these words of appreciation and congratulation come primarily from the Canadian Club, we can assure you that they express the thoughts and feelings of the people of Brighton generally, who feel that the success which you have attained and the honor which you have earned for yourself, have brought honor and pride to your native town.

We are delighted to know that since you left Brighton and located in the City of Peterboro, you have not forgotten your native town, but have visited it frequently and have always been ready and willing to assist any of your old friends here in any way within your power when any of them required such assistance as you were able to give, and this has not been done in any narrow partizan way.

The citizens of Brighton have watched your career, both public and private, and have rejoiced in your success, not only in your chosen profession, but also in the political field, and although all may not agree with your political views, yet all agree that the position which you have attained in the political world has been honestly attained, and any man who enjoys the confidence of his fellow-men is to be admired because that confidence is a mark not only of ability but of honesty of life and action.

We therefore feel very pleased to have you with us to-night, and hope that you may feel that you have come home to visit again the friends and companions of former days, many of whom are here to-night.

You are still a young man, and we all venture to hope that the phenominal success which has attended you this far in your career will follow you through a long life and that you may have many years of usefulness before ou.

MOTOR LEAGUE AGAIN ISSUES THE LICENSES

Fees Are Increased for Commercial Vehicles by About $5.

SOME DIRECTIONS

Date of Starting Distribution Will be Announced Later.

The secretary of the Peterboro Motor League has been advised by the Dept. of Public Highways of his re-appointment as local issuer of motor vehicle licenses. Before one month after the commencement of issuing licenses, all vehicles in operation must have 1925 markers. Notification of the date of commencing issuing licenses will be made through the press later.

Regulations.

Issuers are not expected to fill in the forms of application for applicants for permits. Every facility will be afforded or applicants to complete their own forms. Forms will be completed by the issuer for those who are unable to write or read the forms.

1924 permit cards should be presented at time of making application. In the event of not having the 1924 permit card, the applicant must have the serial number, engine number ond 1924 license number of the vehicle to be registered.

Passenger license fees are the same as 1924.

On making applications for permits for commercial vehicles, weight certificates from public weigh scales must be presented.

Fees for commercial vehicles are based on their gross weight (combined weight and carrying capacity) and the style of tires (pneumatic or solid). The manufacturers' width of tires must be given in every case. Width of tires controls the carrying capacity.

All Pneumate Tires.—Less than 2 tons, $16; 2 tons and up to 3 tons, $24; More than 3 tons and up to 4 tons, $36; More than 4 tons and up 5 tons, $45; more than 5 and up to 6 tons, $60; more than 6 tons and up 7 tons, $70; more than 7 tons and up to 8 tons, $80; more than 8 tons and up to 9 tons, $99; more than 9 tons and up to 10 tons $110; more than 10 tons and up to 11 tons, $132; more than 11 tons and up to 12 tons, $144.

Issuers are not allowed to make or sell lists of names of those having permits.

Duplicate permit cards to replace lost ones may be secured on payment of fifty cents, on application being made for same.

Four thousand licenses were issued by the local office last year, of which 2,040 were issued in the month of April, when the good travelling weather arrived. If your vehicle is not in use, you will avoid delay by securing your markers before the spring season opens. Residents of the city would be well advised to secure licenses during the week days, leaving outlying districts the opportunity of securing them on Saturdays.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Jan. 28.—Alexander "Birthday" Johnson, the man of 10,000 dates, carries in his head more birthdays than any man alive, which accounts for his chronological nickname. It is a hobby of his to mail birthday cards to hundreds of his friends, his cards going all over the country.

"Birthday" says he knows the date of birth of between 9,000 and 10,000 people. Once he hears a date it becomes fixed in his memory.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 28.—(Special)—D. E. Galloway, assistant vice president in charge of the Canadian National Electric Railways, held the first "get-together and co-ordination meeting of the electric railway officials yesterday afternoon, when various units forming the electrical group met. The meeting was a representative one, and officials were present from the Montreal and Southern Counties Railway; the Thousand Island Railway, Gananoque; the Oshawa Street Railway; the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway, St. Catharines; and the Toronto Suburban Railway. In opening the meeting Mr. Galloway stressed the importance of economy in operation and of giving the best possible service to the various communities through which the lines operate. "We cannot emphasize too greatly the importance of courtesy and neatness," he continued. "Motormen and conductors who remember always that they are working to give service to the passengers are our best asset. The public judge us by the service we give them and by the appearance of our cars. It is just as essential to have clean cars and smart looking employees as it is to keep the service up to the standard. We must insist upon a high standard of service and neatness in every possible way." Mr. Galloway touched upon the necessity of keeping the shops and railway property in a tidy condition, thereby reducing fire possibilities to minimum. "First aid work is another important phase of our work" he added, stating that it was as important for the electrical employees to have as competent a knowledge of first aid work as it was for steam roads.

"I know that the Montreal and Southern counties men are taking up first aid work," he concluded, "but I want to see first aid classes opened on every electrical line in the company. While we have been singularly free of accidents there is always the contingency that one may happen, no matter how careful we may be, and I want every employee to be in a position to give first aid in case of such an eventuality."

BRITAIN WILL WAIT.

Action on Peace Protocol Will Probably be Postponed Until September.

GENEVA, Jan. 28. — (Canadian Press). — Definite action by Great Britain concerning the peace protocol drawn up by the League of Nations Assembly last September probably will be postponed until next September's meeting of the Assembly, in the opinion of the League officials, who have just returned from London, where they were in contact with British official quarters.

The object of their visit was to investigate the British attitude toward the protocol.

They received the impression, they said to-day, that any idea that Great Britain already had decided to reject the protocol was erroneous, but that it seemed likely she would demand modifications on certain points found unacceptable.

UNIONISTS MAY FORM NEW GROUP

Minorities in the Toronto Churches Could Establish New Organization.

NO PLAN YET.

TORONTO, Jan. 28. (Special.) — In a statement isued this morning "Minorities in Toronto," the Church Union Bureau of information, says: "There are about 4000 unionist members in anti-unionist churches in Toronto who have voted for union, and all of these are organized and pledged to enter the United Church on June 10th. In at least six instances these unionist minorities could each establish a church equally as strong as the ones from which they are withdrawing. Owing to the size of the withdrawing unionist minorities it has been difficult to decide upon the best course to pursue. In cases where the unionist minority is small they have been advised to attach themselves to the nearest united church. In cases where the unionist minority is large the members are organized into a unit until some definite plan is devised for the future. Among the big unionist minorities in the city are Victoria Church, 567; Riverdale Church, 509; Chalmers Church, 454; St. Paul's church, 400.

"SHE IS SKINNY"

If she only knew that she could put on at least 5 pounds of good healthy flesh in 30 days she wouldn't be worrying about her peaked face, hollow cheeks and neck and run down looks.

She has tried Cod Liver Oil, but the ill-smelling, nasty tasting stuff upset her stomach and made her feel worse than before.

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitalizing vitamines that make flesh, creates appetite, restores vigor, builds up the power to resist disease and chases away nervousness.

But it's horrible tasting stuff and every day fewer people are taking it for doctors are prescribing and the people are fast learning that they can get better results with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, which Warne Drug Co., McDermid & Jury, Jas. Lynch and druggists all over the country are having a tremendous demand for.

It is a wonderful upbuilding medicine for skinny, backward children, especially after sickness and 60 tablets only cost 60 cents.

One woman gained 10 pounds in 22 days and if any skinny man or woman can't put on 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist will gladly return the purchase price.

Be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablet.

HARDING MEMORIAL FUNDS COMING IN

Canadian Kiwanis Clubs Are First to Support Good-will Movement.

CHICAGO, Illinois, Jan. 24. — The esteem with which the late President Harding was held and the friendship for the American people felt by the people of Canada was indicated by the contributions sent by the Kiwanis clubs of Montreal and Winnipeg to Kiwanis Headquarters in Chicago as their donation to the fund being collected during this week for the construction of the Harding International Good Will Memorial. This memorial will be erected in Stanley Park, Vancouver, British Columbia, the place where the President made his last public address.

The volutnary contributions from the Canadian clubs were the first to be received for this funds during the week which marks the Tenth Anniversary of Kiwanis.

Work on the granite and the molds for the bronze figures is being carried on now by the sculptor and the architects in Vancouver.

Canadian people have given evidence of their pleasure because this memorial will be loctaed in their country and also that the design and the contract for the construction has been awarded to Canadians, after a consideration of proposals from a number of architects and sculptors in boths countries.

"This site was selected," said John H. Moss, of Milwaukee, chairman of the Kiwanis International Committee in charge, only after careful consideration and mature deliberation. Harding's birthplace and the nation's capital surrendered as suggested sites to Stanley Park in Vancouver. The factors which prompted this location were that it was here that Harding delivered his last public address, in that address he emphasized the spirit of friendship existing between Canada and the United States, that our late member was as greatly respected by the Canadians as by the Americans, that this was the only time a President of the United States visited Canadian soil during his term of office, that Stanley Park possesses ideal surroundings and is carefully guarded, and that is is accessible and annually visited by thousands of interested tourists, and lastly because such selection betokens a bond of everlasting friendship between the two great nations of the North American continent which comprise our membership. This selection was hailed with enthusiasm by our Canadian members who had previously insisted on participating in the project regardless of location."

INTERIOR DECORATION.

Club Heard Interesting Papers on Choosing and Hanging Pictures.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Interior Decoration Club of the Art Association, was held on Monday at the home of Miss Maude Rush, McDonnel street.

On account of the Canadian Club lecture this meeting had been postponed one week.

A most interesting paper was given by Miss Anderson on Suitable Pictures for the Home, and the Framing and Hanging of Pictures.

Magazines articles were read by Mrs. J. B. Mann and Mrs. J. E. R. Munro on the subject of pictures and colour schemes for the wall background.

Then after a short, general discussion on this subject, Mrs. J. Wearing gave a three minute talk on the Cromwellian Period Furniture.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, February 2nd, at a quarter to four at the home of Miss Anderson, Gilmour street.

There will be two papers given, one on Old Silver, Brass and Pewter, by Miss Alexandrine Howson, and and the other by Mrs. E. W. Borbridge on Glassware and its place in the modern home.

The three minute talk on Period Furniture will be given by Mrs. H. Morphet.

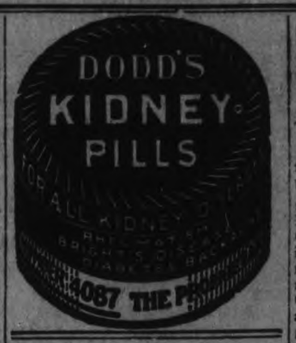
AT ALL DRUGGISTS



HINTS TO VIOLINISTS

On the Use of the Bow, Legato and Staccato Playing.

BOWING MARKS.

The importance of a right use of the bow cannot be over-emphasized, and this article will be given entirely to this subject.

Production of Tone.

Remember that good tone comes largely as a result of good bowing. Every fiddler should aim at being able to produce loud, pure tone. Nothing marks the poor performer more surely than his inability to do this. Now loud, pure tone does not come merely from pressure of the bow upon the strings. The pressure must be sufficient, of course, to bring all the hairs on to the string, but, given that, the tone will depend upon the pace at which the bow moves.

This means that you must learn to make use of every available bit of bow's length, for the more of the bow that is used for a particular note, the more the pace at which it will be able to move.

Loudness of tone is assisted, too, by bowing fairly close to the bridge, where string resistence is greater. Conversely, soft passages should be played near to the end of the finger-board, and ordinary passages about half-way between bridge and finger-board.

The habit of using all available hairs' length is necessary not only for the production of full tone, but also because very often a considerable number of notes have to be included in one bowing. Take care to divide your bow evenly between them, though it is better, on the whole, until you are able to judge the matter to a nicety, to reserve a little more than the fair share to the last few notes rather than to come nearly to the end of the stroke with two or three still to be sounded. And when putting resin on your bow, don't forget the top and bottom.

Legato Playing.

True legato (i.e., smooth) playing should be your first aim, and it is indeed the most important part of violin work. Whilst every note should be clear and distinct, there should be no division between them, no apparent fraction of time in which no note is speaking. Sound must pass from note to note with something of the smoothness with with which it does on an organ. This legato must not run merely the length of one bow, but throughout the whole of the passage or piece, apart, of course, from any indicated rests. And here let me put in a plea for the due observance of rests at all times. If a crotchet rest is directed, then rest for one crotchet—no more, no less; if a minim, then rest a minim, and so on.

Staccato Playing.

"Staccato" means "detached" or "separated." The production of notes clearly divided from one another is an important part of the violinist's art. These notes often have to be very short and fast, and hence high-class staccato playing is difficult of attainment. There are various forms of bowing which give staccato effects. Notes played by individual bowings can be separated merely by checking each stroke on the string. Fairly rapid and powerful staccato notes can be made with the lower half of the bow—each note to a separate bow which springs from the strings. This method is often very useful in playing ordinary dance music which requires "pep."

But the highest form of staccato playing is that done with the upper part of the bow, a series of detached notes being produced by dividing what is in essence merely one up or down stroke. The up bow is more effective than the down bow, but both are necessary at times. The hairs should not leave the strings.

There is also a springing bow containing a number of notes, but this is not the true staccato bow.

There are many showy, but fairly easy, pieces which require a kind of staccato bowing, each note being sounded twice in quick succession by it movement of the bowing wrist only. These pieces can be performed with considerable effect by players who have no great technique. What happens is that the notes are stopped by the fingers only moderately rapidly, but by being duplicated by the bow, an appearance of great pace is produced.

A dot placed over a note is the customary sign for it to be played staccato. When these notes are to be included in one bowing the line over them will also be given in the usual way.

Bowing Marks.

Observe all bowing marks conscientiously. Their aim is twofold—(1)to insure the best effect, and (2) to give in connection with this effect ease in playing. To bow as fancy directs will almost certainly mean loss of effect, and very often land you in difficulties, Be as careful in band work as in solo playing.

Bow economically, e.g., a long note played by one bow has often to be followed by several short notes separately bowed. Play these short notes at the end of the bow which you have reached at the finish of the long stroke. Take advantage of any rests which may occur in the score to resume (if necessary) position for the next stroke.

STUDY HOW TO DIE.

The man who meditates much on the way he wants to leave this world will not want to leave this world soon.

And when he does hear the summons, he will not go out with his heart loaded down with regret.

When we study how to die, we learn the way to live.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

CHURCH UNION VOTE

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Dear Sir,—The returns of voting from all over Canada on Church Union show to date a remarkable result. The majority in the whole Dominion of Canada so far for Church Union is only 843. Remaining places will undoubtedly put this majority feeble as it is away in the minority, because the west where Church Union is strong has practically cast all its vote. No church can go into a new union on a minority of its voting power. The strength of the church lies in its voting power not in the number of its stations where big and little, the greatest and the most insignificant count as 1 each. Church Union does not look to have at all the support imagined or claimed for it. It will be hardly possible to go on with it in the face of these facts. Blessed be the will of God. The vote to date is 60,000 for and over 59,000 against. The total vote at the former referendum was over 300,000 as against about 120,000 so far. The proportion of actual voters out of the whole vote which is near a million is very small. Of course at no time could the whole vote be got out but seventy-five per cent. is not too much to expect and if we reckon up to the pro-union vote out of that we see that a really small proportion of the people believe enough in Union to vote for it. Therefore the Union question ought to go no farther. It ought really to be dropped. I would like also to s Rev. Robert Pogue drop his idea of resigning. Of course he has not resigned yet. He says "I am resigning' not "I have resigned" or "I will resign." He may never complete his idea. So yet remains at his own option and will till June 10. But he should give up the idea. It does not look right. People who clamor against sects and sectarianism must remember that Protestantism is the greatest sect of all. The others are its part, but sections of this great sect. When Union wipes out the pacts because they are sects, what will it do with the greatest sect of all? And there you are!

THE BLOCK ROAD.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Opening up the Block Road in Otonabee as a County Provincial road has been discussed very freely of late, but the prominence given it far exceeds its importance. Not five per cent. of the ratepayers of Otonabee would support this proposition, not one member of the Otonabee Council would countenance it, and the ratepayers would like a statement particularly from Mr. Anderson and Mr. Comrie, who were ardent supporters of this chimerical scheme where it would mean votes. Let them come out with a straight statement of yes or no, whether they support Mr. Armstrong's proposition, without any evasion, excuses or twists. If Mr. Armstrong thinks more than five per cent. of the ratepayers would support him, let him contest any of the municipal offices in Otonabee and he will learn that the five per cent. limit is a little over the mark. The taxes are so high that very little support could be expected for a scheme of opening new roads, especially as in this case, where there is a good parallel road only a few rods away, on which considerable money has already been spent, and which has the approval of the Highways Department. The engineer of the Department describes the work of the Sub-Area Commission on the Norwood Road as highly commendable. And let me say in this connection the ratepayers of Otonabee accept the report of the Highways Department concerning the work of the Commission and work of the county road superintendent which is described as efficient and satisfactory. We accept this report in preference to the statements of some others that have been given out.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain,

J. S. FITZGERALD.

ABOUT A DOG

The Editor, Peterboro Examiner:

Dear Sir.—I noticed an item in your paper that a man had shot and killed another man over a dog. The parties evidently got into an argument which caused them to absolutely lose their heads, perhaps the cause is similar to my own.

On Sunday, January 17th, I let my large black and white hound loose for a little run to have some exercise after being tied up, and he has not returned yet. Off and on this winter, he has been away for a day and night, evidently the cause of him not returning is that some one has him tied up, otherwise he would return home; no doubt some one has had him out hunting. Now, I presume the party whoever he is thinks he owns him, and intends to keep him.

It may be some time before I come across my dog again, and that time may be in the woods; I ask the party where he got that dog, and I claim him to be my dog which I know for an absolute fact; an argument in hot words follows. If the party happens to be a bad character, what would be the results. Now, why cannot people be honest, especially in such SMALL things. Thanking you for your valuable space.

A ROSE BY ANY OTHER NAME.

Editor of The Examiner:

Permit me to congratulate Mr. Cunningham on his letter re changing the name of "Riverside Park."

I am sure with its natural surroundings no name could be more appropriate than "Riverside," and I am sure the majority of our citizens will continue to call it by its original name, regardless of the Council's attitude in the matter.

Yours truly,

JOHNSON FOR MOVIES.

Has Tentatively Accepted $2,000 a Week Offer.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Following the example of a long line of athletes who have refused to let the pleasure of sport dim their business eye, Walter Johnson, the Washington pitching ace, now may soon be seen disporting himself before moving the picture camera, and at $2,000 a week.

Tom Moore, Washington picture promotetr, has made the offer and he said the pitcher had "tentatively" accepted. Moore, who is an old friend of Johnson, declared that if the deal went through, a six-week's vaudeville tour was in prospect, after which Johnson would be placed "on location" for the pictures at Los Angeles. If Johnson finally agrees to a long-term contract, it means he will not accompany the world's champions to Tampa for spring

CATTLE THIEF WHO WAS ALSO SMOOTH FORGER

Bank Manager Learned to Check Up on Strangers Arriving.

WELL EAID PLAN

Looted Village Stores and Big Wholesale House With Cheques.

Early in 1918 a man by the name of Saunders arrived in a southern Manitoba town and within a few days opened a barber shop and pool-room. He made it known that he recently came down from the Peace River country where he had disposed of his homestead though he still owned a bunch of cattle up there. A deposit account was opened in a local bank and for about six months he carried on a fair business.

The manager of the bank was detailed to open a branch in another part of the province, and the accountant from a neighboring town came up to relieve. On the morning of September, 15, when the relieving officer was absent, having gone home for the week-end, and the teller was out shooting, as this was the opening day, Saunders called early at the bank and presented a cheque for $535 in his favor drawn upon a branch of the same bank in a remote part of the Peace River country. The amount was represented to be a settlement for the sale of the cattle and was presumably signed by a drover of that district. The cash was still in the safe—the teller had not returned from shooting, so the ledger-keeper entered the deposit in the customer's pass-book and advised him to endeavor to cash his own cheque with local merchants in order to permit him to go into Winnipeg that day where he stated he intended buying new supplies for the barber shop. The man raised about $200 locally, displaying his pass-book and explaining the teller's absence. On his arrival in Winnipeg he went immediately to a wholesale house and placed an order for $50 worth of barber's supplies, tendered his cheque in payment, and then requested the firm to cash his cheque for $100. The wholesale house 'phoned the bank and were told that the cheque deposited by Saunders was drawn on a point in Alberta and that several days would elapse before it was ascertained whether or not it was genuine. However, Saunders received the $100 cash from them and immediately went to the telegraph office and wired the ocuntry branch to telegraph him $300 to the Winnipeg branch. This last request was not granted as word had not come in from the Alberta branch. When the funds did not arrive Saunders evidently became suspicious and he disappeared. On September 26 a wire was received by the southern Manitoba office that the maker's name on the cheque was forged and that the police of that country had been looking for the payee for almost a year on a charge of cattle stealing.

It was quite apparent that the forger had his plans well made in advance and was merely waiting for a favorable opportunity to put them into effect. The bank lost a little over $300 on the transaction and though the po ice were immediately notified no trace had been found of the forger.

A point worth remembering in this connection is that had the manager of the country branch sent a letter of inquiry to the branch in the Peace River country shortly after Saunders landed in the town—the forgery never would have occurred and doubtless he would have been arrested on the former charge. Needless to say the writer has profited by the experience and strangers who desire to open accounts now are asked to furnish their former address, and the usual inquiry is made.

Farmers Get Advice Over Radio To Grow The Type of Wheat the Miller Generally Prefers

MANHATTAN, Kas., Jan. 28.—Farmers within hearing distance of station KSAC, the broadcasting station of the Kansas State Agricultural College, listened in to an instructive talk that needs rebroadcasting to every wheat grower in the country.

It was made by H. G. Randall, a miller of Kansas City, and its subject was what kind of wheat the miller needs.

Summing up his talk, Randall outlined the following miller's needs in his call for high-grade wheat:

1. Wheat unmixed with other grains. "It is expensive for the miller to clean out corn and oats," Randall points out. "Grinding wheat with even a small percentage of rye results in bread which is small, coarse and dark."

2. Wheat free from every foreign material, particularly dirt, chaff and weed seeds. "They can be cleaned out, but no one will pay top price for dirty wheat," says Randall.

3. High test weight. "Very light-weight wheat makes very poor quality flour."

4. Dry wheat. "Threshing should never be done when the straw is damp," Randall advises. "Wet wheat is light test and is almost sure to become damaged while in storage."

5. Ripe wheat. "If it has been cut green it is light test and will make poor flour."

6. Smutless and weevil-proof wheat.

7. Wheat with a high degree of protein. "Grinding such wheat," Randall concludes, "results in a large, hite, fine-grained loaf of bread."

CARE NEEDED TO AVOID FOWL PEST

United States is Fighting Epidemic by Keeping Poultry Home Nights.

MANHATTAN, Kas., Jan. 28.—Despite embargo of eastern states against poultry from states in which the European fowl pest has broken out, and despite cancellation of chicken shows to check the progress of this epidemic, poultry authorities say all that is needed to fight the pest is strict cleanliness and watchfulness.

No poultry losses need be feared, if these strict precautions are observed, says Prof. L. F. Payne, head of the department of poultry husbandry at the Kansas State Agricultural College. His warning is echoed by word from Dr. John R. Mohler, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington.

"The disease seems to develop at shows," says Prof. Payne, "in feeding batteries of packing plants, or in poultry cars where the birds are placed for shipping. Under farm conditions the danger does not seem especially great.

"The owner of chickens, by avoiding the shows, by putting new birds brought on the farm through a quarantiu period before turning them in with the other chickens, and by thoroughly disinfecting all coops coming from town poultry houses, probably will be able to avoid any outbreak."

Minerals Essential For Cattle

Livestock breeders know that it has long been the practice to give cattle common salt because the animals do not obtain enough chlorine from their feeds to provide for proper digestion. Salt makes hydrochloric acid in the stomach, and this acid is essential for digestion.

It is now known that the rations fed to beef cattle may be deficient in minerals other than salt, and that this may affect the health, thrift, growth and gains of the animals. Cows fed a ration low in iodine may produce calves afflicted with goiter, and such calves are weak or dead at birth. An insufficient supply of calcium in the ration fed to the young animals restricts the development of the bony framework, and pregnant cows fed a low-lime ration frequently calve prematurely.

In two recent trials with beef calves at the Ohio experimental station, the addition of lime and phosphorus to a ration of ground corn, linseed meal, corn silage and alfalfa hay resulted in slightly larger gains, slightly less feed per pound of gain, and slightly larger frames. In another trial with fattening steers at the Iowa station, the addition of a mineral mixture containing lime, phosphorus and iodine to a ration of shelled corn, linseed meal, corn silage, and clover hay proved profitable.

BUMPER CROP OF ICE

Canada's Ice is So Plentiful Big Exports Are Being Made.

OTTAWA, Jan. 21.—Canada is reaping a bumper crop of ice this year. The crop reports have indicated very favorable weather conditions, and the surplus production is finding a market in the United States. The latest figures show that Canada shipped ice to the value of $88,839 to the United States during the first nine months of last year.

MILLING PRODUCTS FIND NEW MARKETS

Germany Now Second Customer for Canadian Flour —U. S. Losing.

In spite of difficulties encountered during the latter part of 1924 on account of the wide spread and sometimes erratic movements in the wheat markets, the year may be considered a successful one for the milling industry as a whole. While the December export figures are not yet available, the eleven months' total compares very favorably with the grand total for last year which was itself a record.

It is gratifying that while the flour export business of the United States has been losing ground during recent years, the Canadian business has expanded gradually for the last ten years with the exception of the period immediately following the war, when European buying power was very low. The 1923 total of flour exports amounted to more than 11,197,000 barrels, and it is probable that the 1924 figures will exceed this amount. The increase is due largely to the increased demand on the part of Russia and Germany. The United Kingdom has, of course, continued to hold first place in the purchases of our flour, having taken 4,081,000 barrels during the twelve months ending with November. In the same period, Germany stood second with 2,640,000 barrels. The total exports to all countries during the same period was 12,038,000 barrels.

Following is a statement of the monthly flour exports from Canada by calendar years since 1920. The figures are in barrels of 197 pounds (000 omitted):

Large Shipment Alberta Cattle Is Sent To Japan

CALGARY, Jan. 21.—A shipment of 250 head of Alberta beef cattle will shortly be made from this province in the name of a large Japanese firm which has interested itself in the importation of beef from Alberta ranges. This is the first large shipment to result from the reduced rate of $37.50 per head obtained by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, following negotiations and test shipments. Another Japanese firm is negotiating for ocean space for a similar shipment in the near future. This indicates the beginning of a steady trade with Japan in beef cattle.

NEW POTATO MARKETS

United States Will Ship Spuds to Egypt, Brazil and Argentina.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—(Canadian Press).—New probable markets for American potatoes, excluded from Great Britain under an embargo, have been found in Egypt, Brazil and Argentina.

The commerce department recently cabled to eight countries seeking a market and has been advised that Egypt wants quotations on trial shipments, that the market in Brazil looks good if exemptions from import duties can be extended and that Argentina is interested in the purchase of seed potatoes, in which market France previously has dominated.

SULPHUR AND MOLASSES

Mined in Italy, Also Pumped From Earth in U. S.

KING OF CHEMICALS.

The affinity that is said to exist between bacon and eggs would seem to have a parallel case in the close friendship that unites sulphur and molasses. At least that is how it appears to most of us, for the word "sulphur" is ever sufficient to conjure up visions of the nauscous, sticky, gritty mass that was (under due threats) forcibly administered to us in the days of our early youth.

Yes! In the invention of horrible medicinal decoctions, our parents and grandparents were hard to beat, as those who have undergone courses of camomile tea, senna tea, squill syrup, etc., will testify. Though no doubt these remedies were efficacious enough in their way.

But, regarded in a molasses-free capacity, sulphur is a very interesting and useful substance on which a good many industries dpened. As we buy it from the chemist for domestic purposes, it is a yellow powdery material known to the trade as "flowers of sulphur." It can also be obtained in thick rolls or sticks, when it is termed "roll sulphur," or brimstone.

As most school children who have reached the length of the science room are aware, sulphur has many peculiar characteristics, as for instance, its behavious under heat. At first it melts. On applying a stronger heat it solidifies, if heated further, it melts again; still increasing the temperature will cause it to distil, that is, to evaporate.

Sulphur does not dissolve in water, and has no appreciable taste or smell. It burns with a lambent blue flame, giving off choking fumes of sulphur dioxide. It is this asphyxiating gas which possesses the highly disinfectant properties of burning sulphur.

For a long time nearly all the sulphur used came from Sicily, where it is found in abundance, and the mines are easily worked. To-day, however, the United States lead the world in the production od sulphur. By means of up-to-date and scientific machinery, very pure sulphur is mined from the huge deposits that lie in the depths of the oil-bearing districts of Louisiana and Texas.

The unique point about the American process is the fact that instead of picks and shovels, etc., hot water is used to bring the sulphur to the surface. A well is sunk into the heart of the sulphur-bed, as though drilling for oil. Two pipes are now let down into the well, and into one very hot water is passed. The hot water melts the sulphur which is forced up the other pipe by means of compressed air, led into special enclosures built on the surface, and allowed to solidify.

Sulphur is one of the most important raw materials found in the earth. In the rubber, paper, and chemical trades, it plays a large part. But it is in the manufacture of sulphuric acid (commonly known as vitriol) that it renders its greatest service.

Few people realise how largely their welfare depends on this acid. The food we eat, is grown by the aid of fertilizers made from it; the dyes that colour our fabrics; the metals that go to make our household utensils; the dynamite we blast with; the celluloid that cinema films and toilet articles are made from—all owe their existence in a great measure to sulphuric acid.

This "King of Chemicals," as it has been termed, unlike certain other acids, is very stable. That is, it does not lose strength, nor does it evaporate readily. Nevertheless, it is a thick, oily-looking corrosive liquid that requires to be treated with great respect by those using it.

Most of us know that chemists do not allude to water by its name, but by the symbol H_2O. They have also a symbol for sulphuric acid, which is H_2SO_4.

The above information will help to explain the following epitaph, which appears above the remains of a certain enthusiastic (if a trifle careless) chemical student, who suffered an early demise:

"Poor Johnny now is dead;
Of him we'll hear no more.
For what he took for H_2O,
Proved H_2SO_4."

FAMILY TAKES CORN HONORS

Eleven Members Won Prizes at Last International Show.

SOME RECORD

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., Jan. 28.—For the last six years, championships in corn growing have been hogged by one family.

It's the family of Peter J. Lux of this city, at least one member of which has been outstanding winner at the annual International Hay and Grain Show at Chicago. Eleven members of the Lux family left the last show with prizes.

Peter J. Lux started the winning streak when he captured the international corn king title in 1919. The following year four members of the family placed among the chighest in the awards at the show.

In 1921, Frank Lux, present junior corn king of the world, captured the title of junior corn king and in 1922 his father, Peter J. Lux, again was crowned leading corn grower of the world.

In 1923, Maurice Lux, another son of Peter Lux, won the junior corn championship at the international show.

Double Honor.

For the second time Frank Lux now holds the junior corn king title and, in addition the reserves sweepstakes title as a result of the awards issued at the 1924 international show. It is the first time in the history of the show that a contestant has won the grand sweepstakes title and also the reserve sweepstakes placing.

Each member of the Lux family engaged in the production of show and market corn works on an individual basis and follows a system of his own specialization, although there is co-operation among all branches of the family. Peter J. Lux now is concerned with experiment sthat have been conducted for six years by the U. S. Depaptment of Agriculture.

These experiments are beginning to bring results that, according to Lux, will change the fundamental principles of corn growing. Corn is being produced, under the test, that is suited to any soil or climatic conditions in which it is used, eliminating the risk of disease and poor germination that has been a problem of the past.

Production Record.

Aside from having the best samples of corn grown by any youth in the world during the last year, Frank Lux, son of Peter Lux, has a production record that is the best in Indiana, if not in the country. He produced 119.2 bushels of corn from an acre of ground.

Frank's next ambition is to enter the Five Acre Corn contest held each year in Indiana for adult corn growers. He hopes to bring the honor of corn king for the third time to his father's household.

His brother, Maurice Lux, the 1923 junior corn king, is also working for future laurels and will be active in the crown growing contests in Shelby county this year after having taken several county, state and national honors in 1924.

Germany a Good Prospect For Canada's Surplus Crop

OTTAWA, Jan. 28.—It has been estimated that Germany will require to import during the period August, 1924, to July, 1925, approximately 2,318,000 tons of grain and flour—in terms of grain. In the first three months of the present harvest year, August, September and October, imports amounted to 417,540 tons. It may consequently be predicted with some certainty that in the coming months before the next harvest furt or considerable importations of gr in or flour will be necessary.

It is probable, too, that the imports will be larger than these estimates, because unfavorable weather conditions at the end of the season probably reduced the German harvest below the estimate and at the same time reduced the quality of the grain. It is, therefore, probable that a large part of the home-grown crop will be unsuitable for grinding and can only be used for fodder. The insufficiency in grain suitable for grinding will have to be made good by larger importations from abroad.

WHY DON'T WE TELL THEM?

The inherent modesty of the Canadian people prevents the proper and adequate dissemination of data on our country's tremendous natural resources and wealth, says the Financial Post. We don't tell the world enough about our big heritage. The result is a rather pitiful lack of knowledge evident in the United States and elsewherc, with regard to Canada and Canadian conditions. Typical of this is the following from a recent issue of "Daily Metal Trade," published in Cleveland.

The combined national wealth of Canada and New Zealand appears insignificant when compared with the amount of life insurance written in the United States this year. Fifty-five million Americans are now insured for $64,000,000,000. This is a gain of 8 per cent. in a single year.

From the above it is evident that about $4,800,000,000 of life insurance was written in the United States this year, and in the opinion of the publication referred to, the combined wealth of Canada and New Zealand (probably Newfoundland is meant) is insignificant in relation to this figure. But national wealth of Canada alone, according to a recent estimate made by the Bureau of Statistics, is more than $22,000,000,000. This goes to show how much need there is for foreign advertising and for letting the world know about the country of the twentieth century.

French Farmers Still Flock To Cities, Yet Country Is Suffering From Bread Shortage

PARIS, Jan. 28.—Making 500,000 grains of wheat grow from one in a year and a half, was cited in the dusty debate of the Chamber of Deputies on agriculture recently as a laboratory accomplishment, rather putting in the shade the old adage about making two leaves grow where one grew before.

This scientific achievement was used by Deputy Compere-Moral to show how valuable science could be to the farmer.

France has a back to the farm movement but the tide to the city continues to increase. Before the war, more than half the population was rural, it was shown by various speakers, and now only a third of the people cultivate the soil. And meantime the wheat shortage, extraordinarily serious this year, is worrying economists and politicians for the reason that bread, the standard of the Frenchman for the cost of living, goes up in price constantly without regard to the campaigns of successive cabinets and long speeches by ministers of different political complexions.

In comparing practice with possibility, M. Compere-Moral said the farmer, on an average, grew only 25 grains of wheat from one, while the scientist grew his half million.

CELERY BLANCHED IN 6 TO 10 DAYS

New Method Allows Preparation in Transit to Selling Points.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 28.—A new method for blanching celery "while you wait," that is, in from six to ten days, as compared with present-day methods of billing and boarding up, which take from three to six weeks, has been discovered.

There is a possibility that by the new system celery can be blanched sufficiently for the trade while it is in transit in tight cars.

Dark cloudy weather and low temperatures last summer held back the celery crop, in some instances frost appearing before the natural time for blanching had arrived. It occurred to Dr. Harvey that some method whereby this green celery could be blanched quickly would be of commercial advantage.

Ethylene gas has been used for several years in causing orangcs and lemons to turn yellow. Dr. Harvey believed it would do as much for celery and entered upon a series of experiments.

"On treating celery placed in containers with ethylene gas the leaves and stalks lose their green color and become a rich golden yellow with the exact appearance of celery which has been very carefully and fully blanched by hilling or in storage," says Dr. Harvey. "The stalks which have been treated with ethylene seem more brittle, less stringy and sweeter than celery which has not been treated.

"The gas has no bleaching action and is not poisonous. It seems merely to hasten the natural blanching process which would occur if the plants were hilled up or placed in storage in darkness."

Dr. Harvey adds that the expense for gas is trifling—not to exceed 50 cents for an entire carload of celery. As the treatment is still in the experimental stage, he warns that it should not be atetmpted by celery growers without the aid of the experiment station.

Doomed Goose Takes Hold of Killer by Ear and Hangs On.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (Canadian Press), Jan. 17.—A Fraser Valley goose nearly turned the tables on its owner here recently. With a howl of pain the victim released his hold on the goose, but it held on, flapping its wings. Finally the bird was pried loose and killed.

HARD TEST AHEAD FOR POOL SYSTEM

Head of Farmers' Organization Sees Danger of Expecting Too Much.

CALGARY, Jan. 28.—H. W. Wood, president of the United Farmers of Alberta, in his address at the annual convention admitted frankly that the testing time of the pool system of selling agricultural products had come What they had done so far seemed good: the principles appeared sound. But the system was not as yet established. On the contrary they had just started, and they had a long road ahead of them to final success. A breakdown at any one point might cause a collapse of the whole enterprise.

"In the first place, in order to succeed, the principles of co-operative marketing must be sound," said Mr. Wood. "On this foundation our superstructure must be built, but no superstructure, however wisely built, can endure after the foundation has crumbled."

Mr. Wood emphasized the point that while their principles might be absolutely sound, they would remain useless unless they could put them into practical operation. To put them into practical operation depended upon the ability of those directly interested to do "a really big, practical new thing, in a thoroughly practical business way." That, in his opinion, was where the danger lay, and the danger was real.

In referring to the difficulties that were ahead, Mr. Wood made special mention in connection with the pool acquiring its own elevator facilities, which, he said, would unavoidably involve a tremendous outlay of capital, either in construction or purchase.

Implement House Makes Job More Comfortable for Farmer.

This is the best time of the year to make the necessary repairs on the farm machinery. A good implement house makes the job more comfortable for the worker. Paint applied to the iron and wood parts of the machines will prolong their life. Polished surfaces should be cleaned thoroughly and a coat of grease or heavy oil applied. "More machines rust out than wear out," it is often said. New parts needed should be ordered now. In spring there is a rush of orders for repair parts at the factories and often there are delays that bring the work of repairing the machines at a time when it is inconvenient.

Bad Milk Kills The Babies of Argentine

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Jan. 28.—Half a million babies have died in Aregntine during the last decade before they reached the age of two years, according to a report by the Ministry of Agriculture. It ascribes the unusually high death rate to the lack of sufficient milk and adulteration of the milk sold. It is pointed out that while the cattle industry is the chief business of the Argentine, most of the cattle are slaughtered for exportation which has resulted in a serious milk shortage.

The ministry recommended that the municipalities exercise control over milk distributors to insure pure milk. A newspaper, editorially points out, that a child dies in this country, with a population of less than 10,000,000 every 12 minutes.

FARMER LEADER URGES AGAINST RADICAL TREND

N. B. Williams Warns West of Danger in Blind Materialism.

MAINTAIN TRADITION

Success of Agricultural Societies is Due to Consideration of Facts.

SASKATOON, Jan. 28.—That little bit of the contempt for established authority which is one of the first symptoms of the spirit of blind materialism—not widespread and not marked, but a dangerous doctrine for any country and utterly opposed to the best traditions of Canada and the British race—is to be found in Saskatchewan, was the warning conveyed in the closing address by N. B. Williams, past president, at a banquet tendered the Agricultural Societies Association by the Saskatoon Exhibition Association and the Winter Fair Board. He said:

"The great country of Russia has been set on the rocks as the outcome of a 100 per cent. application of this materialistic ideal. This theory that the world can be made better b destroying our present institutions instead of improving them has secured a foothold in Germany, in France, in Italy, even in our own mother land, our own country and our province.

"One of the main objects of the agricultural societies is to interest our boys and girls in the best methods of agricultural practice so that they may be better citizens and better farmers to carry on our work when we are gone and we owe it to them to maintain the best traditions of our race and our land if we are to have a people worthy of our heritage and our empire. The success of the agricultural societies is due largely to the fact that ther do not waste their time discussing visionary schemes for revolutionizing agriculture and the condition of the farmer. We endeavor to get the facts before we start to apply the remedy for our agricultural ills."

Doctor Travelled 200 Miles To See Patient

SASKATOON, Sask., Jan. 28.—(Canadian Press).—Two hundred miles of winter journey by cutter and railway jigger to bring four babies into the world, only to lose mother and baby in one case and baby in another, because called in too late—such is a medical practitioner's life in rural Saskatchewan, when emergency calls reach Hafford Hospital and Medical Superintendent Dr. Arthur O. Rose starts out. Dr. Rose formerly was in charge of the Sutherland Avenue Institute of All People's Mission, Winnipeg. He is now engaged by the Methodist Missionary society which built and conducts the new hospital at Hafford.

In one case at midnight he entered a lonely farm house where a woman lay, "already 24 hours in labor, with an impossible complication." Two hours after the baby was born dead. The mother died soon after. He helped lay out the woman and at dawn drove away. The father, now bereaved, is about to lose his farm through crop failure and debt. Penniless, he will be unable to pay any fees for the services that he sought too late. The cost to Hafford Hospital was $18.50 for these two cases.

In the second pair of cases a total of $5 was paid by the families helped. A correct charge for the four would be $123 plus $38.50 for livery. This explains why only a doctor paid from public funds could engage in such practice.

Between 9 a.m. on a Sunday and 6.45 a.m. on the Monday following Dr. Rose drove 102 miles on the third and fourth maternity cases. After he had made the first girl happy with a fine baby boy, her brother offered to give him a horse, but this the doctor refused, for the man was desperately poor. In the fourth case the baby died before the doctor could get through, but the mother's life was saved and the husband gratefully paid $5, "out of which I paid the driver $10," adds Dr. Rose cheerfully.

By defeating the Lindsay Midgets at Brock Street Rink last night by the score of 9 goals to 1, the Peterboro Juniors qualified to meet Bowmanville in the second round of the O.H.A. series. The local kids are not only following in the footsteps of the Senior blue shirts, but they have gone one better than them, in winning their group and doing it without having a defeat chalked against them.

The local Junior team is composed of smart stick handlers and fast skaters, but this will not win games for them against teams who are their equal and who are refined in combination plays. So far this season the locals have had pretty soft picking, and instead of practicing up their combination against these weaker teams, they have done nothing but tear through them single and pile up big scores.

Team Play Scarce.

Last night it was a case of individual work all through with the visitors showing the only bit of team play all night, and their's was nothing to write home about. Lindsay showed more form than they did in the first game against the Petes, but they still have to improve a lot to come up to the calibre of the blue and white.

Peterboro hod all the chances in the world to work in team play last night, as the Lindsay forwards could not stand the gaff, and after the local attackers had handed them a few jolts in the first period, they began to weaken.

There is not a man on the whole Petes' line-up who does not deserve his position. They are not so husky as their defence men, Salmon and Collins, but they break fast and once going, throw a mean pair of hoofs behind them. Combination as it was demonstrated here on Monday night when the Greyhounds performed, will win any game, and this is the source in which the Petes are lacking. Practice makes perfect and from all appearances there kids should soon pick up some two and three man stuff.

A Regular Goal Getter.

It is difficult to pick the stars, although perhaps the honors should go to "Shrimp" McDougal, the elusive little centre man, whose worok throughout, as usual, was consistently sensational. He was the big goal getter for the winners, accounting for five, while "Russ" Salmon cannot be left off the stellar column either, for the big defence man had a big share in the successful attacks of his teaf. He was at his best last mnight and although he only registered once he was robbed on several different occasions. He and Maudsley were the only en on the Peterboro line up who showed any willingnes to pass the puck. Harry Cheu at left wing is in a slump at present, but within a short time should get going as strong as ever. Collins on defence is improving steadily. He teamed up nicely with Salmon last night and turned in a clever defensive game while on the attac khe has plenty of sneed and packs a bullet-like shot. Milloy and Maudsley, the two subs., were by no means a drawback to their team when they were on the ice. Milloy, like Ridpath, is a great back checker and plays his position nicely.

"Sailor" Maudsley was the surprise package last night. In former appearances he did not do his stuff as well as was expected, but last night he dug right in with the rest of them and turned in a fine performance. Jack LeBarr in goal is not to be forgotten, as he turned aside a flock of shots. Although most of the shots from the Lindsa ysticks were weak ones, he had a number of difficult ones to handle.

Morin Worked Hard.

Morin on the forward line for Lindsay was the hardest worker on his team. Although holding down the position of a sub. he was better than the regulars. He was the only real back-checker on the Lindsay line-up. Cook and Reeves, on defence, were always hard men to get by, but on the attack they fell down. Martin, at centre, and Mills, at right, also turned in some useful work. Eberts in goal witnessed nine goals scored against him, but at that he turned aside a number of hard shots.

Lindsay's most effective hockey was shown in the second and third periods. The locals had no opposition at all in the first stanza, but in the second the visitors buckled up and carried the play to the Petes for a considerable length of time. They worked in close several times but spoiled their chances by wild shooting and failure to pass to the other fellow.

Penalties Aplenty.

Penalties came thick and fast in the first period, Referee Rowden handing out four for tripping within three minutes time, while when the period ended, he ha dissued a total of six. The rest of the game was free from rough play and although he issued four penalties in the last two periods, they were all for minor offences.

Line-Ups.

Peterboro—Goal, J. LeBarr; defence, Collins and Salmon; centre, McDougal; right wing, Ridpath; left wing, Cheu. Subs., Maudsley and Milloy.

AURA LEE HAVE BACKS TO WALL

Defeat by Petes Here Friday Night Will Discard Marsden's Team.

ARE CHECKERS.

Aura Lee and the Petes will hook up at the Brock street rink on Friday night in a senior O.H.A. fixture that should be a stubborn battle from the first drop of the hat. A loss will put Aura Lee out of the running and Bill Marsden's hard-checking team can be counted upon to give every ounce that is in them to grab off the decision.

The Petes have been blanked in their last two starts after winning ten straight games but they hope to get going on Friday night and show the home fans some of the stuff that has made the blue sweatered crew prime favorites in Toronto.

The set-back at the hands of the Parkdale bunch, followed by the Soo's clean cut win here on Monday, has been taken to heart by the Petes and they should look like a new outfit when they go into action against Aura Lee.

Marsden's squad of hard working and clever players cannot be treated lightly. They have given the Petes two hard games, losing by but one goal on each occasion and fighting with their backs to the wall, will be dangerous all the way.

A Peterboro victory means the elimination of Aura Lee, and leaves the group championship to be decided by Parkdale and the Petes, with Varsity and Hamilton having an outside chance to edge into the play off. The first and second teams will of course meet in a two game series for the group honours.

The reserved seat plan for subscribers will go on sale at Bond's tomorrow while the rest of the reserved seats will be available on Friday.

As usual there will be a keen demand for the pasteboards.

FRUSH KNOCKED OUT BY MASCART

Frenchman Retained Featherweight Crown of Europe in Paris Bout.

PARIS, Jan. 28—Edouard Mascart retained the featherweight championship of Europe last night, by knocking out Danny Frush in the second round of what was to have been a fifteen round bout.

The end came after one minute and 20 seconds of battling in the second round. The victory of Mascart is considered as giving him the right to challenge Louis (Kid) Kaplan of Meriden, Conn., for the world featherweight title.

In the first round, Mascart attempted to box wth the Englishman and was outpointed by a wide margin. Frush pumped his left into the little Frenchman's face throughout, making good use of his longer reach.

Immediately the gong rang for the second round, Mascart, who evidently had realized the error in his tactics in the first, rushed out of his corner and began slugging furiously, unmindful of Frush's straight left.

Finally the French boy manoeuvred Frush into a neutral corner and sent a heavy left swing to the pit of the Englishman's stomach and crossed a short right to the jaw. The last blow was unnecessary, as Frush's legs already were quivering and he was sinking to the floor when the blow to the jaw landed. No count by the referee was necessary. Frush was sent out for several minutes.

Mascart will send a challenge to Kaplan through the International Boxing Union. "Sparrow" Robertson, who is now in the United States has the authority to arrange the match. Ringside experts expressed the belief that Mascart tonight proved beyond doubt that he is the best featherweight in Europe.

Paul Fritsch defeated Fred Bretonned on points after 12 hard rounds of battling. Bretonnel originally had been booked to meet Johnny Dundee at 138 pounds in the main bout tonight, but Dundee returned to the United States. Bretonnel had difficulty in making the weight tonight, and announced that hereafter he will fight in the welterweight class.

BRIBERY SCANDAL WITNESSES HEARD

trict attorney's investigation into the Dolan-O'Connell bribery scandal was continued Tuesday when Horace Ford, second baseman of Philadelphia Nationals was questioned as to his knowledge of the $500 bribe offered to Heinie Sand, Philadelphia shortstop, by Jimmy O'Connell, New York outfielder, in a game here near the close of last season.

Ford, it was understood, told Assistant District Attorney Brothers, in charge of the probe, that his first knowledge of the affair came when Sand took him into his confidence after the game. According to the testimony taken before Commissioner Landis, Ford advised Sand to "use his own judgment." Subsequently Sand related his story to Arthur Fletcher, manager of the Phillies.

The examination of Ford followed interrogation Monday of two other figures in the scandal, Frank Frisch, captain of the Giants, and Sand.

Others will be interviewed during the next few days in an effort to uncover any basis or grand jury action and indictments.

WANT TOO MUCH.

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 28.—(Canadian Press).— The Wentworth Medical Inspection committee at the annual meeting considered the request of nurses who asked for a minimum salary of $1,200 per annum, with increases of $50 per year until a maximum of $1,500 a year was reached. This was refused, as was also an increase of $50 for the present year.

JOHN LEVI HAS ELASTIC STRETCH

Famous Indian Athlete Signed by New York Americans, Not Only Stars at Rat, But in Field as Well.

JOHN LEVI IN BASEBALL UNIFORM ALSO WEARING THE WAR PAINT OF HIS TRIBE

If John Levi, former star of the Haskell Indians, can hit a baseball like he tosses a forward pass he is going to be a big help to the New York Americans.

Levi recently signed a contract with the Yankees, who are hopeful he will overcome the jinx that has followed the collegians with the New York club.

Levi is a first baseman and outfielder, better than six feet tall and weighs about 190 pounds. He can stretch and get them, as the picture shows.

GOULDING DEFEATED.

Canadian Walker Showed Effect of Long Absence from Track.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—George Goulding, veteran Canadian walker who is attempting a comeback, was defeated in a two-mile handicap race at the Millrose A. A. games last night, when he failed to overcome the 30 second advantage given Charles Eschenback, of the Pastime A. C., New York. Goulding lost further ground when he slipped twice, making the turns and finished in second place, about sixty yards behind the winner.

Goulding, who held the Olympic title in 1912, was making his first appearance here in eight years. His style seemed as smooth as ever but the effects of his long absence from indoor competitions were apparent. The long-limbed Canadian was making good headway until his first fall which cost him ten yards. He recovered and passed three of his four rivals, but was unable to catch Eschenbach, who showed surprising speed.

WRESTLER LOST SUIT.

Munn's First Legal Bout With Strangel Lewis Fails.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Jan 28.—Wayne (Big) Munn, who recently defeated Ed. (Strangler) Lewis, former heavyweight wrestling champion, lost his first legal bout with Lewis Tuesday when Circuit Judge W. P. Hall, declined to issue a temporary restraining order against Lewis. Munn charged that Lewis had interfered with his wrestling contracts, had slandered his title as champion and adopted a policy of threats and intimidations. He asked a temporary restraining order pending application for an injunction.

Judge Hall explained that his refusal was not absolute and asked Munn and his manager to show some authority for their action. The court advised Munn to bring a damage suit based upon a specific act of interference and slander.

NEW STADIUM TO BE BUILT IN N. Y.

Rickard's New Madison Square Garden Will Be Finished October 15th.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(United Press).—Tex Rickard, sport promoter, states that the new Madison Square Garden will be ready for occupancy by Oct. 15, 1925. It will not be on the site of the present garden, but on Eighth avenue and 50th street. The old Garden will be torn down at once and a skyscraper replace the famous structure. Rickard is putting up the new Garden with the aid of the Ringling Circus interests and other business men and sport lovers. He will be president. Carbarns have long occupied the new site. Rickard has secured permission of the new owners of the old Garden property to perpetuate the name of the new structure.

The plans call for a building of steel construction, fireproof and modern in every respect, with every mechanical device for the conduct of any indoor sporting event, any social function, any industrial display and with facilities to house the largest conventions. A prospect of getting the Republican National Convention for it in 1928 figured largely in the preliminary arrangements.

It will cover a plot of ground 200 feet wide by 500 feet long, and 126 feet from pavement to cornice.

The whole will be divided into two levels, making it possible for two separate activities of large proportions to take place at any one time. The lower level, which will be 200 feet wide by 175 feet long, is especially designed for commercial exhibitions; the upper for conventions, athletic exhibitions and sports.

It will be possible to seat 23,000 spectators without undue crowding, or 9,000 more than the Olympia in London—at present the world's largest covered amphitheatre—and 10,000 more than the old Garden could hold.

It will contain the most modern ice hockey equipment. A franchise has been acquired from the National Hockey League and Canadian players will be seen in action there next winter.

In addition, the plans call for club rooms and dining rooms.

Rickard says that in the four and a half years he has had charge of the old Garden, over 7,000,000 people have been entertained there.

INSPECT YANKEES' CAMP

Manager Miller Huggins And Pitcher Bob Shawkey Already at Scene of Action.

LEFT TO RIGHT—BOB SHAWKEY, MILLER HUGGINS

Miller Huggins is already on the job for the New York Yankees in his quest for another pennant.

Here we have Huggins at St. Petersburg, Fla., where his team will train this year. He is looking over what will be the Yankee's new playing field.

The other gentleman is not a movie actor, as you might judge by the upper lip adornment, but just Bob Shawkey, pitcher.

P.S.—He will positively shed the misplaced eyelash before the season opens.

TOURNAMENT AT "Y."

Volley Ball Team Compete Friday for District Title.

There will be a big volley ball gymnasium Friday afternoon. Teams from Orillia, Belleville and Oshawa along with the team of Petes will battle under the high net for the championship of Eastern Ontario Play will start at 1.30 and a round robin will be run and play will continue throughout the afternoon.

The team emerging victor will be the Eastern Ontario representative in the final tournament, between district winners, to be held in Kitchener sometime in February and the star team winning there will be champions of Ontario.

Volley ball is coming into its own. Although played mostly by business men filled with the thought of taking away that bigness around the belt and prompting them to energy it is a real man's game. It is a game when team work is necessary, group game brains, and dexterity with hand and swift movement. It is a game worth playing and worth watching.

The local business men's class are well versed in the game and are playing it earnestly vying with each other for a position of the quintette which will represent the city in the coming tournament.

Mr. Doug. Loomis has arranged the meeting of the teams of this district and he will be in charge of the play on Friday.

John Held To Design Ziegfeld's Costumes

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(United Press).—John Held, Jr., whose girls wear the most attractive lingerie of any in the comic strips, has designed the costumes for Flo Ziegfelds new production, "The Comic Supplement" which opens in Washington this week. It is the first time that a comic artist has been thus employed.

Held, whose "Margy" is familiar to millions of newspaper readers, was engaged by Ziegfeld after a number of other artists had failed to catch the spirit of the production, which is unique among revues. The atmosphere of the comic supplement will be carried out throughout the piece, in which W. C. Fields is starred.

The new Ziegfeld show is not, however, made up of familiar characters from comic strips. It deals with the life of an average American family.

Held, who is a farmer when not engaged in drawing, exposed ladies for "Life" and the United Feature Syndicate, said the task of catching the spirit of the "Funnies" while originating entirely new costumes proved one of the most difficult of his career. The artist started newspaper work in Salt Lake City.

AMERICA SAVED AGAIN BY GOLF BALL

The biggest news of the new year is out. Misgivings are swept aside. Nervousness and the feeling of uncertainty in business, political and social life are allayed. Discontent among the masses is dealt a death blow.

* * *

The golf ball will remain the same size and weight throughout 1925!

* * *

The announcement has just been made by the United States Golf Association. It ends one of the greatest periods of suspense the American public has felt in half a century or more. No sooner had the golf association come to its decision than the word, passing from mouth to mouth, swept the country,

* * *

There was cheering in the streets and demonstrations on housetops and in the public squares. Cries of "Long live the golf ball as at present designed, manufactured and distributed!" "Vive la Scotch confetti!"a nd "Three cheers for the United States Golf Association!" filled the air.

* * *

The full significance was quickly felt in all walks of life. The stock market rallied to the good news and there were advances of from 8 to 80 points all along the line. Mills and factories reopened, the railroad situation showed marked improvement almost immediately, and expressions of renewed confidence in the ability of the nation to weather the readjustment period were heard everywhere.

* * *

The Federation of Labor passed resolutions at once thanking the Golf Association for its action. "The golf ball as now used is a good thing for the workingman," declared President Green. "To have ordered a larger ball at this time would have set human welfare back 50 years, possibly 52.

"Had the golf association done so it might as well have made the hardship of the masses complete by ordering an entirely new design of fly for fly casting or issuing an edict shortening the polo mallet."

* * *

The golf ball as retained will be the 1.62-1.62 ball. The proposition under discussion was to replace it with a large, a lighter ball about 1.68 inches in diameter, and 1.55 ounces in weight. Anybody can see what this would have meant in the life of the average citizen.

* * *

It seems a majority of golf clubs favored the change but the British Golfing Association refused sanction at this time.

* * *

For a time war with England seemed very probable. It was doubtful, however, how many were ready to lay down their lives for a larger and lighter golf ball. Something of the same uncertainty was felt in British diplomatic circles.

* * *

There was talk of referring it to the League of Nations, but at the last minute this was found to be impossible. The league was found to have no golf ball committee at such. Darn it!

CANADIENS WIN 4 TO 0.

Beat Boston Bruins in Their Den—Two Men Off.

BOSTON, Jan. 28 — (Canadian Press).—Canadiens added two more points for a total of 22 in their league standing last night at the expense of Boston Bruins, defeating the local pros before the largest audience of the season, 4 goals to 0.

Hampered by the absence of Coutu and Sprague Cleghorn, the champions had to do iron man stuff, almost every member of the team playing the full 60 minutes. In consequence, they were content for the most part to hold their advantage gained in the first period, and aroused the ire of the spectators by playing a little killing defensive game in the later stages.

AGED EMIGRANT'S CRUEL HARDSHIP

Widow's Awful Experience on Ellis Island in the States.

EllisIsland, interment camp for immigrants to the United States, is slowly but surely becoming a byword for all that is horrible and inhumane, judging by the reports of those who are unlucky enough to have to spend even a day or two within its shores, appalling conditions, such as are not considered even fit for the worst criminals, are forced upon these voyagers.

An English lady of seventy-four years, has just returned from the land of "Liberty," and has described her nerve-racking experiences while detained on the "Island of Terror," awaiting the decision of the authorities as to her eligibility for entering the States.

A native of Burton-on-Trent, and the widow of the late vicar of Alrewas, this lady, Mrs. Mary Webb, recently sailed on the Baltic to pay a visit to her two sons in America.

As she was undecided as to her return route, she booked a single ticket, having received the assurance of the American Consul that he was quite satisfied as to her intentions, and that a return ticket was unnecessary.

Yet on arrival at New York she was interned without explanation, and this in spite of the fact that her passport was in order and she had the Consul's letter.

Locked on a Balcony.

She was kept on Ellis Island, in surroundings which she has described as being "literally a prison."

"We were locked on a balcony," said Mrs. Webb, describing her experience, "and at 7 p.m. were locked in a bedroom, with 20 beds in two tiers, so that someone was sleeping above me.

"At 6.30 a.m. we dressed, and were locked out on the balcony again, not being permitted to return to the bedroom during the day.

"It was too dark to read, and everyone was weeping and wailing. There was very little air, and a young bride on her honeymoon was so distressed that she had to be sent to the infirmary.

"At meal times," she continued, "we had to go down 40 stairs, and at the bottom there was a very unsavoury smell, as the third-class passengers of all nations rushed out so as to get first to the dinner tables.

"I sat at a paper 'cloth,' on which there was grease as thick as my little finger. The food was most unappetising, except the apples and milk. At one meal there was a mouse on the table eating the food.

"I asked an official very politely if I might use the elevator if I paid for it, and he replied gruffly, 'You can have it free if you can get anyone to work it for you.'

"If you tried to get a breath of fresh air, the window was immediately slammed down, and you were made to go in."

In addition to these discomforts, she had to suffer the indignity of examination by four men, who remained seated in comfortable chairs while she was forced to stand and answer their questionings.

Fortunately her spell in the island was of short duration, for the British Consul got her out on the third day, and she was allowed to return to her native country.

OMEMEE ENJOYED GAME.

Tied With George Street Church and Entertained Later.

OMEMEE, January 28. — The Omeniee hockey team journeyed to Peterboro on Saturday via the C.N.R and played a splendid game with the George street Methodist team.

The game was played immediately upon the arrival of the noon train, and many fans accompanied the locals to the Brock street rink, where some clever stick handling was in evidence, and a good clean game with very few penalties imposed, was witnessed by many spectators.

Messrs. N. Clemett, J. Crafton and L. Adams were the star players with the locals, each scoring a goal. Two thirty minute periods were played, and owing to the ice being then wanted for skaters the game was closed, the score then being a tie, 3-3.

After the match, the visitors were invited to the George street church, where lunch was served, and a social time enjoyed, much to the pleasure of the Omemeeites.

FRENCH FINANCE STARTS.

Wall Street Opens Its Gates Again—Agreement on Debts Near.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(Canadian Press).—Wall Street has re-opened its gates to French financing with the approval of the United States Government.

More than $100,000,000 worth of French bond issues will appear in the next few months as a result.

From indications, although bankers do not say so, an agreement between Washington and France on the payment of the war debt is near. The so-called ban of a moratorium on French loans has been in effect in the financial district since mid-December.

SALT WATER GARGLE

Mr. Mann of Anytown let the soles wear thin on his shoes, and came in one night, after slopping about in the slush all day, with a sore throat.

"Well, why don't you have those shoes half-soled?" asked Mrs. Mann, just a bit tartly.

"I'm going to," was the reply, but Mrs. Mann was accustomed to these promises.

So she just called up the cobbler and requested that he send after the shoes. Then she set about for a remedy for her husband's sore throat.

Gargles, Mrs. Mann had found, seemed to give the quickest and surest relief.

Gargles are applied by allowing a small mouthful of the gargle to run over the affected parts, by holding the head backward, and breathing through it, by which the liquid is agitated and its action promoted.

From her kitchen cabinet Mrs. Mann obtained a small amount of salt. She dissolved this in warm water.

The next morning Mr. Mann's sore throat was gone.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

CONSERVATIVES OPEN CAMPAIGN AGAINST O. T. A.

Caucus Will Place Representations Before Premier for Speech from Throne.

SYSTEMATIC MOVE.

Members Decide to Move in Unison Toward Their Objective.

TORONTO, Jan. 28 (Canadian Press).—A systematic campaign against the O.T.A. in Ontario political circles was discussed and decided upon by some 22 Conservative members of the local legislature who held a caucus yesterday in Toronto. The decision to act in unison towards their objective was reached, and as an initial step in their programme arrangements were made to place representations before Premier Ferguson for his consideration in drafting the speech from the throne. The chairman of yesterday's meeting was W. Weichel, M.L.A. for North Waterloo.

A feature of the meeting was the fact that it was representative not only of the Conservative constituencies which voted for government control, but also of some Conservative constituencies which gave indecisive majorities for the O.T.A. The view of these latter members was that the present situation in the province was one which must be remedied and that the city-country cleavage in the plebiscite voting and the reduced O.T.A. majority itself were factors which must be given consideration.

Greece Wants Peace But Won't Scrap Arms

GENEVA, Jan. 28 — (Canadian Press).—Greece, practically a bankrupt nation, is "in sympathy with the league of nations and the limitation of armaments, and wants lasting peace," but positively will not reduce its army and navy expenditures, the league of nations secretariat has been informed.

A communique to this effect, together with reports that Athens is seeking to buy Denmark's entire supply of war materials, has caused considerable agitation and serious complications in the programme to secure the stabilization of the Balkans.

ENJOYABLE CARD PARTY.

Women's Liberal Association Had Pleasant Evening—Mrs. C. Perry Hostess.

The Womens' Liberal Association held a very enjoyable card party last evening at the home of the president, Mrs. C. Perry, who very kindly threw open her handsome home for their entertainment. The large rooms were filled with the card-players, who numbered nearly a hundred. A bountiful and dainty lunch was served during the evening. Prizes for bridge were won by Mrs. D. Douglas of Los Angeles, and Mr. O'Conor-Fenton, consolation awards going to Mrs. Mosgrove and Mr. J. Jeffries. Prizes for euchre were won by Miss Pearl Lapp and Mr. Donald Smith, with consolation prizes to Mrs T. Alston and Mr. P. J. Doris.

SAYS MONARCHISTS PREPARE COMEBACK

Report Says Grand Duke Nicholas is Mobilizing Czarist Officers.

WARSAW, Jan. 28. — Great commotion has been caused among the Russian emigrants here by the report that the Grand Duke Nicholas has issued an appeal to former Czarist officers and that the Russian monarchists have received material help from some Americans.

The emigrants say they expect some anti-Soviet military intervention this spring.

The report is current that agents representing the Grand Duke Nicholas have arrived in Poland well supplied with money to prepare to send to Jugo-Slavia and Bulgaria, such former Czarist officers as are willing to join the movement to be organized in those countries.

All officers of the old regime living in Poland are said to have received mobilization cards giving the numbers of their regiments, and the names of towns in the Balkans where they should apply when mobilization is announced.

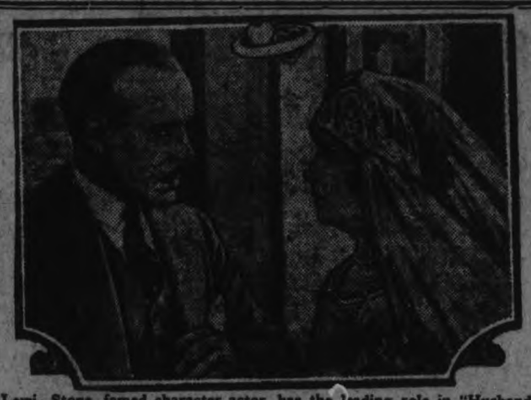
There are probably not more than 10,000 Russian emigrants in Poland, of which 2000 or 3000 are former officers in the Czar's army.

RAID ON BULGARIANS.

Blamed For Slaying of Two Greeks—Inhabitants Beaten.

SOFIA, January 28. — (Canadian Press.) — Two villages inhabited by Bulgarians on the Greek side of the frontier have been surrounded by troops, the police and the inhabitants severely beaten, and some driven into the interior, because of the alleged killing of two Greeks near the border. The Bulgarian Foreign Office declares the two Greeks were murdered by Greeks and not by the Bulgarians.

The news has aroused much feeling in Sofia.



Lewis Stone, famed character actor, has the leading role in "Husbands and Lovers" at the Capitol today and tomorro. In this scene he is shown with Florence Vidor.

OPIUM CONFERENCE WILL END HAPPILY

Japan Has Been Big Factor in Bringing Powers Together.

GENEVA, Jan. 28 (Canadian Press)—Great Britain, United States Japan, France and China yesterday reached a private agreement to fix the period for suppression of opium smoking at fifteen years. The only major phase of the controversy yet unsettled is the date at which the period is to begin, but the British and Americans both indicated this difficulty is surmountable. Consequently the biggest stumbling block to an international convention on opium practically has been overcome and the success of the conference is now assured.

Credit for the agreement is due largely to the Japanese, who have continuously advanced compromises when a deadlock was imminent.

I have suffered from Kidney and Rheumatic trouble for the past ten years, and during that time I spent more than a hundred dollars for different medicines, and was unable to procure any relief.

I was beginning to lose faith in medicines and I considered my case more or less hopeless. Hearing so much about Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills, I decided to give them a trial, and before I had finished one box, I felt like a different man; and am now completely rid of an ailment which had bothered me almost day and night for the past ten years.

I procured Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills at Lynch's Drug Store, and when I purchased them I was told to return for my money if they did not help me. I can recommend these pills and I would willingly pay a good deal to get the relief that I did from them.

This testimonial is given at my own suggestion, and I take pleasure and I consider it my duty to recommend Dr. Banta's Pills to anyone suffering from kidney or rheumatic ailments of any description.

LECTURER PRAISED BUSY PETERBORO'

Wm. McDonald Seems to Have Pleasant Memories of Visit.

Mr. William McDonald, of Chesley, ex-M.P.P., for North Bruce, who gave an illustrated lecture on the Battlefields of Europe in St. Paul's church on the 15th inst., has an interesting article on Peterboro on the front page of the paper of which he is editor, "The Chesley Enterprise." "The Quaker Oats City—A Flying Visit to Busy Peterboro," is the caption of the article, which opens with:

"The history of Bruce County, in dealing with Elderslie Township informs us that among the earliest settlers on concessions one and two, were the Fortune and Lillico families, who in the fifties came as pioneers to the township from the vicinity of Peterboro. None of them ever went back to live in Monaghan or any of the other townships in Peterboro County, which is sure evidence they were satisfied with their new home. But over sixty years later some Bruce and Grey people moved back to the city of Peterboro, which is 75 miles east of Toronto."

In speaking of this city, Mr. McDonald mentions various Peterboro people with whom he was acquainted, including Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Allen, whose guest he was. Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Scott, co-passengers with Mr. McDonald on his trip to the old country, "a young dentist from Lucknow, Dr. Alvin Cameron, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Cameron, of the Sepoy village; Miss Lillian Esplen, daughter of Mrs. H. R. Carter, of this town, teaching in the Central School, and Mr. Clark, who hails from Bentinck Township. He is principal of a new public school recently erected in Peterborough. Mr. Clark was the first assistant in Durham, when it was a Model School under the principalship of the veteran teacher, Thomas Allen."

Mr. McDonald also mentions a pleasant visit of inspection to the Peterboro Clinic, to the Peterboro Milk Products factory, and the Lift Lock. He made the acquaintance while here of Mayor Turner and of Mr. G. N. Gordon, and seems to have very pleasant memories of his visit to Peterboro.

DOROTHY PARK CLUB.

Enjoyable and Instructive Programme—Mrs. Ford Turner Presided.

The Dorothy Park Studio Club held their monthly meeting on January 23rd, with Mrs. Ford Turner in the chair.

After the routine business was done, a very enjoyable and instructive programme was given.

Pupils giving vocal numbers were Mrs. Ford Turner, Misses Leah Black, Geraldine Weatherhead and Mr. Kenneth Jarvis. Two piano solos were given by Miss Agnes Grant, pupil of Mr. R. Gliddon.

The speaker for the evening was Miss Rannie, her subject being "The Use of the Phonograph in School Music." The speaker said they were aiming to cultivate and acquaint the children with names and pieces of prominent musicians. She took as an example, "March Slave," by Tschaikowsky, and gave the life and history of that great Russian.

Another item of interest to the pupils was a portion of reading by Mrs. Park on "How to Breathe," by Plunket Greene, the greatest song interpreter in the English-speaking world to-day.

It is Mrs. Park's intention to give a reading at each meeting on that subject, and all pupils should benefit greatly.

The meeting was brought to a close with the serving of refreshments by Miss F. Robertson and Mrs. L. Spriggs.

AT THE GRAND.

HARVEY'S GREATER MINSTRELS.

With the Harvey Greater Minstrels that come to the Grand Opera House Saturday, matinee and night, is Charlie Johnson, a talented performer who acts as interlocutur or what is known as "Middle Man" and stage manager for Mr. Harvey, and he fills the bill to perfection. A few years ago Johnson was with "In Old Kentucky," being one of the plantation singers and dancers with that organization, and the actor who played "Uncle Ned" was taken suddenly sick and had to be sent to the hospital. The manager was in a quandary, when Johnson stepped up and asked if he might be given a trial at the part, which was done, and he made such a hit as an actor in a prominent part that he was kept there the balance of the season, and often received more favorable comment than any of the actors in the cast. Some press criticisms were that he played the part so true to life that a person would think they were looking at a real colored young fellow playing such a prominent part.

AT THE CAPITOL.

SHOWS HIGHLIGHTS OF MARRIED LIFE

"Husbands and Lovers" Furnishes Diverting Insight Into Marital Complexities.

The comedy of domestic entanglements, a subject that has proved John M. Stahl's forte, furnishes the plot for his latest picture, "Husbands and Lovers", which is at the Capitol today and Thursday.

"Husbands and Lovers" is not a farce. It is humorous, extremely so, but it is also very true to life. The fun comes from being in the position of the "outside looking in." To the married couple on the screen, the quarrels and misunderstandings that mar their relations are not to be taken lightly. Far be it—especially when hubby's friend makes love to his wife and she encourages him. There certainly is nothing frivolous about that, and yet the spectator, while appreciating the impending tragedy, will find much to amuse him in the way it all happens.

A splendid cast is seen in the principal roles of "Husbands and Lovers." Heading the list are Lewis S. Stone, Florence Vidor and Lew Cody, all individually brilliant stars with the added advantage of having parts exactly suited to their type and personality. The picture is a First National release presented by Louis B. Mayer.

AT THE ROYAL.

"RAMSHACKLE HOUSE" TERMINATES RUN.

"Ramshackle House," starring Betty Compson, closes its engagement at the Royal Theatre to-night.

It is a colorful story of love, mystery and adventure laid in Florida. A goodly portion of the thrills take place in the dangerous Everglades, a setting said to be used for the first time in this picture.

Miss Compson was never more appealing. Her supporting cast is comprised of Robert Lowing, John Davidson, William Black, Henry James, Josephine Norman and Duke Pelzer.

"Ramshackle House" was adapted for the screen by Coolidge Streeter from the novel of Hulbert Footner.

NOVEL MAKES IDEAL FILM. "Two Shall Be Born" Filled With Elements Which Make Fine Entertainment.

It is seldom that a novel lends itself so well to motion picture productions as Marie Conway Oemler's "Two Shall Be Born," which will be shown at the Royal Theatre on Thursday. It seems as though the author had a screen production in mind when she wrote the story, for the sequences and action are of a type that appeal to picture lovers. The title piques interest and gives rise to many philosophical speculations as to whether the theory that couples are born to be united in marriage is a true or false conclusion. Miss Oemler has handled the question from one angle in a convincing manner, and in so doing has introduced many picturesque and dramatic sequences. She carries her audiences from a castle in The Prague with its hidden staircases and secret panels to the hustle and bustle of New York, with its traffic policemen, its society events and its home life in the less pretentious districts. Here and there she introduces other phases of life, giving the story a touch of color and action which make a splendid production.

The cast was selected with great care from both the ranks of screen and stage stars so that the best portrayals obtainable might be secured for Miss Oemler's fine characterizations. The list includes such well known players as Jane Novak, Kenneth Harlan, Sigrid Holmquist, Frank Sheridan, Hermann Lieb, Fuller Mellish, Joseph Burke, Blanche Craig, Joseffa de Bok, Catherine Evans, Walter James, Zyllah Inez Shannon and H. Cooper Cliffe.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—(Canadian Press.)—Frederick A. Siebold, Jr., once planner and builder of hotels and amusement places, killed himself with a shotgun in a downtown hotel last night. Yesterday Siebold registered as coming from Miama, Fla. He bought the shot gun, took it to his room and called his wife on the telephone. "Well, I'm going to kill myself," he told her on the 'phone. This is the last you'll ever—" he said and pulled the trigger. It was the thirteenth anniversary of their marriage. Siebold had worked desperately to recover the fortune he lost in 1923.

RAPS SUNDAY DANCING.

Archbishop Matheson Denounces Afternoon Tea and Dance Parties.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 28.—(Canadian Press.)— "It has been brought to my attention that there are afternoon teas held on Sunday in Winnipeg followed by dancing," said Archbishop Matheson, in a sermon here last night. His Grace denounced the practice, stating he was not a puritan and was broad-minded in the matter of dancing under proper auspices, but could not countenance such a practice as had grown up.

"Proper observance of Sabbath in the home serves to curb irreligious influences," he concluded.

PRO. BASEBALL IS DISCUSSED

President Joe Page of Quebec-Ontario League, Addresses Meeting.

No definite action was taken at the meeting held last night in the Chamber of Commerce to hear Mr. Joe Page, president of the Quebec-Ontario Baseball League discuss the question of Peterboro entering into professional baseball.

Mr. Page went into the scheme in detail, along the lines given to the Examiner in an interview with this paper a few days ago. He submitted a project of estimated receipts and expenditures, declaring that $18,000 would cover the outlay for the season and that it should be possible, figuring on an average attendance of 1800 on Saturdays and 250 or 300 on weekdays to show a profit at the end of the year, bearing in mind the clause which gives visiting clubs 50 per cent. of the general admissions.

The annual meeting of the league is to be held in Montreal on Sunday, and it is possible a Peterboro representative will attend although this has not yet been decided.

Mayor Turner was among those present at the meeting.

BROTHER USMAR ALLOWED BOYS TO BEAT HENRI

Shocking Admission From Orphanage Where Boy Was Scalded.

INQUEST OPENED.

Encouraged Beating Up of Eight Year Old Lad, He Tells Coroner.

MONTREAL, Jan. 28. —(Canadian Press.)—Brother Usmar, of the Orphanage at Huberdeau, Que., where eight year old Henri Galarneau was so scalded while taking a bath last week that he died shortly after being admitted to the Montreal Hospital, took the stand this morning at the resumption of the inquest into the lad's death and after informing the coroner that he had bathed the boy, told of his allowing other little inmates of the home to "beat up" Henri because of a disagreeable habit the boy had developed.

He claimed that when he had allowed the chastising to go far enough he had stopped it. The deda boy's brother and another inmate of the Orphanage, testified that Brother Usmar had encouraged the children to beat Henri.

Dr. Turcott, who attends the children at the Orphanage, declared he had never been called to treat Henri for the weakness for which he was punished.

FARMERS DECLARE DEATH ON WOLVES

Raiders Go Right Up to the Houses—Six Foot Pelt Obtained.

KINGSTON, Jan. 28.—(Special.) —Farmers in the northern part of Frontenac county have declared war against the wolves that are running at large in that section. Clubs have been formed in various places to kill off the wolves that are becoming so bold that they are walking right up to the houses. Ex-Warden Drew, who was in the city today for the County Council meeting, had a pelt from a wolf Robert Bowles shot near Oso. The wolf came up to his door and he shot it. The pelt measured six feet. John Flake, Reeve of the Township of Clarendon, and miller, states that the wolves are killing off the deer as at Robertsville the bodies of twelve deer were found which had been killed by wolves.

FAT CHORUS GIRL IN THE FIRST ROW.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—It gives Rose Kern a great laugh to see a plump, unwieldly dame compressing her flesh and cutting her diet in order to imitate the modish slender figure.

Rose has 202 pounds, herself, and she's glad of it.

She is Broadway's fattest chorus girl, in fact, the only chorus girl who can admit being fat. It is her job to be a Mrs. Katzenjammer to the dainty Harrison Fisher types of the other chorines. She must be an ear of corn while they are the downy seed fluffs of the dandelion.

When the other girls kick to the clouds she gets about enough elevation to kick a nearby dog—not at stilted wolfhound, perhaps, but at any rate a daschshund. The others have to dance with an air of scintillating lightness, while the more panting and perspiration she can register the better the manager likes it.

Her fat is her fortune. Yet Rose is not the circus fat lady sort. She is just the average human type of super-buxom lass you see behind a candy counter or are crowded against in the street car.

"In street clothes I don't look my weight at all," she says with pride. "Of course when I get into costume, I'm a regular merry-go-round."

In street clothes Rose if Mrs. Harry Kern, as staid young housewife and the mother of four children. She formely did a bit of acting and sang at concerts. Then the growing family began to demand her time, and she put on weight. She would have enjoyed returning to the stage, but chances seemed against her.

Opportunity beckoned in the person of Florenz Ziegfeld. Many a pretty girl over the land has read with longing his tag phrase, 'glorifying the American girl.' Now came the turn of the fat girl to be glorified. The producer wanted a chorus of non-pretty girls—a comic supplement of extremes—to be set against the conventional background of twinkle-toed beauties.

Rose is 27, while the standard age for chorus girls is 16. She is 5 feet 3 inches, an imperfect 44, while the majority of the company must be as nearly as possible the perfect 34.

"Embarrassed?" she exclaimns. "I should say not. The more the audience laughs at me, the better I am succeeding. I'm getting paid for it, and it gives me an opening onto the stage.

"One of these days we are going to have a team in my family. Little Virginia, she's four and a half and my youngest, is going to be a toe dancer. Ruth and Florence can sing and dance, too, and Ira is learning to play the violin. The Big and Little Kerns are going to make a hit on the stage some of these days, and don't you forget it."

INDIAN RIVER WINS TROPHY

Silver Cup in County Debating Contest—Debate Last Night.

TALK HYDRO.

The Indian River U.F.Y.P.O. Club is the lucky winner this year of the silver cup in the county debating contest. Centreville, which was not represented in the debates this year, won the cup last season.

The final debate in the series was held at the Simcoe Street Club rooms last evening, when a debate was waged between the Indian River and Peterboro clubs on the subject, "Resolved, that Hydro service on the farm at a reasonable cost, will do more benefit to rural conditions than an abundant supply of farm labor."

The Indian River Club had the affirmative of the question, upheld by Cecil Bolton and J. Sloane. The negative, taken by the Peterboro club, was argued by Harry Huston and Miss Hazel Ackison. Judges were Miss Lynch for Indian River, Douglas Deyell for the Peterboro club, and Mr. Harry Jackson (neutral).

SNOW PACKED ROADS IN MILLBROOK SECTION

Few Places to Turn Out—Produce Prices.

The roads in rural parts are very much filled with snow.

Between Cavanville and Millbrook on the middle road there are few passing places. The wind packed the snow so closely, that it makes it very hard to turn out. For the same reason, as well as the great depth of snow, it will be hard to shovel.

Before the storm the pitch holes were very bad. They will soon hollow out again.

Produce Prices

..Dressed pork and beef are being offered by the quarter quite plentifully. Prices vary according to the quality and the amount offered for sale in different localities. Some are selling their beef at 8 and 10 cents for hind and front quarters, others are asking 10 and 12 cents.

Next Sunday evening, Rev. R. T. Richards will speak on the topic "Excess Baggage."

Mr. Fred Matchett, is here from the west visiting his brother, Mr. Richard Matchett and other friends.

The A. Y. P. A. of St. John's Church, Ida, held a social evening at the home of Mr. R. McCamus on Thursday evening. The weather and roads were very unfavorable. A pleasant evening was spent by those who attended.

Miss Dorothy Pudsy has returned from a visit with friends in Manvers.

Mrs. F. Kennedy and three children of Condie, Sask., are visiting her sister, Mrs. J. Armstrong and brother Mr. F. Smith, Millbrook. She will spend some time at her father's home, Bewdley before returning to the West.

WOMEN'S GUILD TEA..

All Saints' Church Ladies Had Enjoyable Time at Member's Home.

The Women's Guild of All Saints' Church held a very enjoyable and well-attended tea yesterday afternoon and evening, at the home of Mrs. R. J. Bolton, 405 Walton Street. The guests were received by Mrs. Bolton and the president of the Guild, Mrs. R. Trotter. Mrs. A. A. Haskill had charge of the tea-room, Mesdames Fuller and Worboy of the sale of home-made cooking, and Mrs. J. E. Johnson of the musical programme. The tea-table, prettily arranged with daffodils, was presided over by Mrs. J. Crowe. Assistants were Mesdames P. Fitzgerald, L. Dobbin and A. W. Clysdale. The musical programme consisted of pianoforte solos by the Misses M. Flowers, Marjorie Turner, Margaret Johnson and Mr. Fred. Smith, a pianoforte duett by Jean and Gerald Dawson, violin numbers by Mr. J. Adams and Master George Gatfield, a reading by Miss Catherine Millard, and vocal solos by Mrs. L. Spriggs. Miss Edna Borbridge and Miss Kathleen Edgar.

Grain and Latest Comment on Industrial Markets.

Closing Quotations on Principal Active Stocks.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

May wheat broke all past records again to-day by soaring to 205 3-4 with July touching 173 1-8. Notwithstanding the present cash situation the big shortage in the crop should not be overlooked. Offerings of oats were not so heavy and cash prices were a trifle better. It would not be surprising to see some export business develop if the grain situation abroad is as acute as indicated by the buying of wheat.

'SPIRIT VOICE' TALKS TO HONEST HERB.

By GENE COHN.

EAST HAMPTON, Conn., Jan. 28.—There are bonds beyond earth and man to tie Herb Lyman to the "lonesome house on Hampton hill."

And there is a voice from beyond the grave to whisper into court records which, ordinarily, have small patience with the supernatural, and would not now were it anyone but "honest Herb."

Also, there is the back door at which approaching death was said to announce its coming with three somber raps—

And the dog that went blind just before the death of Mrs. Phoebe Simons, mistress of the house on Hampton Hill—the dog that went blind but sniffed his way to his mistress' coffin and jumped in, trying to be buried with her—

And the weird green light that passing farmers saw in the window on the nights that Phoebe Simons was said to come back from the "other side."

So it is small wonder that the quiet farm folk of the East Hampton country shake their heads when the law steps in to oust Herb Lyman from the "lonesome house" and say in hushed voices: "Best not to meddle in things we don't know much about. Somethin's queer about all this and Herb is a God-fearing man."

Yet here in this cross-roads hamlet, tucked away from the world, the law has stepped in, and there is such commotion as the countryside has never before known. A new justice has been sworn in and six men will sit with him in deciding whether Herb Lyman is to be dispossessed from the Simons house which he had come to consider his home and where, he says, the shade of Phoebe Simons has returned to chat with him and finally to order him to stay and take care of the place.

But the material world, as represented by H. G. Hill, administrator, postmaster and undertaker, is not interested in the psychic phenomena said to be taking place in the hilltop house, but seeks the property for the dead woman's daughter.

Lyman will not vacate, however. The voice of the woman for whom he worked for 22 years has willed otherwise, he asserts. And since there are some who would put a material value on the property Lyman prepares to show that during all those years he not only received not one cent in pay but used money he had made doing side jobs in fixing the house and buying cattle and planting the soil. These services and moneys, he points out, would total far more than the value of the house.

"You see," begins Lyman, a picturesque man of about 50, wearing checkered mackinaw and boots, "I went to work for Mrs. Simons when I was a youngster. She was a mother to me and she always said I was better than a son to her."

In his simple fashion Lyman relates how a psychic, almost spiritual relationship, sprang up between the two. Mrs. Simons was some 30 years his senior. The hill is a lonely, quiet place. In the summer time a resort springs up about a nearby lake. But the long winter months frame the farm folk within their own lives. Winds bring strange creakings at night; sleet and snow beat upon the panes. There are long days of silence.

And so, it is said in the neighborhood, Herb and Phoebe could exchange telepathic messages. He would always know what she wanted done. If he went down town he would always bring home the things of which she was thinking.

"They can believe it or not," now recites Lyman, "but things has happened here. One week before my father died we were sittin' here and three raps came on the door. I went, but there was no one there. And one week before she died those same raps came and I went. There was no one there. I knew one of us was to go. And she was ailing. Well, the day the stroke came, I knew somethin' was queer, and I cried. I'd been crying for a week.

"Since then she's come back and talked with me four times. We've talked about the crops and the house and, finally, when this happened, she came again and told me not to leave. And I won't."

MUST REDUCE DEBT CLAIMS

Former President Dubois of Reparations Committee Speaks.

"ALLIES BEWARE."

PARIS, Jan. 28.—Canadian Press —Refraining from sentimental outbursts and treating the debts of France to Great Britain and United States from what he characterized as a business man's viewpoint, Louis Dubois, former president of the reparation commission, declared at the conclusion of a long address in the Chamber of Deputies to-day that Great Britain and United States must considerably reduce their claims against France, not only in equity and right but also to safeguard their interests.

In conclusion, he said.

"Let our allies beware. It is against their own interests to force France down where she cannot resume her rank among the nations of the world. Let them place themselves upon the universal viewpoint and that of their own interests and let them reply to our request for a decrease."

WHEAT FOR MAY DELIVERY SOARS PAST PRICE RECORD OF 58 YEARS

Sold at $2.05 7-8 in Chicago and Touched $2.20 7-8 in Winnipeg—Liverpool and Buenos Aires Markets Keep Pace With the Movement.

BUYERS SCRAMBLE TO FILL ORDERS.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Wheat entirely eclipsed $2.00 a bushel yesterday. In a wildly excited market with speculative buying of such volume as might suggest almost world famine conditions, prices here made a perpendicular rise of 6 3-4 cents, reaching as high as $2.05 7-8 for May delivery, and $2.20 1-2 for spot cash. Every peace-time record reaching 58 years back was excelled.

Before the day in the pit was a minute old, $2.00 per bushel wheat sparkled into history, and the market began a series of giant swings, smashing upwardly frequently at a cent at a time, and breaking through every reaction until just before trading ended. At the last the price of May delivery was within seven-eighths of a cent of the day's topmost figures.

Notwithstanding the extraordinary advance of wheat values in Chicago, 6 3-4 cents a bushel yesterday, after six months nearly continuous prior upturn, the action of the market here was outdone in foreign countries, notably at Winnipeg in Canada, where there was a maximum gain of 9 1-8 cents a bushel, with May delivery touching $2.20 78. Action in prices at Liverpool as well as at Buenos Aires below the equator, was but little if any less sensational.

According to reports current here, foreign trading centres, making belated efforts, were feverishly ordering wheat in the hope that they might fill a world shortage caused by widespread crop impairment in many countries. Sharply in competition with such efforts were crowds of speculators purchasing in the aggregate millions of bushels and eagerly scanning "ticker" news that included starvation reports from Russion and potato famine in Ireland.

ANXIETY IN LONDON

LONDON, Jan. 29. — (Canadian Press).—The rising prices on the American Wheat Market are being watched with anxiety here, housewives awaiting the announcement of another increase in the cost of the family loaf. The price of flour has risen steadily for the last few weeks and yesterday another shilling was added to the price of a sack of stand ard grade in London. Outside the city the increase was two shillings.

Bankers Close Up

Small bakers in some towns are at their wits end for supplies saying they lose twelve shilling on every sack they buy. Some of them in Glasgow have ceased baking, depending on the large factories for supplies to meet the needs of their customers. Dealers here attribute the continued rise in the price of wheat to a shortage in all exporting countries excepting Australia.

BANK DIRECTOR FAILED IN DUTY

Crown Contends S. Casey Wood Guilty on Six Charges of Wilful Neglect.

PUBLIC DECEIVED.

TORONTO, Jan. 29.—Evidence in the trial of S. Casey Wood, Home Bank director, charged with offences under the bank act on six counts, was concluded Wednesday. During the trial, which has lasted eleven days, there has been 312 exhibits and 37 witnesses. D. L. McCarthy, crown counsel, started his address to Judge Coatsworth and will continue this morning.

Mr. McCarthy said that the crown contended that all six charges had been proved—three on the monthly statement for February, 1923, and three for the annual statement for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1923. The monthly and also the annual statements were false because they did not show clearly and truly the position of the bank as demanded by the Bank Act.

Wilful Negligence.

"The question for your honor to decide is: "Was there negligent concurrence and use of the statement. The crown contends that the accused was guilty of wilful negligence and that he showed wilful neglect in his declaration that the statement showed the true condition of the bank. He accepted the "say so" of the general manager ,that the bank was in good condition, and signed the statement. I further contend that the statements were used for purposes of deception. If the minister of finance had known the true condition, he could have prevented the fiasco of the Home Bank. The man who signed the monthly statement and who concurred in the annual statement, owed it as his duty to the Minister to make minute inquiry because the Minister, and after him the public, was relying on him. The accused in the monthly statement merely asked the general manager by telephone if the report was correct, and being informed that it was, signed it. That was not sufficient inquiry.

"I ask your honor to find that the inquiry he made is not sufficient to relieve him of the charge of wilful negligence, of both using and concurring in the statement."

At Annual Meeting.

Mr. McCarthy pointed out that the accused was present at the annual meeting for 1923, when the annual statement was presented. He contended that every director should have known about bad and doubtful debts, and abotu accounts which were not paying interest, but the interest upon which was being taken into the profits of the bank.

In this case, he declared, such responsibility had been entirely ignored.

"We are not charging the accused with malfeasance nor improperly declaring dividends," said Mr. McCarthy. "We are charging that he was negligent in not finding out the truth. The crown also states that the offence was not only wilful, but that the statements were sent in to deceive, and that they accomplished they purpose—the Minister and the public being deceived."

Beauty Offers One Kiss For Return Of Jewelry

CHICAGO, Ill., aJn. 29.—"Reward: One Kiss." Posted among a hundred or more reward notices at detective bureau headquarters here, the above phrase is the cynosure of all eyes.

The notice had to do with the theft of $2000 in jewelry and an atomizer from the apartment of Margaret Gordon, a chic blonde artist's model.

A picture of Margaret, her lips in a passionate pucker, accompanied the notice.

SUCCEEDS SPOONER AS WARDEN OF UNIVERSITY

H. A. L. Fisher Elected Warden of New College, Oxford.

LONDON, Jan. 29. — Canadain Press Cable. — H. A. L. Fisher, the Liberal Member of the House of Commons, for the combined English Universities, a former Minister of Education, was elected Warden of New College, Oxford University yesterday.

Mr. Fisher formerly was a fellow and tutor at New College. He is 60 years of age.

The vacancy in the New College wardenship, was caused by the retirement of Dr. W. A. Spooner on Dec. 31st last.

Rev. Dr. William Archibald Spooner, the former warden of New College, Oxford University, celebrated his 80th birthday last July. He is famous for "Spoonerisms" which according to the Oxford English dictionary, is an "accidental transposition of the initial sounds of two or more words," but Dr. Spooner always has asserted that such fame is undeserved.

Among "Spoonerisms" that rightly or wrongly have been attributed to Dr. Spooner, was an announcement in chapel that the next hymn would be "Kinquering Kongs their Tibles Tate."

MAH JONGG IN DISCARD

Table Football Replaces Craze of Few Months Ago.

BERLIN, an. 29.—Mah jongg is to give way to the goal game, or table football, in Berlin society. At the fashionable Esplanade hotel a demonstration was recently given in the presence of numerous social lights, film stars, literary aspirants and politicians.

The American goal game comes to Berlin via Vienna, where a regular goal game craze has developed. Approximately 40 goal game clubs were organized there within a year.

BEYOND FEDERAL LAW.

Winnipeg Magistrate Rules Dominion Livestock Act Ultra Vires.

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 29. — (Canadian Press).—The Dominion Livestock Act was adjudged ultra vires by Magistrate R. M. Noble, in Provincial Court here yesterday.

The ruling arose out of an action against a local firm, on a charge of exposing for sale eggs unfit for human consumption.

The defendant was acquitted, Magistrate Noble ruling that the Federal Government had no jurisdiction in the matter of selling food within the province. It was purely a Provincial question, he said.

The case will be carried to the Manitoba Court of Appeal.

HIGHER TARIFF ON VEGETABLES

Raise Canadian Duty Equal to U.S. Rate, Essex Farmers Ask.

ALREADY 30 P.C.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 29.—(Canadian Press).—A deputation of farmers from Essex and Kent Counties waited on Hon. James A. Robb, acting Minister of Finance; Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways; Hon. W. R. Motherwell Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, yesterday afternoon, and urged that the duty on vegetables be increased to meet the duty placed on the same products by the United States. The deputation also asked that a frost-proof storehouse for vegetables be built at a convenient point in the district so that onions, for instance, could be held awaiting favorable market conditions.

A complaint that cucumbers and cabbages imported from the United States were infected and spreading disease throughout the vegetable-growing sections of Canada was also voiced by the deputation. In answer to this, Mr. Motherwell promised to send entomologists from Ottawa to investigate the complaint. The request that a storehouse be erected was one which might well be considered by the railways who derived revenue from handling the vegetable traffic, it was suggested. With reference to the request for increased duty on vegetables, Mr. Robb told the deputation that it was already thirty per cent.

TELLER BLACKJACKED.

About $5,000 Missing After St. Anne Bank Hold-up.

MONTREAL, Jan. 29—(Canadian Press).—Hit over the head with a blunt instrument, Joseph Arthur Boyer, 26, teller of the St. Anne de Bellevue branch of the Banque D'Hochelaga, is in the hospital in a serious condition, and sums estimated at between $3,000 and $5,000 are missing as the result of a hold-up of the branch of the bank yesterday.

JULY BIRTHS FEWER MORE INFANTS DIED

Birth Rate 21.8 Per 1,000—Was 23.8 Year Ago.

OTTAWA, January 29. — Canadian Press. — Fewer babies are born and more babies die in English-speaking Canada as the years go by, judging by a return of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics on Vital Statistics for Canada (exclusive of Quebec) for July, 1924, the latest records that are available.

For that month the birth rate per 1000 of population was 21.8 compared with 23.8 for July, 1923; 26.4 in 1922; and 26.4 in 1921. The death rate in July, 1924, amongst infants under one year old in the same area was 66 per 1000 of living infants, which figure is 3.8 higher than in July 1923, and 2.0 higher than in July, 1922. It is however lower by 8.8 than the infantile mortality of July, 1921.

All the foregoing figures are exclusive of still-births.

In July, 1924, there were 3991 marriages, maintaining the average of the last three years with only a fractional decrease.

The number of deaths, 4844, also was about the same as in previous years.

THOUSANDS STARVE IN IRELAND AS BANSHEE OF HUNGER SHRIEKS OVER BEAUTY OF EMERALD ISLE

Weaker Sufferers and Children Are Already Dead For Lack of Food and Fuel to Combat Rigors of Hard Winter.

PEAT IS RAINSOAKED AND USELESS.

Black Year Comes Again With Horrors of 1847—Relief From Ulster Government For Erstwhile Enemies in Starving Southern Counties.

(By George McDonough, United News Staff Correspondent. Copyright, 1925, by United News.)

DUBLIN, January 29. — Thousands of men, women and children are slowly starving in Ireland, a scant few hundred miles from glittering London and Paris, and the centre of European civilization.

The potato crop has failed in the country famed for its potatoes. The peat beds are sodden. The wails of hungry children are rising with the mist over a rain-soaked country.

The winter of 1924-25 is the worst since the Black Year of 1847, that starved Ireland and sent the pick of her young men voyaging westward to America.

Over the bogs of Ireland hang dripping rain clouds like a blight.

Already some of the weaker of the sufferers, the old men and the crones, and the sickly children, have died because they had neither food nor fuel to withstand the rigors of the winter.

In County Donegal, in the boggy Connemara end of Galway, in county Kerry, where lies beautiful Killarney, the distress is acute.

Fermanagh suffers too but there the unhappy peasants have a tiny store of cornmeal and they subsist on mush. But in the famine centre potatoes are the principal and frequently the only article of food for most of the families that live in the bog or lake side cots.

There are no potatoes. The rain has made the peat unfit for fuel. Usually the cottagers bank their fires overnight, and in many a cot the fire has died for the first time in nearly a century.

When the wretched people can obtain a bit of potato from without the famine area they try desperately to cook it over a smouldering, smoky smudge of wet bracken.

Conditions in Connemara are especially bad. In many a thatched hovel, father, mother and children huddle shivering and starved through the day and at night make their beds in hay.

Many of them have no bed clothes. Thousands of children in the affected districts go days without food, while families stricken with illness have neither food nor fuel.

The Bank of Ireland has subscribed $10,000 for relief. Several thousand dollars have been received from America, and the Ulster government is taking relief measures. Meantime the banshee of cold and starvation shrieks into the air of western Ireland.

DEATH CLOSED ROMANTIC LIFE

Electcie Minor's Mother Was Captured by Macedonian Brigands.

WITH ELLEN STONE.

SOFIA, Jan. 29.—Death has written "Finis" to the romantic and tragic life story of Elentcie Tsilka.

Nearly a quarter of a century ago Macedonia brigands captured Miss Ellen Stone, an American missionary, and her companion, Madame Tsilka. The brigands, who were Macedonian revolutionaries, treated their captives with great care and released them after a considerable ransom had been paid.

Born in the Balkans.

Within a very short time after the release of the women a daughter was born to Madame Tsilka, high in the wild hills of the Balkans. Thus began the romantic tale of Elentcie.

When still a babe Elentcie was taken to the United States by her mother and travelled throughout the country with her mother who made a lecture tour and told of her capture and of life in the Balkans.

Elentcie grew to be a beautiful girl. Six years ago she entered the American College for Girls in Constantinople, where she made a distinguished record for herself as a scholar.

Married to American.

Elentcie became the idol of the Albanian capital, and her hand was sought by many. George Minor, American Consul at Tirana, fell in love with Elentcie, and they became secretly engaged. Before their engagement was announced Elentcie fell ill with pneumonia; complications developed, and her health was undermined.

Minor and Elentcie were married last summer in a sanitarium near Vienna, and since their marriage they had gone from sanitarium to sanitarium in the health resorts of Europe, striving to regain health for Elentcie. Their efforts were in vain, and they returned to Tirana, where Elentcie died as she had been born, amid romantic surroundings; for her death occurred at about the time when Fan Noli, the Bishop Premier, was preparing to flee Albania under the urge of the hordes of Zogu.

Inadequate lighting is said to be responsible for the spoilage of goods valued at $28,000,000 annually in the industrial establishments of the United States.

ROMANCE HALTS AT COURT DOCK

Separated from Lady He Ran Away With, Man Will Face Wife.

CAT ATTENDS.

Two stray remnants of humanity, examples of the drifting flotsam and jetsam of life, were the only exhibits for the rail-birds at the Police Court this morning. One received a suspended sentence, the other a remand until next Wednesday morning.

George Hook, although a casual observer would never suspect him of being an exponent of the theory of "all for love and the world well lost," is the victim of a misplaced passion. He fled away from his wife in Toronto, and unluckily chose Peterboro as a stopping place on a romantic journey with another lady-love. The police of this city, being inclined to turn a deaf ear to his fervent protestations that his feminine companion was Mrs. Hook, he at last parted from her and was detained here. His future arrangements, as scheduled by authorities who are not amenable to the call of romance, include an immediate meeting with the first Mrs. Hook and an appearance together before Dr. Margaret Patterson in Toronto.

Josephine was an attendant at Police Court this morning. Josephine is the sprightly police station cat, who seldom forsakes the lower floor. She forgot entirely the dignity that should appertain to the hall of justice, and climbed up the wire cage behind the dock to paw gaily at the unresponsive Mr. Hook.

THE WEATHER

The extreme cold of yesterday has moderated to some extent, but is still quite sharp. The lowest last night was 15 degrees below zero. This morning at daybreak it stood at 5 below. The highest point reached yesterday was 3 degrees above zero, thus rising from 36 below to 3 above, a total of 39 degrees. The lowest point yesterday in Lindsay was given as 32 below, while at Belleville it was 29 below. This is said to be a record for Belleville. White River (the world's cold spot) was down to 50 below, and Doucet, northern Quebec, struck 54 below.—W. P.

Invited to International Conference of Agriculture.

SASKATOON, Sask., Jan. 29. — (Canadian Press).—Alton Ernest Bolton, of this city, left yesterday to attend the international conference of agriculture to be held shortly in Moscow. He goes at the invitation and expense of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, the invitation having come as a result of a pamphlet dealing with Canadian banking and farming relations written by Mr. Bolton, which chanced to reach Moscow.

Mr. Bolton was a defeated candidate in Touchwood constituency in the last Provincial general election, and has been prominent as an organizer for the Farmers' Union of Canada.

MEN HAVE FAITH IN IRWIN'S MEN'S WEAR

Find Drastic Price Reductions at Anniversary Sale.

Ten days' brisk selling has strikingly demonstrated the faith men have in the word "sale" when spoken by Irwin's Men's Wear, 337 George street, and we are doing our part by giving wonderful values in exclusively modish and high quality men's clothing and furnishings. But we now announce that our anniversary sale closes Saturday, when men can buy any overcoat in the store at half price, and we mean exactly what we say—

All winter overcoats must be sold by Saturday night, if possible, regardless of profits, and men will find here at half price coats which guarantee warmth and style, while in both fabric and workmanship they are characteristic of Irwin's reputation for dependability.

Wise men appreciate that our sale offers unprecedented values, and it is taking them by storm. Opportunity to effect big saving is knocking at the door of your purse-strings. See that you take advantage of it Saturday. See ad. in to-morrow's paper.

FRANCE PLEDGED TO PAY DEBTS

(HERRIOTT DECLARES)

BUT U. S. MUST MAKE REDUCTION

French Premier Devotes Two Hours of Address to German Disarmament Activities.

WARNS BRITISH.

Relations With Britain Never More Cordial—Grateful to Churchill and U. S. Friends.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—Security was the main theme of Premier Herriot's long awaited speech on France's foreign policy delivered before a great gathering in the chamber of deputies yesterday. The premier occupied two hours of his three and a half hours address in drawing up a vivid, but dark picture of Germany's activities in armaments, while he disposed the problem of inter-allied debts in a brief, but nevertheless emphatic manner.

Never before since he assumed power has M. Herriot spoken of Germany in the tones he used Wednesday, and, although he had the entire chamber, excepting the Communists, enthusiastically applauding and cheering him, the general interpretation throughout parliament was that his purpose was deeper than merely catering to the right groups — that it was a warning to the British government against the evacuation of the Cologne zone.

On the subject of inter-allied debts, the premier said:—"I come to the question of inter-allied debts. I shall speak very briefly thereon, for you have remarked how great is the susceptibility of our friends and allies on this subject and you know even the sublimest words and best sentiments risk at times being interpreted in a regrettable way.

"What I can do is solemnly repeat once more what M. Viviani has said, what M. Poincare has said—France does not intend to repudiate her debts.

"It is not the government over which I preside, attached as it is to respect for treaties and conventions that will disavow the principle of debts which France has contracted.

"That being said, we have the right, after the speech, filled with such useful figures, by M. Dubois, after M. Marin's, to appeal to the sentiments of solidarity of our allies and friends. Conversations with them have begun. It would be ungracious, ungrateful, not to thank those who are aiding us in these conversations.

Grateful to Friends

It must not be forgotten how many are those in America who remember the common ordeal and intend to treat the problem not as one of moral order. France can only say how deeply she feels such words coming from far away and how they touch her at the moment she is searching her resources for her unfortunate devastated regions.

"It is only justice that M. Clementel and I have met with a spirit of sincere cordiality beyond reproach in Winston Churchill (British chancellor of the exchequer.) His letter to M. Clementel recalled what he termed the terrible agony of the war agony suffered in common, and he declared that we ought to approach the solution of the problem now posed also in common.

"Even from a commercial and practical viewpoint it is impossible that the allies cannot see the terrible difficulties there would be in asking France to transfer to England and America sums, corresponding to their credit. These sums have not increased our means of action, while the loan of 800,000,000 gold marks provided by the Dawes plan—to which I continue to think we have done well in subscribing—has given Germany fresh economic force.

France True to Her Word

"The money lent us prevented us from perishing, but our substance is, nevertheless, diminished. I hope as much good-will will be brought to this problem as we ourselves are putting in it. France has always been true to her word. She will be again here, as everywhere."

The above quotations from M. Herriot's speech on the subject of inter-allied debts were as set forth in the official stenographic report and as revised by the speaker for publication. Before the deputies, he said among other things.

"We are still in the midst of discussions on this affair of debts and anything I might say from the height of this tribune might open up a press polemic to the varied interpretations which might be given my words, and that is the thing I wish,

COARSE GRAINS TO BE HANDLED BY WHEAT POOL

Saskatchewan Growers Instruct Executive to Co-operate With the Pool Organization.

MORE FACILITIES.

A. J. McPhail Pleads for Unity of Farmers' Organizations to the Same End.

REGINA, Sask., Jan. 29.—(Canadian Press). — Having heard with evident satisfaction an address by A. J. McPhail, president of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool since its organization, the Saskatchewan Grain Growers then voted unanimously, and almost without debate, yesterday, their recommendation, that co-operative marketing be extended to coarse grains. The Central Board was instructed to pursue the matter working in co-operation with the Wheat Pool. Mr. McPhail explained that there would be no difficulty whatever in carrying on marketing of coarse grains through the existing pool organization.

Mr. McPhail was applauded when he said he favored securing for the pool eventually its own elevator and terminal facilities.

"I feel," he said, "that the pool will have to control the facilities through which the grain is handled, at the earliest possible moment. We may not be able to do this as quickly as many desire. We will be handicapped in our financial resources the first few years. We face many big problems and many of them involve heavy expenditures. We have an elevator committee working on the problems, and hope to come to an early decision as to the course to pursue this year. It may be the decision to acquire as many elevators as we can this year."

Terminal Elevators.

This year, said Mr. McPhail, the pool had rented two small terminal elevators at the Head-of-the-Lakes, and the experiment showed a considerable profit. It was expected that the policy concerning terminal facilities would develop along with their policy on country elevators. They had opened offices in New York and in France and, so far as possible, were dealing directly with the ultimate purchasers of the wheat. This was a policy which took time to develop.

Mr. McPhail said the interim payment would be as early and as large as possible, but he could give no further information. The matter would be discussed and final decision taken at a meeting of the Inter-Provincial Pool Board in Winnipeg to-day. At any rate the payment would be made well before seeding and final payment before harvest. Between 51 and 52 per cent. of all wheat delivered in Saskatchewan to date had been delivered to the pool. Loyalty to the pool had been very striking, declared the speaker, and there had been very little "bootlegging" of wheat by contract holders, action had been taken against only two men for delivery outside the pool.

Only a very few men, said Mr. McPhail, knew how much wheat the pool had sold or the price. No one could tell until the last bushels were sold whether or not the board had been wise. He was, however, not in any state of panic. They were marketing the wheat of 92,000 farmers

DOMINION BANK ANNUAL REPORT

Increased Profits and Larger Deposits—Strong Liquid Statement.

SOME IMPROVEMENT.

The directors of the Dominion Bank met the shareholders at the fifty-fourth Annual Meeting in Toronto on January 28th with a most satisfactory statement for the twelve months ending December 31st, 1924. In many points, indeed, the statement showed improvement over the figures for the previous year.

Notwithstanding depressed business conditions which held throughout 1924, the statement makes it clear that the Bank's funds have been fully and profitably engaged.

It is to be noted that profits were somewhat better than in 1923, that current loans increased, that deposits improved by $2,500,000 and that the Bank's strong liquid position had been maintained.

The profits for the year, after deducting charges of management and making full provision for bad and doubtful debts, were $1,144,082.22. To this amount has been added $825,374.98 brought forward from the previous year thus making available for distribution $1,969,457.20. This amount is disposed of as follows: Quarterly dividends at the rate of 12 per cent per annum, $720,000, a bonus of 1 per cent, $60,000, contributed to officers' Pension Fund, $45,000, Dominion and Provincial taxation, $169,332,-33, written off Bank Premises Account, $75,000, leaving a balance carried forward of $900,124.87.

The figure carried forward, $900,-124.87, is not only some $75,000 more than was carried forward at the end of 1923, but is the largest sum the Bank has ever carried to its Profit and Loss Account at the end of any year in its history.

During the year total deposits increased by about $2,500,000 and now stand at $91,378,285.58.

An increase of $2,500,000 is noted in Current Loans, which during a year of admittedly hesitant and backward general business, appears significant of the higher prices ruling for products—especially grain, in the finacing of which trade this Bank has for many years borne an important part.

It is well known that the Dominion Bank has always maintained a strong liquid position and the present statement makes it clear that this policy has been strictly adhered to in 1924. Cash assets stand at $26,953,285.85, or within a fraction of 25 p.c. of the Bank's liabilities to the public, while quickly realizable assets are $66,560,102.15, or 61.40 p.c. of liabilities to the public.

A considerable percentage of the Bank's liquid assets has always been in Dominion, Provincial and Municipal securities and other investments, and this year's statement is no exception, as assets under this heading amount to $21,667,725.06.

The capital of the Bank remains at $6,000,000 with a rest account of $7,000,000 and balance in Profit and Loss Account of $900,124.87.

The statement was well received by the Shareholders, and the report adopted by unanimous resolution.

The Bank's affairs have been audited on behalf of the shareholders by A. B. Shepherd, C.A., of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., and Percy C. Baxter, C.A., of Macintosh, Cole & Robertson, Chartered Accountants, Toronto.

PROSPERITY FOR WHOLE WORLD IS JUST AROUND THE CORNER

France's Future Does Not Depend on How Much Money She Can Collect from Germany.

REVIVING TRADE.

German People Have Reached a Higher Level of Productivity.

By J. W. T. MASON.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. — (United Press).—Europe is beginning to ride on a wave of prosperity that is gathering momentum which may carry it around the world. There is good reason to believe economic conditions across the Atlantic are now on a permanent basis of recovery which is destined in a short time to break all pre-war records.

Payments being made under the Dawes plan show the German people have reached a higher level of productivity than the experts who drew up the Dawes plan believed was possible. Germany is revealing a capacity not only to meet the Dawes payments but also to extend the prosperity of the German people as has not been the case since the ending of the war.

British foreign trade is expanding shipping rates are going up because of the increasing demand for cargo space, and unemployment is falling. The British Government is planning to return the pound sterling to par and to make Great Britain a free gold market with no restrictions.

Future of France.

France is beginning to realize that her future does not depend on how much money can be collected from Germany. French industry is moving ahead at an increasing pace and there is practically no unemployment, except seasonal, in the country. France is reaching the stage of prosperity where it will soon be able for the French Government to increase taxation and balance the budget without encountering a decisive veto from public opinion.

The Russian Soviet Government is accepting the laws of economics and is preparing for a new era of prosperity by seeking to induce foreign private capital to enter the country for investment purposes. As soon as confidence in Russian financial integrity is gained by foreign investors, there will be a flood of money into Russia which will stimulate the country to a great industrial revival. Recognition of the Russian Government by the United States will hasten this end, and will be an important means of keeping the wave of European prosperity climbing to new heights.

In the Far East, there is a period of depression, for the prosperity of Europe has not yet spread that far. The Japanese Government is being forced to put into effect rigid rules of economy, and thousands of government employees are slated for dismissal in order to permit the Ministry of Finance to use their salaries for productive work. But, Japan must soon begin the rebuilding of Tokyo on a permanent and extensive scale, and when this work is under way, better times will begin. The prosperity wave from Europe, too, seems destined to reach the Orient within a reasonable time, spinning that part of the planet faster.

Part of the U. S.

The United States is beginning to feel the effect of reviving world trade, and will increasingly benefit by commercial recoveries abroad. An enormous pile of gold reserve in America is lying idle, however, while it ought to be at work helping along world prosperity. The great era of transcontinental railway construction in the United States, which has done so much for American prosperity, was made possible by foreign investors who backed the future of the United States, especially after the close of the Civil War.

It is now possible for the United States to back the world, under somewhat similar conditions. Foreign investments for idle American gold would stimulate world development in parts of the earth as yet unproductive. Not only would the investments yield returns to the investors, but new markets for American goods would be created, and the whole of the United States would benefit. This forward step by America is inevitable; and it is only a matter of time when the United States will thus be helping to make prosperity a tidal wave for the world at large.

"Please Lend Me Your Powder-Puff, Freddie"

CHICAGO, Jan. 29. — (United Press).—Aping of women's fashions by men is feminizing the nation, according to Neal R. Andrews, of New York in an address here.

"Time was not so long ago, when fur coats, wrist watches, bright colors in clothing and cosmetics were labeled 'for women only,' said Andrews. "But today our rugged males flaunt as much gaiety as the fair sex. Men are patrons of cosmetics. More than 500,000 men in the United States are using cosmestics secretly.

"Plastic surgery is 'lifting' the faces of men as well as women. 'Let's borrow your powder puff Fred,' may soon be as familiar as 'Say Bud,' have you a match?"

"But why should men not be cosmetized? Old age is a crime in the world of business. Men must keep up with the time to hold their jobs. If facial mud ,eye brow tweezers and hair dye are necessary for business women, they are advantageous for business men."

WOLVES NUMEROUS AT SHARBOT LAKE

KINGSTON, Jan. 29.—(Canadian Press).—Wolves, so daring that they come right into the barnyards, are reported from Oso, Olden and Clarendon and Miller, and yesterday morning Reeve G. M. Drew, of Olden, brought to the city, when coming to attend County Council, the hide of a wolf measuring six feet from its nose to the tip of its tail. The wolf was killed in the barnyard of Robert Boles, in the northern part of Oso.

Never before have the timber wolves been so numerous as this year. Every morning and night the howling of the wolves can be heard in Sharbot Lake, an unheard of event before this year, and so serious has the situation become that a hunt club has been organized in Sharbot Lake for the purpose of hunting down the wolves, and already there are fifteen members signed up.

Farther north in Oso, Olden and Clarendon, many farmers are afraid of taking their horses out in the morning because of the prevalence of wolves.

The County Council at their session yesterday rescinded their motion passed in November, endorsing the establishment of a juvenile court for Kingston and Frontenac, and passed a motion opposing the establishment of such a court. This was done after the mover, Councillor Spankie, stated that there was no need for such a court as only three cases had come up in the county in the past two years.

We Save You 20% of your Fuel Bill Or You Pay Nothing

Our Burnall System Applied To Your Heating Plant, Saves It's Cost The First Year. We Guarantee More Heat From Less Coal

BURNALL does not overcome any law of nature, but just the reverse. It combines a few simple laws of nature in a combination never before used, thereby creating a new result, i. e.—a better combustion of coal than ever accomplished before.

The one principal thing that makes BURNALL the success that it is, is its furnishing of the correct amount of pre-heated oxygen to the fire-box and combustion chamber. As oxygen is burned, attraction for more is constantly created, and as heated oxygen has a greater affinity for fire than cold oxygen, the fire naturally takes that which it needs most and can get the easiest, which is the supply of pre-heated oxygen furnished by BURNALL.

AS AN INVESTMENT BURNALL IS UNSURPASSED

It is sold to you on the ABSOLUTE GUARANTEE that it will save 20%, or more, of your coal bill. In nearly every case the saving exceeds the guarantee by a liberal margin.

The test to ascertain the extent of saving is conducted by yourself, or under your direction. You are your own judge as to results. Then after you have proven conclusively that BURNALL DOES save 20%, or more, you pay for it, but not until then.

If you are not thoroughly convinced that BURNALL does all we guarantee, out it comes and the entire expense of labor and material is borne by us. The certainty of the results following the installation of BURNALL makes this liberal and firm guarantee possible.

And we contract to do this for a price that will not exceed the saving effected during the first year BURNALL is installed. Where else can you find a sure, safe investment yielding a minimum return of 100% per annum?

THERE IS NOTHING ELSE LIKE BURNALL

There are other Fuel Savers; you have heard of them, no doubt, or have tried them and taken them off, and now you think "there ain't no such animal" as a good, reliable, indestructible Fuel Saver. But you have never heard of BURNALL being taken off! NOTHING ELSE WILL DO WHAT BURNALL DOES!

BURNALL FUEL SYSTEM IS POPULAR IN ORILLIA

Mr. D. J. Mulvihill, Orillia Manager, of the Peterborough Sales Agency, reports splendid business this fall, an increase of over 200 per cent. over 1923. This week he is installing the Burnall Fuel Saving System in both the Baptist and Methodist Churches. These two sales are the direct result of the test conducted last spring by the Orillia Board of Education, in the West Ward School, when under official test a saving of 34½ per cent. in fuel consumption was effected by the Burnall Fuel Saving System. The Baptist and Methodist Church installations are being put in under a 20 per cent. fuel saving guarantee. In all the installations now in Orillia, including the Y.M.C.A., the Separate School, the Royal Hotel, the Palmer House, the Orillia Post Office, and various other large buildings in town, the saving effected has in every case exceeded the guarantee by a liberal margin.—Orillia News Letter

Peterborough, Ont.

Gentlemen,—I am directed by the School Board to advise you in reply to your enquiry as to the success of the "Burnall System" that the Board are well satisfied with its action. It was installed in the Lakefield Public School Building in February, 1922, and so has been in use for a complete season.

It is estimated that the saving in coal for one winter—which happens to have been a long and severe one—has been about twenty-five tons. The heat in the building has been steady and there has been a considerable saving in time needed for attention to fires.

Yours truly,
R. W. B. MARLING,
Secretary, L.P.S. Board.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 29, 1925.

AN UNUSUAL RECORD.

Peterborough has been winning a large share of publicity in sporting circles, the exploits of her hockey and baseball teams having been responsible for keeping the city pretty constantly on the sporting page.

It has been perhaps been overlooked that in two departments of recreation—if they can be classed as such—that do not attract big crowds of cheering enthusiasts, but that do call for fine mental training and development, two Peterborough men have been doing their share to advertise their home city.

Rev. W. S. Edgar recently reached the finals of the Dominion Checkers Tournament, while Mr. Fox had the honour of being second in the Dominion Chess Competition.

In both cases the finest players in Canada were competitors, and it was a very fine showing by the local rperesentatives to finish so close to the championships.

It is an unusual record that the runner-up in each competition came from the same city, and the fine display made by Messrs. Fox and Edgar should do much to stimulate interest in both chess and checkers in Peterborough.

THE DISSENTING WETS.

That the Ontario Temperance Act is to be an issue during the coming session of the Legislature, the caucus of some twenty-two Conservative members from wet and near-wet ridings held in Toronto on Tuesday leaves no doubt.

Just what the group hopes to achieve by their campaign is not clear to the outsider.

Premier Ferguson is bound by his pledge before the plebiscite was taken to strictly enforce the O. T. A., and he cannot evade that obligation without convicting himself as a public man whose word cannot be trusted.

The conditions under which the plebiscite was held were understood by everybody.

The rules were laid down in advance.

They were simply that if the Ontario Temperance Act was rejected the Government would inaugurate a system of Government control, while if the majority was favourable to the Act the Government would see that it was strengthened and enforced.

Under these conditions the vote was taken, the Ontario Temperance Act was sustained and the Premier has declared his intention of carrying out his promise.

The members of his party who do not see eye to eye with him and who are seeking to persuade or force him into a position directly opposed to his pre-plebiscite undertaking are not doing much to support the theory that the pledge of a public man should be inviolable.

GOING UP.

Considering that there are fewer than nine million people in this country, it must be admitted that in our municipal Provincial and Federal expenditure we are setting a pace that should make Canada the wonder of the world.

Every spending body seems to have caught the infection, for the increase in expenditure in the last few years has been spread over the country like an epidemic.

For instance, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has been classifying figures of outlay by Provincial Governments. The increase over a period of eighteen years is staggering.

In 1906 the total expenditures of all the Canadian Provinces was $21,169,868, a per capita expenditure of $3.43.

In ten years the figure had jumped to $53,826,219, while 1921 showed an expenditure of $102,569,815, and 1922 of $112,874,954, the latter being a per capita expenditure of $12.60.

With the expenditure taxation naturally has kept pace so that we find the Provincial receipts leaping from $23,000,000 in 1906 to $116,000,000 in 1922.

Add the municipal and Federal taxation to this Provincial outlay and a total is obtained that is staggering.

The Citizens' Research Institute estimates that the municipal taxation in 1922 totalled $176,000,000 and the Dominion taxation in the same year $404,271,000.

A little arithmetic shows that in 1922 Canadians paid in taxes into these three funnels $696,771,000.

Is it any wonder that there is a call upon public bodies to institute measures of real economy?

NO RELIEF IN SIGHT.

The reply of Hon. G. P. Graham, Acting Prime Minister, to a deputation representing the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade who asked that the income tax be reduced to at least the rate in the United States, offers little hope to those who recognize the need of reducing the burden of taxation.

Hon. Mr. Graham's words left little reason to count upon any relief for the present inasmuch as he intimated that the national debt and tax-free Victory bonds stand in the way.

The fact that the income tax is higher here than across the border is undoubtedly a serious condition, and there has been some ground for believing that a relaxation might be looked for.

But these hopes are now shattered.

The Government apparently can see no way of closing any pipe lines of revenue.

Yet the United States seems able to find a solution to the same problem.

President Coolidge's speech in Washington on Monday night has been causing those Canadians who heard it by radio or read a summary of his remarks to do some quiet thinking.

The Republic has actually reduced its annual expenditure in the last four years two billions of dollars, or about 35 per cent. of the gross expenditure.

In the same period the public debt has been cut by over three billions and taxes by two billions.

In other words, the Federal debt has been decreased in four years by $30 per head and direct and indirect Federal taxation by more than $20 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

That is a record of achievement that may well make Canadians wonder why a similar showing could not be made at Ottawa if similar methods were adopted.

THE TRUTH OF SCIENCE.

Many people had a great disappointment in Ottawa on Saturday in the fact that the eclipse of the sun was almost totally obscured by clouds. But there was even in Ottawa sufficient proof visible for a few moments that the prophesied eclipse was going on. So that we knew even here that what was foretold by the astronomers was taking place to the exact second which the scientific men forecast; and of course from all across the width of the North American Continent, confirmation came of the precise accuracy of the statements which had been published in advance by the scientists regarding what would happen.

In other words, human intelligence had been able, says the Ottawa Journal, to foretell what would happen in the case of two great celestial bodies interfering with each other in the heavens. Scientists were able to tell us in advance that the moon, 240,000 miles from the earth, would be acting in such a way that at nine o'clock on Saturday morning, January 24, 1925, it would shut off from the earth the light or part of the light of the sun, another celestial body calculated to be 93,000,000 miles away.

To do this, the scientific men had not only to know the distances of these bodies respectively, from the earth and from each other and not only the sizes of these bodies respectively, but also the speed at which both the earth and the moon were travelling in order that the moon should be betwecn the earth and the sun at the predicted moment, and take the exact time to pass which was foretold.

Everything came to pass exactly as it was forecast. The eclipse therefore and the information given above in advance is a proof that the calculations which astronomers make about the heavens in general must be as correct as human intelligence can provide. No doubt some among us in reading of the calculations which scientific men make regarding the universe, are apt to think sometimes that they are more or less imaginary, safely to be made because no one can absolutely prove them to be untrue. But in the circumstances of the eclipse of the sun on Saturday, foretold with complete accuracy long before, scientific men can point to a proof of the truth of their calculations even when it affects vast wandering bodies in the universe millions of miles away.

WAR DEBTS.

When the Peace Conference met in Paris after the Great War there was no discussion of war debts. The Allies believed that the money which could be extracted from Germany in the form of reparations would naturally cover the whole cost of hostilities and leave something over for good measure. It is only recently that the magnitude of the question of war debts has been realized. The problem of reparations has been partially settled by the Dawes scheme and the debts of Europe remain the chief bar to her social and economic rehabilitation.

So far as Britain is concerned she played the part of the world bankers, borrowing enormous sums from the United States and apportioning it to the other nations according to what she considered their needs. In approximate figures Britain lent to other nations eleven billion dollars and borrowed nearly six and a half billions. On the face of it the British position looks sound, but examination of the condition of some of Britain's creditors reveals less satisfactory conclusions. Britain lent nearly four and a half billions to Russia, which may be regarded as a bad debt; she lent two and a half billions to Italy, which at best is a doubtful account, since there is little chance of this sum ever being repaid. If, therefore, the debt of France to Britain—which amounts to nearly three billions—is paid and all the minor states of Europe repay their loans in full—a most improbable contingency—Britain cannot expect enough from her creditors to satisfy her debt to the United States. Moreover, it should not be forgotten that under the Baldwin agreement, by which Britain agreed to pay her debt in full to the United States, the latter agreed to accept a lower rate of interest than that provided for in the original loan, and thereby scaled down the total debt by nearly one-third.

When France entered into negotiations with the United States with regard to the funding of her debt, England declared that if any preferential treatment were given to France Britain would expect similar concessions. The step taken by France at least brought the world to a realization that if there is to be any settlement of these world debts it can only be done by collective bargaining and by conference. However friendly Britain may feel towards France, the British Chancellor of the Exchequer will be neglecting British interests if he defers discussion of war debts from year to year while Britain continues to pay her own debt to the United States, and since in dealing with German reparations it was found necessary for all the nations to get together and evolve the Dawes scheme so that in order to deal with European war debts which are just as involved and interwoven, the same course will have to be pursued.

The sum total which Germany has to pay under the Dawes scheme has not yet been fixed, although the terms of payment have been limited in each year. The total amount of reparations which Germany must pay depends and always will depend on the amount of the money which the United States lent to the Allies during the war and which she insists shall be repaid. If the United States scales down her demands in proportion to the capacity of the debtor nations to pay, the return of Europe to prosperiy will be hastened, but the date of Germany's return to commercial and industrial prosperity depends on the financiers of the United States. To argue that Germany is on the high road to prosperity today because the Dawes scheme has shown the way to settlement of the question of reparations is untrue, and such statements are generally published for ulterior motives. No one can foresee the future of Germany until the United States has presented her bill.—Montreal Star.

A THOUGHT.

SHOULD THE EMPLOYER OR THE EMPLOYEE PAY?

There are two classes of employees: Those who take their hours in business and after business so seriously that they get weighted down with work, and then there are those who look upon life so lightly that they cannot be interested in real responsibility.

Then there is another class, and these folk balance their lives with work and with pleasure. They sleep long enough, play long enough, and then they work enough.

It is the employee that says that an employer has nothing to say concerning his hours after work—it is this independent individual that makes a great mistake, for anyone knows that depending on what a man does after working hours tells what he will be able to do during working hours.

If dissipation discounts a man's possibilities, should the employer or the employee pay?

MONTREAL GRAIN.

MONTREAL, Jan. 28—(Canadian Press).—While the foreign demand for Canadian wheat was inactive here to-day, there was a fairly good enquiry from United Kingdom buyers for Canadian Western barley. Low-grade Canadian Western oats was also in good demand. The local cash market for coarse grains was rather quiet, but the feeling was steady. There was some demand for Canadian Western barley and sales of one or two lots were made on c.i.f. basis bay ports.

The flour market was decidedly strong again and millers were forced to advance prices for all grades of spring wheat flour 30 cents per barrel owing to the continued excited state of the Winnipeg wheat market and the daily booms in value that have taken place of late. The new prices are $4.60 per barrel higher than a year ago, with indications that they will soar further. Winter wheat grains scored another advance of five cents per barrel, which was attributed to the light offerings from Ontario millers.

No change of importance occurred in the millfeed market, prices for all grades being firmly maintained under a steady trade. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats continues fair.

A moderate business was transacted in eggs and values were firm. A fair trade was done in potatoes. A better feeling prevailed in butter although prices did not show any change. Prices for cheese ruled ¼ to ½ cent per pound higher with sales of No. 1 fodder-made goods at 20¼ to 20½ cents per pound, and No. 2 grade at 19¼ to 19½ cents per pound.

Crop beans were quoted at $2.00 per bushel.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28. — (Canadian Press).—Wheat for May delivery went skyrocketing to $2.05 7-8 today, the highest price on record since 1868, with the exception of 1916-21. The ascension of the May delivery which was largely due to persistent strength in foreign markets and to reports of liberal export business in this country, carried other months up-grade, as well as corn and oats. At the finish wheat showed a net advance of 2 1-8 to 5 7-8 cents, with May $2.04 3-4 to $2.05, and July 1.72 3-4 to 1.72 7-8; corn scored a net gain of 1 1-8 to 1 7-8 cents, and oats were unchanged to ¼ cent up. Provisions were 12 to 37 cents off.

To-day's price for May wheat surpassed the mark made during the Hutchinson Corner in 1888, when the outside figure was $2 and with the exception of the period of the world war the best previous top record was in 1868, when cash wheat sold at $2.20 in November. In May of the previous year cash wheat for May sold at .85. The greatest activity centred about the May delivery with heavy commission house buying a feature. This class of purchasing swept aside all apparent opposition and despite immense profit-taking, prices steadily advanced from the opening with the highest levels maintained until just before the closing gong. Foreign markets showed pronounced strength with Winnipeg leading the advance. Liverpool and Buenos Ayres also were higher with bullish foreign news a factor. Speculative influences were reported as responsible for the upturn in South America. Individual operations or cable news, however, had little effect on May wheat here, and the deferred months worked higher in sympathy with the July, July deliverry touching $1.34½ a bushel, a new high record for the crops.

STRANGE CARGOES POUR INTO LONDON

Everything From Dried Flies to Walrus Whiskers Comes Up Thames.

LONDON, Jan. 29. — (United Press)—Strange cargoes are brought up the grey old Thames to London-town by ships that have been poking into odd corners of the Seven Seas.

Some of the items from recent manifests were:

Dried Flies,
Walrus whiskers,
Frog skins,
Tasmanian Devils,
Diseases,
Sea slugs,
Shark fins,
Birds nests.

There are two varieties of dried flies. One comes from Mexico and is used in the manufacture of paint. The other kind is from Brazil and is ground up into poultry food.

Walrus whiskers — what d'yer s'pose? Well, you're wrong. They're converted into toothpicks!

Frog skins—brought mostly from India and the Orient—are made into a most delicate bookbinding leather—soft delicate and shaded with rare colorings.

"Tasmanian Devils" are something like the Gila Monsters of the American desert—a bit uglier if possible. Lots of them ar ebrought here and sent to Zoos all over Europe.

The case listed "Diseases", that came from South Africa not long ago, was vastly more dangerous than a shipload of Tasmanian Devils. It was full of germ cultures of malarial and various other tropical diseases. That case was handled more carefully than any dynmite or gold ever unloaded in London.

Exotic edibles pour into London from the Far East to supply the tables of the large Oriental population. Aged eggs are brought from China—where an egg, like good wine, is relished more and more as it accumulates years. Pickled seaweed, shark-fins, bird-nests, dried snake, of the kind called "Mountain eel" in China—are a few of the items.

SEAR ROASTS.

It is well to sear a small roast by holding each part of its surface in turn on a hot frying pan. If this is done less heat is required in the oven.

CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL FAVORED BY APSLEY SECTION RATEPAYERS

Trustees of S. S. No. 1, Anstruther, Authorized to Execute Agreement With Other Sections.

TO HOLD MEETINGS

APSLEY, Jan. 29.—A meeting of the ratepayers of Apsley School Section was held on Monday evening in St. George's Institute to further consider the consolidated school question, and was well attended, considering the very stormy weather. On motion of Messrs. D. Brown and A. Downing, the Rev. C. A. G. Spence was appointed chairman.

He stated that the object of the meeting was to vote on the agreement for consolidation, but that it was advisable before doing so to discuss the matter as thoroughly as possible so as to arrive at some idea as to the cost of building, site and transportation. He had prepared a map of the proposed section, showing distances of pupils' homes, and also figures relating to assessment, debentures and Government grants which he submitted to the meeting. After these had been fully discussed, the Rev. J. Ogden gave some valuable information regarding the working of the scheme at Wilberforce, from personal experience. The following resolution was then put to the meeting and carried without a dissentient vote: "Resolved that the Trustees of S.S. No. 1, Anstruther, do execute the agreement for consolidation in accordance with terms therein set out."

Arrangements will now be made for similar meetings in the other school sections affected.

Cross-word Puzzle.

Windsor; Lay Delegates: Clarence Bell, C. S. Windsor and Tom Tanner. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the organist, Mrs. J. Downing, whose voluntary services are much appreciated. Windsor for work gratuitously done to the churchyard fence, and to Harry Tanner for supplying posts for same.

The general chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee, the chairman for Northumberland County, with the Warden, constitute the county roads commission.

Seek Economy

Considerable discussion was precipitated before these, chairman were appointed, as to the usefulness and necessity, of this commission.

Reeve H. Lawson, Hope, suggested, in the interests of economy, that Superintendent Greer with the Reeve and Deputy-Reeve of each township, could perform the work equally well. The local officials would know the road conditions in their own territory better than any strangers coming in, would give their time and services free, thus avoiding considerable expense.

Five dollars a day and mileage, is the allowance, Reeve Lawson stating that each member of the Commission drew from eighty to nearly one hundred dollars for his services each season. Usually two trips are made, one in June to see what road work was required and a second round in December to inspect the completed work.

Reeve Thos. Paterson, Clarke, said "we must curtail every possible expense for conditions are becoming unbearable with the high rate of taxation in the rural municipalities

Reeve M. J. Elliott, Bowmanville, who was a member of the Commission last year, said he drew $59 for his services. In travelling over the 385 miles of roads in the two counties much doubling was necessary. He agreed with the importance of economy but felt the plan suggested would not prove feasible in every case.

Others who spoke to the question were Reeves H. H. Holdaway, Port Hope, M. J. Elliott, Murray, and R. G. Holdsworth, Hamilton, all of whom expressed the opinion that the Commission is not overpaid, that the Reeves and Deputy-Reeves might possibly not be willing to give up time from their own work without any compensation, and, while other plans might be suggested, apparently the present arrangement was the most suit able that could be devised, all the circumstances considered.

The clerk then read the names a second time and the committee retired to elect the chairman.

SHOT BY REVOLVER IN HANDS OF CHUM

Coroner Decided Death Was Accidental—Were Going to Practice.

ORILLIA, Jan. 29 — (Canadian Press).—Ralph Montgomery, aged 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Montgomery, was killed by a bullet from a revolver in the hands of a boy chum last night. The fatality occurred in an upstairs room at the home of a friend, James Russell. Contemplating target practice, they had examined the revolver and when Montgomery had slipped a shell into the magazine, James Russell placed the weapon upon the bed behind him. It was picked up by a younger brother, William Russell, who had entered the room unnoticed. The revolver was discharged and the bullet entered Montgomery's brain. He died at the hospital. After investigation, the coroner decided that the fatality was purely accidental.

AIMED AT BIRD; SHOT MAN

Retired Farmer May Die as Result of Boy's Playing.

FERGUS, Jan. 29 (Canadian Press).—Robert Brown, a retired farmer, living in Fergus, was shot while walking near his house yesterday afternoon. His brother-in-law and his nephew were with him when they heard a shot and saw him fall over. He was at once taken to the Royal Alexandria Hospital, where an X-ray showed that the bullet had lodged at the base of his brain.

An operation was performed and part of the bullet and broken bone removed. The patient is still unconscious and but little hope is held out for his recovery.

It was learned later that the shot had been fired by the son of neighbors. The boy had aimed at a bird in the backyard of his own home.

Shorn of most of his power, the former War Minister will seek to regain his health, while working on a new book.

COARSE GRAINS

in the three provinces, as though it belonged to one farmer, feeding from one bin to the markets of the world. If a judicious policy were pursued the effect could not be other than to stabilize the market upwards.

Plea For Unity.

A plea for unity in the farmers' movement was made by the wheat pool president. There were two farmers' organizations, the Farmers' Union and the S.G.G, with the same objective—the general improvement of farming conditions—but possibly differing as to the best means of reaching it. They would reach their objective much sooner together than separately. Why, then, should they keep apart, he asked.

Mr. McPhail declared very great progress had been made in the farmers' movement in the past two years. He outlined the formation of the Provincial pool and of the Inter-Provincial Selling Agency and said their treatment by the banks had been very satisfactory. Their agreement with the elevator companies was the best they could get.

More Grading Complaints.

James Robinson, a member of the Board of Grain Commissioners, declared there had been more complaints of grading this year than ever before, but he was positive grading had been more in favor of the farmer this year than at any time since he started farming in 1894. Mr. Robinson said without an accurate system of grading no marketing system could be a complete success.

It was recommended that in case of a foreclosure "the outgoing farmer be allowed a fair return for improvements left on the farm, providing such improvements have been agreed to by vendor." It was claimed that a man losing his farm usually lost considerable sums also which he had spent on buildings and other improvements.

The Executive was asked to use a better understanding to enable the farmers to put their business on a cash basis. It was declared the present business system was wasteful and pyramided interest, and the Provincial Government was asked to put more money at the disposal of the farmers' loan board, which already has loaned $9,000,000 to Saskatchewan farmers.

FRANCE PLEDGED

at all costs, to avoid."

From the chamber's rostrum he contended himself with reiterating solemnly that France would pay her debts. The question, however, of how large these debts really were was left open for discussions which were already begun and it was the fear of endangering these discussions, the premier averred, that prompted him to be very brief.

Having paid a tribute to Mr. Churchill, M. Herriot declared:—"Our relations with Great Britain were never more cordial."

Reference to Germany

But he desired to make clear what the occupation of the Cologne bridge head meant to France. France had no intention of remaining on the Rhine forever, but in the face of Germany's non-fulfillment of the disarmament clauses of the Versailles treaty, particularly regarding military organization, reconstitution of the great German general staff, with extraordinarily perfected technique, and the fact that the old Prussian militaristic spirit still existed and was making preparations for an assault upon poor people who only wanted peace, M. Herriot declared: "I say to our allies and friends, to the English Democracy, to Italy, that we want to beware, that we must watch what is taking place over there."

The premier, after devoting some time to explaining how the Geneva protocol, if ratified, would contribute greatly to making France feel safe against unprovoked aggression, expressed regret that the "guarantee pact" had not been ratified by the United States and Great Britain.

"This provided for intervention by the United States and England in case of an attack against France," said M. Herriot. "It is a great pity it was not carried through."

M. Briand interjected. I as good as had Great Britain's signature at Cannes."

Must Reduce Claim

At the morning session Louis Dubois, former president of the reparation commission submitted a long list of figures relating to German reparations, and, treating the debt of France to the United States from what he termed "a business man's viewpoint," declared that the United States must make a considerable reduction in her claims against France.

While the remarks of M. Dubois did not bear the official seal of the government, the chamber was practically unanimous, excepting for the Communists in adopting his views as to the manner in which the problem of France's debt to the United States should be approached. In brief, M. Dubois said that France could not pay Britain and the United States twice as much as France would receive from Germany, especially as the two great Anglo-Saxon powers were held jointly responsible for the reduction of France's claims against Germany.

Premier Herriott in his long address spoke with great fervor and earnestness and even his bitterest political opponents had to admit, after the premier had concluded his most fatiguing efforts, that he was sincere. M. Herriot stood the ordeal well, but from time to time was forced to rest his ailing leg, which had kept him in bed for a month, upon a little stool ushers had placed upon the speaker's tribune.

Several other questions occupied the attention of the premier. With regard to the Russian question, he declared that the French government would not admit of any intervention in the internal politics of the country by foreigners.

TO FEED MOVIE FANS

Restaurants Lay Adroit Plans To Capture the Trade.

HAMBURG, Jan. 29.—German hotel and restaurant proprietors are considering the possibilitics of moving pictures on the premises as producers of trade. They argue that as there are no free passes to the movies, a condition that prevails largely among the theatres, the man who goes to the movies probably has money to spend for refreshments. Hence, if they could once get him on the lot, they would stand a fair chance of selling him something more than hos movie ticket.

DELEGATION IS IN QUEBEC ON AMIABLE ERRAND

Two Special Trains Carried Representatives of Ontario Eastward.

NOTABLES THERE.

Party of 200 Includes Leaders in Politics and Industry.

TORONTO, Jan. 29.—Bound for Quebec City with a view further to cement the cordial relations which exist between the sister provinces of Ontario and Quebec, almost 200 prominent professional, financial and business men left Toronto last night on two special Canadian National trains for the ancient capital of Quebec, where they will be the guests of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and the province.

The party, which is making the trip in return to the one made last year by the prominent residents of Quebec in connection with the Bon Entente celebration, is one of the largest and most representative which has ever left Ontario, and constitutes the biggest single special operation in Toronto transportation, for a party of this nature. His Honor Col. H. Cockshutt, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, and the Honorable G. Howard Ferguson, Prime Minister of the Province, headed the delegation, which includes Provincial Cabinet Ministers, His Grace Archbishop McNeil, Sir Jos. Flavelle, Sir Hugh Pointer, Major-General Hon. C. S. Mewburn, Dr. R. Bruce Taylor, Principal of Queen's University, Dr. Harley Smith, president of the Academy of Medicine, and other leaders of commerce, education and finance in the province. In railway circles, C. G. Bowker, general manager, central region, C.N.R., heads the national representation, accompanied by W. A. Kingsland, assistant general manager; J. B. McLaren, comptroller; Fred Buller, treasurer; R. H. Fish, general superintendent, south-western Ontario district; W. R. Devenish, general superintendent northern Ontario district; Lorne Macdonald, assistant freight traffic manager; H. C. Bourlier, general passenger agent; W. C. Riddell, advertising agent.

The two special trains leaving Toronto will carry to Quebec City representatives of the various municipalities from Western and Central Ontario, while other representatives from Northern Ontario and the Ottawa Valley will meet their fellow-Ontario visitors in Quebec. The Ontario delegation will reach its destination at 8 o'clock in the morning. The day will be spent in Quebec, and on Friday the party will go to Montreal, where they will be the guests of the Mayor and the Corporation of the city. The special trains will return to Toronto on Saturday.

ASQUITH NEW LEADER.

New Peer is Still Active Head of Liberal Party, Lloyd George Says.

LONDON, Jan. 29 (Canadian Press).—Rumors which have been widely prevalent since the announcement of former Premier Asquith's elevation to the Peerage that he would relinquish active leadership of the Liberal party to Mr. Lloyd George, were set at rest for the time being at least, when speaking at the opening of a great convention of the Liberal party here today, he said: "I have not resigned my post. It is, therefore, in that character that I presume once more to speak to you."

Mr. Lloyd George, who followed the new Earl of Oxford in addressing the convention, also let it be known emphatically that he did not seek the long-time leader's post.

"I accepted Mr. Asquith's leadership without reserve," Mr. Lloyd George said, "and I have no reason now to alter my views."

GALLAGER REMEDY CO. ANNUAL MEETING LIKE FAMILY PARTY

Give Customers Benefit of Cheap Distribution Plans.

OPEN IN QUEBEC.

Fresh Herbs and Careful Handling Give Finest Possible Product.

The third annual meeting of the Gallagher Remedy Company, Limited, was held Tuesday evening in the grill-room of the Empress Hotel, where a turkey dinner was served with the excellent service that characterizes this hostel. The attendance of about thirty was more like a family gathering than a business meeting.

In moving the adoption of the report of the board of directors, the president, Mr. Walter Kidd, gave an outline of what the company has accomplished in the way of building up a sales organization as well as its financial condition which showed satisfactory assets and surplus. He was also authorized to announce that their bankers, the Bank of Nova Scotia, had granted the line of credit applied for during the current year.

The introduction and distribution of the Gallagher Remedies was gone into rather thoroughly, assisted by a chart-map. A county is made a unit presided over by a county representative, who does the advertising by going into each home, describing each line and giving instruction as to how to take the remedies to get the best results. He is also the distributor, delivering the goods to the homes and supplying the stores with the remedies for the convenience of the patrons, as the lines may be purchased at almost any store carrying medicinal lines. The county man buys direct from the factory and keeps the stores supplied. If the store prefers it may order direct from the factory.

This method gives the most convenient service to the customers, and because of the direct, cheap method of handling and advertising they receive a generous sized bottle at a reasonable price. From the company's standpoint also it is attractive, no advertising outlay except circulars and window cards or road signs; no salesmen's salaries and expenses to eat into profits, but a known cost set by the price to the county representative. This method also gives a sales contact with the greatest number of people. It is found that a county once organized with a good salesman overseer requires no further attention but is held year after year by the same man. The company is receiving applications for and opening new territory without any salaried organizer and having nice mail order sales without a salaried salesman.

The cost of advertising and marketing in this way was compared with selling through a manufacturer's agent as most firms do. It showed clearly a much better and cheaper method in which both customer and shareholder are benefiting.

It is believed that Ontario will now complete its organization automatically and steps are being taken to open the province of Quebec in a similar way. This year will undoubtedly see the introduction of Gallagher remedies into that province.

The President, in closing, pointed out to the shareholders that the third year of a firm's business life is the testing year. The first year sundry preparations are made, the second year the enthusiasm and vim of a new venture with a large number of people ready to try a new thing makes fairly easy going. The third year is the acid test when real merit and sound marketing principles are pitted against inferior goods and faulty methods of marketing. It is then to sink in a quick sand and disappear or get onto a bed rock foundation. It was felt that the company had built on solid rock.

W. E. Kidd spoke on methods of stencilling window cards and metal signs to appear as hand work which had been perfected and is going to be a great saving to the firm.

Mr. D. M. Kidd told of improvements in methods of manufacture which enabled the same help to turn out double the quantity of bottled medicine in a given time as could be done the past year. He also stated that the best and purest herbs were purchased in case lots and imported direct, which ensured fresh goods. The company last year added two new lines, a Cold Cream and the "Crimson Comb" Conditioner for making hens lay. Gallagher's have now a list of eighteen items, as follows:

Indian Lung Remedy, Blood Purifier, Kidney Remedy, Cough Syrup, Vermifuge, Life Drops, Golden Drops, Green Salve, Golden Ointment, Campholatum, Heatoleo, Cold Cream, Junea or Lumbago Remedy, and the Veterinary line as Colic Cure, Distemper and Thrush Remedy, Ringworm Remover, Condition Powder, and the "Crimson Comb" poultry tonic. It is adding two or three new lines this year.

Two of the company's county representatives, both gold medalists, as salesmen were introduced by the President. He spoke in glowing terms of Mr. Harry Jones, of Peterboro County, and his brother, W. S. Jones, of Northumberland (who had intended to be present), as being men who had been with the firm four and three years' respectively, and had put "Gallagher's" on the map in their respective counties. Mr. Paul F. Bilgar, of Perth County, was also called upon and was introduced as the man who had turned in the most cash to the company of any other in the same first eight months of business.

Mr. Joseph Wearing, in speaking to the report, congratulated the management on the excellent record made in a difficult year, because of the business depression causing a lack of money, the light call during the year for all medicinal help and the manager's illness during all last winter. Mr. B. D. Hall spoke along the same line, stating that the firm are building up a successful, prosperous business. Mr. F. J. H. Wallace, in a humorous speech, suggested that the "perpetual motion" attributed by Mr. Walter Kidd to the Gallagher marketing plan be bottled up as a brand new addition to the Gallagher Family. He also gave some helpful suggestions as to the future policy of the company.

A cash dividend of 8 per cent. on the preference shares and a stock dividend of 20 per cent. on the common shares was sanctioned by the shareholders. After the re-appointment of the Board of Directors and other routine business, the meeting terminated.

Mr. Wearing suggested the next meeting be held in Montreal, if in the meantime the business has extended into Quebec.

Sanderson with the members assisting. FIREMAN SAVED WHEN ENTOMBED FOR SIX HOURS

Wreckage of Flaming Building Pinned Lieutenant Under Two Floors.

HEROIC RESCUE.

Four Hundred Firemen Battle Blaze That Destroys Big Factory.

MONTREAL, Jan. 29 (Canadian Press).—After having been entombed in the wreckage of the flaming building of Poulin & Co. for six hours, Lieut. Desjardins of the Montreal fire brigade, was rescued alive at 2.45 this morning and sent to hospital. The lieutenant was attempting to take a line of hose into the interior of the building last night and was caught when two floors caved in. He was completely buried in the debris. At first it looked as though he could not escape, but his comrades worked heroically to extricate him. He called out to them encouragingly, but progress was slow owing to the smoke and the heat. As the hours passed Desjardins' voice grew weaker and the workers began to despair of reaching him in time. The spot where the lieutenant was trapped was deluged with water, and this afforded him relief.

Eventually the workers were rewarded when on raising some boards they found Desjardins lying wedged down by pieces of timbers and rubbish.

A general alarm brought four hundred firemen to the scene. Seven other firemen were trapped in the crumbling building, but all were rescued with little trouble with the exception of Desjardins. The building was destroyed.

FIREMEN ANSWER ALARM AT 4 A.M.

Slight Damage Done to Store of F. W. Burnham, Water Street, This Morning.

Fire caused by a defective chimney did slight damage to the store and stock of F. W. Burnham, 520 Water Street, this morning, shortly after four o'clock. The blaze which started in the chimney, spread to the cellar of the building, where it caught a number of packing boxes. With the mercury down to 20 below zero, it made it rather difficult for the firemen, but by the use of chemicals they soon extinguished the blaze, which was making good progress among the packing cases. The ceiling of the cellar was badly scorced and considerable damage was done to the store above by the dense smoke that filled the building.

WHEAT FORTUNE MADE BY WOMAN

Experts Lay Back on Oars While Price Was Soaring.

A HECTIC DAY.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (Canadian Press).—In keeping with the trend of modern times, a woman, Mrs. Scott Durand, who refers to herself as a dirt farmer, is reported to have made a fortune, running close to or into six figures yesterday, in one of the most hectic days of the wheat pit in fifty years.

While giants of trade, among them James A. Patton, who once was regarded as a "wheat king," and Arthur Cutton, now one of the large and shrewd operators, were reported out of the wheat futures market, the general public got into the market.

And while these experts were lying back on their oars, as the flood of wheat prices rolled higher and higher, the public rushed pell mell in. Excitement apparently knew no bounds, as shorts were rushing to cover and amateur buyers were urging their brokers to buy, forcing the price to $2.05 7-8 at the high spot yesterday for May delivery.

Mrs. Durand and her husband own the dairy farm at Lake Bluff and are among the wealthy north shore social circle. She thinks the price of wheat will go even higher.

LOCAL ALL STARS TROUNCED P.C.I.

Score Was 18 Points to 8—Big Game Saturday Night.

A very interesting and keenly-contested game was played at the Y.M.C.A. between the local P.C.I. senior basketball team and the Peterboro senior all-star team, picked from the eight ladies' teams entered in the City League. The game opened with everyone on their toes, and the first half ended with the score 10 to 6 in favor of the All Stars. When full time was up the score was still for the All Stars, 18-8. The defence playing of both teams was splendid, giving the forwards few chances at basket. The centre players for both teams put in excellent playing. Good combination was exhibited by both teams.

Line-up:

P.C.I. — Pip Killaly, Jane McDuffee, Isabel Connolly, Katherine Roland, Francis Ackerman, Isabel Couper.

All Stars—Enid Jones, Gertie Gimblett, Margaret Turner, Micky Kirn, Mildred Archambeau, Madeline Pulkinhorn, Hazel Jackson (sub.).

On Saturday at 8 p.m., Feb. 7, at Y.M.C.A., an all star team from Toronto will play our local stars. This should be a good game, so come out and stand by your team.

BIBLE SUNDAY.

Sunday, February 1st Will Be Known as Bible Sunday in Local Churches.

Next Sunday, February 1st, will be known in the Peterborough churches as Bible Sunday. The claims of the Bible Sunday will be presented to the people of the various churches by secretaries of the Society from Toronto, who will speak in the various churches. The custom has been in former years to ask for a contribution by means of envelopes distributed in the churches. But this year a new plan has been adopted, that of a city-wide canvass during the week following Bible Sunday. It is hoped by this means to interest any friends of the Bible who may not be at the church services on Bible Sunday. This plan has the unanimous approval of the ministers of the Association, and the churches are supplying the workers for the canvass next week. The Society belongs to all denominations and helps every missionary society in its own field by supplying the Scriptures which the missionaries need in the languages of the people to whom they are ministering. The cost of this immense service to the Missionary cause of the church is borne by the Society. The Scriptures are translated into 566 languages. The work of the Society includes the carrying of the Bible into all parts of the Dominion, as well as foreign lands. This service includes work at the immigration ports where every stranger is welcomed and given the Scriptures in his native tongue. Peterborough has given generously in former years to the support of this great cause. Last year, the increase in givings was nearly 80 per cent. greater than the previous year. The most outstanding single gift in the history of the Peterborough Branch was made two years ago by one of the friends, whose name was withheld and entered on the records as from (A Nurse). The gift was $1,000.00. Such a splendid example should stimulate all who love the Bible and are interested in the spreading of its influence to generous giving during the coming week.

On his trip to Europe during the war, in 1917, Arbuckle abandoned his wife, Mrs. Arbuckle charged.

Mrs. Arbuckle is residing at 12 Rue des Eaux, Paris. Last year she served a formal writ under a court order on her husband, whose residence is given as 11 Rue Frederic Passy, at Neuilly, asking him to return to live with her.

The motion-picture man is said to have replied that he had not seen her in several years and didn't wish to, advising her to seek a divorce. The decree was given against the husband. There are no children.

$850,000 FOR CHURCH IN ROCKEFELLER OFFER

Receive $225,000 if Raise Budget to $6,166000.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Gifts totaling approximately $850,000 will have been given by April 30 to the Northern Baptist Church by John D. Rockefeller Jr., if by that time the demonimation has succeeded in raising $4,000,000 to bring its budget for the current fiscal year up to $6,166,000, the total of its last fiscal year's budget.

Leaders of the church at a meeting here announced an outright donation of $225,000 by Mr. Rockefeller and the promises of another $225,000 provided the church raises in tohree months the amount needed to equal last year's budget. More than $400,000 already had been given the Northern Baptists by Mr. Rockefeller, and this has been used recently to pay off the debts of the American Woman's Baptist Foreign and Home Missionary Societies.

The meeting approved a plan of the Board of Missionary Cooperation for a nation-wide effort to raise the $4,000,000 to attain the goal fixed for this year's budget.

CARGO BOATS RUSH TO LOAD UP WHEAT

Echo of Boom is Heard Around the World—Flour Advanced.

(By Lloyd Allen—United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, Jan. 29. — The wheat boom in the United States had an immediate repercussion in England and throughout Europe, and echoes of it were heard in Russia.

Cargo boats are rushing to Australia to load up from the world's only visible big wheat surplus.

The price of flour here promptly advanced one shilling a sack.

Bakers have started an agitation for the four-pound loaf of bread at elevenpence, and it is believed bread will soon cost a shilling a loaf.

Experts have revived the discussion of some means to alleviate the present excessive cost of cereal grains and the possibility of returning to some form of mixed cereal bread such as was used in war times.

It is estimated that yesterday's advance in American wheat added a farthing (half a cent) to the cost of the British loaf.

Russia is buying heavily from the world's wheat supply, and this had already caused an advance in prices here.

"JOY CHRISTIAN" ARRESTED.

Held in Elmira For Trying to Give Liquor Away to Eager Crowd.

ELMIRA, N.Y., Jan. 29.—A. Stanley Copeland, of Buffalo, self-styled leader of the "Joy Christians," was placed under arrest here when he attempted to give away liquor from the steps of the Federal Building.

About 300 persons had assembled at Copeland's invitation to hear him speak and witness the distribution of liquor which he was known to have attempted in other cities. When the speaker pulled a bottle from his pocket and one of his audience stepped forward to get the first drink the police interposed.

Copeland was arraigned and held for the Federal Grand Jury. Bail was supplied by several Elmirans.

GRAIN GROWERS' LEADER SCORES TARIFF POLICY

George F. Edwards, President of Saskatchewan Association, Demands Justice for West.

WARNS OF SPLIT.

Protection Will Inevitably Lead to Separation of West from East.

REGINA, Sask., Jan. 20—(Canadian Press). Directing a thunderous broadside against the tariff policy of the Dominion Government, George F. Edwards, in his presidential address before the annual convention of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association here Tuesday declared that continuance of such an "un-National and short-sighted policy" would inevitably lead to a definite break between Eastern and Western Canada.

He further castigated the Federal Government for not giving greater attention to the problems of the farmer. The unfavorable conditions of the basic industry of the country, he maintained, was well known to the Government and all business interests in Canada, but a spirit of apathy and indifference seemed to be a more preferable course for these interests to follow.

"We in the West believe that we have never been fairly treated by the Governments of Canada, irrespective of party, with respect to the fiscal policy of the country during the past 40 years," Mr. Edwards said. The protective tariff he characterized as "one of those hampering disabilities," which had been raised particularly to foster manufacturing interests, without giving thought of the consequent hardships brought upon the agricultural industry.

Sees no Advantage

"There never has been, and apparently never will be, any advantage that will accrue to the Western country to compensate for the increased price they have to pay for all their goods because of the shortsighted policy of the Canadian Government," the president asserted. The farmers in the West had a right to insist upon equity and fair play, adding that sentimental attachments and ties, however strong they might be, could not indefinitely stand the strain of economic "injustice."

"Undoubtedly Canada should be able to work out her destiny better as a united country than as one split up into different sections, and I do not believe that the West has any desire to break away from Eastern Canada if we can have fair play and equality of treatment. The enemies of Canada," Mr. Edwards declared, "are not those who are pointing out the danger of Confederation of the present sectional, short-sighted policy, but rather those who are pressing for the continuance of a policy which, if continued, inevitably spells 'separation'."

The speaker pointed out that the farmers were doing their utmost to help themselves, and he believed that the agriculturalists had a perfect right to expect that the Federal Government would refrain from imposing further burdens upon them. He urged that immediate steps be taken by the Government to remove all disabilities which had been imposed upon the farmer. "If this is done, there is absolutely no doubt that prosperity will return to Canada.

Reason For Change.

"The farmers have been accused in some quarters of being 'calamity howlers' but until a few years ago the Western farmer was looked upon as the world's supreme optimist, and, if this viewpoint has changed, there are evidently very good reasons for it," Mr. Edwards contended.

Very great resentment, he said, had been raised in the West by abrogation of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement, which the farmer has always looked upon as his Magna Charta in transportation matters. "The Crow's Nest Pass agreement has been regarded as sacred and binding. We believe the proper course for the Government to pursue is, now that it has temporarily restored the Crow's Nest rates, to refuse to allow the Supreme Court to decide upon the question. The Government should restore the supremacy of Parliament and at the next session of the House, so word the Act that there shall be no ambiguity in it."

There was a growing feeling in the West that Eastern Canadian interests would not be fair, either in connection with tariff policy or transportation matters. This, he attributed as the reason why the Hudson Bay railway has not been completed. The present Dominion Government, he maintained was morally bound to complete the road immediately. "Our lands have been set aside to pay for it. We have a right to expect it and furthermore sorely need the reduction in transportation costs, it would bring about," Mr. Edwards said.

Lauds Wheat Pool.

The capitalistic industrial system, the president continued, had miserably failed to solve the problem of distribution. The farmers, however, were in a good position to solve this problem by co-operation. The wheat pool method of marketing had proved beneficial in stabilizing the market and price levels. The principle of centralized co-operative marketing, he believed should be extended to other products.

"We are confronted with a tremendous task, however," Mr. Edwards said, "and we must not allow any feelings of resentment or bitterness to warp our judgment. We must not be influenced or stampeded into duplicating machinery, nor ignoring the machinery we have available, which we can utilize for the creation and maintenance of one of the greatest co-operative endeavors in the whole world. If we approach this problem in a spirit of toleration and sincerity, undoubtedly it can be solved."

He stressed the importance of harmony within and unity of the farmers throughout Canada. "It would be nothing short of a calamity if we cannot continue to find and keep common ground to divide ourselves into hostile or semi-hostile groups will inevitably result in serious injury to the whole farmers' movement."

Mr. Edwards spoke in favor of establishing Government medical clinics, where free treatment could be obtained, and in conclusion appealed for a more sincere, concerted application of effort toward the solution of the greater problems of mankind. The greatest and most stubobrn problems could be overcome so long as class antagonism was forgotten and the higher, more noble, ideal of co-operation between all classes of society prevailed.

MOST OLD FOLKS REQUIRE A HEART AND NERVE TONIC

After middle age little sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off than formerly as the heart action becomes weak and uncertain and the nerves are not as steady as they were in the younger days.

Now is the time when all aged people who wish to maintain their health and vigor and retain their energy unimpaired should use

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

Mrs. M. O'Connor, Whitestone, Ont., writes:—"I have been troubled, most of my life, with shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart, and fainting spells. I was advised, by a friend, to try Milburn's H. & N. Pills, which I did, and at once found relief, and I have never had a really bad spell since. I am 80 years of age and I always keep them in the house, and feel that with their help I will see many years yet. I always recommend them to anyone who is suffering from heart trouble."

Women of 1925 Best Dressed of History

By HEDDA HOYT

NEW YORK, N.Y., Jan. 29.—(United Press).—"Whom do women dress for?"

Here is a question that has never been solved and perhaps never will be—the reason being that women can never be taken generally. Some women dress to please their husbands; some dress to please other women's husbands; some dress to spite other women and some dress to satisfy their own sweet selves.

Why does a peacock preen his tail feather? That's the answer.

We are not interested in "why women dress" but in the fact that they do dress better today than ever before in the history of the world. Fabrics have never been so beautiful and the intricicies of gownmaking have been developed until clothes have ceased to be mere garments of utility, but have become objects of art.

The best dressed women today are not the light-headed heartbreakers of motion picture vamp style. Ah no! The best dressed women are those whose husbands have nice fat pocketbooks and equally well dressed are the moneyed sisters.

The vamp is seldom dressed in good taste. Not so long ago every small town had a few females who out-dressed the other women of the town and startled them with their eccentric hats and frocks, their white fox furs and silken hose. Women on upper Main Street gossiped about them but never spoke to them.

It was not always that their morals were at fault, but nice women didn't approve of their stylish clothes.

Where are these small town vamps today? It's the self-same nice women who have laid them on the shelf. The banker's wife, the butcher's wife and the baker's wife have grown to be the style leaders of the towns. Women who seemed middle aged ten yars ago have blossomed out into fascinating thirty-five-years-olds. And it's modern dressing and cosmetics that have made this possible.

No! We are not interested in "why women dress" but we certainly get a kick out of the fact that they DO DRESS, and preen and furnish our streets with silken ankles, rouged lips and beauty!

Married women are seldom jealous of the clothes of other married women. It's the single girl whose slenderness and modish clothes make them wish they didn't have to divide their spending money between the household needs and their own desires. Whether to buy new curtains for the house or some new feminine furbelow is a constant bugbear to the married woman of limited allowance. One hesitates to suggest that curtains should take second place, since most men adore pretty homes, but a pretty home with a poorly dressed mistress isn't always a success, whereas a well-dressed wife can cover a multitude of household sins by appearing lovely in the eyes of her husband. Somehow the average woman of today manages to keep the home fires burning well enough and to keep beautiful at the same time.

We speak of married women and of girls when we speak of fashions. There seems to be none of the women left who were formerly termed "old maids". And the reason we have so few unmarried women of middle age is clothes, bobbed hair and cosmetics! Added to this is the fact that women no longer deem it proper to sit at home and knit chairbacks. The modern girls gets out into the world becomes a part of it and of its fashions and makes herself interesting in mind and in dress to all mankind. Coy and corseted ladies are no more and the modern female is indeed "more deadly than the male" when it comes to plumage!

Paul Poiret advances the theory that women will eventually wear trousers. He cains that the simplification of female costume is leading to the wearing of trousers. The masculine trend in bobbed hair cuts, pajamas, knickers, etc., might point that way, but if trousers become a feminine style, it's a cinch they'll be short ones, as women will never accept a style which does away with the showing of their silken ankles. Trousers are a bit too modest for the Caucasian races. It was the Chinese and Oriental races who conceived the idea of putting their women folks in trousers and they did it because they knew trousers were less enticing than skirts.

CREMATION UNPOPULAR

Society in England Makes Slow Progress in Educating People.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—It is the task of the Cremation Society to popularize that form of burial in England, but it is making slow progress. In the past year there were only 1,086 cremations in Great Britain.

The argument the society advances is that musty, dirty, crowded Britain is no place for the final abode of the body, and that the country could be made beautiful by handsome mauseoleums instead of open spaces in the cities being taken from the living for the use of the dead.

EXPERT MEDICAL TESTIMONY IN COURT.

Expert medical testimony in court is held in lower esteem after each notorious trial, declares Dr. Joseph Collins, famous New York City neurologist, commenting upon the part the alienist plays especially in the Leopold and Loeb type of criminal case.

"Many believe that expert medical testimony is now more inquitous than virtuous," he says, "and that by it justice is oftener hindered than facilitated and promoted. This is a lamentable state of affairs. There is such a thing as expert knowledge and when a man is in straits, exalted or depressed, it should be possible for him to avail himself of it." "Harper's Magazine," Dr. Collins

Under the title, "The Alienist in Court," in the February issue of tells how, in his opinion, we can right the present method of facilitating justice through the aid of expert medical testimony, lessen the contradictions of the experts, and "stop murder trials from being a game between experts and attorneys" and an offence to decent men and women.

"We can hope to accomplish it only after an intensive and prolonged campaign of public enlightment as to what constitutes normality and abnormality of the mind. I venture to say that I did not talk to any man or woman in Europe last summer who did not ask, 'Are those Chicago boys insane or are they just degenerates? The words insanity and degeneracy must have a very specific meaning in the minds of many. In reality they are as difficult to define as the unpardonable sin.

"Everyone who has read Jane Eyre knows that Mrs. Rochester was insane and when everyone (save a few who have given the subject particular attention) say 'is so and so insane?' he has a mental picture of Mrs. Rochester or some one similar he has known or read about. When people used the word degenerate they have in mind what Moses discussed in a certain verse of the XXth chapter of Leviticus. While one is waiting to meet one Mrs. Rochester he is likely to encounter a hundred insane, and it is very questionable that Monsieur de Charlus and his unfortunate kind should be called degenerates.

"Students of the mind know that sanity and insanity cannot be defined any more than morality and immorality. The law is very specific on the subject. A person is not excused from criminal liability as an idiot, imbecile, lunatic or insane person except upon proof that at the time of committing the alleged criminal act he was laboring under such a defect of reason as (1) not to know the nature and quality of the act he was doing and (2) not to know that the act was wrong. There is probably not one alienist in the whole world who would say that it is a fair or adequate way of determining insanity.

"To pretend, as the law does, that a single test can be comprehensive enough to embrace all forms of abnormal behaviour is absurd. A person may know the nature and quality of his act and be quite insane, and he may know the act was wrong, and be very insane. Why should a woman afflicted with melancholia who kills herself and her children pray to God to forgive her if she does not know the act is wrong? It cannot be too strongly emphasided or too frequently repeated that insanity, so far as the man in the street, the observer, is concerned—is behavior, conduct.

"The old saw about one swallow and Spring applies particularly to insanity. No single test can be comprehensive enough to embrace all the varieties of abnormal behavior. So long as expert witnesses are obliged to keep within the rule of our statute in making answer to the question, 'Was so and so sane or insane when he did so and so?' just so long will the testimony of that medical expert continue to be what it is now; contradictory. He should confine himself to narrative and description of the conduct of the individual whose sanity is in question, and he should not be called upon to say whether the individual is legally sane or insane. That is the question for the jurors and the judge."

What is needed is a radical cure not merely an improvement, of the method of obtaining expert medical testimony, Dr. Collins declares. This cure can never be effected, he says, until the legal test, which has been in operation for the past eighty years, is abandoned.

"Our only hope for such abandonment lies through enlightment of the public about insanity. It will not help us any to attempt to define insanity. It has never been done satisfactorily and there is no earnest that it is within human power to do it. It is no concern of the public that insanity is a disorder of the mind; it is the disorder of conduct that gives significance to insanity. If legislators, teachers, preachers, hygienists, and publicists will cooperate to tell us specifically what normal conduct is, we shall have no difficulty in deciding who is sane and who insane....

"We must abandon the belief, so long held, that insanity is disorder of the intelligence alone. 'She is cognizant of everything that goes on, she understand everything that is said, she is not insane, you know,' is a remark that every alienist frequently hears even though the patient be as insanse as Nietzsche was. The intellectual field of insane individuals is frequently the last to be affected, and the emotional field the first. The abnormal emotional state need not be continuous; at one time it floods the reason and submerges it; at another it merely sways it.

"Everyone knows that the dividing line between the normal and the abnormal mind cannot be definitely drawn. The alienist, when he is called upon to testify to an individual's sanity, should content himself with pointing out the abnormalities of that mind; then the judge and juror can decided whether he is sane or insane; so long as the decision must be made in conformity with the law, just so long will many insane be subjected to punishment and not to treatment.

"About ten years ago my late colleague, Dr. Pearce Bailey, who was keenly alive to the injustice and inadequacy of the rule of our statute concerning insanity, proposed a plan which unfortunately has never been adequately discussed and, more unfortunately, still never tried. The question of responsibility was not to be raised until after the main issue had been settled. It would then be decided by the court to advise its conscience. If the convicted person were found to be insane when the over act was committed, he could be pardoned by the Governor or by a pardoning board and then sent to a hospital—there to remain so long as his insanity should continue. When he was alleged to have recovered, he should be still kept segregated for such length of time as the commission of alienists who had counseled the court would recommend.'

Answering the objection that "influence" might sway the judge in his choice of alienists, Dr. Collins suggests that some official body such as the American Medical Association might furnish the courts with a list of men who were competent to make up such advisory board and that is should decided upon their compensation. To quote the conclusion of his article:

"This plan would undoubtedly result in reduction of criminality and in economy to the State, and it would quicken justice. It would also stop murder trials from being what they are now—a game between experts and attorneys and a stench in the nostrils of all decent men and women; least important of all, it would permit the medical expert to walk amongst his fellow men without consciousness that half of them think he is a liar and the other half a demi-god.'

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain—How To Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Hard Foods of Vital Importance

Doctors and dentists warn us that we must eat some hard foods that require chewing—both to promote thorough digestion and to give needed exercise to teeth and gums.

The crisp kernels of Grape-Nuts must be chewed—and their pleasant "crunchiness" and delightful flavor tempt you to chewing.

This starts digestion in the mouth—where it should start—and gives to the teeth and gums the exercise which alone can keep them healthy.

WHY does one man fail? Why does another man succeed? Nine times out of ten the difference is largely one of physical and mental vitality.

One man eats food that drains his vitality in the work of digestion. The other wisely chooses food that daily renews his vitality—food his body can utilize without difficulty.

The elements in your daily food which give you physical and mental vitality are the carbohydrates. At least one-third of your nourishment should come from them.

But in order not to strain your digestive organs—in order to get the full benefit of their wonderful nourishment—the carbohydrates must come to you rightly prepared.

Grape-Nuts has an abundance of carbohydrates for you—turned by slow baking into dextrine, the most easily digested food substance known. LLOYD'S HINT DAY OF THE STEAMSHIP IS NEARING CLOSE

Latest Returns Show 60 Per Cent New Craft Motor-driven

NEW TYPE PAYS

Some Hold Fuel Oil Bunker Cost Will Be Deterrent

The possibility of the eventual disappearance of the "steamship" from the seas, and its complete replacement by motorships, is foreshadowed in Lloyd's quarterly shipbuilding returns, just published.

Lloyd's report, in emphasising the remarkable development of internal combustion engines for the propulsion of ships at sea, says: "The tonnage of vessels now building in the world, which are to be fitted with internal combustion engines, amounts to 923,738 tons, while the tonnage of steam vessels under construction is 1,590,894 tons. The motor tonnage therefore equals over 60 per cent. of the world's new steam tonnage.

"In Denmark, Germany, Holland and Sweden the motor tonnage under construction greatly exceeds the steam tonnage; the combined totals for these countries being 142,828 tons of steamers and 477,006 tons of motor ships. The world figures include eighty-four motor ships each of between 5,000 and 10,000 tons, seven of between 10,000 and 15,000 tons, and six of between 15,000 and 22,000 tons.

Of vessels building in Great Britain and Ireland at the end of December, motor shipping amounted to 32.75 per cent. of the steam tonnage under construction, the actual figures being: steamships, 976,834 tons; motor ships, 320,127 tons. Britain has just commissioned a monster motor passenger liner, the Aorangi, of 23,000 tons(for the Australian route), and although she commenced her maiden journey in the teeth of a pre-Christmas gale, reports have been so favorable that other vessels of this description are likely to be ordered immediately.

Though the capital cost of the motor ship is much higher than that of the steamship, shipowners throughout the world, say Lloyds, are evidently reaching the conclusion that in some conditions the motor ship is the better paying proposition. According to other authorities, however, shipowners are expressing anxiety regarding the price they have to pay for fuel oil bunkers, and it is suggested that failing some alteration, this factor may prove a deterrent to the progress of motor shipping. The case is quoted of a leading American line which decided to convert its oil-burning vessels to coal-burning, and stated that the saving effected in one of its vessels amounted to as much as $75 a day.

Generally speaking, however, British shippers are disposed to agree with Lloyds that the motor-ship has come to stay, and many believe it will before long displace the coal-burner altogether.

LOVE LETTERS AS FUNERAL PYRE

Woman Burned With Her Bridal Dress—Old Maid's Romance

A wedding dress of shining white satin and a trousseau of the finest linen were found by firemen when they were called to the room of Miss Mary Darnell, an aged woman who was burned to death on Christmas Eve at Seymour Place, Marble Arch.

It was stated at the inquest that Miss Darnell was found unconscious, suffering from frightful burns, amid piles of smouldering papers and clothing.

It is thought that on the eve of Christmas Miss Darnell's mind had gone back to the days of some long-distant romance.

In reading old letters and in looking at the wedding dress of her youth it is supposed that she had been overcome with emotion, and had accidentally set fire to the old, faded letters.

At the time of her death Miss Darnell apparently had no intimate friends. No one in the house, in which she occupied one room, knew anything about her except that she never received visitors, and was inclined to resent any neighboriy little offers of domestic help.

Miss Darnell had lived in Seymour Place for six years. She received the old-age pension and also a pension from a drapery firm.

She did not appear to be in want, but in latter years, it is said, she became a little eccentric. She was in good health, but lame.

She did not speak to anyone of her private affairs, and those who saw her in the house knew nothing of the existence of the beautiful and expensive wedding dress and trousseau.

DEPTH OF THAMES INCREASED 4 FEET

Task Begun Decade Ago Now is Nearing Completion

The Port of London authority has completed the greater part of the task, which it set itself more than ten years ago, in increasing the depth of the Thames by four feet from London Bridge down to the open sea.

The minimum depth from London Bridge to the Thames's mouth is now 24 feet. That depth is maintained from the famous bridge to Tilbury Dock, some twenty-five miles from the open sea. From Tilbury Dock to the sea there is a channel 1,000 feet wide, with an average depth of 30 feet and nowhere less than 27 feet of water.

This brings to completion a scheme [illegible] occupying [illegible] St. Margaret's, [illegible] Dover, aged 89.

London Woman's 23 Children; Set Up Novel Record

Queenie Charlotte, a baby girl born a few days ago at the Queen Charlotte Hospital, is the twenty-third baby of Mrs. Baker, who lives at Notting Hill-gate.

By the birth of this child a remarkable record has been set up at the hospital. Practically every year Mrs. Baker has had a child, and every one of the babies has been born in the same hospital. Room for Mrs. Baker has always been available, and she generally had the same place in the ward year after year.

Mrs. Baker is about 45 years of age. Most of her children are alive and live at home with their father and mother.

Mrs. Baker, who is a bright and happy mother, besides the work of looking after so large a family, has a fruit stall business, at which she assists when possible.

CLOCKS BALK MOVE TO CUT SALARIES

Fulham Council Debate Quashed by Sample Timepieces

STRIKE WINS

United Action Diverted Attention Luckily for the Workers

A "sympathetic strike" by clocks effectively sidetracked a proposal to reduce the wages of employes of the Fulham (London) Borough Council, and the Council's workmen are now all for striking clocks.

The Fulham Council had under discussion the purchase of a new clock for the Town Hall, and many timepieces guaranteed to "strike" the hours and fractions thereof had been submitted for selection. All the clocks were properly wound up and ready to compete in resonance and clarity of tone, but as there were a few minutes to spare before the competitors could prove their merit, the Council started discussion of a resolution suggesting that the municipal employes' salaries should be reduced.

Almost immediately all the clocks started to strike and the Council had to postpone the debate until the chiming was over. When the final choice of a clock had been made, and it was proposed to continue the wage discussion, a Councillor said, "Even the clocks struck over the proposal," and it was agreed there should be no reduction.

GRAPE-FRUIT TAKEN IN ENGLAND NOW

"Breakfast Cocktail' Finding Its Way Into British Homes

Grape fruit is growing in popularity as a "breakfast cocktail" in England as a result of the annual American tourist invasion.

Practically unknown here ten years ago ,from 680 tons in 1920 British imports have grown to 2,500 tons in 1923. These figures were compiled by Mrs. K. A. H. Egerton in a report to the United States Consulate in London.

Of the 2,500 tons imported in 1923 the greater proportion came from America, but the West Indies and South Africa are seriously entering into competition, with every prospect of increasing their contributions.

While American visitors still form the greater proportion of Great Britain's grape fruit consumers, Britishers are acquiring the taste and according to official statistics the imports are certain to increase. The day seems not far off when the American visitor to the smallest hotel or restaurant will not feel like he is ordering fried elephant or stewed alligator or an omelette of roe's eggs when calling for this ordinary breakfast dish.

Major Hall-Edwards X-Ray Martyr Ill Near Birmingham

Major J. Hall-Edwards, one of the first martyrs to the X-rays, lies dangerously ill at his home at Edgbaston.

Within a few months of the discovery of the X-rays he contracted dermatitis, which necessitated the amputation of his left hand and forearm and four fingers on the right hand.

Despite this sacrifice, Major Hall-Edwards, who is a Carnegie hero, continued to work for 30 years with X-rays. In his spare time he painted landscapes.

For 20 years he was senior medical officer to the X-ray department of Birmingham General Hospital.

DEAD MAN'S HEART BEATS 210 MINUTES

British Specialists Regard Newport Case as New Record

RARE EXAMPLE

Executed Criminal's Heart Beat Half-hour After Drop

That an otherwise "dead" man's heart continued to beat for three and a half hours after he had ceased to breathe was the statement of an infirmary doctor at a Newport inquest. According to the doctor, who attended the man throughout, he undoubtedly died when he ceased to breathe, but the heart continued pumping blood into his lungs and brain three and a half hours afterwards.

The case has attracted much attention among heart specialists, who are disposed to think this must be nearly a record. A leading heart specialist declared that somewhat similar cases were occasionally heard of, but that they were extremely rare and that the period of post-mortem heart activity was exceptional. An executed criminal's heart has been known to beast as much as half an hour after hanging, but there was always the doubt as to whether the hanging had been really efficacious and that death did not actually occur until the heart ceased beating. For a man to die in his bed and the heart continue beating was, said this authority, to be exceptional.

WALES LOSES THE LEEK AS EMBLEM

Daffodil Used as Official Badge of Principality

The leek has been officially banned as the national emblem of Wales.

Government notepaper, issued from the Stationery Office, now bears a new design of the royal badge. Underneath the royal crown appears the Scottish thistle, the English rose, the shamrock for Northern Ireland—and a daffodil for Wales.

The inclusion of the daffodil has caused a stir among heraldic experts as well as among Welshmen.

"To represent Wales by a daffodil seems to me to be wrong," said an expert to a Daily Express representative. "The Welsh emblem has always been either a dragon or a leek.

"The Welsh Guards had a leek as their emblem, and this vegetable is usually described in dictionaries as the national emblem of Wales. It was adopted, according to tradition, at the instance of St. David to celebrate a victory of King Arthur over the Saxons."

Sir Vincent Evans, the secretary of the Honorable Society of Cymmrodorion, said: "A confusion of names is at the root of the problem. The Welsh word for leek is 'ceninen,' and in some parts of Wales the daffodil is called St. Peter's leek, and therefore also 'ceninen.' I think the mass of the people are drawn to the leek, which can look very artistic as a heraldic device."

The new royal badge was passed by the Mint, the Treasury and other Government departments a few months ago, and it was approved by the King. The notepaper on which the new die is stamped is now being used, chiefly by the Post Office.

Mr. Lloyd George has always been in favor of the daffodil, and chose it as emblematic of the Principality on the insurance stamp.

STRANGE MISHAP AT BATH FUNERAL

A hearse containing a coffin had moved a short distance from a Bath house when for some unexplained reason it suddenly overturned. The coffin was saved from being thrown out by the low rail surrounding it.

"I have never seen anything like it in my long experience," said the driver of one of the mourning coaches afterwards. "The hearse seemed to be lifted up bodily and thrown over. It was on a perfectly flat surface, and there was no skidding."

The driver and horses of the hearse were unhurt. A motor-hearse was sent for, and meanwhile the coffin was taken into a clergyman's house near by, where the mourners waited. The funeral was that of Miss E. A. Scovell.

DOCTOR APOLOGISES TO DR. HADWEN

Much interest has been aroused at Gloucester by a notice inserted in the evening editions of the Gloucestershire Echo and the Citizen by Dr. Arthur Graham Foljambe Forster, of Calderwood, Montpellier Parade, Cheltenham.

In this Dr. Forster admits that on October 29, 1924, at Cheltenham, he stated that during the 1896 smallpox epidemic Dr. Walter Robert Hadwen, leader of anti-vaccinationists and anti-vivisectionists, was vaccinated in Cheltenham by a Cheltenham doctor. He further admits that he has now found the statement to be without foundation and unreservedly withdraws the allegation and expresses regret at having made it.

FALSE LEG RUN OVER BY TRAIN

A man aged about 35 was seen to take a razor from his pocket on the Bakerloo Tube platform at Paddington, slash his throat and left arm, and fall in front of a moving train.

The train was immediately stopped, and it was found that one of his legs had been run over and severed. The limb was an artificial one. His other leg, a sound one, was unhurt.

The man was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Paddington. Two £1 notes were found in his possession. There was no clue to his identity.

The "All-Blacks," world-famous New Zealand Rugby team, has arrived in Canada aboard the Montlaurier of the Canadian Pacific lines. At Vancouver and Victoria they will play Canadian teams. They did not lose a game on their recent tour of the Old Country and France. The picture of the match against Cardiff gives an excellent impression of the deadly "All-Blacks" team-work.

Watchnight prayers were offered for the safety of a nurse girl lost in a storm on Dartmoor.

The girl, Dorothy Smith, aged 23, who is employed at Okehampton, went for a walk on the moors. She was seen at Belstone, but after that no trace of her could be found.

The girl was a stranger to the moors.

After an all-night search she was found six miles from Okehampton, exhausted and drenched.

Without shelter or food, she had spent the whole night in a storm of snow and rain.

ULSTER CURFEW ORDER REVOKED

It is offcially announced that the Government of Northern Ireland has decided to revoke the curfew order in Ulster.

The peaceful state of Northern Ireland, it is announced, makes its removal possible.

The curfew was imposed throughout Ulster in consequence of outbreaks of lawlessness in May, 1922, and made it imperative for people to remain indoors from 11 p.m. to 5 a.m. The hours have been altered at various times, and for 18 months they have been from midnight to 5 a.m.

WIDOW SET PLACE FOR DEAD HUSBAND

The memory of her dead husband was ever present with Mrs. Mary Ann Hick, 92, who was buried at Scarborough recently.

Mrs. Hick, who had occupied a house in Dean road for more than sixty years, lost her husband, George Hick, a joiner, many years ago, but at each meal it was her habit to set a place at table for him. Throughout the years his hat was always kept hanging in the hallway of the house.

THE LETTER THAT CAME TOO LATE

An elderly man named Michael Cavens, of Catrine, Ayrshire, failed to receive his customary Christmas letter from a relative in America.

He was so distressed at the omission that he walked out of his house and leaped from the bridge into the River Ayr, which was in flood, and was drowned.

Shortly afterwards the postman called at Cavens' house with the letter.

Mrs. Sage, who was a native of Comrie, had been a widow for seventy-five years. She is survived by six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

DOG DIED RATHER THAN CHANGE OWNER

A bulldog, sent by rail from Kilburn, shook off its muzzle while chained up in the station-master's office at Rainham, Kent, and fiercely resented all overtures on the part of the railwaymen.

When its new owner appeared the dog flew at him and bit his hand. No one being able to pacify it, the dog had to be shot.

BOSTON MAYOR IS VICTIM OF HOAX

Whole Town Was Taken in by Practical Joker

HEAPS OF FOOD

Photographers Told to Bring Their Cameras—Ton of Coal Sent

A hoax caused great annoyance to the Mayor and Mayoress of Boston (Lincs.), Alderman and Mrs. Charles Day, and numerous tradesmen and residents.

Responding to invitations, clergy and ministers, members of the corporation and other public bodies went to Teviot Lodge, Sleaford Road, Boston, the residence of the mayor and mayoress, for a reception and introduction to "certain distinguished visitors," supposed to have come from Boston, United States.

Photographers were warned to bring their cameras. The guests, in cars and on foot, made a procession between the town and the Lodge.

Fish, game, meat, wines, groceries, clothing, boots, and other goods ordered mysteriously arrived throughout the morning at Teviot Lodge. A coal merchant sent a lorry of coal.

The tradesmen's servants all found that the goods had not been ordered. The mayoress and her servants were kept busy turning them away, explaining that they were the victims of somebody's practical joke.

HOSPITAL FACTORY MAKES CATGUT

A catgut factory at the London Hospital has been so successful that the profit from it is now sufficient to treat 1,000 out-patients or maintain three beds through which 26 in-patients pass in a year.

Mr. Morris, the House Warden, said:

Last year we used £550 worth ourselves and sold £9,700 worth to surgeons all over the country, to many hospitals, and even to places as far away as China and Persia.

The London Hospital has also helped its finances by making its own insulin for diabetes treatment.

OLD TIMEKEEPER DEAD IN WALES

Samuel Johnson, proprietor of the Royal Hotel, Llangollen, the halfway house in the old coaching days between Dublin and Westminster has died, aged 79.

The hotel was one of the oldest in Wales, and was visited by the Duke of Wellington, Sir Walter Scott, Wordsworth, and Tennyson. Daniel O'Connell, it is stated, often spent the night there.

Mr. Johnson was a well-known sportsman and athlete.

GOLD FOUND IN AN OLD MATTRESS

The mother of a poor family living at the small hamlet of Potteric Carr, near Doncaster, decided to rip open a disused mattress in order to provide a bedding for a pig which was being fattened for sale.

She found inside the mattress a package containing £89 in sovereigns and £2 in Australian money. The children were all provided with new clothes.

The mattress was bought some years ago for a few shillings.

PICTURE ADDRESS DULY DELIVERED

The writer of a letter at Enniskillen, Fermanagh, Northern Ireland, instead of addressing the envelope in the usual way, pasted on it a newspaper photograph of John Henry, the Yorkshire comedian who so frequently broadcasts from 2LO.

The local postal officials correctly delivered the letter to W. Egbert Trimble of Enniskillen—much to the surprise of Mr. Trimble, who was quite unaware of his remarkable likeness of Mr. John Henry.

WIRELESS PROVES CURATIVE POWERS

Edinburgh doctors have reported on the remarkable curative effects of wireless upon children. An extensive installation was recently fitted in the Sick Children's Hospital, and the patients eagerly leave their beds each day and dance and sing to the music which comes through the loud speakers. The benefit the little patients have already derived from wireless is described by the authorities as astounding.

Lord Halsbury, K.C., Is Inventor of New Anti-Dazzle Light

Lord Halsbury, K.C., who was leading counsel for Mrs. Robinson in the recent case of Charles Robinson vs. the Midland Bank, has become an inventor.

He has discovered the secret of what is claimed to be the perfect anti-dazzle motor-car headlight. Provisional specifications of the lamp have been lodged in the name of Lord Halsbury at the Patent Office, and an application placed before the Royal Automobile Club for an official test as soon as the full patent has been completed.

A test of Lord Halsbury's light was made on Wimbledon Common recently under the observation of the director of a British firm of lamp makers and the representative of a French motor-car factory. The headlights, which were on Lord Halsbury's car, were tried in all ways, and proved to be entirely satisfactory.

The secret of the anti-dazzle light, as described in the patent specification is in the special type of prismatic lens used. No particular kind of headlamp is needed, and Lord Halsbury's front lens glass can be fitted to any lamp.

TRAMP'S WEEK IN MAJOR'S MANSION

Two men with no home of their own have just been having a royal time in a fine mansion at Aldeburgh in Suffolk.

They are said to have broken into Haven House while the occupier, Major Godbolt, was away. They stayed six days, made themselves at home, and used freely the food, coal, electric light and household requisites.

Their doings were related at Saxmundham, when the two men—Jack Brown and William Thomas Smith—both "of no fixed abode," were charged with breaking into the shop of the International Tea Company at Leiston, and stealing provisions and also with breaking into the house of Major Ben Godbolt, at Aldeburgh, near Thorpeness.

It was stated that the two men took possession of Haven House, obtained supplies of food, and generally "made themselves at home." To avoid detection they hung carpeting over the windows.

PICKPOCKETS GOT HOLIDAY HARVEST

Valuable hauls were made by pickpockets during the Christmas holidays, particularly in streets crowded with shoppers.

Joseph Lieba, of Guilford street, W.C., reported to Scotland Yard the loss of a brown leather wallet containing £620 in 50 and 25 pound notes, and 11 packets of cut diamonds, the total value being £1,600.

Mr. Lieba stated that he was boarding a buss in Euston road when he was jostled, and on entering the bus discovered that his wallet had been stolen.

TERSE EPITAPH ON MAN'S COFFIN

Edward Croston, of Whelley, Wigan, has just been buried in the coffin in which two or three years ago he lay while being drawn through the district on a coal lorry.

The brass plate on it then bore the inscription:

Edward Croston
Have no fear,
His only fault
Was drinking beer.

But this was replaced at the funeral by the usual name-plate.

LOVE IN COTTAGE ON $40 PER YEAR

Yorkshire Woman Tells Secret of How She Managed

BYGONE DAYS

Nine in Family When Increase Jumped to $3 Weekly

The secret of happy married life on £8 a year, and a glimpse of country life in the days before the advent of modern "frightfulness," were revealed by Mrs. Thomas Poulter, of Easrington, East Yorkshire, who celebrated her seventy-first wedding anniversary on Christmas Day. She is ninety-three years old.

"I think the girls of today live in a heavenly world," she said.

"When I married my husband, Thomas Poulter, at Leeds Parish Church in 1853," said Mrs. Poulter, "he was working on a farm for a wage of only £8 a year and his food. He was employed on the next farm to my father's at Hopperton, near Goldsborough, the beautiful home of Princess Mary. My parents would not hear of their daughter marrying a farmer's boy earning so little money, and sent me off to Leeds in the hope that it would separate us. But love always finds a way, and young Poulter traced me, and we had a secret wedding. My brother walked all the way to Leeds to be the best man, and to take back my marriage lines to show my parents that we had been wed. He proved to be our peacemaker, for we were able to return home just in time to have a proper wedding reception on Christmas Day, only four days after our union."

It was love in a cottage on short rations for many years, but borne with mutual good humor.

"My husband worked as a woodman for Lord Mowbray for twenty-eight years," Mrs. Poulter continued, "and his wages had only reached 12s. a week when our family had increased to nine. But our wants were simple, and we had few temptations to spend. We only had one dance a year, and that was at Easter in the old barn, when the lords and ladies joined us."

The "baby" of Mrs. Poulter's family is aged fifty-one, and the eldest daughter is seventy, and she mentions with pardonable pride that all her children are living. She has five brothers and sisters whose ages total 432 years. The longevity of the family is celebrated throughout the countryside, for old-Farmer Poulter, her father, was ninety-six when he died, and had brought up a family of thirteen on 12s. a week.

BEGGAR'S TAKINGS SHOWN IN BOOK

Young Man Charged in Court, Had Been Very Successful

A book in which he had apparently tabulated his "takings" as a beggar in the West-end was found on Alexander Richardson, aged 25, of The Grove, Hammersmith.

Richardson appeared at Marlborough street Police Court charged with begging, and the following extracts from the book were read:—

Dec. 24—£2 2s. 2½d. Expenses, 2s. 2½d.
Dec. 29.—£1 7s.
Dec. 30.—10s. 6d.
Dec. 31.—£1 8s. 8d.

Richardson had been standing in Regent street with a box containing matches.

The man's wife said her husband had been a pilot in the Royal Air Force. He had a garage, but it was now closed for the winter.

The Magistrate (Mr. Mead): You were not surprised that he had taken £2 2s. 2½d. in one day?

The Woman: No, certainly not.

Richardson was remanded in custody.

WOULD BAR CANDY, CAKE AND JAM TO ALL SCHOOLBOYS

Stringent Rules Laid Down Take Joy Out of Life

NO PAMPERING

Three Ounces of Butter Daily But No Puddings

Schoolboys will have an awful post time if Dr. Henry Campbell, leading British dietary-educational expert, has his own way. No jam, no cake, no puddings, no pastries, no sugar — no nothing.

Lecturing to members of the Food Education Society on school diet (in connection with the Educational Association Conference at London University), Dr. Campbell denounced the school "tuck-shop" (or candy store) as "an evil institution which should be done away with" and contended that no schoolboy or girl should be allowed to gorge themselves indiscriminately at a "tuck-shop."

He told of a boy who received 5s from his parents, spending the whole of the money on canned Swiss milk (of which he is stated) himself at every convenient opportunity."

"School food should be simple and of the right kind," said Dr. Campbell. "The appetite of the young should not be pampered. Plain healthy food gives more satisfaction than the most refined delicacies. It is better to start life as a healthy pauper than a sickly millionaire."

With these good moral maxims, Dr. Campbell proceeded to say what should not be eaten by the schoolboy.

"Milk is not essential to man, and is chiefly valuable for its derivatives —butter and cheese." (No milk in the schoolboy's tea.) Then came a little comfort. "Each boy should have at least three ounces of butter daily. Next to cod-liver oil (ugh!) butter contains most fat."

Eggs, the doctor regarded as good, but expensive, and might be given once a week.

"Sugar is not an essential food. No jams or sweets are permissable. The country would gain vastly if all candy stores were converted into vegetable and fruit stores. Puddings and pastry, of all descriptions should be absolutely barred. They provide no exercise for the teeth and jaws and merely pamper the appetite."

In a mournful tone Dr. Campbell concluded that the British public were not keeping pace with sanitary science.

And now some hundreds of thousands of British schoolboys are anxiously waiting to see how far these seeds of Campbell-ite wisdom have sunk into the minds of the educational authorities.

BILL TO CHECK UNSIGHTLY ADS.

To Check Disfigurement of Landscape by Boardings

Lord Newton's Bill to regulate advertisements, which he has introduced into the House of Lords, authorizes local authorities to make by-laws for regulating, restricting, or preventing the exhibition of advertisements in such places or by such means as to affect injuriously the amenities of public parks or pleasure grounds, or to disfigure the natural beauty of a landscape.

The Bill extends the power, so that by-laws may be made not only with respect to particular landscapes, which are in many cases difficult to define, but also with respect to:

Rural scenery generally;
The amenities of villages in rural districts, and
The amenities of places of historic interest.

The measure has the support of the Scapa Society for Prevention of Disfigurement in Town and Country, the advertising section of the London Chamber of Commerce, and the Royal Automobile Club.

(To be Continued.)

"It doesn't make any difference whether we would or we wouldn't," he said. "The point is, we don't."

The foreman drew at his pipe for half a minute and stared at the floor.

"I'm sure sorry you feel that way about it," he mused. "I sort of figured you were just honeymoonin' around, with nothin' particular to do, and that you'd pitch in. I'll pay you regular Chink wages. I ain't makin' any distinctions because you don't happen to be professional to the business."

"Can't be done," said the Wreck, with an impatient gesture and another look at his watch. "We happen to be catching a train just now. Speaking of paying, of course we'll pay for our breakfast."

Charley McSween dismissed the idea with a gesture, and studied the pair with reflective eyes. Then he sighed.

"It ain't for me," he said, "to go flyin' into the face of an act of Providence. I'm a believer in meetin' Providence half way when she turns up a card for you. I'm sorry—I'm plump sorry—that you, ma'am, and your husband don't feel like you ought to stay. But we'll make it as pleasant for you as we can, and we won't keep you no longer than is necessary."

Sally arose to her feet with a gasp of surprise and sought the eyes of the Wreck. He was boring a glance in the direction of Charley McSween.

"Let me understand you," he said. "Are you talking about keeping us here, whether we want to stay or not?"

"That's the unfortunate idea," said the foreman, regretfully.

The Wreck laughed nervously.

"You'll be quite busy keeping us," he said. "Come on, Sally."

Charley McSween unlimbered himself from his chair and stood up.

"You don't get it all yet," he said. "You don't either of you understand the workin's of Providence. Now, it seems that when Providence fetched you here, and the lady proved that she could cook, and the gentleman proved he could wash dishes and dry 'em, it wasn't for no ordinary human being to set himself up to say, 'No.' So I says to Providence, 'What are we goin' to do to persuade these young married folks to take hold of this here emergency job and see it through?' And Providence says, 'Leave it to me.'

"Now, it seems Providence knows how to operate one of these flivvers. So Providence takes that flivver and runs it down into one of the sheds. Havin' done that much, Providence conceives the idea of takin' off one of the front wheels, which is also done in a workmanlike manner, with no damage to parts. Said wheel, havin' been removed from the shed, is hid elsewhere, nobody but Providence knowin' where it was put."

Charley McSween spread his hands with an eloquent gesture.

"Now you get an idea of the way Providence works," he said.

The Wreck stepped to the door of the kitchen and looked out into the yard. When he came back he was removing his spectacles.

"I can lick you," he said to the foreman.

"No, you don't," said Sally, as she stepped in front of him. "Not yet, at anyrate. Mr. McSween, kindly leave the kitchen. We want to have a little talk about things."

Charley McSween moved hastily toward the door.

"The cook's always the boss in the kitchen," he said.

CHAPTER VII.

In Lieu of Chinks.

The Wreck wanted to follow Charley McSween outside, but Sally had a grip on his arm that he could not loosen without being rough. She dragged him to a chair, pushing him into it and stood guard.

"You listen to me before you do anything else," she said. "You're going off half-cocked all the time, and I won't have it."

He eyed her savagely.

"Are you suffering from the idea that I can't lick him?"

"Maybe you can, Henry Williams. I never said you couldn't. But you're not going to start in now."

"What's the reason I can't start now? I'm not going to take up a lot of time at it. Do you want me to wait until he gets his gang around him?"

Sally regarded him severely; he seemed so much like a bad little boy that sometimes she despaired of getting anything reasonable out of him.

"You're always ready to fight somebody," she said. "And there isn't any sense in it. Besides, what good would it do us right now? Suppose you do whip him; if it makes you feel any better I'll admit that you can whip him from his feet up. But suppose you do—that doesn't help to find the wheel he took off the car, does it? We'd have to stay around here anyhow until he got ready to give it back t us. You can't run a flivver on three wheels."

"I might," he said, stubbornly.

"Well, if you could, I wouldn't ride in it, so that settles that. It might give you a lot of satisfaction to get into a fight with him, but it wouldn't get us anywhere. It would only make a lot more trouble, and we've got enough now."

"It doesn't bother me any."

"That's just it," said Sally. "It doesn't seem to make any difference to you how much trouble you stir up. But we can't afford to have any more right away—and we're not going to have it."

The Wreck regarded her with a look of intense disgust.

"Do I look like a dishwasher?" he demanded. "Do you think anybody can make me wash dishes?"

"Suppose I asked you to wash them?"

He shook his head irritably.

"You haven't got any right to ask me."

"Yes, I have. I'm in this thing as much as you are and I have just as many rights as you have. And if it's necessary for you to wash dishes, then you ought to be glad to wash them, for the general good."

Sally puzzled him. She appeared to be abandoning herself to a situation that was preposterous and intolerable. It did not seem like Sally at all.

"What about your train?" he inquired.

"The train's got to wait for the present," she answered, with a shrug.

"You mean to tell me you're going to stick around here and take orders like a trained seal? You're going to cook for this outfit?"

She reached for a chair and seated herself opposite him.

"Do you realize, Henry Williams, that I'm trying to save you? I don't claim any credit for it, because I'm trying to save myself, too. Have you forgotten what you did last night? Do you want to go roaming out on the road again, to be picked up and sent off to jail? Well, if you do, I don't. We've got to hide somewhere until this thing blows over. And if you can think of any better place than this to hide, I can't."

"I only took a little gasoline," he said, impatiently.

"And you only held them up with a gun, too. And scared the life out of them, and made them sit in the road, and humiliated them, and let all the air out of their tires. And you didn't pay for the gasoline, either; so that's stealing. You'd better take it from me, you've done something to hide for. I know Montana, if I don't know much else. You can't do things like that any more."

The Wreck scowled at the floor.

"How about a bird who steals the wheel off your car? Can he do things like that?"

"No; he hasn't any right, of course. But it's done, and I'm not sure but that's also an act of Providence, as Charley McSween says. I have a hunch that what we need right now is a hide-out, and this gives us one without hunting for it. Besides, we can eat here."

"And how long do you thing we're going to stay parked around here, Sally Morgan?"

"Oh, not long. That depends. I'm sure we'll get the wheel back for the car b the time we ought to start."

He pondered the prospect gloomily. The thing to do, of course, was to lick Charley McSween; no man was expected to endure what Charley had inflicted.

But he was not so entirely a creature of impulse as Sally believed him. There was a streak of calculation in him; it could not be called caution, but it involved a certain degree of premeditation and reckoning of consequences. He could see Sally's point about the hide-out. It irked him to acknowledge that it had merit; he would not publicly admit it. But he was honest with himself. His fundamental urge was to thrash Charley McSween until he produced the missing wheel and then to rush Sally away to the nearest point on the railroad, where he guaranteed to stop any transcontinental flier that might happen along, even if he had to stall the flivver in the middle of the track. But it might not be the quickest way of getting Sally out of a mess. Perhaps it might be better to think things over a bit; not that he wanted to, but that it might be his unpleasant duty.

"I'm not worrying about myself one bit," she assured him. "I'm worrying more about you."

The Wreck bristled.

"What in— Why in blazes would you worry about me?"

"Well, you were expecting to go back to the ranch, weren't you?"

"That's nothing. I told them I might not be back the same night."

"I know," said Sally. "But it's the second day after that. And you haven't got me to the train yet. And And then you've got to find your way back to the ranch—And I don't believe you ever can."

He flung himself into a two-armed gesture of protest.

"Anywhere I've been once I can go again," he said. "I could drive from here to Pittsburg with my eyes shut. Don't worry about me."

"But Dad and Ma will think you're lost."

"Then let Dad and Ma do the worrying."

"We'll have to get you a road map, if there is such a thing, before you start back," said Sally, "because you'll have a terrible time if you try to cut across country again."

"Oh, I'll take a bearing from Black Top," observed the Wreck, wickedly.

He grinned, and Sally smiled. She was glad that he seemed to be in a better humor.

She was not concerned very much about her own predicament. It mattered very little that she failed to get the train on a particular day; it was just an annoyance. It would not be an overwhelming catastrophe if she had to go back to the Bar-M. Everything could be explained as soon as the present trouble blew over. What gave her real worry was the Wreck himself.

The Wreck was headed for the door when she called him to a halt.

"Where are you going?" she asked, suspiciously.

"Just for a look about the place."

"You're not going to hunt up Charley McSween?"

"I'm not going to dodge him."

"Well, you're not going to fight with him," she said, firmly.

"Not if he leaves me alone."

"It doesn't make any difference whether he leaves you alone or not. You're not going to fight; not to-day, anyhow. We can't afford it."

"I'm no door-mat," he grumbled.

"Certainly not. Nobody thinks you are. But—Henry, you are not going to fight."

It was not the fact of her quiet emphasis that most impressed him. It was being called "Henry." Back at the ranch they called him "Mr. Williams," and "Wreck," and "Mister," and "Henry Williams," and other things. It has never occurred to anybody to admit him to the comradeship of "Henry." Coming at last, it made a rather favorable impression on him. It was the first time anybody had called him "Henry" since he left Pittsburg. He did not feel quite so far from home.

"Oh, all right, maw," he drawled, as he went through the door. "I ain't goin' to fight."

Sally sat in a chair and screamed.

She busied herself for a while in the kitchen, confident that he would keep his promise.

When the kitchen satisfied her, she started on an exploration of the rest of the lower floor. There was a pantry, with more china in it, which caused her eyes to widen.

Beyond the dining-room was an enormous living-room; it occupied at least half of the area of the ranch house. She liked it at once, not only for its spacious dimensions, but for the comfort, even luxury, with which it was furnished.

She roamed about the big rooms as Alice roamed in Wonderland; not amazed at anything she saw, but marvelling that it should all be there in the middle of the range country, where most living rooms run to plainness and simplicity, and too often to drab barrenness.

Finally she picked up a book that she did not believe would be disappointing, dragged one of the big chairs close to a window and curled herself into a knot of luxurious comfort. She followed the story for a chapter or two, forgetting the Wreck and the flivver and the train going east. But after a while her mind became pleasantly dull and hazy, and a gentle weight on her eyelids closed them. She was aware only of the fact that she was going to take a nap and she found joy in it.

DENTISTS SEEK GREATER FIELD

Would Give Wider Service to the Public Under New Co-ordination Plan.

SOME OBJECTS.

TORONTO, Jan. 29.—(Canadian Press).—Co-ordination of the dental profession in the province with a view to greater service to the public, a movement in which the profession itself and the Ontario Government are co-operating, was announced as accomplished yesterday at the Parliament Buildings by Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, Minister of Health. Service to the public generally and particularly to school children in preventive dentistry are the aims of the movement, which hopes to make available in both urban and rural centres, free dental treatment to the needy. Supervision over the work will be held by Dr. F. J. Conboy, of Toronto, whose appointment to the newly-created post of Provincial director of dental services, was announced yesterday by Hon. Dr. Godfrey.

The work which the dental profession is anxious to accomplish for the public and over which the dental director will have charge, includes a survey of the school children of the province and the establishment of a school dentist's services; the establishment of dental departments in connection with the hospitals where dentists will contribute their work gratuitously; the organization of travelling clinics for outlying districts; and the assisting of dentists to locate in smaller rural centres.

TWENTY PEOPLE KILLED.

Attempt to Disarm 1,000 Defeated Kiangsu Troops Caused Bloodshed.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 29 (Canadian Press).—Twenty persons were killed and twenty injured today in a thickly settled section of the Chinese district, when a small contingent of victorious troops representing Gen. Lu Yung-Shang and the Central Chinese Government met resistance when they attempted to disarm about 1,000 defeated Kiangsu troops of Chi-Haieh-Yuan, the deposed leader.

THE CITY MANAGER FORM OF MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT

A municipal duel is under way in cites big and little of the country. The fight is between two ideas—an old idea and a new idea. The new and challenging idea is the city manager form of municipal government. In the last notable encounter between the two systems, in the recent election, the city manager form won a victory, and another big city—Cincinnati—is added to the list of these municipalities, now more than 300, which have adopted the idea. Five million citizens are now under the city manager form of government.

What will the outcome be? No man may yet say. Will some one of the great cities of the country try the new system. What have the results been so far where the city manager form is in use? In the little cities? In the big cities?

Among the cities and town now under this plan, in addition to Cincinnati, are Cleveland, Dayton, Pasadena, San Diego, Colorado Springs, Miami, Wichita, Portland, Me.; Grand Rapids, Niagara Falls, Springfield, Ohio; Knoxville, Beaumont, Texas; Norfolk, Va.; Charleston, Clarksburg and Wheeling, W. Va., and Auburn, Newburgh, Sherrill, Watertown and Watervliet, N.Y. Only four cities which adopted the plan by popular vote have ever discarded it.

Cleveland, the largest of these cities, now has a population of more than 800,000. There is no reason, declare the advocates of city management, why it should not be applied to cities of any size. They believe it would work as well in New York or Chicago, with their millions, as in the little towns of Iowa or Florida, where it has proved both popular and successful. And they are willing to predict that it will be a live issue in New York before many years.

In order to understand what the city manager idea is and why it has spread so rapidly it is necessary to recall a little history. The honor of having the first city manager goes to Staunton, Va., where the idea of having city business conducted by some one who knew how to do it was first put into effect in 1908. Out of this grew the plan in its present form, which was first written into a city charter in Sumter, S.C., in 1912.

Advertised for City Executive.

On October 14, 1912, the city fathers of Sumter published an advertisement which has a historical interest for students of municipal government and which also is as good a description of an ideal city manager as could be found. It read as follows:

"The City of Sumter hereby announces that applications will be received from now till Dec. 1 for the office of city manager of Sumter.

"This is a rapidly growing manufacturing city of 10,000 population, and the applicant should be competent to supervise public work, such as paving, lighting, water supply, etc.

"And engineer of standing and abilitywould be preferred. State salarys desired and previous experience in municipal work.

"The city manager will hold office as long as he gives satisfaction to the commission. He will have complete administrative control of the city, subject to the approva' of the board of three elected Commissioners.

"There will be no politics in the job; the work will be purely that of an expert. Local citizenship is not necessary, although a knowledge of local conditions and traditions will, of course, be taken into consideration.

"A splendid opportunity for the right man to make a record in a new and coming profession, as this is the first time that a permanent charter position of this sort has been created in the United States."

The successful applicant was Charles E. Ashburner, an English engineer of long experience, new city manager of Stockton, Cal. So successful was he that within two years thirty-two cities had adopted the new plan. Other cities followed, the largest accessions coming between 1918 and 1923. From time to time there were setbacks and disappointments. One city manager in a Southern community discovered that a number of prominent citizens, including the leading banker, who was also one of the City Commissioners, were not paying all the taxe they should. Taking the Chief of Police with him he invaded the precincts of the bank and demanded $10,000 in back taxes Public opinion failed to sustain him and he lost his job. But most city managers have had less exciting and more successful careers.

Cleveland Pays $25,000.

Just how successful city management is, from the city manager's point of view, is indicated by some of the salaries paid. Long Beach, Cal., pays $10,000; Pasadena, $12,000; Stockton, $20,000; Dubuque, $10,000; Cleveland, $25,000; Knoxville, $15,000, and other salaries of from $5,000 and up are common. The city manager also enjoys prestige and power in proportion. He is a democratic autocrat—with absolute control, as a rule, over the administrative departments of his city—but usually subject to removal, not only by the City Commissioners but, if necessary, by popular vote.

The city management plan and government by commission go together, although the commission was first worked out in Galveston Texas, some years before the city manager arrived on the scene. A typical system was that adopted in Dayton, in 1913, after a disastrous flood had called attention to the necessity of increased efficiency in the city government. Dayton elected five non-partisan Commissioners, who proceeded to hire the best city manager they could find, and to turn over to him the administrative control of all the city departments. He could both appoint and remove, subject to civil service restrictions. With this reform went an improved budget plan, an accounting along strictly businesslike lines and other changes designed to cut costs and expedite the city's enterprises.

The basic idea of the new arrangement was its imitation of the manner in which successful private corporations carry on their affairs. The citizen was likened to a shareholder, the Commissioners to a board of directors, and the city manager to the corporation's president or general manager. No one but the professional politicians cared what the manager's politics were, so long as he returned a hundred cents' worth of service, or perhaps a hundred and one cents' worth, for every dollar the taxpayer was compelled to invest.

Before the city manager appeared the commission form of government had resulted in a number of reforms, but it had been found that expert government could not be expected from boards of five, nine, or even a greater number of men selected by popular vote from private life. The city manager furnished the expert knowledge, experience and executive ability, and the Commissioners then merely determined general politics and supervised the manager's work. They have usually served without pay.

In Cleveland, a still further step was taken last year. This was the amendment of the city charter to permit the election of Commissioners on a basis of proportional representation. Ashtabula, Ohio, and Boulder Col., have adopted a similar provision.

"This means, in Cleveland," said Harold Buttenheim, editor of The American City Magazine, "that any group which can muster one-twenty-fifth of the total vote can have its representative on the City Commission. The result is that the commission, or board of directors, becomes a small reporuction of the different opinions existing in the city. Under the old system, many of these opinions, or groups, were totally unrepresented.

"One long-standing evil is done away with. There is no longer a temptation in municipal politics for a major party to offer undesirable inducements to groups or factions whose vote is supposed to be decisive. Nor is every candidate forced to undergo, at every election, the ordeal of a general canvass of the voters. If he can get and hold one-twenty-fifth of the vote he can secure and retain office indefinitely. And this calls into the city's service better qualified men.

"Under this plan racial and other rivalries may reveal themselves in the City Commission's meetings, but it is better to have them quietly discussed there than made the subject of hotly, and sometimes unscrupulously, conducted political campaigns. With this accompaniment the city manager plan becomes more than ever a successful combination of democracy with efficiency."

John G. Stutz, of Lawrence, Kan., executive secretary of the international City Managers' Association, also points out the advantages of the non-partisan features of city management.

"The city manager form of city government," declares Mr. Stutz, "stimulates the use of purely city policies in city elections and eliminates unrelated state and national politics. For example, the Democratic and Republican members of the Cleveland Council vote as individuals on city policies, because the people of Cleveland will return them to office for their actions on city affairs, not for their party alignment.

Don't Know Manager's Politics.

"Knoxville, Tenn., is a Republican city. It has a city manager who is a Democrat. His appointments are made without regard to party alignment and very few people in Knoxville know what their manager's national politics is. Some Republican politicians wanted to abandon their city manager charter by action of the State Legislature. The citizens of Knoxville have just defeated the candidates who favored the abandonment by 4,000 and 5,000 majority, a larger majority than they gave the charter a year ago. In city matters, Knowville citizens are now voting for Knoxville, and not for any state or national party.

"The citizens of Dayton voted improvements and tax levies by 65 to 75 per cent. majority, Nov. 4, which was not only a vote of confidence in their form of city government, after eleven years' trial, but much greater majorities than they gave any party candidates."

The only serious protests against the new regime, in most of the cities which have hired city managers have come from old-line politicians. Obviously, the patronage of the local bosses is greatly interfered with, if not altogether abolished, by the city manager's insistence upon business principles. "Deserving Democrats" or equally "deserving" Republicans do not get jobs unless they can do the work. It is to the city manager's interest to disregard politics, for if he does not he is likely to run up expenses and lose his own job. Moreover, as he is usually not a resident of the city when he is hired, he has no local political affiliations and no political debts to pay.

Mr Kilpatrick believes that the city management plan will work as well in one section of the country as in another, and that it is not necessarily mited to the smaller towns and cities.

In New York City, those familiar with the plan assert, the commission form of government and the city manager system of administration could be installed without difficulty and without breaking down the existing borough divisions. Proportional representation, it is added, might do much to eliminate some of the less desirable features of municipal politics.

Mrs. Rose Barrett, the city manager of Warrenton, Ore., not only manages that city but has been the chief factor in building it. When she started to work, twelve years ago, the site of Warrenton was marked by a few little shacks belonging to fishermen—that was all. Within that time she has done what Ida M. Tarbell calls "one of the most remarkable pieces of constructive work ever accomplished."

"It was twelve years ago," says Mrs. Barrett, who is now in the East, "that I was left a widow and thrown upon my own resources. I didn't know how to do anything to make a living—I had no more than a fifth grade schooling, and no business training whatever—and no money. It happened that I had been interested in the country near the mouth of the Columbia River, and I decided that it had possibilities as a site for a town which should grow into a great port in time. The more I studied it the better it looked. There was unlimited water power, and a supply of water for the use of people up to a million from the clean mountain stream fed from melting snow and rain, soft lumber, the soil so rich that it needed hardly any labor, and a harbor almost identical with that of Hampton Roads

"The next thing to do was to get some land there and promote the place. So it wasn't long before I found myself a real estate dealer—and I didn't even know what a promissory note was. I went to night school and studied commercial law. I had to borrow the money, but the idea proved to be worth it, and more, so that soon straightened itself out. I bought on thirty-day options, and then went forth to tell of the possibilities of this site. And now we have a thriving manufacturing town, with a Mayor and three Commissioners to run it besides me, and there are fine roads all around, electric lights, running water, telephones, first-class schools and churches

"When I became city manager I discovered strife in the Fire Department. Now, even in a small town, it isn't good to have your Fire Department sulking in its tent; so I appointed a new chief, a man who did not like me at all. But he took the appointment and straightened things out—and now he's a friend of mine."

Their Code of Ethics.

At their last annual meeting, held in Montreal in September, the City Managers' Association adopted a code of ethics. Here are some of its clauses:

"The position of city manager is an important and honorable position, and should not be accepted unless the individual believes that he can serve the community to its advantage.

"In personal conduct a city manager should be exemplary and he should display the same obedience to law that he should inculcate in others.

"The city manager is the administrator for all the people, and in performing his duty he should serve without discrimination.

"A city manager should deal frankly with the Council as a unit, and not secretly with its individual members, and, similarly, should foster a spirit of co-operation between all employees of the city's organization.

"No city manager should take an active part in politics.

"A city manager will be known by his works, many of which may outlast him and, regardless of personal popularity or unpopularity, he should not curry favor or temporize, but should in a far-sighted way aim to benefit the community of to-day and posterity."

The contrast between these ideals of the new profession and those formerly prevalent in hundreds of City Halls, and perhaps still prevalent in many, may be partially responsible for the spread of this new system of city government, for it is reading, and if these prophets in the field know what they are talking about will be seriously considered before long in every great city in the country.

MARKET FOR FRUIT.

Ontario Growers Will Have Help From Government, Martin Says.

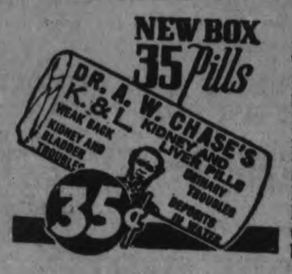
HAMILTON, Jan. 29 (Canadian Press).—That there were great possibilities for Ontario fruit growers on the British market, and that the Ontario Government would co-operate with producers to the fullest extent in developing this trade, was the announcement of Hon. John S. Martin, minister of agriculture, who addressed the members of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association and the Niagara Peninsular Fruit Growers' Association at a lunch yesterday in connection with the joint annual convention now being held in Hamilton. The minister outlined plans which were strongly endorsed by those in attendance. Mr. Martin announced himself as a strong supporter of the resolution calling for higher tariff, passed yesterday.

PREMIER THEUNIS RETIRES.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 29 (Canadian Press).—Premier Theunis reiterated to the press yesterday that he was determined to retire definitly after the next elections. Parliament, he said, was likely to be dissolved in March.

"Was Freed of Gall Stones And Persistent Backache"

Mr. Alexander Bradley, R.R. No. 1, Carp, Ont., writes:



"I suffered from gall stones, and commenced taking Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I feel safe in saying that these pills completely overcame the trouble, as it is some years since I was afflicted in this way, and I have not suffered from gall stones or even backache since. I have also found Dr. Chase's Nerve Food excellent for heart trouble and shortness of breath."

LLOYD'S HINT DAY OF THE STEAMSHIP IS NEARING CLOSE

Latest Returns Show 60 Per Cent New Craft Motor-driven

NEW TYPE PAYS

Some Hold Fuel Oil Bunker Cost Will Be Deterrent

The possibility of the eventual disappearance of the "steamship" from the seas, and its complete replacement by motorships, is foreshadowed in Lloyd's quarterly shipbuilding returns, just published.

Lloyd's report, in emphasizing the remarkable development of internal combustion engines for the propulsion of ships at sea, says: "The tonnage of vessels now building in the world, which are to be fitted with internal combustion engines, amounts to 923,738 tons, while the tonnage of steam vessels under construction is 1,530,884 tons. The motor tonnage therefore equals over 60 per cent. of the world's new steam tonnage.

"In Denmark, Germany, Holland and Sweden the motor tonnage under construction greatly exceeds the steam tonnage; the combined totals for these countries being 142,828 tons of steamers and 477,006 tons of motor ships. The world figures include eighty-four motor ships each of between 5,000 and 10,000 tons, seven of between 10,000 and 15,000 tons, and six of between 15,000 and 22,000 tons.

Of vessels building in Great Britain and Ireland at the end of December, motor shipping amounted to 32.75 per cent. of the steam tonnage under construction, the actual figures being: steamships, 976,834 tons; motor ships, 320,187 tons. Britain has just commissioned a monster motor passenger liner, the Aorangi, of 23,000 tons(for the Australian route), and although she commenced her maiden journey in the teeth of a pre-Christmas gale, reports have been so favorable that other vessels of this description are likely to be ordered immediately.

Though the capital cost of the motor ship is much higher than that of the steamship, shipowners throughout the world, say Lloyds, are evidently reaching the conclusion that in some conditions the motor ship is the better paying proposition. According to other authorities, however, shipowners are expressing anxiety regarding the price they have to pay for fuel oil bunkers, and it is suggested that failing some alteration, this factor may prove a deterrent to the progress of motor shipping. The case is quoted of a leading American line which decided to convert its oil-burning vessels to coal-burning, and stated that the saving effected in one of its vessels amounted to as much as $75 a day.

Generally speaking, however, British shippers are disposed to agree with Lloyds that the motor-ship has come to stay, and many believe it will before long displace the coal-burner altogether.

Woman Burned With Her Bridal Dress—Old Maid's Romance

A wedding dress of shining white satin and a trousseau of the finest linen were found by firemen when they were called to the room of Miss Mary Darnell, an aged woman who was burned to death on Christmas Eve at Seymour Place, Marble Arch.

It was stated at the inquest that Miss Darnell was found unconscious, suffering from frightful burns, amid piles of smouldering papers and clothing.

It is thought that on the eve of Christmas Miss Darnell's mind had gone back to the days of some long-distant romance.

In reading old letters and in looking at the wedding dress of her youth it is supposed that she had been overcome with emotion, and had accidentally set fire to the old, faded letters.

At the time of her death Miss Darnell apparently had no intimate friends. No one in the house, in which she occupied one room, knew anything about her except that she never received visitors, and was inclined to resent any neighborly little offers of domestic help.

Miss Darnell had lived in Seymour Place for six years. She received the old-age pension and also a pension from a drapery firm.

She did not appear to be in want, but in latter years, it is said, she became a little eccentric. She was in good health, but lame.

She did not speak to anyone of her private affairs, and those who saw her in the house knew nothing of the existence of the beautiful and expensive wedding dress and trousseau.

DEPTH OF THAMES INCREASED 4 FEET

Task Begun Decade Ago Now is Nearing Completion

The Port of London authority has completed the greater part of the task, which it set itself more than ten years ago, in increasing the depth of the Thames by four feet from London Bridge down to the open sea.

The minimum depth from London Bridge to the Thames's mouth is now 24 feet. That depth is maintained from the famous bridge to Tilbury Dock, some twenty-five miles from the open sea. From Tilbury Dock to the sea there is a channel 1,000 feet wide, with an average depth of 30 feet and nowhere less than 27 feet of water.

This brings to completion a scheme of ... [illegible] ... St. Margaret's, near Dover, aged 89. ... smallpox death from sleeping sickness.

London Woman's 23 Children; Set Up Novel Record

Queenie Charlotte, a baby girl born a few days ago at the Queen Charlotte Hospital, is the twenty-third baby of Mrs. Baker, who lives at Notting Hill-gate.

By the birth of this child a remarkable record has been set up at the hospital. Practically every year Mrs. Baker has had a child, and every one of the babies has been born in the same hospital. Room for Mrs. Baker has always been available, and she generally had the same place in the ward year after year.

Mrs. Baker is about 45 years of age. Most of her children are alive and live at home with their father and mother.

Mrs. Baker, who is a bright and happy mother, besides the work of looking after so large a family, has a fruit stall business, at which she assists when possible.

CLOCKS BALK MOVE TO CUT SALARIES

Fulham Council Debate Quashed by Sample Timepieces

STRIKE WINS

United Action Diverted Attention Luckily for the Workers

A "sympathetic strike" by clocks effectively sidetracked a proposal to reduce the wages of employes of the Fulham (London) Borough Council, and the Council's workmen are now all for striking clocks.

The Fulham Council had under discussion the purchase of a new clock for the Town Hall, and many timepieces guaranteed to "strike" the hours and fractions thereof had been submitted for selection. All the clocks were properly wound up and ready to compete in resonance and clarity of tone, but as there were a few minutes to spare before the competitors could prove their merit, the Council started discussion of a resolution suggesting that the municipal employes' salaries should be reduced.

Almost immediately all the clocks started to strike and the Council had to postpone the debate until the chiming was over. When the final choice of a clock had been made, and it was proposed to continue the wage discussion, a Councillor said, "Even the clocks struck over the proposal," and it was agreed there should be no reduction.

GRAPE-FRUIT TAKEN IN ENGLAND NOW

"Breakfast Cocktail' Finding Its Way Into British Homes

Grape fruit is growing in popularity as a "breakfast cocktail" in England as a result of the annual American tourist invasion.

Practically unknown here ten years ago ,from 680 tons in 1920 British imports have grown to 2,500 tons in 1923. These figures were compiled by Mrs. K. A. H. Egerton in a report to the United States Consulate in London.

Of the 2,500 tons imported in 1923 the greater proportion came from America, but the West Indies and South Africa are seriously entering into competition, with every prospect of increasing their contributions.

While American visitors still form the greater proportion of Great Britain's grape fruit consumers, Britishers are acquiring the taste and according to official statistics the imports are certain to increase. The day seems not far off when the American visitor to the smallest hotel or restaurant will not feel like he is ordering fried elephant or stewed alligator or an omelette of roe's eggs when calling for this ordinary breakfast dish.

Major Hall-Edwards X-Ray Martyr Ill Near Birmingham

Major J. Hall-Edwards, one of the first martyrs to the X-rays, lies dangerously ill at his home at Edgbaston.

Within a few months of the discovery of the X-rays he contracted dermatitis, which necessitated the amputation of his left hand and forearm and four fingers on the right hand.

Despite this sacrifice, Major Hall-Edwards, who is a Carnegie hero, continued to work for 30 years with X-rays. In his spare time he painted landscapes.

For 20 years he was senior medical officer to the X-ray department of Birmingham General Hospital.

DEAD MAN'S HEART BEATS 210 MINUTES

British Specialists Regard Newport Case as New Record

RARE EXAMPLE

Executed Criminal's Heart Beat Half-hour After Drop

That an otherwise "dead" man's heart continued to beat for three and a half hours after he had ceased to breathe was the statement of an infirmary doctor at a Newport inquest. According to the doctor, who attended the man throughout, he undoubtedly died when he ceased to breathe, but the heart continued pumping blood into his lungs and brain three and a half hours afterwards.

The case has attracted much attention among heart specialists, who are disposed to think this must be nearly a record. A leading heart specialist declared that somewhat similar cases were occasionally heard of, but that they were extremely rare and that the period of post-mortem heart activity was exceptional. An executed criminal's heart has been known to beast as much as half an hour after hanging, but there was always the doubt as to whether the hanging had been really efficacious and that death did not actually occur until the heart ceased beating. For a man to die in his bed and the heart continue beating was, said this authority, to be exceptional.

WALES LOSES THE LEEK AS EMBLEM

Daffodil Used as Official Badge of Principality

The leek has been officially banned as the national emblem of Wales.

Government notepaper, issued from the Stationery Office, now bears a new design of the royal badge. Underneath the royal crown appears the Scottish thistle, the English rose, the shamrock for Northern Ireland—and a daffodil for Wales.

The inclusion of the daffodil has caused a stir among heraldic experts as well as among Welshmen.

"To represent Wales by a daffodil seems to me to be wrong," said an expert to a Daily Express representative. "The Welsh emblem has always been either a dragon or a leek.

"The Welsh Guards had a leek as their emblem, and this vegetable is usually described in dictionaries as the national emblem of Wales. It was adopted, according to tradition, at the instance of St. David to celebrate a victory of King Arthur over the Saxons."

Sir Vincent Evans, the secretary of the Honorable Society of Cymmrodorion, said: "A confusion of names is at the root of the problem. The Welsh word for leek is 'ceninen,' and in some parts of Wales the daffodil is called St. Peter's leek, and therefore also 'ceninen.' I think the mass of the people are drawn to the leek, which can look very artistic as a heraldic device."

The new royal badge was passed by the Mint, the Treasury and other Government departments a few months ago, and it was approved by the King. The notepaper on which the new die is stamped is now being used, chiefly by the Post Office.

Mr. Lloyd George has always been in favor of the daffodil, and chose it as emblematic of the Principality on the insurance stamp.

STRANGE MISHAP AT BATH FUNERAL

A hearse containing a coffin had moved a short distance from a Bath house when for some unexplained reason it suddenly overturned. The coffin was saved from being thrown out by the low rail surrounding it.

"I have never seen anything like it in my long experience," said the driver of one of the mourning coaches afterwards. "The hearse seemed to be lifted up bodily and thrown over. It was on a perfectly flat surface, and there was no skidding."

The driver and horses of the hearse were unhurt. A motor-hearse was sent for, and meanwhile the coffin was taken into a clergyman's house near by, where the mourners waited. The funeral was that of Miss E. A. Scovell.

DOCTOR APOLOGISES TO DR. HADWEN

Much interest has been aroused at Gloucester by a notice inserted in the evening editions of the Gloucestershire Echo and the Citizen by Dr. Arthur Graham Foljambe Forster, of Calderwood, Montpellier Parade, Cheltenham.

In this Dr. Forster admits that on October 29, 1924, at Cheltenham, he stated that during the 1896 smallpox epidemic Dr. Walter Robert Hadwen, leader of anti-vaccinationists and anti-vivisectionists, was vaccinated in Cheltenham by a Cheltenham doctor. He further admits that he has now found the statement to be without foundation and unreservedly withdraws the allegation and expresses regret at having made it.

FALSE LEG RUN OVER BY TRAIN

A man aged about 35 was seen to take a razor from his pocket on the Bakerloo Tube platform at Paddington, slash his throat and left arm, and fall in front of a moving train.

The train was immediately stopped, and it was found that one of his legs had been run over and severed. The limb was an artificial one. His other leg, a sound one, was unhurt.

The man was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Paddington. Two £1 notes were found in his possession. There was no clue to his identity.

ULSTER CURFEW ORDER REVOKED

It is officially announced that the Government of Northern Ireland has decided to revoke the curfew order in Ulster.

The peaceful state of Northern Ireland, it is announced, makes its removal possible.

The curfew was imposed throughout Ulster in consequence of outbreaks of lawlessness in May, 1922, and made it imperative for people to remain indoors from 11 p.m. to 5 a.m. The hours have been altered at various times, and for 18 months they have been from midnight to 5 a.m.

BOSTON MAYOR IS VICTIM OF HOAX

Whole Town Was Taken in by Practical Joker

HEAPS OF FOOD

Photographers Told to Bring Their Cameras—Ton of Coal Sent

A hoax caused great annoyance to the Mayor and Mayoress of Boston (Lincs.), Alderman and Mrs. Charles Day, and numerous tradesmen and residents.

Responding to invitations, clergy and ministers, members of the corporation and other public bodies went to Teviot Lodge, Sleaford Road, Boston, the residence of the mayor and mayoress, for a reception and introduction to "certain distinguished visitors," supposed to have come from Boston, United States.

Photographers were warned to bring their cameras. The guests, in cars and on foot, made a procession between the town and the Lodge.

Fish, game, meat, wines, groceries, clothing, boots, and other goods ordered mysteriously arrived throughout the morning at Teviot Lodge. A coal merchant sent a lorry of coal.

The tradesmen's servants all found that the goods had not been ordered. The mayoress and her servants were kept busy turning them away, explaining that they were the victims of somebody's practical joke.

HOSPITAL FACTORY MAKES CATGUT

A catgut factory at the London Hospital has been so successful that the profit from it is now sufficient to treat 1,000 out-patients or maintain three beds through which 26 in-patients pass in a year.

Mr. Morris, the House Warden, said:

Last year we used £550 worth ourselves and sold £9,700 worth to surgeons all over the country, to many hospitals, and even to places as far away as China and Persia.

The London Hospital has also helped its finances by making its own insulin for diabetes treatment.

PICTURE ADDRESS DULY DELIVERED

The writer of a letter at Enniskillen, Fermanagh, Northern Ireland, instead of addressing the envelope in the usual way, pasted on it a newspaper photograph of John Henry, the Yorkshire comedian who so frequently broadcasts from 2LO.

The local postal officials correctly delivered the letter to W. Egbert Trimble of Enniskillen—much to the surprise of Mr. Trimble, who was quite unaware of his remarkable likeness of Mr. John Henry.

WIRELESS PROVES CURATIVE POWERS

Edinburgh doctors have reported on the remarkable curative effects of wireless upon children. The benefit the little patients have already derived from wireless is described by the authorities as astounding.

Lord Halsbury, K.C., Is Inventor of New Anti-Dazzle Light

Lord Halsbury, K.C., who was leading counsel for Mrs. Robinson in the recent case of Charles Robinson vs. the Midland Bank, has become an inventor.

He has discovered the secret of what is claimed to be the perfect anti-dazzle motor-car headlight. Provisional specifications of the lamp have been lodged in the name of Lord Halsbury at the Patent Office, and an application placed before the Royal Automobile Club for an official test as soon as the full patent has been completed.

A test of Lord Halsbury's light was made on Wimbledon Common recently under the observation of the director of a British firm of lamp makers and the representative of a French motor-car factory. The headlights, which were on Lord Halsbury's car, were tried in all ways, and proved to be entirely satisfactory.

The secret of the anti-dazzle light, as described in the patent specification is in the special type of prismatic lens used. No particular kind of headlamp is needed, and Lord Halsbury's front lens glass can be fitted to any lamp.

TRAMP'S WEEK IN MAJOR'S MANSION

Two men with no home of their own have just been having a royal time in a fine mansion at Aldeburgh in Suffolk.

They are said to have broken into Haven House while the occupier, Major Godbolt, was away. They stayed six days, made themselves at home, and used freely the food, coal, electric light and household requisites.

Their doings were related at Saxmundham, when the two men—Jack Brown and William Thomas Smith—both "of no fixed abode," were charged with breaking into the shop of the International Tea Company at Leiston, and stealing provisions and also with breaking into the house of Major Ben Godbolt, at Aldeburgh, near Thorpeness.

It was stated that the two men took possession of Haven House, obtained supplies of food, and generally "made themselves at home." To avoid detection they hung carpeting over the windows.

Mr. Lieba stated that he was boarding a bus in Euston road when he was jostled, and on entering the bus discovered that his wallet had been stolen.

TERSE EPITAPH ON MAN'S COFFIN

Was drinking beer.

But this was replaced at the funeral by the usual name-plate.

LOVE IN COTTAGE ON $40 PER YEAR

Yorkshire Woman Tells Secret of How She Managed

BYGONE DAYS

Nine in Family When Increase Jumped to $3 Weekly

The secret of happy married life on £8 a year, and a glimpse of country life in the days before the advent of modern "hustle," were revealed by Mrs. Thomas Poulter, of Eastrington, East Yorkshire, who celebrated her seventy-first wedding anniversary on Christmas Day. She is ninety-three years old.

"I think the girls of today live in a heavenly world," she said.

"When I married my husband, Thomas Poulter, at Leeds Parish Church in 1853," said Mrs. Poulter, "he was working on a farm for a wage of only £8 a year and his food. He was employed on the next farm to my father's at Hopperton, near Goldsborough, the beautiful home of Princess Mary. My parents would not hear of their daughter marrying a farmer's boy earning so little money, and sent me off to Leeds in the hope that it would separate us. But love always finds a way, and young Poulter traced me, and we had a secret wedding. My brother walked all the way to Leeds to be the best man, and to take back my marriage lines to show my parents that we had been wed. He proved to be our peacemaker, for we were able to return home just in time to have a proper wedding reception on Christmas Day, only four days after our union."

It was love in a cottage on short rations for many years, but borne with mutual good humor.

"My husband worked as a woodman for Lord Mowbray for twenty-eight years," Mrs. Poulter continued, "and his wages had only reached 12s. a week when our family had increased to nine. But our wants were simple, and we had few temptations to spend. We only had one dance a year, and that was at Easter in the old barn, when the lords and ladies joined us."

The "baby" of Mrs. Poulter's family is aged fifty-one, and the eldest daughter is seventy, and she mentions with pardonable pride that all her children are living. She has five brothers and sisters whose ages total 432 years. The longevity of the family is celebrated throughout the countryside, for old-Farmer Poulter, her father, was ninety-six when he died, and had brought up a family of thirteen on 12s. a week.

BEGGAR'S TAKINGS SHOWN IN BOOK

Young Man Charged in Court, Had Been Very Successful

A book in which he had apparently tabulated his "takings" as a beggar in the West-end was found on Alexander Richardson, aged 25, of The Grove, Hammersmith.

Richardson appeared at Marlborough street Police Court charged with begging, and the following extracts from the book were read:—

Dec. 24—£2 2s. 2¼d. Expenses, 2s. 2½d.
Dec. 29.—£1 7s.
Dec. 30.—10s. 6d.
Dec. 31.—£1 8s. 8d.

Richardson had been standing in Regent street with a box containing matches.

The man's wife said her husband had been a pilot in the Royal Air Force. He had a garage, but it was now closed for the winter.

The Magistrate (Mr. Mead): You were not surprised that he had taken £2 2s. 2¼d. in one day?

The Woman: No, certainly not.

Richardson was remanded in custody.

BEDRIDDEN MAN'S TRAGIC ORDEAL

A bedridden man of eighty years, Richard Dale, living at Bournemouth, had the terrible experience of lying helpless in bed for twelve hours while his wife lay dead on the floor of his room.

The woman, Mrs. Sarah Isabella Dale, was seventy-nine years of age, and the old couple occupied a house in Shelbourne road, Mrs. Dale being the old man's only attendant.

A milkman, who could obtain no reply at the house, summoned a neighbor, who mounted a ladder to a window and called to Mr. Dale. The old man replied that his wife was on the floor, but he could not reach her. The neighbor climbed in, and found the woman dead by the bedside.

Mr. Dale stated that at 5.30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon his wife brought him some tea. As she turned to go she fell, and he was unable either to help her or call assistance.

WOULD BAR CANDY, CAKE AND JAM TO ALL SCHOOLBOYS

Stringent Rules Laid Down Take Joy Out of Life

NO PAMPERING

Three Ounces of Butter Daily But No Puddings

Schoolboys will have an awful poor time if Dr. Henry Campbell, leading British dietary-educational expert, has his own way. No jam, no cake, no puddings, no pastries, no sugar — no nothing.

Lecturing to members of the Food Education Society on school diet (in connection with the Educational Association Conference at London University), Dr. Campbell denounced the school "tuck-shop" (or candy store) as "an evil institution which should be done away with" and contended that no schoolboy or girl should be allowed to gorge themselves indiscriminately at a "tuck-shop."

He told of a boy who received $5 from his parents, spending the whole of the money on canned Swiss milk "with which he glutted himself at every convenient opportunity."

"School food should be simple and of the right kind," said Dr. Campbell. "The appetite of the young should not be pampered. Plain healthy food gives more satisfaction than the most refined delicacies. It is better to start life as a healthy pauper than a sickly millionaire."

With these good moral maxims, Dr. Campbell proceeded to say what should not be eaten by the schoolboy.

"Milk is not essential to man, and is chiefly valuable for its derivatives —butter and cheese." (No milk in the schoolboy's tea.) Then came a little comfort. "Each boy should have at least three ounces of butter daily. Next to cod-liver oil (ugh!) butter contains most fat."

Eggs, the doctor regarded as good, but expensive, and might be given once a week.

"Sugar is not an essential food. No jams or sweets are permissible. The country would gain vastly if all candy stores were converted into vegetable and fruit stores. Puddings and pastry, of all descriptions should be absolutely barred. They provide no exercise for the teeth and jaws and merely pamper the appetite."

In a mournfull tone Dr. Campbell concluded that the British public were not keeping pace with sanitary science.

And now some hundreds of thousands of British schoolboys are anxiously waiting to see how far these seeds of Campbell-ite wisdom have sunk into the minds of the educational authorities.

BILL TO CHECK UNSIGHTLY ADS.

To Check Disfigurement of Landscape by Boardings

Lord Newton's Bill to regulate advertisements, which he has introduced into the House of Lords, authorizes local authorities to make by-laws for regulating, restricting, or preventing the exhibition of advertisements in such places or by such means as to affect injuriously the amenities of public parks or pleasure grounds, or to disfigure the natural beauty of a landscape.

The Bill extends the power, so that by-laws may be made not only with respect to particular landscapes, which are in many cases difficult to define, but also with respect to:

Rural scenery generally;
The amenities of villages in rural districts, and
The amenities of places of historic interest.

The measure has the support of the Scapa Society for Prevention of Disfigurement in Town and Country, the advertising section of the London Chamber of Commerce, and the Royal Automobile Club.

SWEPT INTO SEA AND OUT AGAIN

Dramatic Rescue of Two Boys at Hastings Pier

Two ten-yearlold boys were swept into the sea at Hastings, but both luckily escaped.

It was during the high wind and seas in the afternoon, Rosser Mansell, son of a local doctor, and Geoffrey Scutt, son of the manager of the Gaiety Theatre, were standing on a wooden groyne watching the huge seas, when the back-wash of a large wave swept them into the sea.

Two men, Frank Koley and William Edmunds, the latter aged 63, at once jumped in, fully dressed, to rescue the boys. The seas were so heavy that the men were in danger of being swept out to sea.

Luckily, young Scutt was able to scramble back on the groyne, and a high wave swept Mansell back to the shore.

Constable Cheal, raced along the parade to help the men, and all were rescued.

"If ever there was a miracle," the officer said, "it is that all four were not drowned."

GEORGE GOULDING'S CAREER ENDS, FAILS IN ATTEMPTED 'COME BACK'

Canadian Walker Suffered a Breakdown and Couldn't Start in New York.

INJURED TUESDAY.

'Through For All Time" Says 1912 Olympic Champion in Tears.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—George Goulding, famous Canadian walker, who was to have opposed Ugo Frigerio of Italy and Willie Plant of New York in the 5,000 metre walk featuring the Millrose games last night, has suffered a breakdown and did not compete.

It was announced that Goulding did not sleep all Tuesday night after his handicapped race which marked his return to competition after many years' idleness. Yesterday afternoon his heart was beating like a pump and a physician who examined him said it would be suicide for the veteran to compete last night or probably at any future time.

Goulding, in tears, was seated in a box adjoining the track when announcement was made he would not go on against Frigerio, Italian, who himself faced the prospect of a handicap as a result of a scraped foot, caused by a new shoe he wore in his opening race Tuesday. It was said, however, that Frigerio and Plant would compete as scheduled.

Goulding was attempting a comeback in the game at which he was supreme a dozen years ago. He won the Olympic title in 1912 and still possess the world's record for the mile and other distances.

Tuesday night, in his first appearance here in eight years, he showed he was not up to his former ability when he finished second in a two-mile handicap event, the winner of which, Charles Eschenbach, had a 30-second allowance.

Twice in this race Goulding slipped to the track while making the turns and these mishaps also contributed to his setback.

Goulding, who occupied a box with his wife, confirmed his definite retirement from competition, when interviewed.

"Last week," he said, "I was in perfect condition to return to the track, or at least apparently so. I ran myself out and my physicians warned me, after my race Tuesday that my heart would not allow me to continue. When I fell twice I was injured, and realized the end had come. I sprained a thumb and threw both knees out of joint for the moment in the two falls I sustained. I am through for all time."

HAMILTON 4; ST. PATS 0.

Shorty Green Was in Dazzling Form—Irish Outplayed.

HAMILTON, Jan. 29.—(Canadian Press).—Hamilton outplayed St. Pats in a N.H.L. fixture here last night and finished on the long end of a four to nothing count in a game featured by brilliant individual work by Shorty Green. The Sudbury wizard showed dazzling speed throughout. He scored Hamilton's first two counters and turned in a defensive game that equalled any seen here this season. The other members in the Hamilton team also turned in good cards. The Hams appeared to have the most polish. Babe Dye and Adams were best for losers. It was a clean game, the cleanest seen here this year.

LEE IN BELLEVILLE.

But "Pro" League Promoter Didn't See Officials.

(Belleville Intelligencer.)

"Knotty" Lee, former scout for the Toronto Leafs, was seen in Belleville on Monday afternoon, and it is rumored that he was here on baseball business—business of organizing a professional baseball team in Belleville to enter the Quebec-Ontario professional baseball league—the plans of which were printed in these columns quite recently.

Though Lee was certainly in Belleville, Past President M. P. Duff of the Central Ontario Baseball League, and the present secretary of the same league, Newton Thompson, had not even heard of his being in the city until communicated with this morning by the Intelligencer.

"He did not see us," both men stated, "and we do not know anything about his mission here."

If Lee hopes to have members of the C.O.A.B.L. enter his "pro" team it seems reasonable that he should at least talk the matter over with local officials of the amateur league, in order to assure himself of the necessary co-operation and harmony.

Although his plans have been described as being encouraged here, in the same breath it is also stated that the idea is still in a nebulous state until further announcements are made.

At present it apepars as clear as the recent eclipse, leave alone the nebular theory.

LANDIS HELPING BASEBALL PROBE

Secretary of Landis Arrives in New York—Players Heard.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29—Indication that baseball's official power will be employed to its utmost in aiding the New York district attorney's investigation into the Dolan-O'Connell bribery scandal, was seen yesterday in the arrival of Leslie M. O'Connor, secretary to Commissioner Landis.

Soon after his arrival from Chicago, O'Connor, who was sent here as a personal emissary by the commissioner, arranged for a conference for today with Assistant District Attorney Brothers, who is in direct charge of the probe.

O'Connor did not indicate that he had any new information bearing on the bribery deal, but announced he was prepared to give all aid desired, lay all the facts in his possession before the investigators and pledge the full support of the commissioner's office.

O'Connor's arrival was sandwiched between examination of the players who figured in the bribery disclosures. Frank Frisch of the Giants and Heinie Sand, to whom O'Connell confessed offering a $500 bribe and Horace Ford, both of the Philadelphia Nationals already have been questioned by Assistant District Attorney Brothers.

Demands Immunity.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—Jimmy O'Connell, former New York league outfielder, barred from baseball by Judge Landis, through an attorney yesterday, declared he would refuse to go to New York to testify before the district attorney unless he is given immunity.

O'Connell previously had said he would go east. In asking immunity for O'Connell, Joseph I. McInerney, attorney for him, declared it was his intention to probe all the facts and circumstances surrrounding the connection of O'Connell with the attempted bribe of Heinie Sand of the Philadelphia Nationals.

OTTAWA 2; MONTREAL 1.

Overtime Game Broken Up by Dennenay—Team Play Good.

MONTREAL, Jan. 29.— (Canadian Press).—Cy Dennenay, leading goal getter of Ottawa Seniors gave his team, a 2-1 victory over Montreal here last night when he tricked the local defence and beat Benedict to break-up an overtime game after 2 minutes and 10 seconds in the extra session.

Ottawa, despite the absence of George Boucher and Nighbor, showed the best team play. Their forwards started cautiously but when they saw Montreal slow to get going Smith and Clancy opened up.

It was a rugged game with Ottawa strong defensively while the local guard was spotty and was frequently circled by the flashy senator forwards.

GAME IN HAVELOCK.

SIX SPORT CHAMPS EXTRAORDINARY!

Hoppe, Cobb, Kilbane, Evans, Dobie, Tilden, All Long-Time Monarchs—Their Names Will Live Forever in the Hall of Athletic Fame.

(By Art Carlson.)

It is one thing to be a champion but to hold on to the laurels is something else again.

Many sporting celebrities have ascended to the topmost pinnacle after a gallant uphill climb; have vaulted the final barrier to success. But barring a few exceptions they have failed to retain their lofty positions for anything more than a limited span.

Down the old sport trail, however, we find a handful or so who have leaped to fame—and have stayed within the calcium glare for lengthy stretches; yea, have held the throne for sensational periods. Some of them have since passed from the championship class; others are still carrying on. They represent six of the major sports.

Hoppe Leads 'Em All.

Heading the list of so-called sportive immortals, exponents de luxe of the billiard cue and the green table, Hoppe, once termed the 'boy wonder' has been outclicking opponents at the 18.2 balkline for close to two decades.

Hoppe started on his meritorious career back in 1906. And he has clung tenaciously to the old laurel wreath ever since with the exception of a single year when his most dangerous contemporary, Jake Schaefer, Jr., ruled the roost.

Champions Extraordinary!

Sport and Name.	Reign.
Billiards, Willie Hoppe	1906-1921
" "	1923-????
Boxing, Johnny Kilbane	1912-1923
Golf, Chick Evans	1920-1923
Baseball, Tyrus R. Cobb.	1907-1915
" "	1917-1919
Football, Gil Dobie	1908-1916
Tennis, W. T. Tilden, Jr.	1920-???

Then we have the great Ty Cobb. His superlative deeds on the major league ball fields are too well known to need much comment. From 1907 up to and including the 1919 campaign, the Georgian topped the American League hitters every season but one—1916—when Tris Speaker momentarily halted the Cobbian bombardment.

Unequalled in Baseball Annals.

Cobb's stellar batting march knows no parallel in all baseball history. Moreover, it isn't likely to be approached either.

Back in 1912 a new featherweight king was crowned. The personage referred to was Johnny Kilbane, a Cleveland youth. Kilbane came into the title by whipping the crafty Abe Attell.

For 11 straight years Johnny had the chevrons packed away in his kit. And then—a French chap named Eugene Criqui, came along and Kilbane's remarkable reign was over. But Johnny had perched atop the pugilistic throne longer than any other ringster before or since.

There is an old adage in golf to the effect that a champion seldom repeats. But not to Chick Evans, the Chicago wizard.

For Evans, besides winning as many big time golfing get-togethers as any pastimer in history, boasts a record of having grabbed the western amateur event four times running. He was turned back on the 5th attempt last summer.

Nine Years without Defeat.

To Gil Dobie, now coaching at Cornell, goes the honor of chalking up the longest winning streak in football. Dobie, while tutoring teams at the University of Washington years ago, went through nine consecutive seasons without tasting defeat! Spot the record if you can!

And then there is Bill Tilden, the tennis monarch. Tilden has played "hookey" with the rest of the field in the national singles event for the past five seasons. He looks good enough to continue indefinitely, although it is rumored that the champion plans to retire this year.

Hoppe, Cobb, Kilbane, Evans, Dobie and Tilden—all names to conjure with in the field of athletics; names that will live in the sportime museums for all time, especially in billiards, baseball, boxing, golf, football and tennis.

Champions all!

"FOUR BIT FAN" CONFIDENT

Discusses Fellow Fans and Team in Recent Games — Urges the "On to Toronto" Idea for Play-off in February.

To the Sporting Editor:

Since I wrote to you a week ago we have had several characteristic examples of the reactions of human nature to the turn of events which every person and every society experiences. Two months ago the fans hadn't a thought of a Senior O.H.A. team. Their flights of fancy didn't go beyond the intermediate finals and their hopes in that series were strengthened by Peterboro's performance last season. Meanwhile we have all had a new vision, and after a string of victories which we had never dreamed of when winter was opening up we get peevish over the first defeat.

Riding to work last Saturday morning in one of the McCann coupes a section of the anvil chorus, and that means about everybody in the car, was hammering away as if they had been practising all season and were in their best form. Even the girls were lamenting that defeat in a doleful minor note that sounded like the rattle of the loose window in the frame by my seat.

That parade up Yonge street didn't stand out quite so clearly on the screen of one's imagination in the midst of such gloom, deepened by the blue mood that seizes most of us going to work on a dark cold morning. I might as well repeat one of the stanzas in the chorale of the crabs because, like most falsetto, it travels far. Some had it that the team deliberately let the fans down. The answer to that was an authentic statement that the Hockey Club refused the Toronto Arena's attractive offer to switch the game from Toronto, because the team wished to keep faith with their local supporters and give them the opportunity they deserved of seeing the senior teams in action here. So much for the first blast of disappointment from the fans who had developed the notion that the Petes were unbeatable.

On the other hand the crowd had been tutored by the local and outside sporting editors to expect more than the Petes gave last Friday night. Here was a team that had barely limbered up on the canal early in December returning home after a brilliant series of victories and creating the impression which some of the players are evidently suffering from, that the Brock Street cubicle was too small for them. Most of us in the factory Saturday came to the conclusion, after watching the monotonous long distance bombardment by the Petes, that the local ice was, if anything, a little too long. And as for the Soo they played the boards far more effectively than did the Petes who should know the position of every knot and nail head from their long acquaintance.

And another comment. We had read of the long and short passes in the Petes' combinations in the Toronto victories, but here, and we have to admit with regrets, the boys went down the ice like homebrew funnelling into a bottle. They bunched together, got in each other's way and generally got in a jam. If they must play individually before the home crowd most of us would prefer it to attempts at team play that looked as if the line were all strangers to each other.

This may sound like a knock, but it is intended as quite the opposite. We had been led to expect a superior brand of hockey and we are still confident (I express the opinion of the street) the Petes can first of all win their group. I'd like to single out some of the players for their showing before the home crowd, but the invidious distinction might cause heart-burnings where there should be only an acknowledgment of facts. Every athlete should know the temper of the crowd, and by experience should also be aware of the fickle judgments of the bleachers in a baseball park as expressed in the phrase: "Yesterday a hero, today a bum." And also its brighter reverse.

They join a team and voluntarily assume the honors of a town and the hopes of the fans, not under contract, but under an unwritten pledge of doing their best—all the way through the season. And the fans ask nothing more, and they expect nothing less than that which such players, by putting on a uniform, cause them to expect. It is almost always true that if the fans' ardor cools there's a reason which players themselves should search out.

So much, again, for shop talk. It is not as harsh at it sounds, and it is still pulling for that "On to Toronto" movement in the latter part of February. In fact some of the fans are already salting away the odd dollar for that trip.

FOUR-BIT FAN.

BUCKSHOT MARTIN IS BETTER NAME FOR CHAMPION

There's Nothing About the New Bantam King That Suggests Cannonball.

By JOE WILLIAMS.

No one has yet seen enough of Eddie Cannonball Martin, the new bantamweight champion, to tell whether he is the McCoy or not. He didn't have to do much to win the title. This writer was never sold on Abe Goldstein as a champion, and said so the morning after Willie Lewis' boy won from the badly conditioned Joe Lynch.

Probably as he stands now Martin is not a great fighter. Few fighters have been really great at his age, 21. Perhaps he will develop. A whole lot depends on how the championship affects him. It gives some fighters confidence and poise.

Others become terrible fighters as champions. The possibility of defeat and the consequent loss of their valuable crown seem to paralyze them. Lynch, for instance, always fought his best when another held the bantam title. Goldstein will probably fight better now that he has nothing at stake. The few interesting fights Jess Willard ever made came after Dempsey had whipped him.

Martin is not particularly interesting in action. He is one of those wind mills who punch from all angles and seemingly never tire. Why they nicknamed him Cannonball is a mystery to me. Buckshot would be vastly better. A cannonball is destructive, buckshot is merely annoying. There is nothing devastating about Martin.

Eastern scribes are calling him a second Battling Nelson, because he can stand up under punishment, wear the other fellow out and then come on to win. This type of fighter would have fitted in with the general scheme of things 20 years ago when finish fights were popular. A Battling Nelson would not get very far in the six, eight and twelve rounders of today.

Like most of the modern fighters Martin is a body hooker. "My best punch is a left to the solar plexus," he tells you. "I left-hooked Goldstein to the body throughout our fight and I guess that's the one punch that won me the title."

Martin, however, became a body puncher through necessity. Early in his career his hands went bad and he had to shift from jaw punching, where the contact is hard on the hands, to body punching.

Martin is strong as a young bull, and is particularly effective in the clinches. In close, he handled the more experienced Goldstein as if he were a child.

Martin wanted to be a ball player. Still does, in fact. He is a fine little shortstop and has an offer to go with an International League club next summer. But he won't take it.

"If I thought I was good enough to play in the big leagues I'd go after a job," he tells you, "but the minors don't appeal to me."

Dad Wanted Him to Be Lawyer.

Fighting is a better paying business anyway. Ruth gets $52,000 a year, and is the game's highest-paid player. If Martin develops into a real champion, and a popular one, he may collect that much for a single night's work.

Martin is an Italian. His real name is Martino. His father is a retired restaurant keeper. Old man Martino wanted Eddie to be a lawyer, and educational plans were laid accordingly. One night the kid volunteered to battle on an amateur program. He won his first fight with a solid knockout.

It's hard to give up fighting if you drop your first opponent with a single punch. Eddie Martino was 16 years old that night. Five years have passed and he is a world champion. Well, there are enough good lawyers in the country already.

MURMI BREAKS RECORDS.

Keeps Up Habit by Setting Two New Marks Last Night.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(Canadian Press). — Paavo Nurmi raced to triumph last night in a mile and a half race, featuring the games. Nurmi shattered the world's record for distance, marking the fourteenth record performance the "Finnish phantom" has set in his races. His time of 6.33 2-5 displaced the old mark of 6.41 4-5 set by Joe Ray in 1923.

Nurmi was credited with a second world's mark in his race when he was clocked at the mile and a quarter mark in 5.30 1-5, dislodging another of Ray's records, 5.33 3-5, set in 1922.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

SOO'S FINANCES ARE CONUNDRUM

Sudbury Unable to Explain How Amateur Team Can Travel So Much.

AND KEEP JOBS.

SUDBURY, Jan. 29.—Sudbury is taking no part in the controversy which is being waged between the Soo hockey club and the N.O.H.A. The position here is the same as it has always been. "Sudbury fans can't see how an amateur team can spend weeks and weeks away from home visiting towns from Minneapolis on the west to Boston on the east in the United States, and from Quebec City to Winnipeg in Canada, play more than thirty games, and still have their players maintain their jobs. It's a conundrum here, and the Soo is right when it says in Tuesday's Despatch, that the Allan Cup champions will be the only Senior team in the N.O.H.A. next year. To this Sudbury adds: "Yes, and many more if things continue as they are. The pace is too fast for the Wolves, and for Timmins, too, where they dig millions out of the ground. Soo, however, is N.O.H.A. territory and C.A.H.A. will have the say as to where Soo will play. They rose to fame through their connection with that body. Sudbury is blamed with a part in trying to wreck the Greyhounds. If the above contention is taken in this light, Soo is right."

ITALIAN WALKER LOST.

Ugo Frigerio Defeated by New York Man in the First Test.

MADISON SQUARE GARDENS, New York, Jan. 29. — (Canadian Press).—Ugo Frigerio, famous Italian walker and Olympic champion, sustained a crushing defeat last night in his first big test in the United States when he lost to Willie Plant, of New York, in the 5,000-meter race, from which George Goulding, Canadian veteran, was forced to withdraw because of a breakdown.

Plant, taking the lead from the start, added steadily to his advantage with a brilliant exhibition, and finished amid a bedlam of cheering, fully 110 yards in front of the invader.

THORNTON SEES GREAT CANADA

Dominion's National Railway Will Help in Growth of Country.

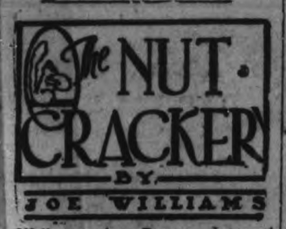
LAUDS SYSTEM.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 29.—(Special)—Canada has a state-owned railway system of twenty-two thousand miles of line, but this was not brought into existence as the result of a studious examination of the merits of public as against private operation of railways. It was an economic necessity.

This was the declaration made last night to six hundred railway and industrial traffic experts at the annual dinner of the Indianapolis Traffic Club by Sir Henry W. Thornton, born at Logansport, Ind., and now president and chairman of the Canadian National Railways.

The reasons underlying the creation of the state-owned railroad system in Canada were imperfectly understood in the United States, said Sir Henry. The Dominion decided to bring the National Railways into being only when threatened with a cessation of transportation facilities on a great mileage built by a railroad corporation largely through undeveloped territory. He did not see how any other course could have been pursued by the Canadian Government, the situation being the national lines facing substantially that which had to be met by every road west of the Mississippi River in the early days of the railroads. If the problem was tackled with the same energy and the same wisdom the history of Canada would be the same story of development that had been told in the United States. When the Canadian National Railways would earn sufficient money to pay all its first charges would be decided by the rapidity with which Canada increased in population.

The dinner, one of the largest in the history of this city, was attended by men prominent in the business life of the East and of the Middle West. Among the speakers were Lieutenant-Governor Van Orman of Indiana, and Judge Baggott of Ohio. Governor Jackson of Indiana welcomed Sir Henry to his native state at a luncheon at the Indianapolis Athletic Club.



Well, maybe Benny Leonard really meant it . . .He's been retired a whole week now.

AURA LEE ARE ALWAYS TOUGH CREW TO BEAT

Marsden's Squad Will Make Petes Step in To-morrow's Game.

A LOT AT STAKE.

Defeat Would Put the Visitors Out of the Group Race.

To-morrow's senior game at the Brock street rink between Aura Lee and the Petes, is the second last scheduled home game in the group race—and should be one of the most interestin.

Aura Lee have made every game in which they have appeared this year a battle. They beat Varsity 3 to 1, make Parkdale go twenty minutes over time to win; lost in Hamilton by one goal in ten minutes overtime, and in two games with the Petes lost by 2 to 1, and 3 to 2, so that the red and white players have earned a reputation as a tough knot for any man's team.

The Petes will have to be back in form to earn the verdict over them in to-morrow's fixture. If Bill Marsden's gang are facing elimination, they are not the kind of a team to drop out without the bitterest kind of a fight for the honors.

With Moore in the nets and Cain and Walkem on the defence Aura Lee are well fortified defensively, and they fast a fast aggressive forward line with Burke, Deniord, Clayton, Bond and Morris available. There is no deadwood in that lineup and the Petes will have to step all the way to snatch the decision.

The game will start at 8.30 o'clock sharp.

The reserved seat plan will be on sale at Bond's in the morning and the wise ones are those who apply early.

W. H. DUNSFORD LEAVING CITY

Manager of Bank of Commerce Here Goes to Toronto on Promotion.

HERE 14 YEARS.

Friends of Mr. W. H. Dunsford, manager of the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, will regret to learn that he is about to sever a connection of long standing with the business life of the city. Mr. Dunsford, who has been manager of the local branch for the past fourteen years, will remove to Toronto within a few weeks' time, to act as manager of the securities department of the head office of the Bank of Commerce in that city.

Mr. A. J. Reynolds, manager of the Bank of Commerce in Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, will succeed Mr. Dunsford as manager of the local branch.

In removing to Toronto, Mr. Dunsford, who has been identified with the Bank of Commerce for the past forty-five years, will be renewing old associations made in the early years of his service with the institution, and will rejoin a circle of friends and relatives of himself and Mrs. Dunsford.

Mr. Dunsford, who was born in Lindsay, entered the service of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Peterboro, in 1880. He was stationed at different branches of the bank in Toronto, Guelph, Brantford, Port Perry, Dundas, and the city of Quebec, before coming to Peterboro.

During his stay in the city, where he has a large circle of friends, he has been actively identified with various activities. He has been a member of the advisory board of St. John's Anglican Church, and was in 1920 treasurer of the Anglican Forward Movement, a director of the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition and of the Peterboro Club, and was closely connected with most of the war-time patriotic endeavors of the city, being a member of the executive committee of the Canadian Patriotic Fund in Peterboro, vice-president of the Belgium Relief Fund and treasurer of the Navy League campaigns. From 1915 to 1920, he was treasurer of the Peterboro Health Association.

BEST YEAR FOR HYDRO.

Sir Adam Beck Tells of Development and Prospects of Electric Commission.

TORONTO, Jan. 29.—(Canadian Press).—The present condition and prospects of Hydro undertakings were dealt with at length by Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, at the annual banquet last night of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association and the Municipal Electric Utilities Association, which was attended by some three hundred members. Sir Adam emphasized the fact that even with possible additions to existing plans there would be a shortage of power in the autumn of 1926 unless something was done. The only thing that remained to be done was to generate electricity by steam if speed is not made with the St. Lawrence development.

A million dollar surplus from the Municipal Hydro-Electric systems of Ontario, based on revenue for the year of nearly $20,000,000, was the announcement made by Sir Adam Beck.

"The most successful year in the history of the Commission," was Sir Adam's terse summing up of operations.

LUTHER SEEKS PEACE.

German Chancellor Would Have Covenants With All Neighbors.

BERLIN, Jan. 29 (Canadian Press).—The attainment of lasting peace in Europe by covenants between Germany and her neighbors, which would be politically what the Dawes plan is economically, is the grandiose aim envisaged yesterday by Chancellor Luther, according to information reaching a correspondent from a source close to the Wilhelmstrasse. What he is after in effect, is an extension of the ranco-German "truce of God," first suggested by Chancellor Cuno to all nations fearful of future invasion from Germany.

Gates of Ancient Quebec Open to Peace Invasion

QUEBEC, Jan. 29 (Canadian Press).—The gates of the ancient capital were thrown wide open this morning to receive more than 350 citizens of Ontario imbued with the spirit of goodwill and mutual understanding, anxious to bring to French Caanda the most cordial of greetings from her sister English province.

The warmth of the welcome accorded the visitors was not stinted. They arrived at Palace Station at 12.30 this morning and faced a big programme of events for the day. Plans have been made to royally entertain the visitors.

The mission is headed by Lieut.-Governor Cockshutt and Premier G. Howard Ferguson. There are several Ontario cabinet ministers in the party.

PEKING, Jan. 29 (Canadian Press).—Dr Sun Yat Sen, leader of the government of Southern China, who underwent an operation for cancer recently, spent a comfortable night and was not in pain this morning. Physicians pronounced his condition as satisfactory.

Dr. Sun was reported dead on Tuesday, in despatches received at Tokio by a Japanese news agency.

R. R. HALL WILL DEFEND JUDGE IN INJUNCTION

City Council Makes an Appointment on Representation of His Honor Judge Huycke.

JOINED WITH CITY.

Another Step Taken in the Campbell Flour Mills Power Investigation.

After a long discussion last night in the City Council in special session authorized the engagement of R. R. Hall, K.C., to represent His Honor Judge Huycke, who has been joined with the city in an injunction asked by Campbell Flour Mills at Osgoode Hall. City Solicitor Joseph Wearing will act on behalf of the city in opposing the injunction.

This order, if made as requested by the company, would have the effect of halting the investigation into the power accounts of the Campbell Flour Mills, Peterboro factory, ordered by the City Council. The Council claimed in asking this judicial inquiry that the Flour Mills used $10,000 to $15,000 worth of power for which the Utilities Commission did not charge.

The discussion came up last night on a letter from Judge Huycke, in which he said he had been served with a writ as co-defendant with the city in an action by Campbell Flour Mills, and intimated that he would look with favor on the appointment of R. R. Hall to represent him.

Alderman Stocker said he saw no reason for the employment of more counsel.

Alderman Meyers thought it a good idea to engage Mr. Hall, and Alderman Denne said he thought there was something wrong between the City Solicitor and the Council.

Mr. Wearing suggested that the city should bring all the pressure possible to bear on the injunction since it is vital with any council to have the right to conduct an investigation into public affairs. In other cases of similar character the Judge has always been represented by counsel. Mr. Hall's services would cost no more than $100.

Report Favorable.

He read a letter from R. R. Hall, reporting on investigations made on instructions from Alderman Meyers, in which Mr. Hall reported favorably on the Council's case.

Alderman Phelan said he had not changed his stand on the investigation. He still opposed it and would not support anything in connection with it.

Alderman Denne: "I'm sorry Mr. Wearing can't handle these two—"

Mr. Wearing: "I'm not saying I can't."

Alderman Denne: "— but since Mr. Hall is the 'power' lawyer in Peterboro with an extensive knowledge of the subject, I move that he be engaged to represent the judge."

Mr. Wearing: "I haven't said I can't do it. I'm not afraid to go alone, but the matter is so important that I believe the city should have every possible aid."

Mr. Denne's motion was seconded by Alderman Jones.

Alderman Phelan had another innings, in which he knocked the idea of the investigation far and wide and from all angles, and ended by moving, in amendment, seconded by Alderman Stocker, that no additional representative be sent.

The amendment lost, only the parties to it voting in favor, and on the yeas and nays on the motion called by Alderman Phelan, the following was the standing: Yea: Jones, Turner, Fife, Meyers, Greene, Denne and McIntyre. Nay: Phelan and Stocker.

Mayor J. J. Turner being absent on the Bon Entente expedition to Quebec, Alderman M. McIntyre was appointed chairman for the occasion.

It has been definitey decided the golf ball will not be changed until 1927 .....Now if France will only make a decision on the war debt the country can settle down and enjoy a complete calm of mind.

UNIONISTS CLAIM A HUGE MAJORITY

Say No Fear That Union Will Not Carry—Intense Voting Over.

TORONTO, Jan. 29. — (Special). — Unionist headquarters declares that there need be no doubt that the vast majority of the 376,951 members and the 4,500 congregations of the Presbyterian Church in Canada will go into the United Church of Canada on June 10 next. They point to the fact that only 302 congregations, 212 of which are in Ontario, have to date voted non-concurrence, and that the intense stage of the voting is now over. Unionists also claim that a very large percentage of the working and paying members of the congregations voting out have pledged themselves to enter the United Church. Thousands of these have already withdrawn from non-concurring congregations, and are either worshipping separately or are going in a body to the nearest United Church. It is pointed out that in Toronto, said this statement, the Antis had carried a majority of the churches, but the missionary givings of the respective groups showed up as follows: Unionist churches $100,987, non-Unionist churches $62,513. Thus the smaller number of churches gives the bulk of the missionary money from this city. In addition, there are Unionist minorities which will continue to loyally support the mission enterprises of Presbyterianism within the United Church.

The Unionist churches of London, Ontario, gave $21,666 to missions last year as contrasted with the $6,600 of the anti-Unionist congregations. In Hamilton the antis took a large majority of the churches but the Unionist minorities hope to be able to carry two-thirds of the usual budget. In Lanark and Renfrew, as an example of the Presbytery, the vote was fairly even, 2,066 for Union and 1,884 against, but the mission givings of the Unionist churches were $15,000 and of the non-concurring churches $3,922. In communicants, despite the even vote, the Unionist churches had 4,426 and the antis 1,128. In Montreal, though the majority of churches went against Union, the balance of the mission givings is on the side of the Unionists, and the American Presbyterian Church, which has never been in the Canadian Church body but which voted unanimously into the United Church, has a budget of about $30,000 a year.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

OCTAROON BEAUTY CHORUS.

Manager F. A. McLain, who owns and personally manages the Harvey Greater Minstrels, is justly proud of his octaroon beauty chorus, as it is a decided novelty to have women with a minstrel show, but it adds to the picture in the first part, and makes the singing one of the features with the show. The claim is made that they are "beauties" and will create a furore here.

They come to the Grand, Jan. 31, for two performances, afternoon and evening.

AT THE CAPITOL.

"THE CYCLONE RIDER," NEW THRILL DRAMA, TO BE SHOWN SOON

"The Cyclone Rider," latest William Fox melodrama of thrills, has been booked by J. C. Kennedy, manager of the Capitol Theatre, for Friday and Saturday of this week, inclusive, in response to a popular demand for this type of picture, created by "The Eleventh Hour."

The success of the picture last year, Mr. Kennedy says, is proof that the motion picture theatre-goers want thrillers. He pointed out that "The Cyclone Rider" is by the same author and producer who were responsible for last season's successes. The author is none other than Lincoln J. Carter, king of melodrama for the last two decades.

Features in the production are Reed Howes, Evelyn Brent, Alma Bennett and Charles Conklin. Tom Buckingham directed.

"Husbands and Lovers" is the interesting title of a somewhat mushy feature picture at the Capitol for Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Lewis Stone and Lew Cody and Florence Vidor, are the principal actors in a triangle that pictures the woes of a lady whose husband does not pay her enough attention, and whose lover does. It is a rather inept affair. One bright spot in its screening is the mishap that overtakes the lady when she unwittingly tells her husband all about her love for his rival.

Most screen heroines have an irritating habit of delivering serious pronouncements while turned away from their companions. The lady in "Husbands and Lovers" does this, in the darkened library, and the husband who has come in hears all about the affair from his own wife.

The husband, however, instead of flying into a fury, tamely submits—assents to a divorce immediately—and hands the lady over to her lover at once. Legal action follows, there is a divorce, and the final scene shows the heroine in bridal dress and veil, about to embark on a second venture in the matrimonial sea. The spectacle afforded in this scene of the bridegroom and his best man advancing to the altar in careful time to the wedding march is ludicrous. In the meantime, the bride changes her mind. Her former husband appears at the window, converses fluently with her, and they slip off together in a motor car, the curtain descending on the bridegroom still waiting at the altar.

The short reels and comedy are very good. There is an interesting series illustrating carefully the proper method of breathing exercises, "The Birds of America," some Hawaiian scenes, in beautiful blue coloring, and "Low Tide," a real funny comedy.

AT THE ROYAL.

DRAMATIC STORY WOVEN AROUND POPULACE ADAGE

KENNETH HARLAN AND JANE NOVAK

"Two Shall be Born" Makes Interesting Photodrama

"Two Shall be Born" is the title of the attraction to be shown at the Royal Theatre to-night. It is a Whitman Bennett production adapted from the novel of the same name by Marie Conway Oemler. The cast was selected with care and contains the names of several screen and stage stars. The story, owing to several peculiar twists, requires an exceptionally large cost, each member of which is called upon to give some intense dramatic action.

The pictures move with rapidity, with tense scene following tense situation in such a manner that it keeps the spectator on the adge of the seat until the final fade-out. There is action in The Prague and in New York, with treaties and state documents being sought by spies who stop at nothing to gain their ends and trap the pretty heroine Then there is the son of the political boss, who breaks away from his father and becomes a traffic policeman. Through this action the home life of the Widow Callaghan in the cottage is contrasted with that in the stately mansion of the millionaire. There are thrilling street scenes, action in a deserted house in a blind alley of the underworld, together with more picturesque sequences in the castle at The Prague and New York Society.

The cast includes Jane Novak, Kenneth Harlan, Sigrid Holmquist Frank Sheridan, Herman Lieb, Fuller Mellish, Joseph Burke, Blanche Craig, Joseffa de Bok, Catherine Evans, Walter James, Zyllah Inez Shannon and H. Cooper Cliffe.

TWO SHALL BE BORN

Two shall be born the whole wide world apart,
And speak in different tongues, and have no thought
Each of the others being, and no heed;
And there o'er unknown seas, to unknown lands,
Shall cross, escaping wreck, defying death;
And all unconsciously shape every act
And bend each wandering step to this one end,—
That some day, out of darkness, they shall meet,
And read life's meaning in each other's eyes.

—Susan Marr Spaudling.

AT THE REGENT.

BUCK JONES SCORES IN GREAT FOX FILM

Buck Jones produced a new thrill in our young lives in "The Desert Outlaw,' the fast-moving, thrilling new William Fox attraction starring the popular cowboy actor, which opens at the Regent Theatre to-night for a run of three days.

Buck Jones, as Sam Langdon, a hardy prospector, has saved May Halloway from certain, horrible death by catching her in his arms as he races beside the runaway stage-coach from which she leaps.

To save her outlaw brother, Tom, the girl double-crosses Langdon. He is arrested for highway robbery and murder. The mob is in lynching mood.

Handcuffed, Buck hurls his horse "Silver" at the Sheriff, bowls him over; batters his way through the hostile crowd. Still handcuffed, he leaps from his horse to the last car of an express train; still handcuffed, at a water-tank stop, he crawls under the car, then rides on the brake-beam, holding his handcuffs against the car wheel till they're cut in two. It's one of the nerviest stunts ever flashed on the screen.

Buck is guaranteed to make you hold your breath and keep a strangle hold on your seat in this one. Exquisitely lovely, winsome Evelyn Brent plays opposite Buck as the girl who double-crosses the hero and then makes love's fullest amends.

The fine supporting cast includes DeWitt Jennings and Claude Payton as convincing villains, and William Haynes, William Gould and Bob Klein in well-done character parts.

"The Desert Outlaw," from the original story by that old favorite, Charles Kenyon, and under the competent direction of Edmund Mortimer, is a humdinger. It's real, honest, wholesome entertainment.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR
We are not left in ignorance, in regard to the fate of those who have rejected Jesus in this life, and of the millions dead and living, who never heard of the name of Jesus, provided we diligently search the Scriptures.
The Scriptures plainly state, that all men shall be saved from the penalty for sin in this life (which penalty is death) on account of Jesus having paid the full ransom price required by Jehovah God. The death penalty that Jesus saves all from, is the first death that we all are heir to. There is a death, that is rightfully called the second death. Both deaths are a complete cessation of life. Man is saved from the first death in order that he may escape the second death and gain eternal life. To have eternal life man must be pure and right. There are a few in this life that accept Jesus as Saviour and King and prove faithful, whose inheritance is eternal life. Over these, the second death hath no power. They shall die no more. The following references may be helpful to the honest seeker after truth: Gen. 12, 3 (the latter part of verse); Gal. 3 ,8; Isa. 42, 6; Isa, 49, 6; Luke 13, 47.

FARMER VICTIMS MET.

Two-Score Men With Claims Against Sherman and Merson Want, Restitution.

A meeting of farmers having claims against Sherman and Merson, who are charged with conspiracy to defraud them through the medium of worthless cheques, was held in the Court House to-day with 35 or more present. They were of the opinion, unanimously, that restitution should be insisted upon.

The meeting was addressed by R. R. Hall, K.C., representing the private prosecutors and by G. W. Hatton, K.C., as County Crown Attorney, who explained the nature of the charge that is pending against Sherman and Merson. A resolution was passed appointing W. E. Maloney, George Howden, John Faux, J. T. O'Connell and Bert Sanderson as a committee to confer with the Crown and the private prosecutor. The committee was given full discretionary powers to deal with the entire matter on behalf of the claimants.

Relief
For pain—quick

The worst pains people suffer can be relieved at once. Rheumatic pain, soreness, backache, cold in chest, etc.

Rub the sore spot with red pepper. Nothing else supplies such concentrated, such penetrating heat. And heat that doesn't hurt.

You feel it instantly. In three minutes that heat penetrates to the depths. Circulation starts, congestion is relieved. The pain and the soreness depart.

People used to use plasters, mustard and liniments. But modern science has found a better way, a quicker, more efficient way, a way without objections.

Don't suffer pains which Red Pepper Rub relieves almost at once. Don't let cold in the chest go neglected. Have this rub at hand—get it now. The time will come when its quick relief will mean much to someone in your home.

Red Pepper is saving millions of painful hours. Let it save them for you and yours.

UNION TIDE IS FLOWING AGAIN

Officials Claim Anti-Unionists Have Just Two Strongholds.

ISSUE CERTAIN.

TORONTO, Jan. 29.— (Special). —The tide of union, after a slight ebb, is now in full flow, according to church union headquarters, which declared that a great victory had been won for union with the accession of St. Andrew's Church, Sydney N.S. Dr. John Pringle of Yukon fame and ex-moderator of the General Assembly in a recent message to headquarters declared that while the rocks of Ontario might break the waves, the tide would surely come in with the victory of St. Andrew's Church all the Presbyterian churches in Sydney, are now in the United Church.

It is pointed out that the only stronghold of anti-unionism is in Montreal and Hamilton. Toronto is strongly union not withstanding the loss of three or four churches which the unionist look upon as barren victories for the antis, since all the workers are withdrawing. The unionists have twenty churches in Toronto and they claim that these are the strongest in the city. Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw in the West Toronto, London, Ottawa, Halifax, Sydney, Truro. All these the Unionist claim are strongly union and many of them are solidly union. On the other hand the vast missionary territories are all in the United Church Northern Ontario Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia are moving into union with consistent unanimity.

"The United Church of Canada will be a great missionary church", declared a leading Presbyterian official to-day.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

MORE CHURCHES.
Dear Sir,— The member of St. Paul's who writes last night stating that the anti-unionists are selfish, makes a very serious mistake, as their object is to use their wealth in providing more churches for the west, not fewer, as the unionists propose to do.
Citizen.

CHURCH UNION
There are indications that the Church Union movement is entering upon a new phase. Until about two weeks ago, it was expected that a large percentage of the wealth and membership of the Presbyterian Church in Canada would enter the United Church. Now, it is realized that only a part of the Presbyterian Church will enter the Union and, therefore, that the objectives of the early leaders are no longer possible of accomplishment. This is clearly brought out by the summaries of votes by presbyteries and districts which are now possible.

In the Stratford Presbytery, ten out of twelve congregations have decided to stand by the Presbyterian Church. In Toronto ,twenty-three chuches have voted to continue Presbyterian as against ninteen to enter Union. In Hamilton, ten out of thirteen churches will remain Presbyterian. The Barrie, Lindsay and Peterboro Presbyteries all show a majority of Presbyterian votes. In the East the Presbyteries of Brockville, Lanark and Renfrew and Glengarry give Presbyterian majorities. In the province of Quebec the total vote to date shows a majority on the Phesbyterian side.

The telegraphic despatches yesterday and today, covering churches in all parts of Canada, show that twelve congregations have voted against Church Union and only two in favor. These figures apply only where votes were taken by ballot. Some of the more important congregations which recently have voted against Church Union have been Knox Church, of St. Catharines, and St. Andrew's, of Barrie.

Now that it is so clearly seen that a large percentage of the Presbyterian Church will not enter Union, the question is being raised what position will the Unionist leaders be in when they appear before the Ontario Legislature and ask for the passing of the Church Union Bill. Last year, they assured the Legislature that a large majority of the Presbyterians of the province were in favor of Union, and that only a small minority of die-hards were opposed. Still the Legislature refused to give them just what they wanted and they declined to accept the Bill as altered by the Legislature. Now they must go back to the Legislature and confess that they were mistaken in regard to the strength of the opposition to Chuch Union. What the result will be, no one can forecast.

The recent action of Rev. Dr. Drummand, minister of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Hamilton, and chairman of the general board of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, in resigning his position as chairman of the board in protest against the continued effort to push through Church Union, is an indication of the growing realization that Union cannot be accomplished along the lines first proposed and that the advisability of possibly asking for the repeal of the Church Union Bill by Parliament until there is greater unanimity behind it should be considered in the interests of all the negotiating churches. While such a movement at present would meet with strong opposition, it is likely also to find considerable support. This point, therefore, is certan to receive an increasing share of attenton and represents the new phase that discussion concerning the movement are now taking.

GIRLS NEED CARE.
To the Editor of the Examiner:
Dear Sir: I would like to say a word or two in your paper as a warning to mothers as to how they might teach their little girls how to take care of themselves when unaccompanied by an older person.

As my little girl goes to the Public Library for books to the children's department, she was met on the street last Saturday by a man who spoke to her, and walked along with her. He offered her money to come with him over the dam. The little girl told him she never went that way, as her mother forbade her. He then asked some indecent questions, the like of which my little girl of nine years never heard before, and did not even know the meaning of. Fortunately she escaped home safe, but who knows, someone may yet be a victim to this vagrant. Hoping that mothers will advise their little girls, how to act. I am,
A MOTHER.

To the Editor of Examiner,
RADIO CONCERT SPOILERS
Dear Sir—Some owners of Radio Sets in the City either do not know how to handle their sets or they allow their children to play with the dials. It may be news to these people to know that twisting the dials carelessly, spoils a good concert. I think in Toronto this kind of thing is an offence of the Law and comes under the Nuisance Act. It is just the same as watching a moving picture when some ignorant person keeps jumping up and down and turning their heads from one side to another. There are not many radio fans in Peterboro, but the local interference is ten times greater than in Toronto where there are thousands of radio sets. Hoping those who do not care to listen in at times, will think of those who do. I remain,
Your truly,
B. Reasonable.

WHEAT SLUMPED
WINNIPEG, Jan. 29 (Canadian Press).—With a slump which during the first few minutes of trading approached the "panicky" stage, wheat prices on Winnipeg grain exchange declined ten cents in the early trading today. May futures dropping to $2.10 after opening fairly steady around Wednesday's closing figures of $2.20. The toboggan came unexpectedly, but was a thorough washout with many speculators unable to get out of the market. Early in the session the market ran into heavy selling pressure from big interests, precipitating an immediate decline. After the break, the market steadied and by ten o'clock half of the loss had been recovered.

CHICAGO WHEAT

ST. JAMES' BANQUET.

Mother and Daughter Affair Held on Tuesday Evening.

A delightful Mother and Daughter banquet was held in St. Jame's Church Sunday School Hall on Tuesday evening. About one hundred and thirty mothers and daughters sat down to beautifully prepared and arranged tables, and after partaking of the dainties provided, a sing-song was held, and a short but interesting programme given, the chief feature of which was an address by Mrs. L. J. Pettit, on "The Three Marys of the New Testament —Mary, the Mother of Jesus, Mary of Bethany, and Mary of Magdala." The pastor, Rev. J. D. Richardson, also gave a short address. The banquet, which was the first of the kind held in St. James' Church, was a decided success, and reflects great credit on all who had the matter in charge.

FIFTEEN INJURED.

Communists and Patriots Clash in Paris Meeting.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—Canadian Press —Fifteen persons were injured in a clash last night between attendants at a meeting of General De Castelnau's patriots' league and communists in an endeavour to break up the gathering. Members of the league welcomed the General to the strains of the "Marseillaise" which the communists tried to drown out with "Internationale."

Three communist Deputies taking part in the attempt were severely handled and canes and umbrellas were freely used. One of the communists finally was granted the privilege of the rostrum in order to ask his supporters to leave.

WEDDING BELLS.

DESBRISAY—TORRANCE.
KINGSTON, January 29. (Secial.) —The marriage took place yesterday afternoon at the home of Rev. Dr. E. F. Torrance and Mrs. Torrance, Alfred Street, of their elder daughter, Miss Kitty Torrance, and Mr. Merrill DesBrisay, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. DesBrisay, Penticton. Rev. J. W. Stephen, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, officiated, the ceremony taking place in the drawing room, which was turned into a bower of beauty for the occasion.

The bride who was given away by her father, wore a lovely wedding gown of white georgette, her veil of exquisite old lace, falling over her train of lace and satin. Her only ornament was a rope of pearls, the gift of the groom. Her fragrant bouquet was of roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride's only attendant was a small flower girl, Miss Phyllis Anne Du Moulin, daintily frocked in white organdy, trimmed with forget-me-nots.

Mrs. A. M. Russell, Toronto, an aunt of the bride, played the wedding march.

After many congratulations and bright speeches Mr. and Mrs. Merril DesBrisay left for Ottawa, the latter smartly frocked in brown satin, beaded, and wearing a coat of delft blue velour, lined with brown, and trimmed with fox fur.

Her hat was of blue corded ribbon with brown pom poms.

After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. DesBrisay will make their home in Toronto.

QUEBEC LEGISLATURE RECORDS IN ITS MINUTES VISIT OF ONTARIO'S MISSIONARY PARTY OF GOOD-WILL

Lieut.-Governor Cockshutt and Premier Ferguson Given Seats on Floor of Provincial Assembly — Premier Taschereau Urges Unity of Interests for Mutual Benefit.

PROVINCIAL HANDC LASPS BIND HEARTS

Hon. Jacob Nichol Expressed Quebec's English Minority's Appreciation of Treatment—Functions Mark Memorable Trip to Old Capital.

QUEBEC, Jan. 30.—In honor of the presence of Lieutenant-Governor Cockshutt and Premier Ferguson who, with Hon, Marcisse Perodeau, were given seats on the floor of the Assembly, and also of the presence of the members of the "Bonne Entente" party from Ontario, the House sat for a moment yesterday afternoon to deal with routine business, and then adjourned, on motion of Premier Taschereau, seconded by Mr. Sauve, leader of the Opposition.

Mr. Taschereau's motion read:—

'That this House is gratified to have within its walls so many eminent citizens from the sister province of Ontario;

'That it joins with the people of Quebec in tendering them a most hearty welcome, and in thanking them for the happy endeavors they are making to promote goodwill between the Canadian provinces;

'That, in order to give due significance to this important event in the history of our province, it be resolved that this visit be recorded in the minutes of our legislature, and that this House do now adjourn in honor of our distinguished guests."

Spoke for Minority.

Following a few remarks by Premier Taschereau and Mr. Sauve, Hon. Jacob Nicol, Provincial Treasurer, spoke for the English-speaking members of the House.

In Welcoming the visitors to the House, Mr. Nichol said, in part: "We, the members of the minority in this House are especially glad to see them amongst us. Some of us have lived in the other province. Personally, I had the pleasure of attending the university in Toronto, and only a few months ago shook hands with an old professor, now in the gallery. I know that from this visit much good will come. We of the minority can tell our visitors that this House has always treated the minority with every consideration, and I wish to take this opportunity of referring to this consideration on the part of our French-speaking colleague. We can never tell too often how well we are treated by the French members, who form the great majority of the House. I hope our visitors will go home with the feeling that they have, in seeing the Quebec Legislature, noticed the spirit of brotherhood with which those of their own race and religion are treated, and I know that as long as this House lasts we will continue to receive that fair treatment which has been accorded to us since Confederation.

Premier's Address.

Premier Taschereau made the following address: "Those of us who had the privilege, two years ago, of being the missionaries to the Bonne Entente, on the invitation of the Ontario hospitable Lieutenant-Governor, still remember the great reception which was tendered to them, the very, very pleasant interchange of views that took place, and the hopes expressed by them that a better understanding between the two provinces would be the result.

"Two years have since rolled by. Have we found them materialized What messages are you bringing to us from your great province

"We are confident that it is one of friendship, goodwill and Canadianism. Some people have expressed their doubts to the practical results of these Bonne Entente meetings. Of course doubting Thomases are to be found everywhere.

"I am convinced that they are conducive to much good, if only we earnestly will it, not in theory, but also in practice.

"That there are differences of opinion and of points of view between our provinces it would be idle to deny. Some are old and seem sometimes to acquire a renewed youth. Others are dead and buried, but it is by facing these difficulties, in a frank and broad spirit, that we may be successful in overcoming them. Our presence in Toronto two years ago, your presence in Quebec today, our common motto, 'Bonne Entente,' show very plainly that some men in both provinces, feel that there is something wrong, and that Canadian unity is still lacking in some respects.

Have Common Interests

"There is one point, I believe, on which all will agree. In the difficult times that we are going through, Ontario and Quebec must unite for their mutual benefit. We are the two great provinces of Canada. We are neighbors, and have many common interests to protect, and problems that are not viewed in the same light in other parts of the Dominion.

"Who will deny that on fiscal policy we stand on the same ground Every thinking citizen will admit that our most difficult problems—transportation, mining, fishing, forestry, protection of our timber wealth against fire or other enemies, protection and development of our hydro-electric energy, succession duties—are common to both provinces and should, in almost every case, be dealt with on similar lines.

"I am sure that Ontario and Quebec, if united in serving a common purpose, will exercise a preponderance in influence in our Dominion, not antagonistic to any other section of the country, but usetul to the community as a whole, since population, wealth and the largest Canadian interests are centred here.

"With this object in view, and to foster a better unity, what should we do? I believe that the first element for a good understanding between our provinces is that every Canadian, of whatever race, creed or religion, should have the whole of Canada fo his country and feel at home wherever he wishes to settle. And from it follows that he is entitled, wherever his home is, to a full measure of liberty, justice and equal rights."

Mr. Sauve's Welcome.

Arthur Sauve, leader of the Opposition in the Quebec Legislature, spoke as follows:

"It is for me a pleasant duty to join the Prime Minister of my Province in extending our distinguished guests a welcome, if possible worthy of their importance, and of the object of their visit, which honors us and will please us very much and more, if the result can really assure the harmony, peace and prosperity in our country.

"I thank my Lieutenant-Governor for having allowed me to meet the Prime Minister of Ontario, without venture to be denounced as a dangerous man. If we ardently desire the 'Entente' between Ontario and Quebec, it is not with a view of organizing against the rest of the country, but rather to assure the success of a policy which will serve the interests of Confederation in accordance with the dominant idea of its fathers and its two great masters."

WEDS A MARQUIS.

GLORIA SWANSON.

The marriage of Gloria Swanson, the motion picture actress, in Paris on Wednesday, to the Marquis Henri de la Falaise, was the culmination of a swift romance. It was a case of love at first sight, their friends said. They were introduced only a short time ago, and on Tuesday decided to be married. They immediately obtained dispensation from the Paris Municipal Council in order to avoid the usual legal delays. This was the film star's third marriage. Her husband is one of the best swordsmen in France.

HORSESHOE FACTORY IS CLOSED BY AUTOMOBILE

Business of U. S. Steel Subsidiary Steadily Dwindled.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The popularity of the automobile has driven the United States Steel Corporation to quit the manufacture of horseshoes.

The American Steel and Wire Company, one of the large subsidiary companies of the steel corporation, has sold the machinery, stock on hand and good-will of the old horseshoe department of the company, which manufactured shoes under the trade name of "Juanata," to the Phoenix Horseshoe Company of Chicago.

Due to the decrease in the demand for horseshoes, this branch of the corporation's business had dwindled to the point where it caused the consumption of only about 18,000 tons of steel annually. The company therefore is said to have found it could use the space devoted to making horseshoes to better advantage by manufacturing products more generally in demand.

HERRIOT GIVEN HUGE MAJORITY

Vote Was 541 to 32 on Motion to Post His Recent Speech.

PERSONAL SUCCESS.

PARIS, Jan. 30.—Solidly behind him, except for the communists, parliament yesterday placed the seal of its approval on Premier Herriot's foreign policy by the largest vote of confidence he has ever received—541 to 3 on a proposal to placard his foreign policy speech.

Although his elimination of party lines was a big success for the premier, Ministerial circles are under no illusions as to the duration of the reunion thus achieved; they know that it applies only to questions relating to France's security and will be broken as soon as matters of internal politics are again broached. Nevertheless, the friends and opponents of the government feel that M. Herriot scored a personal success.

The premier, while making some concessions to his friends of the Left did not alter his original declaration concerning Germany's non-fulfillment of the disarmament clauses of the Versailles treaty or the position of the cabinet on the security question to such an extent as to cause the rights to withdraw their support from him.

The Socialists, who had decided to abstain from voting on the posting of the premier's address, went into caucus in the afternoon and M. Herriot was invited to make a statement to them. Socialist members attending this caucus say that the premier spoke to them with hitherto unknown severity and told them he was ready to relinquish the leadership in French affairs, but that his resignation would mean the end of their political influence in national matters.

WAR WOUNDS FATAL TO IRISH SWIMMER

Major Dockrell, Speediest Swimmer in Erin, Had Many Records.

BELFAST, Jan. 29.—The death from war wounds of Major George Shannon Dockrell, hailed as Ireland's greatest swimmer, occurred recently. Major Dockrell went as a boy to America, where he met C. M. Daniels, the great American swimmer, whose style he adopted. Although he was only 18 years old, he won third place in three American championships.

On his return to Ireland in 1906 he introduced the crawl stroke, made a clean sweep of all British records for the next six years and was the first Irish swimmer to make the 100 yards in 60 seconds. He was on the British Olympic team in 1912 and frequently represented Ireland at water polo.

Major Dockrell was the son of Sir Maurice and Lady Dockrell of Monkstown, County Dublin.

WHEAT PROFITS FADED AS HIGH PRICE DROPPED

Winnipeg Market Unable to Execute Stop—Loss Orders for Traders Thursday.

FRENZIED SESSION

Profits of Last Few Months Lost in Few Minutes by Many.

WINNIPEG, January 30. — Clapped under a flood of selling orders, wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange experienced a precipitous decline during the early session trading yesterday. The May future dropped 10c during the first eight minutes of trading, recovering its strength however at the extreme dip of $2.10.

So rapid was the break that traders found it literally impossible to execute stop-loss orders until the bottom was reached.

A mild panic reigned while the frenzied market continued its downward course and profits of the past month were wiped out in a few minutes.

At the low point buying support came in and the market steadied gradually. For the remainder of the session the market was nervous and erratic, prices fluctuating between $2.12 and $2.15. May closed at $2.14 1-8 and July $2.13, a respective loss of 5 3-4c and 5 7-8c over Wednesday's closing figures.

The October future was placed on the boards for the first time, opening $1.65 and closing at a cent lower.

The decline in the price of rye was even more pronounced than that of wheat, the extreme dip being 9½c below the previous day's finish. May recovered slightly, closing at $1.77, a loss of 8 3-8c, while July at $1.75 suffered a decline of 9c.

Jolt in Chicago.

CHICAGO, January 30. — Headlong speculative buying, based on reports of world shortage of wheat and rye received a big jolt yesterday but came back strong with two new allies—corn and oats. Staggering from the effect of a ten cent break in prices at Winnieg the wheat market here almost touched $2 and then jumped to $2.04 7-8, with a cent of the latest high price record. Oats and corn meanwhile made a surprise advance together, of 3c a bushel each Purchasing of oats especially was of an immense scale, inspired by reports that the available supplies of Canadian oats for Europe had been cleaned up and that oats from the United States would be in active demand for export. Heavy buying of corn also developed.

Considering the amount of selling pressure on wheat, including enormous profit takings, the small net decline shown in the finish, ¼ to 2 1-4c, were generally regarded as insignificant. The majority of traders had looked for a much more drastic decline in view of the radical weakness at Winnipeg.

BANK DIRECTORS NOT DETECTIVES LAWYER ARGUED

Cannot Be Expected to Perform Work of Auditor and Accountant.

NOT QUALIFIED

W. N. Tilley and D. L. McCarthy Prolong Trial of S. Casey Wood.

TORONTO, Jan. 30.—The trial of S. Casey Wood, Home Bank director, was not finished Thursday afternoon as expected. After D. L. McCarthy, crown counsel, had replied to the argument of the defence lawyers, W. N. Tilley and N. W. Rowell, by consent of Judge Coatsworth, Mr. Tilley replied again.

Mr. Tilley, in his main argument, said that the directors were entitled to rely upon the general manager when they did not know that certain things were being fraudulently withheld from their knowledge. There had been no suspicion that things were not right with the bank, because the officers were reporting at all times that "everything is all right." The reports of the condition of the bank were made to the directors not by persons thought to be incompetent, but by experts headed by Z. A. Lash, and there was no one who would not accept the word of the latter at 100 per cent. value. He contended that Mr. Lash had been deceived also. The auditor, said Mr. Tilley, had not even attempted to give any warning that the bank was in bad shape.

Mr. Tilley quoted at some length from judgments given in other similar trials, particularly Dovey and Carey. He argued from these judgments that assurance of correctness was sufficient for the directors.

Director, Not Detective

"The director cannot be expected to do the work of the auditor and the accountant and they would have had to do that to have found out the condition of the bank," said Mr. Tilley. "You can't turn the director into a detective to go behind the general manager or the auditor. If the general manager is not efficient, then it is the duty of the director to get another general manager, but he can't do his work because he is, generally speaking, not fitted to do it."

Mr. McCarthy, replying, argued that the precedents quoted by Mr. Tilley could be of no use in the Wood case, as the latter was being tried under the Bank Act, and the cases quoted by defence counsel were tried under common law. It could not be argued, he stated, that the auditor protected the director from liability.

Obligation Different.

"There is a different obligation on a bank director than there is on a director of any other kind of institution," said Mr. McCarthy. "It is an onerous duty, and the only reason it is made different from others, is because the public put their money into banks, and therefore are given the maximum of protection by the laws."

Directors of banks were not divested of responsibility by engaging officers under them. If the annual statement was to be a statement compiled only from the books and not pretendeing to state the actual position of the bank it was a farce, said crown counsel.

"The Home Bank was insolvent in January, 1922, because of bad loans; because the securities it held were not real securities, and the returns from the branches were falsified when they showed profits instead of losses. The bond department and the foreign department were also losing then; Daly knew it when he took Mason's place. Daly's placing of $500,000 securities of his own to secure the Barnard account should have created a sense of suspicion in the minds of the directors rather than of security. The directors, if they had been doing their duty, would have found out in 1922 that the bank securities were worthless.

"This bank was an abnormal institution and any one accepting office on it did so at his own peril. The accused knew that, but he made no inquiry, taking it for granted that the system was runing smoothly when so to speak, it was full of monkey wrenches."

Mr. Tilley, replying, said that there was no suggestion that Daly was trying to save the bank when he put up the extra securities for the Barnard account. He was trying to protect the one weak account so that the bank would be saved," said Mr. Tilley. "The picture Mr. McCarthy now presents was certainly never presented to the directors.

WINNIPEG BANK RAIDERS DRIVE STAFF TO CELLAR, SCOOP UP $1,800, AND VANISH

Two Masked Gunmen Coolly and Quickly Collected Booty From Branch of Bank of Montreal—Second Holdup Within Year.

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 30. — (Canadian Press).—City and provincial police last night continued a vigorous search for the two gunmen who shortly before noon yesterday "puled off" one of the speediest and nerviest bank robberies in local history. Three minutes after they had herded the staff into the basement, the bandits had scooped up $1,800 from the teller's cage of Portage and Goulding Street branch of the Bank of Montreal, and escaped in an automobile.

There were no customers in the bank when the desperadoes, armed and masked, entered. One man covered the manager with a revolver, while the other forced two clerks to the back of the building, and then all three bank men were ordered into the cellar. The robbers also cut the telephone wire.

The robbers were cool and business-like, and at no time showed any trace of nervousness as they issued their commands to the bank staff.

The police have obtained good descriptions of the men, and it is declared they are local criminals familiar with the district.

It was the second raid by bandits on the bank within a year. On May 20, 1924, Frank Martin, drug fiend, playing a lone hand looted the bank and was killed by a police

PROPAGANDA IN GREAT BRITAIN HITS MIGRATION

Writers in Press Refer to Failures Among New Settlers in Dominions.

SINISTER SCHEME.

Recent Immigrants to Canada Deny There is Organized Propaganda.

LONDON, Jan. 30. — (Canadian Press Cable).— With reference to the allegation that there is organized propaganda against the migration of British residents to the dominions Sir George McLaren Brown, European manager of the Canadian Pacific railway, agrees that there is a subtle form of propaganda in existence against emigration from Great Britain but says it is a somewhat delicate subject to discuss.

Sir Joseph Cook, Australian high commissioner in London, in an interview says there is no shadow of a doubt that there is a definite and distinctly sinister scheme of propaganda being directed against emigration generally, and the propagandists are making use of the failures among the new settlers in the dominion to give expression to their views.

Major Moore, colonization manager of the Canadian Pacific railway company, has a letter in the Yorkshire Post, which paper has given much space recently to letters from immigrants in Canada, some of them decrying the country and others favorable to it.

Major Moore says: "We encourage settlers in Canada to write to their local home papers direct, giving outlines of their experiences, as such correspondence must carry weight because it cannot be considered as propaganda." Further Major Moore says that while it is obvious the mere revenue from carrying passengers to Canada is not important to a big transportation company if the emigration movement is not followed by the success of the new settlers.

As has been indicated in recent Canadian Press cables most of the immigrants in Canada who have written "home" lately have rejected the suggestion that there is in existence organized propaganda against emigration from the old land to the dominion.

ODDS AGAINST THIEVES.

Cattle Rustlers Will Be Pursued by Airplanes in Argentine.

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 30.—The police authorities of Santiago del Estero are planning to use airplanes in the pursuit of cattle thieves in that province of North Argentina. Cattle stealing there is made easy by the lack of roads and the impossibility of rapid pursuit over extensive unihabited districts.

GRAIN GROWERS MAY LINK WITH FARMERS' UNION

Basis of Amalgamation Outlined at Convention of Saskatchewan Grain Growers.

ONE BIG UNION

Agrarian Solidarity the Objective—Boards to Negotiate Joint Constitution.

REGINA, Sask., Jan. 30.—(By Canadian Press).—"We are of the opinion that amalgamation with the Farmers' Union of Canada is desirable if a satisfactory basis can be arrived at."

This resolution was adopted with two opposing votes by the convention of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers Association here Thursday afternoon after a lengthy debate. If the conditions set out by the convention are acceptable to the Farmers' Union as a basis of negotiation the boards of the two associations will meet to prepare a constitution and arrange details of amalgamation The constitution must be passed upon by conventions of the two bodies before final adoption.

Amalgamation, the big topic of the convention, occupied the greater part of the day. The Saskatchewan Grain Growers is the pioneer farmers' organization of Canada. The Farmers' Union of Canada was organized in this province two years ago, made rapid growth, particularly in the northern areas, and is said to have now 7,000 members, a few of whom are in Alberta and Manitoba. Its promoters throughout have entertained the idea of making it a national organization.

Provincial Unit.

There was considerable discussion over the difficulty of the amalgamation of a provincial body, such as the Grain Growers, which has Federal affiliations through the Canadian Council of Agriculture, with the Farmers' Union, a Federal body. The convention adopted a condition "that the amalgamated body shall be a provincial unit working in harmony with the United Farmers of other provinces," President Edwards interpreted this as meaning that the Council of Agriculture connection would be continued unchanged.

The name of the amalgamated body is to be "The United Farmers of Saskatchewan." It is to work in an "honorable and legitimate" manner to attain its objectives.

Equality For Women.

Women are to have equal rights with men and the rights of minorities are to be guarded. These conditions are to be accepted as the Farmers' Union before the boards meet in joint conference. A recommendation that membership be confined "to bona fide farmers," which is the Farmers' Union requirement, was thrown out and the matter left to the board.

The Farmers' Union is a secret society and meetings are held behind closed doors. The S.G.G. meetings are open and some doubt was expressed as to the possibility of reconciling these practices. It was decided to make no recommendation. After it had been explained that the "closed door" of the union was used largely as a matter of convenience and that there was no particular secrecy about their business. It was stated that the rights of the 2,800 life members of the Grain Growers would be fully protected in the amalgamation.

LINDSAY, Jan 30.—(Special.)—The Bell Telephone agency at Bobcaygeon was destroyed by fire last night at 10.00 o'clock, very little of the office equipment being saved. He was up on the roof when it caved in and he was soon enveloped in flames and smoke. He made his way to the ladder, but fell to the ground when half way down. He sustained slight injuries.

FINANCE COMMITTEE UPHELD THREE PAYMENT TAX SYSTEM

Refused to Return to Modified Two-Pay Plan—$40 a Month Not Enough For Girl.

BORROWING RATE.

That forty dollars a month is not enough for a girl to live on was the consensus of opinion of the Finance Committee of the City Council expressed last night in a discussion of a case of a stenographer employed in one of the City offices. At first suggesting that the rate be raised to $45, the committee at length decided to recommend an increase to $50, several of the members remarking that even at that the scale was not overly generous.

Alderman Crowe arrived at the conclusion last night that someone was pulling the nails out of the platform he built for himself at the beginning of the year and might even be carrying off some of the planks under his eyes. He said that ultimately his aim would be to have the taxes collected at all times in the City Treasurer's office, where there is always some one to receive them. W. J. Green, the tax collector, could then be busy collecting outside. He suggested putting a young man in the treasurer's office as understudy to Mr. Adams, releasing a girl. This he said, would prepare a substitute for Mr. Adams in case of illness and would have a capable, trained man ready against Mr. Adams' retirement in years to come .He made no definite proposal along this line last night.

Who is Responsible?

Alderman E. Mel Turner had a full hand last night. He held five or six accounts spread fanwise like a hand of cards while he protested having to ante up out of the Parks Committee appropriations, yet unset for work he did not order, to wit, skating rinks.

His protest opened large and wide a discussion of the propriety of charging accounts indiscriminately to committees. The Board of Works Alderman Fife said, was last year saddled with a deficit of $6,000 which it did not incur. One item was for $2,000 in connection with a legal action on an accident. Alderman Crowe pithily pointed out that if the Board of Works had kept the streets in decent repair these accounts might not have had to be paid. Pending a motion on Monday night apportioning the accounts to their proper committees, Alderman Turner withheld his certification of the accounts.

Tax Payments

An effort by Alderman McIntyre to change the thriee yearly payments of taxes to the old twice a year system failed on division by the casting vote of Chairman Alderman Phelan. It was contended by proponents of the change that the city is now losing from $1,500 to $2,000 a year in interest but Alderman Phelan considered this well lost in the extra accommodation given citizens of possiby small means. Alderman Fife thought one reason why the less well-to-do householder is not in arrears with his taxes is the easier scale of payments. Alderman Denne thought if this accommodation is extended then the man who pays promptly should have the benefit of 2 per cent. on the amount he pays ahead.

Alderman Turner said it makes no difference in the last payment whether the two or three payment system is used. The last payment comes due in November. In July, when the first payment of a two pay system is due, the people are right in the heart of ahe least expensive living part of the year and employment is at its peak. If people do not pay their taxes then they will spend the money on amusement. The loss amounted to one seventh of a mill on the tax rate, and besides that there was extra help in the collector's office three times a year instead of twice, and extra chance of error. He suggested giving 2 per cent. on the last payment of it was made in July instead of November, and moved along this line.

Alderman Fife said the rich man would pay anyhow — let him pay without the 2 per cent inducement. Alderman McIntyre too said the plan looks like taking advantage of the man who can't pay his taxes in one lot.

On division Aldermen Denne, McIntyre and Turner supported the two pay system, while Alderman Phelan threw in his lot with Aldermen Crowe, Meyers, and Fife.

Borrowing Rate

Alderman Denne, taking up the question of borrowing rates, suggested that the city might obtain a better rate than now prevails—6 per cent. He thought that when manufacturers are able to borrow from the banks at 5 1-2 per cent. the city should have a like advantage. On his motion, seconded by Alderman Turner, the bank will be asked whether it can give a more advantageous rate on all borrowings.

In another discussion on borrowing, it was said that the City Trust always has a large balance on which it obtains only 4 per cent. and the opinion was expressed that this should be available for the city council, saving 2 per cent. During the debate Mr. Adams, city treasurer and financial adviser of the city council, told an Alderman "You don't understand the thing at all." An agreement was reached, however, for a select committee to approach the City Trust with a proposition. An effort will be made to collect money now paid by the city for indigent patients admitted to hospitals outside the city.

Baby Is Bitten By Rats In a Campbellford Home

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 30.—Wanda, little thirteen month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dalglish, Front Street, has been bitten by a rat twice within one week. About a week ago the parents found the little one's finger bleeding when they awoke in the morning, and wondered how she could have hurt it Then on Tuesday night of this week she was bitten on the forehead, neck and body and was bleeding when they awoke. It is supposed the rat was frightened when the parents awoke to find the child in this condition. The baby was sleeping in the same bed as the parents both times.

DOLLAR DAY WINNERS PERSIST IN TYING FOR LEADING PLACES

Leaders Were Within One of Correct Figure — 12,728 Tickets Were Dropped in the Box — Buying Was Good and Everyo ne Satisfied.

COLD FAILED TO KEEP CROWD AWAY.

The weatherman broke his promise to send a moderating day for Dollar Day, and, instead, treated Peterboro to almost a record low dip, and certainly the coldest morning of this winter. It put a serious damper on the business usual to the early hours of Dollar Day, and the thermometer was so slow in rising to a livable level that Peterboro's big bargain day looked very much like a "Frost."

However, the merchants discovered that it takes a lot to discourage a Dollar Day crowd, and the later hours of the morning, and all the afternoon brought a surprising volume of real old-time Dollar Day buying. The effect of the extreme cold was shown in the greatly reduced estimates of the number of tickets in the box at The Examiner; people concluding evidently that there would be only about half the usual number deposited there. The great bulk of the estimates ranged around 6,000 to 8,000, with a fewer number of optimists placing the figure at 14,000 to 16,000.

When opened, however, it was found that tickets to the number of 12,728 had been dropped in, a most creditable showing for a day of such adverse weather conditions. Again, there were some uncannily accurate estimates recorded, and the two main winners were within one of the exact total, and receive the handsome treasury bonus of $37.50 each. Two others, only one farther from the mark, divide third and fourth bonus, and will be paid $17.50 each. None of the fortunate estimators were further from the correct figure than seven, and three of the thirteen bonuses went to shoppers outside the city, a fair proportion for a winter Dollar Day. The money will be paid to the successful estimators at The Examiner Office on Tuesday, Feb. 3rd.

On Thursday forenoon another alarm call was sent in and this time the fire was at the store of Mr. T. Lavall, on Front street. Mrs. Bogart was 68 years of age.

Ladies' Aid Met.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church met on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Gay, Rear street. Mrs. J. A. Irwin, president in the chair. Eighteen ladies were present. Mrs. W. H. Ashton acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. C. B. Williams. Treasurer reported the receipts of the tea meeting to be two hundred and forty-one dollars and eighty-five cents, and expenses put on the Sunday school room were two hundred and ten dollars and seventy-two cents. The balance on hand is seven hundred and sixty dollars and thirteen cents. New business was then taken up. In connection with the garden party next summer it was decided on motion of Mrs. Hammond and Mrs. Kingston to have a booth of aprons, handkerchiefs and other useful articles and each member be asked to donate something towards this booth.

Mrs. F. W. Wood was appointed convenor of this booth and donations will be taken at any time by her for this booth.

A short programme was then given. A reading "The Church Fair" by Mrs. G. W. Hammond and a solo, "Absent" by Miss N. M. Hoover. Both these numbers were much enjoyed. The next meeting will be at Mrs. W. H. Ashtons.

Mrs. Gay then served lunch to the ladies and a vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Gay. All enjoyed the refreshments.

BRITISH FEAR RISE OF FLOUR

Scare Mongers Predict $3 Wheat—Bread Goes Up on Monday.

ELIMINATE WASTE.

By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—British housewives are looking forward ruefully to this coming "black Monday" when the price of bread goes up to eleven pence for a four pound loaf.

The public is apprehensively watching developments at Chicago and Winnipeg, snatching at the latest newspapers to see how wheat prices are going and wondering whether scare monger predictions of $3 wheat will be fulfilled.

British newspapers have started a bread conservation campaign urging the most economical use.

One estimates that London wasted 2,000,000 loaves a week, a war time slogan "waste no bread is being revived.

Beatty Advocates Additions —Churchill Wants Economy—Clash is Likely.

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Canadian Press).—An increase of nearly ten million pounds sterling in the British naval esctimates for the coming financial year is said to have been demanded by the Admralty. The increase is said to be necessitated by the continuance of the cruiser building programme and the contemplated construction of more destroyers and submarines.

Some news writers say there is a sharp tussel in prospect between Eal eBatty, rFirst Sea Lord, who advocates the increase, and Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, who opposes it on the grounds of economy.

CHURCH ANNUAL HELD HAVELOCK

Knox Congregation Has Good Reports —Several Entertainments.

AN ANNIVERSARY.

HAVELOCK, Jan. 30.—The annual meeting of Knox church was held on Wednesday evening and was well attended. Mr. Wm. Mathison occupied the chair, and Mr. N. F. McNichol acted as secretary.

The treasurer read the financial statement showing that all the expenses of the church had been taken care of and the total receipts amounted to $2,248.74. Very satisfactory reports were read from the societies of the church as follows:

Ladies' Aid Society, by Mrs. Wm. Hitcins.

Women's Missionary Society, by Mrs. (Dr.) Thompson.

Sunday school by Lorne Jack.

Young Women's Auxiliary, by Miss Winnifred Barlow.

Mission Band, by Miss Agnes Dewey.

The following officers were elected:

Treasurer—H. F. McNichol.

Asisstant Treasurer — Miss N. Plunkett.

Managers for 3 Year Term—H. R. McNichol, Wm. Martin, Dr. A. S. Thompson.

Managers for 1 Year Term—Albert Wilson, Alf. Spencer, D. Wright.

Retiring Trustee Thos. Wright was re-elected.

Finance committee— Mrs. (Dr.) Thompson, Wm. Hitchins, D. Greenley.

At the close of the business session refreshments were served by the Ladies' Aid.

I.O.D.E. Entertained.

On the 28th inst., the 40th Northumberland I.O.D.E. entertained the Havelock Daughters at the home of the Regent, Mrs. B. Squire, Queen Street, Norwood.

During the afternoon a splendid programme was given by a number of Norwood talented ladies after which a sumptuous buffet luncheon was served. A progressive euchre party filled the balance of tie evening, the prize going to Mrs. B. Haig, Havelock. The Havelock ladies left for home on the evening train everyone expressing herself as delighted by the cordial welcome and splendid hospitality of the Norwood I.O.D.E., and all look forward to returning it in the near future.

A Euchre Party.

An enjoyable evening was spent at the euchre party, held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Alex. Barnett, there being about 50 in attendance. The prizes were won by Mrs. P. McCann, and Mr. Joseph Falkner, and the consolation prize by Mrs. A. J. Peeling and Mr. V. Christie. A dainty lunch was served by the ladies of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Parish.

Organize Society.

The young people of the Methodist church met in the basement of the church on Tuesday evening, for the purpose of organizing a young people's society. After the business of the evening was concluded a weiner roast was served to which every one did ample justice, and the balance of the very enjoyable evening was spent in games.

Coldest Day.

Wednesday was the coldest day that Havelock has experienced for some years. The thermometer registered 38 degrees below.

Methodist Anniversary.

The anniversary services of the Methodist church, which were postponed in November on account of the illness of the late Mrs. Seymour, were held on Sunday last and were largely attended. The sermons by the Rev. J. S. Ivison Wilson, B.A., B.D., of Brighton, President of the Bay of Quinte Conference, were most interesting and instructive. The choir, under the efficient leadership of Mr. Bonny, redered special musical numbers at both services.

Instead of canvassing the congregation on Sunday a canvass was made during the preceding week, resulting in money and pelges to cover the indebtedness from the preceding year of nearly $1,000, and all the requirements of the church up to the end of the church year, May 1st.

More Deer Killed By Wolves Than By Guns

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Jan. 30. — (Canadian Press). — Action by the Provincial Government to bring about the destruction of wolves in Ontario was urged yesterday by the Hastings County Council in session here. In one township, Reeve H. Haryett said, thirty-five carcasses of deer had been found. In Faraday Township two years ago the Council had to pay for sheep destroyed by wolves.

In one spot in the Township of Tudor, the remains of thirteen deer slaughtered by wolves were discovered. Warden Wiggins declared that wolves are destroying more deer than the hunters kill.

The Council passed a resolution to ask the Government to restore the bounty to the original amount of $40 on wolves or to institute some plan that will lead to the elimination of these destroyers.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 30, 1925.

THE MATTER OF TAG DAYS.

The City Council of Windsor has decided to restrict the number of tag days in the Border City, and the action is one that should be considered by the Peterborough Council with a view to a local limitation along the same lines.

It does not matter that the object for which these tag days are held may be well worthy of support and that the method is a fruitful way of securing funds; the fact remains nevertheless that tag days are a nuisance to many citizens and to visitors who know nothing about the organization that is to be benefitted and who are accosted usually by youthful canvassers who are unable to supply the necessary information.

The first society in the field with a tag day campaign was the Children's Aid Society, and St. Vincent's Orphanage has also followed the same plan for years.

If the Council decided that henceforth only these two organizations and the G.W.V.A., which has adopted the sale of poppies instead of the ordinary tags, were to be allowed to collect funds in this manner, the Examiner believes that the move would meet with the hearty approval of the general public, for people are growing tired of being held up on the streets for assistance.

Let the three pioneers have the field to themselves, and the result will be general satisfaction.

VICTORY BONDS—AND TAXATION.

When a deputation representing the Associated Boards of Trade waited upon representatives of the Government the other day, asking for a reduction in the Income Tax, much was made by Hon. G. P. Graham, Acting Premier, and Hon. J. A. Robb, in charge of finance, of the fact that there are a large number of tax-exempt Victory bonds, from which the Government receives no revenue; indeed, this was offered as a reason why the Income Tax could not be decreased.

That was a very plausible reason for taking no action, yet the explanation does not stand analysis.

Mr. Robb stated that fifty million dollars a year escapes taxation.

What does that mean?

Not nearly as much as it seems.

The income on fifty million dollars' worth of bonds at 5½ per cent. would be less than three million dollars a year—and, of course, it is only the income that would be taxed.

So that even if this money was available for Income Tax purposes the amount of revenue obtained by the Government would not be large enough to have any appreciable effect upon the financial situation.

The members of the deputation, of course, were in the wrong, too.

Instead of asking for a reduction in taxation, they should have urged a reduction of expenditure.

The start must be made there, for taxation can never come down until the spending of money is slowed up.

INCONSISTENCY.

When you find farmers who are opposed to a tariff upon the implements of production they use waiting upon the Government to urge the raising of the tariff on the products they grow, some idea of the troubles of a Federal administration in trying to hit upon a tariff policy satisfactory to the country generally may be obtained.

The farmers of Essex and Kent Counties, the majority of whom undoubtedly would welcome the removal of the last vestige of protection so far as Canadian implement manufacturers are concerned, have been down at Ottawa seeking to persuade the Government to adopt a tariff on United States vegetables coming into Canada as high as that in force in the United States against the importation of Canadian vegetables.

It makes a big difference whose ox is being gored.

When the issue is the property of manufacturers the Progressive argument is that the rights of the consumer must be considered.

Yet they do not hesitate to demand for themselves the protection they refuse the manufacturers, and if there is any thought of the consumer in the matter, no trace of it was to be delected in the story of the interview.

Evidently these worthy yeomen of Essex and Kent are free traders or high protectionists, just as their pocketbooks are affected by one policy or the other.

FREAK LAWS.

Of the making of laws there seems to be no end on this Continent, whether here in Canada or in the United States.

We are perhaps more free from freak legislation here than our neighbors, the Legislatures of whose States seem to have more than their share of cranks who persist in putting on the statute books measures that originated in folly and can never be enforced.

The latest is the attempt of a representative in one of the States of the Union who is introducing a bill to make it illegal to smoke in public.

How a man with a mentality like that could be elected to an office of public trust is a mystery.

It may not be the most desirable thing in the world to puff at a cigarette or cigar or pipe in a public place, but it is far from being a criminal offence, and any attempt to make it so would be bitterly resented by the very large number of people who regard it as their privilege to smoke on the street or elsewhere.

There seems to be an over-supply of folks who appear to think that they have been put on this earth for the sole purpose of constituting themselves the governors of what other people eat and wear and drink and do.

These folk are responsible for the mulliplicity of crank bills and measures that clutter up the statute books of every State in the Union and most of the Provinces of the Dominion.

These measures are perhaps one of the penalties we have to pay for democracy.

Quebec sold nearly twenty million dollars worth of liquor in one year. There still seems to be a lot of thirst on the Continent.

NATIONALITY.

It is not every distinguished visitor to our city who can address a large audience on such a delicate and so thorny a question as nationality without leaving a single rankling thought behind him, says the Montreal Star. Sir Richard Lodge, the eminent don of Edinburgh, and one of the ablest historians in the Anglo-Saxon world, accomplished this and rendered the intellectual life of this city a service when he spoke last night on nationality.

The man in the street thinks of nationality either as distinctive national qualities or as membership in a nation, not as a force operating in the making of history. Sir Richard, however, opens up a most interesting field by his argument that it is a matter of comparatively recent development, that the ancient world did not know nationality, and that the racialism which was its particular strength was in essence the very negation of nationality.

We in Canada, who are apt to be supersensitive about our right to be regarded as a nation, may well examine Sir Richard's thesis in the light of our own experience. Canada at least affords a striking proof of his contention that just as community of language will not of itself create a nation, so diversity will not of itself prevent the creation of a nation, and that community of religion is not essential to the development of a nation. We should do well, however, to mark particularly his subsequent argument that the making of a nation is a slow and difficult process. The process is not helped, but materially hindered, by the constant raising of racial prejudices and the continuous advancement of conflicting ideals. All we can do is to keep the former outside our boundaries and to eliminate the latter by the steadfast upbuilding of definite and broad-based ideals of unity.

"BLOODY WILLIAMSON."

Williamson County, in Southern Illinois, is an old Nordic enclave, the seat of a spirited population. For forty years or more, before and after the Civil War, it practiced the vendetta. Under one name or another, Regulators, White Cappers, Night Riders, it indulged in the diversions of minding other people's business, shooting and being shot at. A lawyer who wrote the history of the feud fifty years ago reckoned among its fruits more than 1,000 grave crimes, including 285 murders. The "picturesque" character of some of its law officers is nothing new. It had a State's Attorney who used to write letters to "prominent citizens" of the county, signed "Big Pete," threatening them with death. Then he would call on these threatened men and offer to have "Big Pete"—he knew who he was—put out of the way for $5,000. He was doctor as well as lawyer, played on the fiddle and the horn, and is said to have been a very moving preacher.

Thus Williamson has a great tradition. Herrin was scarcely true to it in the mine riots of 1922. If nineteen men were killed, they were outsiders, "foreigners." There cannot have been the zest in those "executions" of outlander strikebreakers that there is in domestic assassination. Fortunately the Ku Klux Klan has filled admirably the place of its predecessors; and the Knights of the Flaming Circle became worthy rivals. Murder begins at home. Foreigners aren't worth a good killing. If there have been only thirteen murders in a little less than a year, they have all been the genuine home brew of malice domestic. Though Herrin is but a village, nobody there can suffer from ennui.

Warts of Wets and Drys; killings in garages, automobiles, the streets; the Sheriff and his deputies besieged in a hospital; county and city officers accused of murder; the Sheriff and his chief deputy going into voluntary "exile" and the Ku Klux taking charge; Glenn Young, the Ku Klux chief and prohibition enforcement volunteer, breaking into private houses, assaulting men and women, carrying off officials, taking possession of the town; Glenn Young shot at from ambush and his wife made blind for life; Jack Skelcher, suspected of the attempted assassination, killed by constables, who found only "two automatic revolvers, two sawed-off shotguns and a riot gun" in his car; sporadic appearances of the State militia; "elegant" funerals for all the heroes of both sides—such is the roughest fragmentary outline of the spic of "Bloody Williamson," nobly continued last Sunday night by the slaying of Glenn Young, his first lieutenant, another alleged Klansman and Deputy Sheriff Ora Thomas—a Bret Harte gambler and head of the Knights of the Flaming Circle.

How do the movies make a living in Herrin? Glenn Young seems to have always seen himself on the screen. His estimate of his killings varied from twenty-two to more than thirty. He loved trouble, was handy with his "gun" and not any more lawless than some Deputy Sheriffs of Williamson. Young and Thomas can well be spared. Perhaps the Mayor of Herrin, who, like the Sheriff and some other eminent citizens, was put under military arrest last winter in connection with the murder of a constable, is too hopeful in predicting peace now that the heads of the Montagues and Capulets are gone. Feuds are transmitted from sire to son. These village broils, accentuated by the rigmarole of secret orders and romantic "oaths," seem likely to continue. Doubtless the majority of Herrin, of Williamson County people, would like to live in quiet; but town and county seem to be run by determined minorities. It would be useless for outsiders to offer any moral observations. If Williamson is to be pacified, it will have to do the job itself and wrench itself out of the clutch of tradition and heredity.—New York Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Doucet, Que., was the coldest spot in Canada the other day. But you couldn't convince a lot of Peterborough people of that fact.

Revenue preventive officers declared that travelling stills are in operation. But how can a still that travels be called still?

Wheat seems to be heading for the $3.00 mark, but, unfortunately, the Western producers will not get much advantage from the rise in price. Most of their wheat was sold long ago.

The Globe suggests an anti-freeze for milk. It might be useful if we are to have many more cold waves.

"Voice carries from Pittsburg to Australia," reads a heading. It is to be hoped it said something of importance after travelling 9,000 miles.

A THOUGHT.

IN MY OWN EMPTY HEAD.

Most of us are ready to receive advice, but mighty few of us really profit by it. We prefer to pay for our own experience.

The truth is, no matter how ready we may seem to receive advice, we really resent too much of it.

The path of precept is a perfectly smooth road, but the uneven trail of experience is the one we most always take. And this is best.

Wise Providence has ordained that our experience is not all in vain. Most of us rise on our wrecks, unless we are weak; so, you see, Courage is the best and biggest asset in attainment. And Courage comes from within, not from without.

Others can counsel concerning our conduct, but we can get the best Courage from ourselves.

Courage is what we all need even at any cost. Counsel is what we all get, even at no cost.

No matter what fool thing you have already done, the wise thing is not to do the darn-fool thing again. Experience is education.

If I could get this last thought firmly fixed in the brain-box of my own empty head, my experiences would cost me less "Courage" and gives me more cash.

GREEKS OUT OF TURKEY.

League Commission Reports That 36,625 Have Left Constantinople.

GENEVA, Jan. 30.—Evacuation of Constantinople by Greeks who arrived in that city after October 31, 1918, is almost completed, according to a report to the Council of the League from the mixed commission on interchange of populations. The emigrants number 36,625.

A large number of wealtry Greeks left the city before expiration of the time limit. Forty-five hundred persons were arrested, however, for remaining after receiving passports. They were interned in the Greek hospital and deported. The last contingent, consisting of 1,000 persons, left Saloukli for Nov. 22.

The repon states the mixed commission has passed a unanimous decision that the provisions of declaration annexed to the treaty of Lausanne has extended to Moslems who left Greek territory as now defined before 1912 or who had always lived outside Greece and reciprocally Greeks who left Turkey.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29. — (Canadian Press).—Owing largely to a 10-cent a bushel collapse in wheat prices at Winnipeg, the Chicago wheat market to-day underwent a set-back of 4 5-8 cents, but later rallied as a result of persistent, strenuous buying, and of unexpected upturns in the value of corn and oats. Wheat closed unsettled at ¾ to 2¾ cents net decline, May 2.03¾ to 2.03 3-4, and July 1.71¾ to 1.71 3-8. Corn scored 1 3-4 to 3 cents gain, and oats 1 to 2 3-4 to 2 7-8 cents. In provisions, the outcome ranged from 10 cents loss to 17 cents advance.

Wheat fluctuations to-day carried the May delivery down to within 3-8 cent of $2, but the ensuing upturns lifted that month to only one cent under yesterday's record high price of $2.05 7-8. Reports that the Canadian Government might interfere if advances at Winnipeg became excessive were current here simultaneously with news that the Winnipeg sold by large quantities of wheat earlier. Opinions that Europe would sooner or later follow advances in American markets helped to stimulate fresh speculative investment.

Taken as a whole, wheat buying on the part of the general public showed little sign of slackening from the recent big average, although it was evident that the total purchases to-day would fail to reach an aggregate 111,827,000 bushels, an amount never equalled before in Chicago, so far as official records disclosed.

MONTREAL GRAIN.

MONTREAL, Jan. 29—(Canadian Press). — There was some demand from foreign buyers here to-day for coarse grains and sales of odd cars of oats and barley were made for nearby shipment, but the volume of business on the whole was small. The trade on spot was also slow, there being little demand from domestic and country buyers, but the tone of the market was steady. Ontario No. 2 white oats were quoted at 69 cents, No. 3 grade at 67 cents and No. 4 grade at 65 cents.

The tone of the market for winter wheat flour was stronger and prices scored a further advance of 10 cents per barrel.

The cheese market was without any new feature to note, with fodder made No. 1 cheese quoted at 20¾ to 20½ cents per pound, and No. 2 grade at 19¼ to 19½ cents per pound.

Crop beans were unchanged at $2.90 per bushel.

EGG PRICES.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 29.—(Canadian Press).—Prices on fresh are a little easier, but storage remains firm and unchanged. Imports in some sections are reported a little heavier but not as heavy as previous years. Poultry market is reported weak in the east, due to heavy offerings of Western stock.

Toronto fresh specials 70, extras 65, storage extras 56 to 57, firsts 54, seconds 47.

Montreal fresh extras 60 to 63, firsts 53 to 55. Lower prices anticipated.

Winnipeg prices unchanged. Local receipts light. This week's imports amount to 113 cases. Pooled car of British Columbia fresh expected to arrive Friday.

HERRIOT'S POLITICS.

Even in Indicating Personal Ailment He Refers to Stand.

PARIS, Jan. 30 (Associated Press—Premier Herriot, who has just recovered from a swelling in one of his legs which kept him confined to his rooms for nearly a month, never once lost his good humor, in spite of the physical pain and the great mental worry over bitter political attacks leveled at his government during his illness.

The government of which M. Herriot is the head is composed of the more advanced elements of the French chamber—excepting the Communists—and si generally called "the government of the lefts."

'Which one of your legs is ailing?' one of his friends whom he received in his sick room, asked him one day.

"The right, of course," replied Herriot. "I am the man of the 'lefts,' the 'right' is seeking revenge."

CHURCH UNION MEANS MERGER OF IDENTITIES

Declares Janetville Minister in Urging Splendour of New Church.

REV. G. E. ROSS

Babble About Maintaining Identity is False and Misleading, He Says.

JANETVILLE, Jan. 30.—While Mr. David Heaslip of Janetville station, accompanied by his son Bruce, was approaching the house of Mr. Campbell, a neighbor, the latter made his appearance round the corner of the building unexpectedly. The horse which Mr. Heaslip was driving took fright, made a sudden rush, reared, plunged, and upset the cutter, throwing the driver out and breaking his collar-bone. Mr. Heaslip is doing as well as can be expected.

Vote on Union.

The members of the Presbyterian Church of Janetville will vote on Union in the near future, while Bethany and Balladuff congregations will put off the vote until the spring. A meeting of the session was held at the manse last evening for the purpose of deciding when the balloting should begin. Some of the aged members are unable to come out to vote at the present time, and so the matter has been held back.

Large Congregations.

The largest congregation that has assembled in many months greeted the Methodist pastor twice last Sabbath. "Christ in the Midst" was the subject of the morning sermon, and was founded on Rev. 1:12, "And in the midst of the candlesticks one like unto the Son of Man." Mr. Ross spoke a few words on Union as follows:

Let us be sure to get things right—this is not the time to be confused in the matter of Church Union. Let us remember we are all giving up much that we hold dear as we enter the new church. After the 10th of June next this edifice shall cease to be a Methodist Church. I shall no longer be a Methodist minister. You shall no longer call yourselves "Methodists," and it shall be the same with the sister churches who enter into the new church with us. The Presbyterian friends of Janetville who vote Union will not come into the Methodist Church of Canada, but they and we together shall hand in had enter the "United Church of Canada," merging our name, our traditions and all we hold dear. We shall not babble about retaining and maintaining our identity as a church, for this is false and misleading. No church enters fully and heartily into the Union, while it struggles and manoeuvres to maintain its identity. However, we can rest sure that history shall preserve the identity of each uniting church, and the Christ who walks in the midst of the candlesticks is bigger and grander than the most sublime church of any or all the ages.

Off With the Old Love

A COMPLETE STORY.

By S. S.

"I'm going to miss you most horribly, sweetheart," said the man, a whole world of tenderness in his voice, as he turned to help the girl across a wooden stile.

"And I'm going to hate leaving you—dreadfully," replied Celia, her clear blue eyes soft and misty with the love which shone from them. "But it really seems too good a chance to miss—two whole months travelling around Europe seeing all there is to see. Dad and mother are so pleased about it, too. They always wanted to take me abroad and never could afford it. And here comes Mrs. Mackenzie, who says that a girl like me, who won't mind being useful at times, is an actual necessity for this trip. I think it just too sweet of her to have thought of me!"

"I hope they won't make a drudge of you," he said, rather grudingly, as they meandered slowly down the road, lingeringly—as lovers do.

"Oh, Ronald, Mrs. Mackenzie is a perfect darling. I know the companion stunt is a mere excuse to persuade dad to allow me to go. If only you could come too, Ronald! That would be heavenly!"

As if by mutual consent they stopped by a wood of dark firs, and Ronald gathered the girl into his arms.

"How I'll miss you, dearest!" he repeated. "Two whole months! It will seem an eternity!"

Celia raised her head from the shelter of his shoulder and smiled into his handsome brown eyes.

"It's very sweet to think you'll really miss me," she said softly. "But so that you won't be too lonely I rang up Elsie Strang to-day and asked her to be kind to you when I was away."

Ronald frowned.

"Oh, bother Elsie! I don't mean to be rude, Celia. She's all right, of course; but after you, sweetheart, she seems rather dud."

"That's because you hardly know her, Ron. She's awfully charming, and her people are distinctly nice. Pots of money, too!"

"I wish it had been Elsie who had been going with the Mackenzies, though it's beastly of me to say that, when you are looking forward to it so much. It will be topping for you, and I'm glad—tremendously glad for your sake—only—— You understand, dear, don't you?"

"Of course I do, and I'm glad you feel that way about it. And I'll do all I can to make up. I'll write you from every single spot we visit. And you've got all my addresses, haven't you? The time will soon pass Ron. I'll be back before you've quite realized I've gone; and think how lovely it will be to see each other again."

"We'll have a great beano the night you come home," he said, devouring her with his eyes, then he stepped closer. "And so this is really good-bye."

"I'm afraid so." Celia tried hard to make her voice light and casual. "The Mackenzies have asked us to dine with them to-night, and we're starting very early in the morning."

The next second she was crushed against his breast—his lips against hers.

"Well, good-bye, sweetheart, for two months. Take care of yourself, and be sure you write—often!"

A last kiss, and he was swinging off down the road toward the tiny hospital where he was resident doctor, and Celia rather slowly and sadly wended her way through the wood until she came to a little painted gate which led to the garden of her home. Often she was bored by the very peace of the place, but as she came in sight of the house, old-fashioned, but mellow with age, and softened with creepers, it seemed in the late autumnal sunshine to be at once dignified and kindly, and for a full minute she regretted wholeheartedly this trip which was taking her away from home.

"Silly I am to feel like this," she said to herself. "I'm just feeling mopey after having said good-bye to Ron. I'll be as right as rain when we're really away."

Although there was no official engagement between Celia Weston and the handsome young doctor who had come to the district a year ago, and although no actual word of marriage had been spoken by either of them, Celia considered herself quite as securely bound as though she possessed a priceless diamond ring. Ronald Neil came of an old but impoverished family, and until he obtained a more lucrative post, any betrothal was out of the question. But Celia was perfectly happy with things as they were, and Ron could not be dearer to her if he loaded her with jewels.

Celia had not confided in her people to any extent, but thus far they had made no objection to Dr. Neil's visits to the house. As she went into the house she felt once again how horrid it was to have to say good-bye—even for such a short time—but a trip like this came, to her at least, only once in a lifetime.

The next few weeks passed for Celia in a joyous rush of pleasure. After a wonderful time in Paris, they moved to the South of France, through Spain, then to Rome and Venice, and at each stage there was a fat budget from Ronald, giving a detailed account of his doings, but all with the same cry, "How I am missing you!" Celia treasured these scrawls, and wrote long letters in return—letters that were love letters in everything but the actual words.

Then almost imperceptibly his letters began to be fewer, and when they did come they were unbelievably shorter, till, when they arrived at Lucerne, there was no letter at all. It was the first time he had failed her, and Celia tried to reassure herself. He was busy, of course, or he had probably mislaid her address, or one of her letters to him had gone astray and he was waiting to hear from her, or he was ill! Could it be that?

She was glad that their trip was nearly over and she would be with him again soon and find out the reason for his silence. There must be a perfectly good reason! There must! But for all her plausible excuses to herself there was a dull ache in her heart which refused to be banished; not even by the gift of a wonderful evening gown bought in Paris by kindhearted Mrs. Mackenzie. There was still no word from Ronald, and she forced herself to believe that he was ill—else he would not torture her so.

Then that theory was refuted the night they left Paris, by the arrival of a solitary postcard, welcoming her home, but offering no explanation of his silence. Celia was stunned. Could he have been writing all the time and his letters somehow missed her?

The last few days of the holiday that had begun so wonderously, dragged wearily for Celia, and she felt glad when they left London, and set out on the final stage of the journey. It was early in the morning when they steamed into the tiny, familiar station, and, looking out eagerly, she saw her father and mother waiting beside the stationmaster—but no Ronald! And his absence dimmed the lustre of the reunion with her parents.

She longed to ask her mother if Ronald knew that she was expected home that day, but pride kept her silent. But as they lingered over a late breakfast, she felt she could stand it no longer, and in a voice that was deadly, unnaturally calm, she asked:

"Have you seen much of Ronald while I've been away?"

Did she imagine it, or did her mother seem faintly embarrassed?

"No—not a great deal, dear. I hear he has been very busy with an epidemic of whooping cough, and I think Mrs. Strang has been very kind to him—at your request, she said. They'd had him to dinner several times, and liked him very much. Oh, and by the way, Elsie 'phoned last night to ask you down to-morrow evening. It's her birthday, and they're having a few friends in."

Celia scarcely heard her mother's last words. That one phrase was in her ears—"Mrs. Strang has been very kind to him," and—"They liked him very much." Of course they would like him—and Elsie, too, no doubt.

But hope lingered, and she refused to leave the house all day, pleading tiredness after her journey, lest he should call or 'phone. But though there were other messages and callers in abundance, he gave no sign. All his welcome had evidently been expressed on the postcard she received in Paris!

She dressed very carefully for Elsie's party next evening, and wore the lovely blue and silver gown that Mrs. Mackenzie had bought for her in Paris.

"My dear," exclaimed Mrs. Weston as she went downstairs, "what a beautiful dress! And how well it suits you! I don't think I've seen you looking prettier!"

And as Celia bent and kissed her mother, she thought—"Will he think I look pretty, too? Surely he must!"

Most of the guests had arrived before Celia, and as she was ushered into the drawing-room, she had a torturing glimpse of Ronald bending over Elsie's chair. The next moment every one was crowding around her, greeting her warmly, asking how she had enjoyed her trip, and washes glad to be home again, till Celia felt "deaved" with their chatter. But she welcomed it, for it veiled the confusion which at first threatened to envelope her at sight of Ronald and Elsie together.

Presently the carpet was rolled up and the gramophone started for a dance, and Celia found herself claimed by a fair-haired youth who had been sitting next to her. As they were half-way round she suddenly bit her lip to repress an exclamation of pain, for Ronald and Elsie were dancing gracefully together and talking gaily the while.

She wanted to creep away and weep, but pride helped her to hold her head high and laugh with her partner, who was airing his wittiest manner for her benefit. And she was dancing with the same jolly youth when the blow fell. In a mist Celia beheld a sea of upturned faces, saw Mr. Strang at one end of the room, one hand on Elsie's shoulder, the other—was she seeing aright?—the other on Ronald's. Every one had stopped dancing to hear Mr. Strang speak, but the queer noise in Celia's head prevented her hearing anything but his last words—"pleasure in announcing Elsie's engagement to Dr. Neil."

Her head was swimming, and the mist before her eyes became dimmer than ever, but these words seared themselves into her brain, repeating themselves over and over again, till she felt she must scream or go mad. But every one was thronging around Elsie and her fiance, wishing them luck, and the movement of the boy at her side made her realize that she, too, must conform to custom and offer her good wishes to the man she loved and the girl who had taken him from her.

By an almost superhuman effort she masked her suffering in a look of casual delight, and, squaring her shoulders, she threaded her way through the guests to Ronald and Elsie, and without the slightest tremor in her voice she congratulated them each in turn, and wished them happiness.

And not until the dread evening was over and she had reached the sanctuary of her own room did she give way. Miserably she went over the events of the evening—seeing again Ronald and Elsie side by side—Elsie taking the place that should have been hers—receiving congratulations that she should have shared; till her head ached and her eyes were dry and hot.

Oh, if only she had stayed at home, this would never have happened! But she had been so sure of Ronald—so utterly sure—and so trusting about Elsie. Surely Elsie had guessed that she and Ronald were as good as engaged. Save for that one moment when she had wished him joy, Ronald had refused to meet her eyes, looking anywhere but in her direction, but she would have to meet him some time. There could be no rushing away to hide her grief. She must stay to brave it out.

The wedding was to be soon. Somebody—she didn't remember who—had told her, as Dr. Neil had got an excellent appointment in London, and there was no need to wait. She supposed Elsie would expect her to sew something for her bottom drawer.

Although by constant manoeuvring, Celia managed to avoid meeting Ronald alone, the next month or two were torture to her, especially as Elsie seemed to have no suspicion of the real state of affairs, and continued to come about the house frequently. But when she took it for granted that Celia would be a bridesmaid, poor Celia felt it was the last straw. But she had no real excuse for refusing, and Elsie laughed at her slight hesitation.

"But my dear, you simply must—I'm counting on you. I've always wanted my bridesmaids to be rather taller than myself, and you and Rose Myles are exactly the same height and will look splendid together. Mother and I were talking over the dresses last night, and we wondered how silver would do for the bridesmaids—silver, with just a touch of blue. Rather like that frock you wore the night Ronald and I announced our engagement. You remember?"

Remember! As though she could ever forget! And the blue and silver frock, so poignant in memories, had hung unworn in her wardrobe since.

"That would be rather pretty," she murmured faintly. If she had to be a bridesmaid, she had to be, and it didn't matter what she wore, though she hated even the thought of blue and silver after that terrible evening.

"With long silvery veils and blue bouquets with long trails of fern that would be effective, I think," went on Elsie meditatively. "Ron is very fond of blue."

"What is he giving you on your wedding day?" asked Celia, more because she felt the question was expected than from any curiosity to know. Indeed, she longed to change the subject.

"A string of pearls," replied Elsie in a matter-of-fact voice. "And I'm giving him a little two-seater; a coupe, really, which will be ever so useful to him in his work, and nice when we go out at nights after we're married."

Married! Celia suppressed a sigh. Was Elsie utterly devoid of understanding? Elsie could give Ronald so much; infinitely more than she could herself. All that she could offer was her love, free and unstinted, but that he had rejected as apparently worthless.

And so the preparations for the wedding went on apace, and as each week brought the date nearer, Celia longed for the time when they would be safely married and beyond her ken, and the torture would be over. They were to be married in the little grey village church, and the day before the wedding was spent by Celia and Elsie in decorating the pulpit and altar with trails of ivy and flowers.

Elsie seemed unusually silent as she helped to twine the ivy through the carved pillars, but Celia put that down to approaching nervousness. She, too, would be silent if she were to marry Ronald next day. Or would she? Would she not be singing aloud for very joy?

"That's about all we can do, I'm afraid," said Elsie, breaking a rather long silence. "We seem to have run short of greenery. Could your garden possibly spare any more ivy?"

"Oh, I think it's good for some more yet," replied Celia brightly. "I'll bring it down after tea, but don't you trouble coming back to the church. I can finish quite well by myself, and you must keep fresh for to-morrow."

"Well, if you don't mind, I don't think I will. I've still got heaps to do. Good night, little bridesmaid. It'll be your turn soon, I hope." She paused a moment. "Marriage is never worth while without love. Is it, Celia?"

Celia went very pale.

"I can't imagine it without love," she said in a low tone.

"Neither can I," replied Elsie, and then, rather abruptly, "Good night, dear."

As Celia returned to the church in the late afternoon with the ivy, she wondered what Elsie had meant. Nothing, probably, beyond the fact that she was very much in love with Ronald.

It was getting very dark in the little church, so that she could scarcely see the empty gaps for the ivy, and a step close at hand made her start suddenly, as the shadow of a man appeared and she recognized Ronald.

"Oh! It's you, Ronald!" she exclaimed nervously.

"Afraid I startled you," he said softly, in his dear, well-remembered tones, which sent a throb to Celia's heart. "Elsie sent me over to help you finish the decorations. She's still very busy, poor girl, over these everlasting letters."

"There's not much to do, really," stammered Celia. "And I can easily finish myself."

"Nonsense—you must let me help," he exclaimed, pulling a long trail of ivy from the basket. "What shall I do with this?"

"Oh, just here," striving to keep her voice natural, and as he fixed it their hands suddenly touched, and in the sharp, tingling shock which penetrated her entire arm, Celia dropped ivy and scissors and turned away. But not before he had gripped her wrist.

"Celia," he said, huskily, "I'm going to be married to-morrow, and going away for—for always, but just this once I must speak to you, must explain——"

"No, no—don't say it," she breathed, sinking down wearily on the altar steps.

"I must, Celia, I must. It's just to tell you what you know already. You do know, don't you? That I love you still, and that I've always loved you."

"Ron! You must think of Elsie—" broke in Celia quickly.

"So I shall after to-night. This one hour belongs to us. When you were away, Celia, Elsie infatuated me. She was so charming, so pretty, and she and her mother were so kind. They seemed to be always asking me to something or other, and as I knew you'd asked them to be decent to me, I was glad to take Elsie around when you weren't there.

"Then one evening, it was moonlight, and she was looking very lovely, you weren't there.

She—well, she asked if I were too shy to propose to her—because of her money. And I! Silly fool that I was—I suppose the moon and everything went to my head, and you can guess the rest. Next morning I knew I had made a ghastly mistake, and when I saw you that night you came home, so sweet in that shimmering silver dress, I'd have done anything to break it off. I just adore you, Celia. I've always loved you—always, and always will."

Very humbly he bent and pressed his lips against the hem of her woollen skirt, and she, holding on to a pew for support, rose unsteadily.

"Thank you very much for telling me, Ron," she murmured brokenly. "It will make things so much easier now—knowing all that. I think I'll go now."

"Well, I'm coming with you," he said, taking her arm. "You're as white as a sheet. You can't go home feeling like that."

Too weak to fight against him, she allowed him to help her out of the church and up the winding road through the village.

As they passed the the post office, one of the Strang's maids ran after them.

"Oh, Dr. Neil, I was just going to your house with this." She handed a letter to him and went back into the house.

"From Elsie? That's funny. I just saw her an hour ago." By the light of a street lamp he tore it open and read it.

"DEAR RON,—I thought I could marry you, but now I find I can't. For more than a year I've been in love with a man whom my parents forbade me to marry because of his position, and I thought I could forget him—but I can't. So I'm going to him. Shall be away before you get this. It's a dirty trick to desert you at the last minute like this, Ron, and even now I'd go through with it if I thought you really cared. But you don't, do you? Being in love oneself makes one wise. Why not marry Celia. I hope you will. And forgive me for all this.—ELSIE."

Ronald was silent as they walked up the hill, but as they came near the little fir wood where they had said good-bye so long ago, he gave the note to Celia, and by the light of his electric torch she read the message that was to mean so much to her.

They sat down together on a piece of broken wall, and for a few moments neither spoke. It was a most exquisite night. The moon hung in the sky like a wonderful lantern, and the velvety blueness of the sky was sprinkled with silver stars.

"I wonder if it's really true—that she's not in love with you," said Celia at last in a whisper. "It'd be so dreadful if this was an excuse to give you to me."

"I think she means it," he said soberly. "Once or twice I've wondered if she really cared for me."

"I can't see how—she—could—help—it," remarked Celia quaintly, and at that he turned and took her hands.

"Celia, darling, would it be too much to ask? Could you still marry me? Dearest, I'd be so good to oyu."

"Well, perhaps, I might," she breathed in his shoulder.

"And right at once, sweetest?" he continued breathlessly.

"Well," she said, hiding her pink cheeks, "it would be a pity not to make use of all these church decorations!"

JUST THREE

Just a wee little cake that was made with much care. 'Twas a mother who baked it that way. The top is all frosting, with three candles there 'cause it's someone's third bithrday today.

And, what is the story the three candles tell Just why are they lighted, in truth? The little one wonders, while Mom knows it well. They burn for the love of a youth.

One candle for sweetness and purity, rare. It burns with unflickering flame. Another for innocence brightly will flare as a part of the mother-love game.

The third little candle's a message thats' new; that comes with life's third little page. It flickers of mischief and cutieness, to, the traits that are born with that age.

Yes, that is the story that mother can see. But, to youth, too much thinking 'twould take. And, therefore, it seems, to a youngster of three, the bright burning candles mean—CAKE!

Prince Henry's Visit to Buccleuch Revives Rumor of His Engagement

SOCIETY APPROVES

Prince George Off to China in Navy for Two Years

Prince Henry's week-end visit to the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch at their Selkirk residence is responsible for a fresh crop of rumors that their daughter, Lady Mary Scott, is destined soon to be a royal bride.

This makes Prince Henry's fourth visit in a year to the Buccleuch estates, where he frequently danced and hunted with twenty-year-old Lady Mary, who is beautiful, accomplished, and well liked at court, wherewith her family has long been connected in a ceremonious way—the late Duchess of Buccleuch was Queen Alexandra's Mistress of the Robes.

Lord William Scott, Lady Mary's brother, is a Captain in the 10th Hussars, Prince Henry's regiment. The Buccleuchs already claim royal blood and the family coat-of-arms quarters the royal arms of Charles II. — with a baton sinister — as a result of Anne Scott's marriage with Charles, the illegitimate son of the Duke of Monmouth, and also quarters the "bleeding hearts of Douglas" and the "cross-crosslets" of the Earls of Mar, who with the Douglases supplied numerous scions to the Scottish royal house.

The Buccleuchs are very great landowners, with abundant wealth to support a royal son-in-law. Hence society would vote it a match in every way desirable.

MANY "BRIDES" FOR GEORGE.

Hitherto Prince Henry has escaped having his name linked matrimonially with those of many girls, whereas his younger brother, Prince George, is already provided with half a dozen prospective "brides."

George, the King's youngest son, is known as the "Naval Prince," being a sub-lieutenant in the navy at present undergoing a Lieutenant's course of training at Portsmouth, but scheduled to sail at the end of this month for China and the Eastern seas.

The Mediterranean fleet was that to which he war originally destined, and gossip has had it that the change in plans were made to frustrate as tactfully as possible an infatuation which did not wholly fall in with the views of his royal parents.

MISS BARING IS POPULAR.

The lady in the case, whom it was said he was determined, or at least desirous to wed, is Miss Azalea — "Poppy" — Baring, daughter of Sir Godfrey and Lady Baring of Nubia House, Cowes. Prince George, who in popularity in British society stands next to his brother Wales, is enthusiastic over motoring and dancing, and Miss "Poppy" also devotes much of her time to these diversions. Among the younger set she too is extremely popular, but is thought to seem just a shade too fond of gayety to appeal to the King and Queen as a daughter-in-law.

However, the rumors that George's departure Chinaward is officially intended to kill whatever attachment may have grown up between the two young people are generally discredited. Prince George has already been allocated unofficially to Lord Curzon's daughter and also to a couple of Vanderbilt misses and to several others.

Anyway, the court apparently has no objection to Miss "Poppy" personally, since her mother is most emphatically persona-grata there, and her aunt, Lady Hesketh-Pritchard, was recently appointed lady-in-waiting to Queen Mary.

With Prince George leaving England for the Far East this month, the Duke of York already on his journey to Kenya, East Africa, and the Prince of Wales sailing for South Africa and the Argentine in March, three of the King's four sons will be out of the country during the early part of 1925.

Prince Henry

Repeated rumors of H.R.H.'s engagement to the Duke of Buccleuch's daughter have stirred interest in society circles.

WILD SCENES AT CLYDE EVICTIONS

Special Tenants' Patrol With Bells Gives the Alarm

POLICE CORDON

Rent War Sequel—Five Families Put on the Street

Riotous scenes were associated with the long-threatened evictions — a sequel to the protracted "rent war"—which began at Dalmuir, Cyldebank.

Since first the threat hung over the heads of the tenants, in the area an all-night patrol, organized by the householders, has been in duty.

The moment chosen by the sheriff's officers for the opening of operations closely followed the dispersal of the patrol at daybreak.

A body of eviction officers, escorted by a force of 60 police, suddenly swooped down on the Dalmuir and West of Scotland estates, and got to work on the first house marked down for their attentions before the occupants were aware of their presence.

But an alarm was soon raised, and by the vigorous ringing of hand-bells —a prearranged signal—tenants from the adjoining streets were quickly summoned.

Numbers of men, women and children rushed to the scene of the eviction at the junction of French street and Dumbarton road, and there was at once an ugly rush at the men engaged in carrying furniture from the house.

The police pressed forward and kept the intruders in check, but a photographer, who was taking a snapshot of the scene, evidently aroused the hostility of the crowd.

He was rushed off his feet and severely kicked before the police could get near enough to protect him. An arrest was then made.

POLICE CORDON.

By degrees the police succeeded in clearing the threatening crowd from the streets where evictions were to take place, and the first house was cleared within half an hour.

The ejected tenants and sympathisers remained in the vicinity, and the district was seething with excitement but the strength of the force of police prevented any further demonstration.

In all, five evictions were carried out in the district, round which a police cordon was still on duty last night.

It was stated last week when a deputation of Scottish property owners met Sir John Gilmour, the Secretary for Scotland, that property owners had lost £100,000 in net rents alone, and there was little prospect of recovering this sum.

The loss of Cyldebank house-owners was stated to be increasing at the rate of £40,000 a month, and owing to the huge arrears of rates the town was threatened with bankruptcy.

SOLDIER TRIES TO GET HIS TICKET

Unusual Application Made to Court by Artillery N.C.O.

An unusual application was made to the Kingston Borough magistrates by a bombardier in the Royal Artillery, who asked the court to give him a letter in support of his effort to obtain his discharge from the Army on compassionate grounds.

He explained that he had served in the Royal Artillery for fourteen and a half years, including service throughout the Great War, and two years ago at Woolwich he received permission from the Army authorities to get married.

His reason for his present application was that the money he received was insufficient to support his wife, who was living in rooms in Canbury Park road, Kingston, and who received from the Army an allowance of 24s. 6d. per week. She could not live on that amount.

LETTER FOR THE C.O.

Asked what power he thought the magistrates had in the matter, applicant explained that they could give him a letter in support of his request, and he would hand the letter to the C.O. of his regiment, who would forward it to the Records Office.

A magistrate: But suppose every soldier came along with some suggestion of this kind to get out of the Army?

Applicant said that only married men could be discharged from the Army on compassionate grounds.

Having handed to the Bench a letter from a man who had offered him a situation in civil life, the bombardier was asked by the chairman of the court, Mr. A. Higgs, to call at his house after the rising of court, and he would see what could be done in the matter.

Man of 72 Who Has Never Seen the Sea And Never Wants to

Harry Coleman, aged 72, of Sherington, Bucks, has never seen the sea and does not want to.

He writes a piquant letter to "The Daily Chronicle" in reply to the query raised by a correspondent as to how many people have reached the age of 70 or 80 without having seen the sea, as was the case of Mrs. Sarah Lane, who, died recently aged 84, but had never been to the seaside.

"I am over 72," writes Mr. Coleman, "and as I was 48 years with the London and North Western Railway I could have had a free pass once a year. I have never seen the sea. I have always been more interested in growing roses and flowers in my spare time. I have not had time yet to go to the sea."

GIRL SMUGGLERS OF ULSTER SKILLED

A number of pretty colleens have become smugglers in the interests of their own sex, and have been bringing across the Ulster Free State border all kinds of contraband goods for the delight of their sisters in Ulster.

Among the goods that have been stopped are dancing shoes, silver and tinsel evening shoes, perfumes, powder, and even champagne.

Some of the girls have adopted the more exciting occupation of bringing over arms. In some instances they have smuggled revolvers strapped to their legs.

Women searchers are now being engaged for duty on the frontier.

BLOW AT HIS FRIEND.

A bricklayer named Everson William Lovett died suddenly of heart disease in a street at Norwich after attempting to strike a lifelong friend named Batch.

POST OFFICE MEN WHO JOINED UP GET WAR BONUS

British Government Pays Out £2,000,000 According to Decision

NO MORE APPEALS

Test Action Resulted in Verdict for Telegraphist

The greatest New Year gift in the world will be given by the Government on behalf of the smiling taxpayer to an army of Post Office workers who served in the war.

It will amount to about £2,000,000, and will be distributed in sums running up to £100 or more. It is known that one particular sorter will receive £120.

This wonderful present is in fact deferred war bonus, which the Post Office did not pay, but which the House of Lords decided they were liable to pay.

Soon after the war began the Postmaster-General issued a notice promising "full civil pay in addition to military pay" to postal servants who joined the R.E. Many thousands joined. When war bonus was granted to men at home the enlisted men claimed that they were entitled to it as part of the "full civil pay."

LORD DARDLING.

Mr. Sutton, a telegraphist, brought a test action. Lord Darling decided in his favor, the Court of Appeal reversed the judge's decision, but the House of Lords, by a majority, restored Lord Darling's decision.

Other classes of postal men then brought similar test actions, and most of them won. The Government have been advised not to appeal in these cases, and the bonus will now be paid.

THUMB PRICK AND PIMPLE ARE FATAL

Deaths from Trifling Mishaps Probed by Lambeth Coroner

Deaths following a pimple, a cut while shaving, and a pricked thumb were investigated at the Lambeth Coroner's Court.

Beatrice Ellen Bradley, aged 18, daughter of Divisional-Inspector W. H. Bradley, died in St. Thomas' Hospital from blood poisoning caused by a germ entering an inflamed pimple on her nose.

A verdict of Death by Misadventure was returned.

It was stated in the case of Alexander Henry Brooks, 33, an engraver's process operator, that in his work he had to use cyanide of potassium and other chemicals, which sometimes gave rise to dermatitis of the hands, and in Dr. Baly's opinion this caused blood poisoning through his hands coming in contact with a cut on his face sustained while shaving.

A verdict of accidental death was returned.

Frederick Charles Wagg, 26, died from blood poisoning through pricking his thumb with electric wire. A verdict of Accidental Death was returned.

SAVED FROM DEATH BY WIFE'S DREAM

Disaster at Works Averted by Warning Manager in Time

A wife's warning dream, a dash to some excavation works near London, the discovery, just as men were to descend, of a flaw in a chain that would have meant instant death——.

These were the circumstances of a dramatic discovery made by Mr. D., who was warned by his wife when he arrived home at midday for a meal.

"Are you working over a big hole, and is there some kind of a bell-like machine going to be let down?" Mrs. D. asked her husband.

Surprised, Mr. D., the manager of the works, replied, "Yes, why?"

"Is it very deep, and is there water at the bottom?"

"It's about 40 feet deep, but why do you ask?"

"Because I fear there is going to be some sort of an accident."

Mrs. D. is a natural clairvoyant (says the narrator of the story in the International Psychic Gazette), and her husband, leaving his dinner untasted, seized his hat and dashed back to the works. His men had the tackle ready, and the cage was waiting to take several of them down.

"Stop it," shouted Mr. D.; "swing it back."

The men looked at him astonished, as the gear had been inspected earlier in the day and found without a fault. But Mr. D. insisted on the whole lot being dismantled, and on examination a wide-open link was discovered in the largest and most important chain.

"How did you know?" exclaimed the awestruck men. Mr. D. replied quietly, "I didn't know; the missus dreamed it."

THE EDUCATED MAN.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, speaking at the Old Students' Club of the Working Men's College, St. Pancras, recently said that the educated man was certainly not a University man, though he was not debarred. The educated man was a man with certain subtle spiritual energy which made him calm in adversity, happy when alone, just in his dealings, and rational in the fullest meaning of that word in all the affairs of his life.

"IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE."

When Charles Dean, a Kilburn fishmonger, was summoned at Willesden Police Court for obstructing the high road by holding a mock auction, a policeman said that he was surrounded by 150 people.

Dean: It pays to advertise.

The magistrate: Then pay thirty shillings.

ROD HIDDEN IN LAVENDER CASE

The cane handed to Miss True, the retiring headmistress of Loughton Council Girls' School, on her appointment 40 years ago, was placed by her in a lavender-lined box.

The girls saw it for the first time when they made a presentation to her on her retirement.

FEWER UNEMPLOYED ON THE REGISTERS

The number of persons on the registers of Employment Exchanges at December 15 was 1,158,500, states the Ministry of Labor.

This was 23,688 fewer than at December 8, and 127,123 below the total on December 31, 1923.

LAYS 879 BRICKS IN DRIVING RAIN

Although handicapped by driving rain, a Scarborough bricklayer, John Wood, laid 879 bricks in one hour under supervision. He had undertaken to beat a reported feat at Doncaster of a bricklayer who was said to have laid 807 bricks in an hour. Wood's record was accomplished on Scarborough Spa, where an extensive scheme is being carried out.

PLAY IN A CHURCH UNUSUAL SPECTACLE

The unusual spectacle of a play performed in a church may be witnessed at Prestbury, Cheshire, where "Bethlehem" is being produced on a stage in the nave.

The performers appear in costume and form a striking group near the chancel steps before a deep red curtain, but there is no scenery. The prologue is spoken by the vicar. The performances, it is said, have been attended by great success.

TETHERED DOG IN RISING TIDE

Going to the seashore to tend his nets on Old Colwyn (North Wales) fisherman heard a furious barking coming from the water's edge.

He found a large dog fastened to a boulder by a piece of rope. The animal was almost submerged and was barking frantically when released.

The R.S.P.C.A. are being asked to investigate what appears to be a new method of drowning an unwanted dog.

WETTEST YEAR IN BRITAIN SINCE 1865

"Since 1877 only five or six years have beaten the figures for the rainfall in England in 1924," said an official of the Meteorological Office to a press representative.

The rain total for Hampstead is the highest in the country.

The wild week-end weather brought that suburb's rainfall for the year to 37.21 inches, or nearly 4,000 tons of rain to every acre.

This is the highest rainfall figure ever registered there, and the records date back sixty-five years.

COP'S RESOURCE SAVES DAMAGE

Serious damage to a motor-car which was being driven along Cambridge road, Hastings, was prevented by the resourcefulness of a policeman.

Police Constable Ayling, who noticed that flames were coming from the base of the steering column of the motor-car, ran to a stationery tram-car and asked the driver to release some sand on the road. He placed his helmet under the sand outlet, filled it, and running back to the burning motor-car, extinguished the flames with the sand.

DECORATIVE URNS GO TO AMERICA

Two of the decorative urns on the gateway of Devonshire House, Piccadilly, have been bought by James Burden, the wealthy American, whose country house at Meadowbrook, Long Island, was lent to the Prince of Wales during his visit to the United States.

Mr. Burden has wished to possess them for many years. He learned when in London recently that Devonshire House was to be pulled down, and made an offer for the urns, which was accepted.

PRAYING WOMAN SAVED FROM FIRE

A sheet of water fell like a wall between an old woman who was kneeling in prayer and the flames that were destroying her home at Blackburn.

The woman, Mrs. Mary Brindle, had escaped from the burning building. She was distracted by anguish at the sight of the destruction of her cherished belongings, and fell, praying on her knees on the kitchen doorstep.

The stream of water that protected her from death came from a fireman's hose, and poured through the building from the street.

APE TAKES BATH AND SMOKES PIPE

A gorilla in the Olympia circus baths himself, insists on having hot meals, and goes out in a motor car the doors and windows of which he manipulates himself. He also smokes a pipe.

A young woman named Bathes is said to be the only person who can control him. A garage in Lower Cadogan-place has been converted into a house for the gorilla. He sleeps in an ordinary bed, covered by blankets, and insists on soft ones.

DOCTOR BROKE LAW TO ANSWER CALL

"He only broke the law in the sacred cause of humanity."

This plea was made by the defending solicitor at Ongar, when Dr. H. C. Hackney, of Blackstone, was summoned for aiding and abetting his chauffeur in driving a motor car without a license.

It was stated that the doctor had been called to a very urgent case. His own car had broken down and he took his wife's, the license for which had expired.

A fine of £3 was imposed. A charge against the chauffeur was dismissed.

THREE LIVES COVER SPAN OF 222 YEARS

Mrs. Dill, mother of Dr. Gordon Dill, of Hove, and widow of Dr. Richard Dill, of Brighon, has reached 101.

Frailness of age keeps her to the house, but her faculties are well preserved.

Mrs. Dill, whose husband died at the age of 89, is the granddaughter of a man who was born in 1701. There is no other case known where three successive lives have covered so great a span as 222 years.

Her father was General Sir Charles Wale, K.C.B., born in 1762, her grandfather was Mr. Thomas Wale, of Little Shelford, Cambridgeshire.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL HALFPENNY CROWD

The musical festivals at Southwark Cathedral may, it is stated, have to be abandoned for lack of financial support.

Canon J. Haldane, the precentor, stated yesterday that when the London Symphony Orchestra assisted at the last musical festival, recently, there were at least 2,000 people in the cathedral. The collection, to meet an expense of £100, did not reach £48. It included:

500 pennies.
240 halfpennies.
64 threepenny pieces.
400 sixpences.

The balance was made up of sums of 1s. and upwards.

CALLANDER HYDRO VICTIM OF FIRE

Callander Hydro, at Callander, Perthshire, was burned out recently, the damage amounting to 25,000.

Firemen from Falkirk were motoring along a narrow Highland road near Callander when the car skidded, and half the men were thrown over a wall. One fireman landed on his head, but his brass helmet, which flattened out, saved him from serious injury. The fire brigade captain and four other men were injured, one seriously.

Callander Hydro was built twenty years ago, and stood in a prominent position. A gale blowing from the Trossachs made the flames spread rapidly.

ANCIENT CEREMONIAL SEEN AT THE ABBEY

Ancient ceremonial was employed in the installation, at Westminster Abbey, of Canon Frederick Lewis Donaldson as Canon of Westminster, in succession to Canon Barnes, preferred to the Bishopric of Birmingham.

The new Canon made the Latin Declaration, after which he was placed in the vacant stall by the Sub-Dean, and the ancient charge, in Latin, was delivered to him. At the close he was conducted to the Jerusalem Chamber, where the Sub-Dean addressed him again briefly in Latin.

The opening and closing items of the installation ceremonial took place in private, so far as the general congregation was concerned.

EX-OFFICER FOUND UNDER PIER SHOT

A roadsweeper at work on Brighton front saw a well-dressed man sitting under the West Pier propped up against one of the iron piles. He was found to have a bullet wound in the head, and he held a service revolver in his hand. He was still alive.

It is stated that the man, who was later identified as Thomas Anthony George Hockley, of Hove, was seen in the early hours of the morning driving a motor car on the front, and alighted near the pier. The car stood outside an hotel with the light burning from 6.15 a.m. to 8.40 a.m.

Two letters were found in Mr. Hockley's clothing, one of them being addressed to his wife. Mr. Hockley, who is forty-six, and of independent means, is an ex-officer of the Royal Sussex Regiment. He lies in a local hospital in a critical condition.

GIVES PROPERTY AWAY TO AVOID WORRY OVER TAXES

Willesden Man Harassed by Collectors to Distraction Complains

PENSION LEFT

Says Authorities Muddled His Wages With Property to Confuse Him

Thet worry of income tax has proved too much for a Willesden school caretaker, who has announced his intention of giving away his property, purchased with his life savings, and retiring on his superannuation.

On two occasions, when summoned at the Willesden Police Court for non-payment of income tax, he complained that the authorities had deliberately muddled up the demand, and had mixed his wages with the returns from his property for the purpose of confusing him.

When he protested that he had not received his proper allowance for his wages he was told that the full amount had been allowed off his property.

When he complained about the tax on his property being too high he was told that he might appeal to the Commissioners, but they refused to allow him to appeal.

"THIRFTY FOR NOTHING."

The harrassed caretaker told the magistrate that he could not stand the worry of it any longer, and that he had decided to give away the property that had caused him so much trouble and anxiety.

Seen by a Press representative after he left the court, he said he was then going to sign a deed making over his property to someone else, to whom he was gladly giving it in the hope that it would bring the new owner more happiness than he had got out of it.

He was, he said, shortly retiring after a working life of nearly 60 years, and he added: "I shall soon be wanting a home, and I cannot even get possession of one of my own houses.

"I must go away into the country and do the best I can on my pension, and forget that I have been thrifty all my life for nothing."

WHISKY FAMINE THREATENS BRITAIN

Heavy Demand by Places Close to U.S. Reacts on Supply

Home consumers are threatened with a whisky famine owing to the great demands being made by the West Indies, the Bahamas, and Mexico, whence large supplies pass into the United States, reports the London Daily Chronicle.

This demand is largely due to the exhaustion of secret hoards laid in by rich Americans at hint of the dry threat.

Whisky in this country must be matured for three years, and the scarcity in matured whisky is already becoming manifest.

The big Scottish distillery companies have been absorbing all the old whiskies for years, and it is understood that an even closer understanding than now exists between them is being considered.

The possibility of a big combination is said to have been discussed at a conference in London last week, the market capitalization of the firms concerned being estimated at about £35,000,000.

DONOR OF £40,000 IS SECRET TO DEATH

Funds to Provide Education in Languages for Business Youths

A gift of £40,000 from a man whose name is not to be divulged until after his death was mentioned at a meeting of the Bradford Chamber of Commerce.

The president said the income from the money was to be used by the Chamber for assisting the study of foreign languages and the commercial education of young men by residence and study abroad.

The object was also to promote closer relations between Great Britain and foreign countries.

Mr. Aykroyd said it was the most generous educational endowment ever given to a Chamber of Commerce in this country. It would be the means of greatly assisting Bradford's export trade.

After the donor's death the fund would be called by his name, but meanwhile it was specially requested that his name should not be given.

Special attention is to be paid to the teaching of Russian and Spanish, and preference is to be given to youths of Yorkshire birth or residence.

Wife's High Value To Rochdale Teacher Revealed in "Ad"

Edmund Clegg, music teacher and dealer in musical instruments, known for the odd advertisements he inserted in Rochdale newspapers has died at his home in Cheetham street, Rochdale, aged 72, after collapsing on the way back from watching a football match between Rochdale Hornets versus St. Helens.

When, three years ago, Mr. Clegg's wife died he invited tenders for her coffin. Some time after he wrote to the mayors of towns asking them to find him a wife, who, he stipulated, must be worth £30,000." A man of his ability, he said, could not be content with less. He got no replies he considered acceptable.

Another advertisement announced that he was willing to listen to any sermon for £1 an hour.

Dr. Liveing was actively engaged in research work until a few weeks ago, and used to dine in college every night during term time, while he personally attended to his duties as president of St. John's.

"TEMPLE OF BRAVE" HANTS MEMORIAL

Built in 1,000 Hours by ex-Officer of Hampshire Regiment

HUNDREDS PRESENT

All Visitors Toll Bell Taken from Destroyed Vivacious

In an old-world garden with stone-flagged paths in the little village of Hedge End, a few miles from Southampton, a unique war memorial called the "Temple of the Brave," has been unveiled. It was built by one man, Lt. W. H. Adams, late of the Hampshire Regiment, in 1,000 hours.

Hundreds of people came many miles to attend the ceremony.

On a flagstaff flew the Union Jack, with a flag signal denoting "Think and Thank." Over the temple, surmounted by a golden cross, stands the figure of an angel. A sheaf of pure white flowers was laid before it. The words "Victory, 1914-18" and "Lest We Forget" are inscribed over the door, and inside the tiny shrine a great laurel wreath and an anchor of snowy blossoms were placed.

Around the walls of the temple are beautifully illustrated shields to the memory of war heroes. The colors of every British regiment decorate the interior. Miniatures of famous battleships, camouflaged as in the days of war, are in glass cases. The bell, which was tolled in memory of the brave by every one of the long stream of visitors, came from the destroyer Vivacious.

Lieut. Adams said that the idea of the temple was the sequel to a motoring mishap in which he nearly ran over a little girl who was carrying flowers to a memorial for her father killed in the war.

The temple is to be opened every day from sunrise to sunset, and it will become public property.

Georgian Mansion Doomed to Flames As "Movie" Spectacle

Built 120 years ago at a cost of over £80,000, Sudbrook Holme, the fine old Georgian mansion four and a half miles from Lincoln, may, unless other offers are received, be shortly sold to a London film company to be burned down to provide a spectacular scene in a film play.

Most of the estate has been sold to be broken up for building plots, and the owner is now prepared to let the mansion go at a remarkably low figure, believed to be in the region of £5,000. The film company's offer has not yet been accepted, but negotiations are proceeding. The owner, however, has stated that he would prefer that some local authority or private institution would secure it rather than that it should be given to the flames.

FUR FARMS WITH CANADIAN FOXES

Eight Pairs from P.E.I. Beginning of Developments in Scotland

The success of Major Lionel Hannington, a Canadian barrister, who brought over eight pairs of silver foxes from Prince Edward Island, and established them at Alness, Rossshire, has stimulated interest in this new type of farming, and the organization which brought over silver foxes for an Oxfordshire farm will land shortly in Glasgow several pairs of first-class animals.

It is intended to establish fur farms at Pencaitland and Golspie. Other farms will probably be started at a later date in other parts of Scotland and England, and there is also a movement on foot to popularize the industry on the Continent.

This is the best time of the year to bring foxes over from Canada. The animals, which may cost as high as £200 for a first-class pair, are not difficult to keep, existing on the ordinary food which is obtainable on any farm. Major Hannington's experiments at Alness, where the foxes have prospered well, prove that the animals will thrive in these islands.

If this development proves a success, and a lot depends, of course, on climatic conditions—cold weather being essential—there is no reason why the Scottish farmer should not emulate the example of his brethren in Canada, and make fur-farming a profitable industry.

Thomas Knott, postman, was warmly praised by the deputy coroner at Hackney, when a verdict of accidental death was recorded in the case of Caroline Allen, 72, of Dalston, who was burned to death. Knott ran into the house and extinguished the flames with his mail bag and overcoat.

MYSTERY AROUND DISAPPEARANCE OF ALNWICK BEAUTY

Daughter of Woodman on Duke's Estate is Being Eagerly Sought

NO CLUE IN SIGHT

Nobleman Takes Part in Wide Search in Northumberland

The disappearance of a girl of 18 from a woodland cottage on the Duke of Northumberland's estate at Alnwick has strange elements of mystery.

Seventy-two hours of persistent searching have failed to trace Florence Braidford, who vanished, half-clothed, one afternoon recently.

She is the only daughter of James Braidford, a woodman on the duke's estate, who, with his wife and girl, occupied a cottage in the midst of the great woods which clothe the foothills of the Cheviots.

Their house lies four or five miles from the main road, and the nearest dwelling is more than a mile away. In this secluded spot the family seemed to have been a very happy one. The father has been on the ducal estate for many years.

PICTURE OF HAPPINESS.

Florence was a handsome girl, with short and curly auburn hair. She looked the picture of health and happiness.

Last week Mrs. Braidford spent the week-end away from home, leaving Florence in charge. The father came home to dinner at midday on Tuesday and found everything ready for him. He ate his meal, and then left Florence alone in the house. She was knitting, and seemed to be care free. That was the last Mr. Braidford saw of his daughter.

He returned at half-past four and found tea prepared and the oil lamp burning on the table. He waited for some time, and had tea, and a little later his wife returned, and both became alarmed at their daughter's continued absence.

The dress that Florence was wearing was found outside the cottage door. It had evidently been burned up the front. By its side lay a tin dipper.

WARDROBE INTACT.

An alarm was given, and soon parties were searching the woods on all sides.

In the meantime Mrs. Braidford overhauled Florence's wardrobe and found it was intact with the exception of the partially burnt dress and the underclothing and shoes that Florence was wearing.

It was thought that, being so scantily clothed, the girl could not be far away, and the searchers redoubled their efforts.

Major Rupert Wright, the estate bailiff, summoned all the men on the estate to render help, which they readily gave, and Superintendent G. Anderson, of the Alnwick Police, joined in the search, which has been carried on by day and with lanterns by night.

The searchers know every copse for miles around.

The River Aln, which runs through the park about half a mile from the cottage, has been dragged. The Duke of Northumberland himself has taken part in the search, which is being carried on over an ever widening area.

Those who knew Florence Braidford intimately are astonished at her disappearance. She seems to have had no love affairs and is described as a shy and retiring girl.

CLEVER INVENTIONS MADE BY WOMEN

Tent With Human Pole—Home Devices of Various Kinds

A portable bathing tent has been invented by a woman in which the owner acts as the pole by standing upright, while the tent extends outwards to the ground, enabling the owner to dress and undress in comfort.

This is one of the many inventions for which women have been responsible this year.

As usual inventions relating to clothing and household work head the list. In one device saucepans and kettles are provided with means whereby the heat generated during the boiling of water can be utilized for cooking different articles while the water is kept quite clean.

The list of inventions for which women have applied for patents during the year includes:

Devices for drying the hair by electricity and hot air.

Interchangeable scissor blades, so that scissors may be used for heavy tailoring or making buttonholes.

A transparent umbrella, enabling the holder to see where he or she is going.

Patents for holding hats on without hatpins and safety devices to prevent accidents by escaping gas.

TONGUE-TWISTER TEST IS UPHELD

Because a man fails to stand on one leg with his eyes shut, and cannot say distinctly "truly rural" and "Methodist Episcopal," is it evidence that he is drunk?

At Marylebone Police Court a doctor said George Thomas Page, aged 35, of Brunswick street, Hackney road, failed in these tests, and was charged with being drunk while he had charge of a motor cycle.

Page was said to have zigzagged at a fast pace down Tottenham Court road with two men in the side-car and a woman on the pillion.

Dr. Maughan said the man stood on one leg only for 15 seconds, and in the other tests got only as far as "truly ruro" and "Methodist Epiticle."

Dr. Alfred Allpont, of St. Paul's Hospital, said he did not think much importance could be attached to the tests.

Page was fined £2, with £3 3s. costs.

PETITION FOR BRIDGE ACROSS EAST END OF LAKE SCUGOG INDORSED AT COBOURG

Deputation Secures Support from Council of Northumberland and Durham.

SAVE 30 MILES.

COBOURG, Jan. 30.—A number of deputations have been received by the Counties Council now in session at Cobourg.

Four representatives, one each from the townships of Manvers, Cartwright, Mariposa, and Ops, two of whom, John R. McGee and H. Walwin, acting as spokesmen, addressed the Council regarding the need of a bridge at the eastern end of Lake Scugog, these four townships being affected.

There are forty-five farms on the north side of the lake, sixteen to eighteen miles distant from any market, and this could be more than cut in half were the bridge built.

The lake is only three-quarters of a mile across, but lacking a bridge, a drive of thirty miles is necessary to any given point on the opposite side. The bridge would supply, a long-felt want, and 700 names are attached to the petition, which is to be presented to the Provincial and Federal Parliaments.

No money grant is being asked from the Counties Council, but simply the request to endorse the resolution which is already prepared. A similar request is being made to the Victoria County Council now in session.

The depth is only from eight to ten feet—early settlers used to wade across — but the present situation has arisen since the Government built the locks at Lindsay, damming the water back.

County roads practically meet the lake on either side where the proposed bridge will cross. Twenty-five to thirty rigs a day would use the bridge. At present, in winter time, the ice is so treacherous, horses are drowned every season breaking through.

High ground on either side would allow of filling in and shortening the span, thus allowing a swing bridge the expense of which would be the Federal Government's responsibility. Market towns brought nearer would include Lindsay, Janetville, Port Perry and Mariposa Station. No boats hauling heavy cargoes are in use on the lake: motor launches and other pleasure boats being the only ones at present plying its waters.

Rapid fire question and answer brought out more detailed information, and the resolution was finally endorsed, on motion of Reeve L. H. Staples and Deputy-Reeve S. Stinson, both of Manvers:

"That in the opinion of the members of this Council, it is very desirable that the boundary between the four townships, Manvers, Cartwright, Mariposa and Ops, be connected by way of a bridge across Lake Scugog, at its eastern end."

CIRCULAR FLARES.

Most of the fullness is arranged in the front of the new gowns, but occasionally an interesting effect is achieved by the use of circular flares introduced at the side.

MARMORA - DELORO ROAD IS KEPT OPEN

Other Highways in the District Blocked by Snow.

MARMORA, Jan. 30. — With the exception of the road between Marmora and Deloro all the roads in this district are not now negotiable by car. The storm of last week end filled north and south roads in particular. On account of the slow travelling it would entail and the great fall of the glass, some young lady hockey enthusiasts abandoned their project of escorting the local High School team to Madoc for their matcl. there on Wednesday evening.

Social at Deloro

A very enjoyable card party and social was held in the Deloro hall on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Deloro Women's Institute. Prizes for euchre were won by Mrs. Ross Hunter and Mr. Geo O'Neil. Prizes for bridge were secured by Mrs. J. Hemphill and Mr. H. Ford Berry. Violin solos by Mr. Ross Hunter and vocal solos by Mrs W. Williams added considerably to the pleasure of the evening, whilst excellent refreshments were served.

The ice cutting season is on. Mr. Everitt McGrow and Mr. Jesse Wright are doing the haulage this year. The usual heavy consignments to Deloro are being attended to at this time.

Potatoes 50c a Bag.

Potatoes are being retailed locally at 50c a bag. Hard of good quality is being sold in the village at $7 a cord.

Eggs are scarce in this district and the price has risen to 50c a doz. Butter sells at 40c a lb.

Mr. Wilfred Cerrio is home from Grand Seminary, Montreal, on a fortnight's holiday.

Mr. George Bedore is recovering from his recent illness, though not able to be about his work yet.

BOBBED HAIR IS STILL ARGUMENT

Even the Learned Professors Have Taken Issue—Diverse Opinions.

LONDON, Jan. 30 Associated Press—Arguments for and against bobbed hair are prolific, and have agitated the minds even of learned professors. Lecturing to members of the London College of Physiology, Professor H. J. Harper Roberts said bobbing had evidently come to stay. Its advatages were threefold; it was becoming to a certain type of woman, it made for freedom, and it was easy to dress and wash. The disadvatage was that it exposed the neck, which often broke into a rash for about a month afterwards.

A beauty specialist, Dr. Jacques Brettmon, takes exactly the opposite for bobbed and shingled hair, and says many women have told him they wish they had not been bobbed.

"Man's ideal woman is still the ideal of ages," Dr. Brettmon says, "a woman with flowing hair over her shoulders. When she bobs her hair she cuts just so much from our conception of her. In our eyes it enchances the beauty of very few women."

MISSING HEIFER LIVED 5 WEEKS WITHOUT WATER

Covered in Straw Stack During Threshing Operations.

KING'S WHARF, Jan. 30.—Mr. Joseph Flynn, of this place, lost a valuable heifer some six weeks ago and was at a loss where to find it, and wondered where it had mysteriously disappeared to. The other day while pressing his straw stack he discovered his heifer, quite strong. She got covered in the straw stack when the threshing was done, and lived for five weeks without water. She is doing fine.

Miss Maud O'Neill has gone to Lindsay to take a course in the R. M. Baker School.

A big sleigh-load of young people from here attended the party given by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hennessey last Friday evening, and report a splendid time.

The many friends here of Mr. Daniel O'Neill will regret to learn of his serious illness with quinsy, and hope for a speedy recovery.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS.

PETHERICKS CORNERS, Jan. 30.—The weekly meeting of the Young People's League was held on Thursday evening and despite the bad roads and severe weather, sixteen of the members were present.

It was decided at this meeting to have a social evening on Thursday and that the program consist of a debate and some contests.

The topic for the debate is: "Resolved that a good humoured, untidy housewife is preferable to an ill humoured, tidy housewife."

The supporters of the affirmative are Miss Hazel Brown, Morley Petherick and Everett Fair. The negatives, Miss Agnes Thomson, Miss Ethel Forde and Mrs. Thos. Fry.

The judges are Mrs. F. Barnum, Rev. Chas. Daniels and Mrs. E. A. Fairman. A very pleasant time is in store for all who attend this meeting.

Dramatic Club.

The Petherick's Corners Dramatic Club journeyed to Hastings last Friday evening and assisted in putting on a program in the hall there.

The following took in the event: Misses Jennie Fry Verna Barnum, Alma Simpson, Cora Irwin, Gladys Simpson, Hazel Brown and Agnes Thomson. Messrs. Roy Fry, Earl Fairman., Alf Simpson, Clarence Barnum, Ray Fry, Allan Simpson, Morley Petherick and Everett Fairman.

The whole crowd went in a sleigh-load to Campbellford, where they took the train, returning on the noon train Saturday.

All report having an excellent time.

Mr. James Simpson spent a few day of last week in Campbellford.

Mr. J. A. M. Thomson of Crow Bay has been confined to his bed this last week.

Miss Verna Barnum spent the week-end in Campbellford.

L.O.L. 2322 Social.

The members of L.O.L. No. 2322 held a social evening in the hall on Tuesday, all of the community being invited.

The evening was spent in playing games. Short speeches were given by Thos. Petherick, Alfred Barnum, Thos. Fry, Wm. Forde, Everett Fairman and Fred Rutherford. After the program a hearty lunch was served.

The weekly educational meetings in the Union School have proved a great success. The chief speakers for next Friday evening are Miss Sparks of Stanwood and Rev. H. A. Mackenzie.

SOVIET ENDS MONEY CURB.

Permits Private Dealings in Foreign Currencies.

MOSCOW, Jan. 30.—The Rosta Agency, the official Soviet news disseminator, announces that the Commissariat of Finance, recognizing that the Soviet currency now has become sufficiently stable, has revoked all restrictions on private individuals who desire to carry out exchange transactions in foreign currencies, which will now be allowed to circulate freely throughout the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

The removal of the restrictions applies to foreign gold and silver bullions, coins and all kinds of money and bonds.

JAPANESE PRINCE GOES TO COLLEGE

TOKIO, Jan. 29.—(Associated Press).—Prince Yasuhito Chichihu, second son of the Emperor, will sail for England in May for a stay of possibly four years. He will enter Oxford University and, breaking all precedents for a prince of the royal house, will live in college premises.

The Prince's first year abroad will be spent in the home of a British family whose name has not been divulged, and after a grounding in English he will enter upon his university course and specialize in sociology. This will be the first time that a Prince of Japan has studied in a foreign university except military institutions, and the radical departure from custom is looked upon in Japan as indicating a marked change in the position of the royal house.

Children's Shelter.

Rev. Mr. Bickle, president of the Children's Aid Society, Rev. J. T. Daley, Inspector, and Rev. Canon F. J. Sawyer, Rector of St. Peter's Church, addressed the council in the interests of the Children's Aid Society.

Mr. Bickle was the first speaker, thanking the council for generous treatment in the past, and asking further favors this year. Much work has been accomplished in the past 12 months, and the pleasure of the workers was increased as they saw results growing in lives helped and built up in usefulness.

The re-opening of the Children's Shelter in Port Hope last year, after having been enlarged and improved at a cost of $6500, was an encouraging feauture. "The generous contributions of this council, income from an estate administered by Dr. Dickinson of Port Hope, and from legacies received, have made it possible to pay off this amount in full."

The new ward for boys, separated altogether from the girls' ward, with improved sanitary conveniences, had proved a great help in doing the proper training. But the extra activities as the work grew had so taken up the speaker's time that he had been unable to do much work along the line of soliciting personal subscriptions, and the financial lack is bein gfelt.

Wherever possible the man had been compelled to take his full share of responsibility in cases of children born out of wedlock, and in this way the amount of dependency has been decreased. Continued and increased support would be greatly appreciated.

Rev. J. T. Daley for six years the inspector for the Children's Aid Society, said he was a familiar figure, and his business well known.

The work done among children committed by the courts to the Shelter's care, and among children from neglected homes, helping to transform them into useful children, was outlined briefly. About one hundred have been received in the past six years Mr. Daley has been in office. Twenty one have been taken into good homes since the Adoption Act was enacted, and the question of their maintenance solved.

Several concrete instances were cited of changed lives through changed surroundings and letters were read from wards whose prospects had been brightened and to whom a chance was given of becoming useful citizens.

In the case of unmarried persons between five and six thousand dollars had been expended in assistance to both mothers and children.

The speaker's duties have become burdensome, demanding, at times, twenty hours work a day, and then duties were still not overtaken.

Two hundred dollars per month was received from the Counties Council, and local councils also assist. The suggestion was made that the Council entirely take over the work, giving $300 per month, the balance of the $6,000 to be raised by personal subscriptions. At least an additional $50 a month would be appreciated, the increase amounting to only about one and one-half per cent. on each person assessed for $1,000 in the United Counties.

Rev. Canon Sawyers expressed the opinion that "we three are hardy annuals," and as brevity was his strong point, he would merely support the plea made by the two previous speakers.

The matter of increased grant was referred to the Finance Committee.

On behalf of the Cobourg, Bowmanville and Port Hope hospitals, J. D. Hayden and Dr. Spencer addressed the Council, requesting increased appropriation. Mr. Hayden, president of Cobourg hospital, asked that fifty dollars extra per year be given until a grant of $1,000 was reached.

Visited Hospital.

About thirty members of the Council accepted the invitation to visit the Cobourg hospital on Wednesday afternoon, the superintendent, Miss Walsh, who has held this position for nine years, and the president, Mr. J. D. Hayden, receiving the guests.

The superintendent and staff look forward to the annual visit of the Councillors, and the opportunity of inspecting the local institution, which has a capacity of thirty-five beds, as well as the enjoyment of a pleasant social occasion, is one of the features of the inaugural session.

The hospital is well equipped with up-to-date surgical appliances, X-Ray room, operating room, heating, and laundry conveniences, etc., and this condition can be duplicated in the other two at Port Hope and Bowmanville so that the ratepayers of the United Counties have every reason to be proud of these institutions.

Tea was served in the dining-room before the Councillors left, Warden J. L. McCamus expressing the thanks of the Council for the entertainment received, and also the appreciation felt for the excellent condition in which the hospital is kept. Miss Walsh and President Hayden replied.

FOR CAKE.

An excellent cake icing is made by mixing powdered sugar and butter with maple sirup instead of milk or water.

UNUSUAL SITUATION ARISES IN THE UNITED CONTIES

Supporters of M. J. Elliott May Protest Election of J. L. McCamus as Warden.

TECHNICAL POINT.

COBOURG, January 30. (Special.)—Legal opinion makes it evident that if any action is taken in the peculiar situation which has arisen in connection with the election of Warden of the United Counties of Durham and Northumberland, the supporters of the defeated candidate, Reeve M. J. Elliott of Bowmanville, must open up the question and enter protest.

The ruling, which was overlooked on this occasion, is that when a tie vote is recorded, as was the case on Tuesday evening, Reeve J. L. McCamus and Reeve Elliott each receiving nineteen votes on the first count, the reeve of the municipality having the highest equalized assessment has the casting vote." Reeve Thomas Baker of Darlington would have decided the issue in the present instance.

The second ballot, again a tie, having been allowed, the third was equally justifiable. Reeve M. J. Holman of Clarke, coming in in time to record the vote, which gave Reeve McCamus a majority of one.

If Reeve Elliott's supporters do not protest the election, Reeve McCamus has a safe seat.

The situation is not without precedent, since in 1911 a tie vote was recorded between Reeves Joseph Hickson, Manvers, and T. . Kelly of Cavan; Reeve Eber Millson of Darlington, broke the tie by giving his vote in favor of Warden Kelly.

Those supporting Reeve McCamus were: Anderson, Baker, Bedal, S. A. Clarke, Corbett, Edmunds, Fallis, Grills, Holdsworth, Holman, Jibb, Mouncey, Murphy, McCamus, McGuire, Mc Kenzie, Ross, Suetsinger, Stinson, Wilson.

Supporters of Reeve Elliott: Austin, T. Baker, Bruce, Butler, Davidson, M. J. Elliott, W. F. Elliott, Haig, Holdaway, Hess, Lawson, McCubbin, Nelson, Palliser, Paterson, Peake, Stales, Tluckson, Wight.

Want Rid of Road.

A motion requesting the Peterborough County Council to take over road leading to Bensfort Bridge was made by Reeve Alex. Anderson, of South Monaghan, seconded by Reeve L. H. Staples, of Manvers, as follows:

"Whereas the county road in the township of South Monaghan leads to Bensfort bridge, and whereas the road leading from Bensfort bridge to McAllister's Corners, in the township of Otonabee, a distance of about four miles, is not under the county road system of the County of Peterborough, which said four miles of road is in a very bad state for travel.

The Counties' Council of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham hereby request the County of Peterborough to take over the said four miles of road and add same to their county road system. By so doing the county of Peterborough would confer a great benefit on the travelling public."

NUMBERING OF PEOPLE IN THE DAYS GONE BY

(From the Report of the Six Annual Census of Canada.)

Census-taking dates from the dawn of civilization. Moses numbered the Children of Israel of the 15th century B.C. (Exodus xxx, 11-16; Numbers I, 2-4 and 47-49; Numbers iii, 14-16; Numbers iv, 34-49). But investigations of a similar nature were known many centuries earlier—in Babylonia (ca. 3800 B.C.); in China (ca. 3000 B.C.); and in Egypt (ca. 2200 B.C., Herodotus, Bk. II, c. cxix; Bk. III, c. xxxix-xc). A census taken by King David in 1017 B.C. achieved an evil notoriety in history from the divine wrath which is recorded as having provoked (II Samuel, xxiv, 1-15; I Chronicles xxi, 1-27— and which was cited for many generations in Christian Europe in warning against the spirit of inquiry. The census was one of the institutions founded by Solon at Athens in the sixth century, B.C. The Romans were assidious census-takers, both under the republic and the empire; Julius Cæsar, among other things, reformed the census. The Breviary of Charlemagne (A.D. 808) and the Domesday Book of William the Conqueror (A.D. 1086) are celebrated mediæval censuses. Later, for several centuries, the census disappeared from Europe.

It is worthy of remark that the credit of being among the very first to take a census, as it is known in modern times, belongs to Canada. The year was 1666, the census that of the colony of New France. Earlier records of settlement at Port Royal (1605) and Quebec (1608) are extant; but the census of 1666 was a systematic "nominal" enumeration of the people (i.e., a record of each individual by name), taken on the de jure principle, of a fixed date, showing age, sex, occupation and conjugal and family condition. The results are to be read in a document of 154 pages in the archives of Paris, of which a transcript is in Ottawa. Altogether this census recorded 3,215 souls. A supplementary inquiry in 1667 included areas under cultivation and the numbers of cattle and sheep. When it is recalled that in Europe the first censuses, notably those of Prussia (1719) and Sweden (1748), date only from the 18th century (in France and England the first censuses date only from 1801), whilst in the United States no census was taken before 1790, the achievement of the primitive St. Lawrence colony in instituting what is to-day one of the principal instruments of government in every civilized community, may call for more than passing appreciation.

Early Canadian Censuses.

The initial Canadian census of 1666 was repeated no fewer than 15 times during the French regime, which ended in 1763. In the latter years of this period, seven similar censuses of Acadie (Nova Scotia), six of Newfoundland and one of St. John Island (Prince Edward Island) were taken. In addition, 25 "statements of population" (being for the most part estimates based on local authority) relating to New France are available for the period 1665-1763, together with six for Newfoundland, three for Acadie, two for St. John Island and three for St. John River (New Brunswick). With regard to the Indian population, an estimate for the territory now comprised in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, the State of Maine, parts of other New England states, and the Lower St. Lawrence valley were made as early as 1611 (by a Jesuit missionary), whilst so-called "censuses" of the aboriginal "warrior" population were taken in 1736 (by an officer, unnamed, of the French Government) and in 1763 (by Sir William Johnson).

From the date of the British occupation, a series of less elaborate reports by colonial governors took the place of these records, though the census eventually reappeared at irregular intervals. There was a census of Canada in 1765, and others followed in 1784 and 1790. Censuses of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Lower Canada and Upper Canada became more or less frequent after 1817, the census of Upper Canada (Now Ontario) being annual from 1824 to 1842. For Lower Canada there were censuses in 1825, 1831 and 1844. Censuses of Assiniboia (Western settlements) were taken periodically also after 1831. The scope of these inquiries varied widely, but after 1827 they became fairly inclusive.

The first Canadian Census Act was passed in 1847, following the union of the provinces of Upper and Lower Canada. Under it a census of Upper and Lower Canada was taken in 1851 and again in 1861, censuses of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick being taken in the same years.

With the census of ancient times we should to-day have little sympathy. Originally the census was no more than a means of mustering the fighting men of the nation for foreign wars, or of enabling kings and oligarchies to levy taxes on their subjects. The Hebrew, Greek and Roman censuses, as well as those of mediæval Europe, were essentially of that design and character. So far have we passed from this conception that it is now expressly forbidden to use census information for any such purpose.

In Canada the legal raison d'etre of the census is to determine representation in the Dominion House of Commons. Under the British North America Act, the Province of Quebec is given a fixed number of seats (65), the number assigned to the other provinces being pro rata on a population basis as determined by the census. The first rearrangement, it was provided, should be made on the completion of the census of 1871, with a similar readjustment to follow every subsequent decennial census. The Canadian census is thus taken primarily to enable a redistribution bill to be passed through Parliament.

But the census has far wider uses than to fix electoral representation, important though that be. It constitutes, in fact, under the modern system, nothing less than a great periodical stock-taking of the people and of their affairs, designed to show from the widest possible angle the stage that has been reached in the general progress of the nation.

"LA GRIPPE" ADVICE

Influenza Brings Debility and Leaves Heart Weak.

Onset of Influenza.

A running at the nose and redness of the skin of the face and chest may lead to measles being suspected. A sore throat and similar redness may indicate scarlet fever. Using every due caution as to whether a "cold" or measles or something similar is brewing, it is generally the case that influenza commences with symptoms of a "cold," and a chilly feeling which quickly develops into shivering fits. At this stage the sufferer must take to his bed. It is penny wise and pound foolish to do otherwise. The temperature will quickly rise, and the patient's condition will soon become more definite. Pains in the eyeball ache in the front of the head, pains in the limbs and back —all these point to influenza. If there has been any constipation a purge should be administered overnight of a kind to which the patient is best suited —from castor oil to a colocynth and hyoscymus pill. With the onset of high fever four-hourly doese of ammoniated tincture of quinine (one teaspoonful in water) can be productive of nothing but good. But these are emergency suggestions—medical aid must be sought.

False Economy.

It is false economy both on the part of the employer and of the patient if a return to work is attempted or expected immediately after a temperature has subsided. Two days in bed afterwards may prevent weeks of debility. And a relapse often takes a worse form. Fighting the onset of the disease —rather than bowing to it with a view of fighting it later—may pave the way for the more severe forms of chest complications which influenza often brings in its train.

If the sufferer, on taking to his bed, displays signs of dragging and thick breathing, or of pain in the side, no time should be lost in sending for the doctor—for influenza sometimes runs like a flame through the strongest system and leads by the shortest routes to pneumonia or pleurisy. Vomiting and diarrhœa are also well-known symptoms of another form of the trouble. Whatever the type of attack, in its severe form influenza brings great debility in its train—it leaves the heart weak. Great emphasis must be laid upon the need here for slow convalescence and regular habits of food and rest.

FOR LISTENERS-IN SOME USEFUL HINTS.

The first thing about a wireless set which the novice must grasp is the fact that receivers are delicate pieces of apparatus and must be regarded as such. It is well to bear this fact in mind, so handle all controls carefully, especially condenser controls. Take care of the valve or valves. Valves are considerably more fragile than any electric globe, and, incidentally, slightly more expensive. It is often the best plan, once valves are inserted in their sockets, to keep them there, as not only do you reduce risk of mechanical breakages, but also valves begin very soon to assume the characteristics of their respective positions in the set. The risk of mechanical damage to a set is slight, but must not be overlooked. As a rule, what happens is the breaking away of some soldered joint. This is a most annoying type of fault, and usually occurs just when visitors arrive. To guard against this, protect the set from any rough usage or sudden jerks, and there should be no fear of trouble of this kind.

Crystal users should always remember that, while a bell circuit or spring mattress as an aerial and the handle of an oven door as an earth will often "work" a set, results will be immensely improved by the installation of a first-class outside aerial and a really good earth. The writer has often listened-in to a loud speaker working off a crystal set, the results being attributable to the efficiency of the aerial and earth.

Turning Up.

In tuning a valve receiver there is really no hard and fast rule to go by. It is just a question of sitting down some evening to pick up stations, and, having heard them, immediately note their positions on the dials of the set. Where several stations are all clustered round a very small section of the tuner scale, it is sometimes difficult to pick up any particular station. The best remedy for that is to get a vernier condenser—that is, one not having more than three plates in all. Connect this across the aerial and earth terminals. This sharpens tuning to a great extent.

Some people find difficulty in telling which is the station that they are listening to. Except on the nights of simultaneous broadcasting, it is usually easy to spot any stations by the advertised programmes. Foreign stations are more difficult to locate, but as a rule the wireless papers give a list of foreign stations and their approximate wavelengths, and one can usually "place" the station from the tuner dial without much difficulty.

The Loud Speaker.

Many listeners who use a loud speaker feel disappointed when making comparisons with a good gramophone. Now this is very unfortunate, and while admitting that the fault often lies in the wireless set itself, tuning also has a great deal to do with it. A great point in the tuning of a valve receiver for loud speaker work is in knowing when to stop increasing the signal strength. Most sets nowadays use reaction in some form or another, and the tendency, as everyone must now know, of these sets is to burst forth into oscillation. Now what happens when you tune up the set is this—that signals increase up to a point; beyond that point the signal strength will still further increase, but a marked distortion creeps in, a sure sign that the set is oscillating. In loud speakers, then, always remember that volume has to be conceded to clarity of tone and distinctness.

And, lastly, remember if your signal strength is not very strong, don't blame the set first. Examine your batteries, or, in the case of a crystal user, don't blame the crystal first. Look rather for a new spot on it, then examine the aerial and earth, and, lastly, examine the tuner for either a fault or inefficiency generally. Take care of headphones. These may easily become demagnetised, and so out of order by a fall or a sharp accidental knock. Finally, to crystal users, remember that crystals are practically all the same, and the results from one are equally as good or bad as the results from any other.

To valve users I would say: Do not knowingly cause your set to oscillate, if not for the sake of other listeners, for your own, because no oscillating set receives purely the wireless transmissions.

BACK TO THE LAND IN BRITAIN

In the most serious moments of national history the native resident of Britain must have his joke and his fun. Usually it is against his own race. The world war could not quench this characteristic. From the moment that the Defence of the Realm Act was made effective it became Dora to the Britisher. In the press, on the stage and public platform, on the streets, everywhere Dora was a topic of song, jest and quip. The comparatively few in Britain who never saw a silver lining during the war, had a hard time. One recalls a solemn-visaged near statesman who, in the days of the Armistice, was trying to explain to a London audience why the Defence of the Realm Act could not be immediately abandoned.

"Ain't that 'ussy Dora gone away yet?" cried someone.

He of the solemn visage began a reiteration of his explanation, to be checked shortly with the wheedling query, "Why don't yer marry th' gal, guv'nor?"

Thereafter a new subject was discussed.

Now the British Government is turning its attention to the question of food production with the view to "arriving at an agreement on the main features of a national agricultural policy." The nation is earnest enough in the matter, but is following its usual custom of mixing humor with seriousness. Critics in other parts of the world, who are not prepared to grant the British people the saving grace, will soon be reading revamps and plagiarisms of these and other British efforts in their own "funnies," and laughing heartily over them.

Food supply is a serious business in Britain, naturally. Not more than eighteen of the forty-three millions of its people are fed on home-grown produce. A sudden complete stoppage for an appreciable time, of the seaborne food supplies would be a gigantic disaster for the nation and the Empire also. No wonder that Britain is considering her own food producing resources as well as those of the Overseas Dominions. Those who know anything of food conditions in Britain during the war will appreciate the latest move.

The farmer had a place of importance in Britain during the world war which he had not attained since the days when agriculture was the nation's greatest industry. There has been more or less fluctuation since. War-time guarantees on prices, and in other ways were withdrawn when peace conditions returned. An immediate decline in an industry which promised revival, was noticeable. Other guarantees were given in 1920, but these were rescinded a few months later because of the country's financial position and the change in conditions generally. Now the decline is more marked. That and the cost of food, which is now being investigated by a strong commission, are among the main causes for the present action.

It is not pretended or hoped by the British Government that the result of the agricultural conference and its recommendations will be an immediate and overwhelming rush back to the vastland. Nor is it the intention that vast acreages should be added to areas now under wheat. The addition of 1,000,000 acres to the land now under cultivation is the modest figure set for immediate attainment. The terms of the government memorandum show that the idea is to foster food production generally, it being pointed out that "land in arable cultivation can, in emergency be diverted to wheat." What is desired is the consideration of the agricultural problem in its widest sense, including the production of "meat of all kinds, milk, butter, cheese, poultry, eggs, fruit and vegetables."

Landowners, farmers, and agricultural workers are to participate in the conference. It will have all the assistance that departments of the government can give in its deliberations.

One comparatively new development of British agriculture, sugar beet, will not need to be discussed at any length. The present government is continuing the policy of its predecessor in subsidizing the manufacture of sugar from home-grown beets. This scheme is to be spread over a period of ten years, and is on a sliding scale. It provides for a minimum price per ton to the growers of sugar beets, and is expected to eventually result in Britain meeting the greater part of its own sugar requirements.

There were several successful beet sugar factories, using home-grown beets, in operation in Britain before the subsidies were brought in. These were a direct outcome of the sugar shortages which at recurring periods caused so much suffering in Britain during the war, especially to old and very young people. So advanced a Socialist as Philip Snowden, in the one chance he had of introducing a budget while Chancellor of the Exchequer in the late Labor Government, was enthusiastic over this idea. It was, he said, one of the biggest things that could0 be done for British agriculture. Not only so, but it would enable half a dozen new factories to be started at once. Some are already under way.

Outside of Britain there is frequently encountered an idea that the British farmer is an antediluvian individual, content to let the rest of the world lead him in the use of modern machinery and methods. True, in a large measure, he clings to the characteristic costume which has been made known in caricature and more serious portrayal the world over. But he does it because he finds it best for the climatic and other conditions under which he labors. He is not lagging in the developments that have marked agriculture, and he applies them with skill to his calling, and to the size of his farm. The plan that are being carried out in Britain for electrical power development on a large scale include the rural districts in their scope.

Some Former Suggestions.

The Baldwin Government's decision to institute action in the matter of agriculture, is the culmination of sustained but not concerted agitation. From all quarters during the past year there have been speeches and resolutions, reminiscent of by-gone "back to the land" campaigns. Fancy's flight has led some folks of an older generation back to the campaigns of budding statesmen who had panaceas for the rehabilitation of rural Britain and the elimination of the slums. "Three acres and a cow" for every head of a family was one of these that was seriously discussed by many for awhile. Paradics. comic songs and jokes had as much to do with its disappearance from the public arena as its impracticability. The better ideas of Rider Haggard, who is more famed as a novelist though a noted agriculturist, and the late General William Booth, have not yet passed out of the realm of serious discussion.

The old proposal that Britain should establish a series of granaries or storehouses to accommodate a six months' supply of grain, has been revived more than once of late. This scheme was at one time reported to be practically assured. The argument that the navy could always keep the trade routes open, killed it. Since the world war it has not been regarded as so fantastic. The basic idea of it is that the wheat supply could be constantly used for immediate requirements, newly arriving supplies taking the place of those depleted so that the total wheat in storage should never fall below the six months' bread supply minimum. Many of those who are also concerned over food supply in war time, argue that this plan would not meet the real problem—that of Britain supplying a much greater percentage than now of her own foodstuffs.

It is not contended by any of the prominent personages or publications addressing themselves to the question, that Britain could produce all the food she needs. Lloyd George has declared that over three hundred and fifty million pounds worth of food is being purchased abroad every year, of which a considerable quantity could be raised at home. The London Times asserts that last year there was a reduction of 400,000 acres in the arable land under cultivation in Britain.

The greatest decline of acreage under wheat in Britain seems to have occurred between 1875 and 1907, and was more than fifty per cent. That period marked a wonderful expansion in British manufacturing, and the lure of steady employment and other attractions of city life had a profound effect on the countryside. The area under grain crop in Britain since 1910 has fluctuated between eight and nine million acres. This compares with about twenty-three million acres in wheat alone in this country. Allowance must be made for the vastly greater size of Canada, but if the Dominion was only growing wheat proportionately to that of Britain there would be no question of export; it would be a matter rather of importing.

Some Problems Involved.

Delicate and intricate problems are involved in any undertaking to increase foodstuff production. About a year ago representatives of the British farming community told the then government that unless some definite plan was adopted to aid the industry, the time must come when they could not afford to raise cereal crops. One cynical commentator says that the only response came some time later in the form of proposed measures to raise the wages of farm laborers. A more recent proposal, advanced by the Baldwin government to devote one million pounds to a plan for aiding the Dominions to improve facilities for marketing their foodstuffs in Britain, has given the farming community there opportunity of renewing its claims for a definite policy of assistance. That is a human interest touch that most people who have any understanding of politics or economics will rather enjoy —barring members of the British cabinet.

It is not without significance that announcement of the agricultural conference appeared simultaneously with statistics showing a shortage in the crops on which the world is dependent and a shrinkage in the arable acreage. The crops are wheat, rye, barley, oats and maize. The acreage devoted to these in 1924 is given in a recent summary as 496,000,000 against 499,000,000 in 1923, and the yield in every case was smaller last year. The situation would be one for serious thought even if the population of the world remained stationary, which is not the fact. The increase is not large; recent estimates say it is only a half per cent. But to cope with that increase there should be an additional two million acres of land under cultivation this year, instead of a prospective further decrease. These are some of the prime factors in the increased demand for and the advancing prices of wheat on the American continent.

The conference comes also at a time when a British Meteorological Department official predicts that 1925 will be the driest year the world has known for a century, and while the British Food Prices Commission is busy with its investigations. The drouth predictions are based upon long observation of solar phenomena. They were made at a moment when Britain was suffering from a succession of rains and floods without a parallel for generations. Naturally the British people seized upon the contrast between the actuality and the promise to make jokes and puns.

STORY OF THE ECLIPSE AS TOLD BY THE CAMERA

The progress of the moon as it crossed between the earth and sun, shutting off the earth's light, is graphically told in these pictures, taken in New York by Bob Dorman and M. J. Ackerman. On the left is the sun in half-eclipse. Then it shown just before total eclipse, which is pictured in the third photograph, when only the corona of light behind the moon could be seen. The fourth photograph was taken just two seconds after total eclipse and is a most unusual one in that it shows the flaring corona with an enormous "prominence," extending into space hundreds of thousands of miles. This "prominence" is shown at the "five o'clock" point, where it shaped into a perfect image of a butterfly. The fifth and sixth pictures show the sun as the eclipse declined, the crescent of light now being in opposite position to that of the start of the eclipse.

VIOLET RAY IS ACTIVE KILLER DISEASE GERMS

Further Development May Make It Effective in Treating Disease.

NEW ERA DAWNS

Scientists Believe Ray May Be Used to Prevent Disease.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Use of the ultra-violet ray as a germ exterminator, found highly effective in an investigation at the United States Bureau of Standards, is regarded by scientists as marking the beginning of a new era in the prevention of disease.

Further development of the idea may make possible its employment in the successful cure or treatment of practically all disease germs, according to Government experts.

The bureau's official statement said:

"The study of the germ-killing action of ultra-violet rays covered the range of wave lengths from just beyond the limit of the visible spectrum down to the shortest wave lengths emitted by a mercury vapor arc in a quartz lamp.

"The shortest waves were found to have the most pronounced and vigorous action being capable when sufficiently intense, of producing death with an exposure of only one second.

Longer Wave Lengths.

"Longer wave lengths required a greater intensity and acted much more slowly; but a killing action was found to result even from waves as long as 265-millionths of a millimeter, which is almost as long as the shortest wave visible to the human eye.

"Prior to this experiment doubt had been expressed regarding the ability of these longer waves to kill bacteria. Bacterium coli communis was the victim of the Governmental tests. According to scientists, this germ is always found in human sewage, or in waters that are polluted and likely at some time to contain typhoid.

Germans Liberated.

"The germs were liberated in a large volume of water, and some of the water was sprayed onto dishes containing a solidified jelly specially prepared to suit the tastes of the bacteria.

"Those germs not killed by the rays increased and multiplied and in a few days formed colonies visible to the human eye. A quartz mercury vapor lamp was used as the source of the ultra-violet rays, screens being interposed to cut off successive spectral ranges of the wave lengths which might cause germicidal action."

To kill germs in one second a 320-watt mercury lamp was used at a distance of six inches, producing the required intensity of the ray. When the intensity was very low the killing action was greatly retarded, according to the results disclosed. In some experiments an exposure of seventy-five to eighty seconds was required. On still lower intensities there was some indication that the bacteria were stimulated instead of being killed.

"Other tests were made to compare the relative value of continuous and intermittent exposures. It was found that the killing effect was proportional to the total exposure, whether this was given all at once or was divided into several short exposures with periods of rest between."

To Prevent Disease.

Properly developed, scientists believe the ultra-violet ray may be used in a wide range of activities looking to prevention or treatment of diseases and prolonging human life.

They pointed out that the rays may be employed in the purification of water, instead of the present filtration process, followed by chlorine or other drug treatment which has the disadvantage of affecting the taste and odor of water. Furthermore, it was shown, the present filtration processes do not always exterminate all bacteria, especially the typhoid germ.

A heavy concentration on swamp lands and other putrid water might have a tendency to eliminate malaria and other fever bacteria which frequently are responsible for disastrous disease epidemics.

All over this big broad land of ours thousands of weak, underweight men are putting on pounds of good healthly flesh with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Charles Henry Denman, of Suffern, N.Y., who was gassed in France, gained 8½ pounds in three weeks. Read what he says:

"One day I heard of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—just about three weeks ago. I got a box and started to take them. Since then I have taken two more boxes, all but a few pills.

The result is wonderful—never since I was gassed have I been so strong and felt so good. I have already gained 8½ pounds.

For weak, run down underweight nervous men, women, children. 60 tablets—60 cents.

Warne Drug Co., McDermid & Jury, and Jas. Lynch sells lots of them. "Get McCoy's, the original and genuine."

WHEN MOON BLOTTED OUT SUN

A great drama of the sky was enac ted Saturday when the moon passed between the earth and the sun—a total eclipse. Here are three pictures showing the partial eclipse an d a fourth picture of how the total eclipse looked to those lucky enough to be able to watch the phenomenon in the northern part of the country.

JELLICOE A DUB, BEATTY A HERO BEATTY A DUB, JELLICOE A HERO

By MILTON BRONNER.

LONDON Jan. 30.—"Beatty was a hero, Jellicoe a dub."

"Jellicoe was a hero, Beatty a dub."

All England's doing it. Naval critics are at it hammer and tongs. Newspapers are warring. Families are divided father against son, brother against brother.

And it's all the fault of a man named Reginald Bacon who would not let sleeping dogs lie and therefore has stirred up the biggest war controversy since America was convulsed by the Sampson-Schley squabble after the Spanish-American War of 1898.

There are several parallels. In 1898 we were at war with Spain and had the Spanish fleet cornered in Santiago, Cuba. In 1916 England was at war with Germany and the German fleet apparently was afraid to venture out in full force from its harbors.

In 1898 Admiral W. S. Schley fought the main action while his superior officer, Admiral W. T. Sampson, was 15 miles away. Sampson came up in the closing phases of the battle and got all the credit from the Government in charge.

The 1916 incident was different. Beatty, in charge of battle cruisers, lost two of his ships and had inflicted practically no losses on the Germans. Then his superior officer, Admiral Jellicoe, came up with the battleships and the tide turned. But it was Beatty and not Jellicoe who got most of the laurels from the Government in charge.

In 1898 Sampson's friends claimed Schley had blundered in his tactics. In 1916 Beatty's friends claimed Jellicoe had blundered in his tactics. In both wars a sharp and bitter public controversy over the matter ensued.

In England Beatty was made an earl, while Jellicoe merely was made a viscount. And Parliament gave Beatty $500,000, while Jellicoe only got half that amount.

Moreover, Beatty remained at home as First Sea Lord of the Admiralty, while Jellicoe went way over to the other end of the world as governor general of New Zealand.

And on the eve of his return to England a measure of justice was done him by making him an earl also. It was thought this New Year peerage conferred by the King would finally settle all disputes.

But that's where Bacon stepped in. He is Admiral Sir Reginald Bacon, one of the most distinguished men in the British navy. During the war he had charge of the famous Dover Patrol, which protected from German submarines thousands of vessels crossing the English channel to and from France.

Bacon has written a book called "The Jutland Scandal" in which he carries the fight right to the Beatty camp.

In it Bacon asserts:

The upper photo shows Earl Beatty, and the lower, Admiral Jellicoe.

FIRST—That the Germans escaped in the Dogger Bank battle through a series of errors made by Beatty.

SECOND—That a serious tactical error on Beatty's part led to a strong battleship squadron not being in action in the first part of the Battle of Jutland.

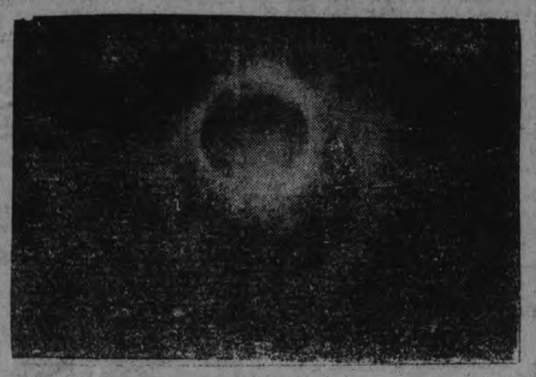
THIRD—That a failure on Beatty's part to keep in touch with the German fleet in this same battle deprived Jellicoe of vital information which might have enabled him to win a crushing victory.

And he concludes his terrific arraignment of 150 pages with this Big Bertha at Beatty and his Government supporters:

"Both Admiral Jellicoe and Admiral Beatty were leaders of men. Admiral Jellicoe possessed the entire confidence of the fleet. Beatty was looked on as a dashing leader, but for some time also as what sailors from their association with eastern waters call a "Makee Learn." His inexperience, like his gallantry, was fully appreciated in the fleet.

"If we take the whole of the above into quiet thought there is little doubt all will echo the short prayer, 'Thank God that Lord Jellicoe commanded the Grand Fleet both before and at the Battle of Jutland.'"

HEAVENLY WEDDING



Perhaps the most unusual view of the eclipse was obtained, not by those in the area of total shadow, but by those in ower New York where the eclipse did not appear quite complete at any moment. When the speck of sunlight was at its smallest it appeared to be as a diamond setting in a brilliant ring. Those who beheld this beautiful phenomenon symbolized it as "the wedding of the moon and the sun." It is shown in this unusual photograph, no explanation for the presence of two circles of light being available.

A TALE OF TWO NECKTIES

(The action takes place in a pile of neckties at a department store bargain counter. The neckties lie about in a state of helplessness as the curtain rises. They have had a hard day and they look it. The First Necktie, a very loud bizarre and opens conversation with the Second Necktie, a plain conservative tie in exceptionally good taste.)

First Necktie: How long have you been here?

Second Necktie: Ever since the sale began.

First Necktie: That's funny. You're a good-looking tie . . . plain, but all right. I should think some of these shoppers would take you.

Second Necktie: That's just it. If I was a crazy looking thing like you with green and pink stripes against an orange background I'd have 'em fighting for me.

First Necktie (clearly offended): Izzat so?

Second Necktie: Do you know the chief drawback I'm up against?

First Necktie: No.

Second Necktie: I'm a necktie any man would be glad to wear. Consequently I'm just the necktie no woman would pick out to send to any man as a gift!

First Necktie: Is it my fault if I'm popular?

Second Necktie: You may be popular now—but wait!

First Necktie: Wait?

Second Necktie: Yes; you won'tbe popular long. After Christmas you'll get an awful jolt, bull-ieve me. Do you know what the greatest hate in the world is?

First Necktie: No. What is it?

Second Necktie: It's the Hate. A Man Feels For Most Christmas Neckties. And you and your gay and gaudy friends will feel it beginningaround Christmas noon.

First Necktie: I nearly got into a nice family a few minutes ago. A swell looking Jenny almost took me but she passed me up for a salmon colored thing with purple and olive dots. For a few minutes I saw a future for me around the neck of a leading citizen.

Second Necktie: The likes of you will never see the neck of a leading citizen unless he was born and raised in some city like Naples.

First Necktie: Is that so?

Second Necktie: You'll be wrapped up in a nice box by some lady with no sense and presented to some gentleman who'll put you away in a bottom drawer. That'll be the last you'll see of him for six months or so and then you'll be dragged out and used to stuff up a leak in a waterpipe, or else given to a barber or a Polish bridegroom.

First Necktie: I may fool you.

Secon dNecktie: Oh you may be picked out by some lady who'll send you to some milk and egg dealer in the suburbs accompanied by a card reading "To Uncle Jeptha with Yuletide Greetings." He won't know any better than to wear you.

First Necktie: Here I go! A woman with a mean look is buying me. So long!

Second Necktie: A woman would have to have a mean look to buy you. Now I'll just nestle down here and forget it. Nobody'll want a plain, effective, conservative necktie in good taste like me until after Christmas!

(The only necktie in the pile that a man would wear heaves a sigh and sinks into a deep disconsolate slumber as the curtain falls, hitting 42 hysterical tie shoppers but unfortunately not injuring any of them fatally).

STARTLING COSTUME.

Toronto Girl in Early Spring Costume Creates a Stir.

TORONTO, Jan. 30. — A rather startling early spring costume made its appearance on the street, worn by an attractive young society girl. It was a costume suit of brown mixed tweed with a lap-over skirt with square-cut "culottes" underneath. "Culottes," by the way, are trousers. These were of brown tweed, cut exactly like a man's, but reaching only to an inch below the knee. The skirt opens to well above the knee when walking or boarding a street car.

DOCUMENTS STOLEN.

Papers Stolen Systematically For Three Years Discovered.

PARIS, Jan. 30 (Canadian Press) —It has just been discovered that confidential reports and documents have been stolen systematically for three years from archives of the reparations commission.

The clerk, Michaut, has confessed that he sold stenographic reports of meetings to American librarians. In his home detectives found many such reports. Michaut was aided by another office employee, who put Michaut in touch with an American named Myers, who paid $500 or $600 for the documents.

UNIONISTS ARE GETTING READY FOR GREAT DAY

June 10 Will See Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational Churches Joined.

BIG CELEBRATION

Spiritual Side of Union to be Stressed in Special Meetings.

TORONTO, Jan. 30—Amid the clamor of controversy on Church Union, and the hustle of voting on the question of non-concurence in congregations, it is apt to be forgotten that the realization of Union is so close at hand, and that in about three months time the United Church of Canada will be both a fact and a factor in this Dominion.

Notwithstanding the withdrawal of several hundred congregations from the Presbyterian Church, the Union will be Dominion-wide in its scope, and the United Church of Canada will consist of some nine-thousand congregations scattered over every part of the country. The combined minisery of the three churches, allowing for non-concurrents will number at least 3,000, in addition to which it will have a staff of about 630 missionaries. The United Church will have a wider missionary program than any one of the separate churches,, it will have mission fields in India, Africa, China, Japan, Formosa, Korea, Trinidad, South America.

Arrangements are already being made for the great consummation of the Union, which, according to the United Church of Canada Act, is to formally take place "In the City of Toronto on the tenth day of June, 1925." Committees are at work on local arrangements, the billeting of delegates, rules and forms of procedure, appropriate order of service, the docket of business, and a whole series of meetings of consecration and inspiration. While the great central consecration service will be held in some large church or hall, similar services will be conducted in all parts of the city and throughout the Dominion. Every effort will be made to make the celebration a time of spiritual uplifting and consecration to Christian service. To this end special prayer services will be held.

Greeting will be brought to the United Church from sister churches all over the world, and it is expected that representatives from Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational Churches in Great Britain and the United States will convey to the General Council messages of congratulation and blessing. The United Church of Canada will have the unique distinction of having a place in the Pan-Presbyterian Alliance, the Methodist Ecumenical Conference and the Congregational Union of the World. Unionists look forward to the coming consummation as the greatest event in the religious history of Canada, if not in the history of Christendom.

The first General Council of the United Church of Canada will be composed of 150 Presbyterians, 150 Methodists, 40 Congregationalists and 10 members of the General Council of Union Churches. These delegates or commissioners have already been appointed by the chief courts of the uniting Churches, and they consist of an equal number of ministers and laymen. One of the first acts of this General Council will be to determine the number and boundaries of conference to be established, and the number of representatives that shall constitute the next General Council, to be convened within a period of two years.

"We have organized a special branch laboratory to specialize in the analysis of all types of beverages. Fifteen dollars a year will protect you and your friends against bad hootch."

UNITED CHURCH STRENGTH MORE THAN EXPECTED

Rev. Dr. Pidgeon Says It Will Be Far Beyond Supporters' Dreams.

ONTARIO IS REBEL.

Reactionary Element in This Province Setting It Against Dominion.

TORONTO, Jan. 30.—The following statement of the convenor of the Joint Union Committee was made last night.

The strength of the United Church of Conada will be far beyond the dreams of its supporters. Out of a total of 9,359 congregations or preaching stations of the three churches forming the United Church of Canada, only 324 so far have voted non-concurrence. Of these, 226 are in the Province of Ontario, which Province will ultimately contain approxinately 3,000 preaching stations within the United Church.

The number of congregations voting non-concurrence in Ontario makes the loss to the United Church appear far greater than it really is. In each such congregation, there is a large minority determined to go with the Presbyterian Church into Union. These include the leading workers and contributors of the congregation, in most cases.

The revolt against the Presbyterian Church is largely confined to Ontario. The reactionary element is strong in certain sections of this province but in so far as their influence goes, they are setting their province against the rest of the Dominion.

East and West are practically a unit in favor of Church Union. Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island are as emphatic in favor of a United Canada religiously as well as politically as are the West and North. No vote will be taken in the Provinces of Manitoba and New Brunswick until after June 10th. These sections will be as strongly in favor of the Union of the churches as their sister provinces. Newfoundland has as yet no legislation.

The vote thus far demonstrates that the United Church of Canada is already a great and Dominion-wide reality, as well as a great ideal. The following table shows the exact situation in each province and each denomination.

NOTED SPEAKER AT KIWANIS LUNCHEON

W. S. Campbell, Formerly of the Local Canadian General Electric Company, Spoke To-day.

Speaking on the subject, "Interdependence of Transportation and Industry,' at the Kiwanis Luncheon today, W. S. Campbell, formerly of this city said: "We owe a great deal to the men who linked the provinces of this dominion together, when they joined the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts with one stretch of railway. At the time of the building of this great railway the government was faced with almost certain failure on every side, but the government stuck to the original project of a Canadian railway, to develop Canadian territory and unite the scattered British provinces into a Canadian nation. If they had not gone through with this scheme financial New York would have run railway lines into our rich west, and shipped all our produce through their own country.

"We need more branch lines, and I believe that if you take this matter up with Mr. Gordon, your representative in the House of Commons and give him time, he will bring results for you. He is recognized to be one of the best mixers to-day in the House of Commons.

"The first parliament assembled in Canada in 1867, and at this time New York had the opinion that Canada would surely fail if they attempted to build a railroad. Through the building of these railways our western provinces have been developed. In 1923 over twenty-two million tons of grain were grown in those provinces. Besides this, over seven million tons of coal were mined. In Canada we have 220 persons for each mile of railroad, while in the United States they have over 400 persons for every mile.

"I say this, Mr. Deputy Speaker, we have put a surer foundation under our nation than the United States has. What we need is more wealth, more wealth means more industry; more industry means more jobs and more jobs means a more contented people," said the speaker. "Transportation has developed our western country. Build those branch lines."

"It can well be said that our national debt is secured by our resources. In the west alone there are 167,000,000 acres of land that can be tilled, and at present there is only about half of this that is being cultivated."

"What would become of Peterboro if there were no C.P.R. or C. N. R. lines connecting this city with other places. Industries can not do without transportation, and transportation can not do without industries," said Mr. Campbell.

President Charles Cooke occupied the chair.

BUBBLE MACHINE BLOWS HUNDREDS

Exhibit of Bubbly Qualities of Fairy Soap in Turnbull Store.

At last it has been discovered; the reason for the song that is still popular, "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles." It's located in the south window of the J. C. Turnbull Company's store and all the children in the city are advised to go and see it, turning out millions of bubbles in an hour. The fairylike things that haven't any substance or shadow, sparkling with irridescent lights, bubble out of a long glass tube and vanish into thin air. A peculiar thing about a bubble formation like this is the demonstrated fact that a match applied to their intangible mass will not go out. It sizzles and makes a fiery way through the fragile bubbles, emerging still alight.

This bubbling-machine, the idea of which was inspired by a view of the Bubble Girls in a Ziegfeld Follies Revue, demonstrates the fine qualities of Fairy Soap. W. T. Plowman, Montreal representative of the Gold Dust Company that is responsible for the Gold Dust Twins, who "do your work" and the "little fairy in your home," the slogan of Fairy soap, also for Sunny Monday laundry soap, has installed the bubbling-machine, with a mechanism that manufactures bubbles from a cake of Fairy soap, turning out millions of bubbles in an hour, and taking two weeks to use up a single cake.

The bubbling qualities of Fairy Soap, its floating propensities, its make-up of ninety per cent. of pure cocoanut oil, are all pointed to with pride by its makers, who also draw attention to the fact that most soaps require hot water to make a lather, while Fairy Soap, no matter how hard and cold the water, still continues to function perfectly.

A special sale of Fairy Soap is being held in the Turnbull store, where the bubbling-machine will also be on view until Saturday evening.

Bankers' Hockey League.

Nova Scotia and Dominion Too Much for Commerce and Toronto.

The Bank of Nova Scotia and Dominion Bank team whitewashed The Commerce and Toronto team with comparative ease last night at Brock Street Rink.

After piling up a nice score of three goals in the first few minutes of the game the Blue-Noses had things pretty much their own way until the final gong.

The shining lights of the Nova Scotia and Dominion Bank Team were Heaney and Black, each netting two counters. Sedgewick in goal also showed his wares to good effect. For the losers Herbison and Baird did some very good individual work, but failure to pass the puck, and too much Sedgewick, had much to do with their defeat. This win gives the Nova Scotia and Dominion Bank Team the championship for this season.

Score— Nova Scotia and Dominion, 4; Commerce and Toronto, 0.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Mr. Editor,—I suppose I should do nothing but congratulate our Reeve on being made Warden, but I wanted to say a few words about a letter he published in the Examiner on January 2. I was away at that time and didn't know about it until some friends mentioned it to me when I got back. The letter starts off with a reference to our township nominations and then gives a lot of minutes of the County Council. I would ask Mr. Rye at the nominations where he was when an $1,800 motion for road superintendent's salary came up on June 23, 1922. He said he didn't know anything about it, and I asked him if he was late for the meeting and some one said he was always late. I took that remark as a joke by the ratepayer. Mr. Rye said he didn't want to take up the time of the meeting but I didn't think the ratepayers were in any great hurry. Mr. Rye's letter says there was no other action on motion of the Council on record than those given in his letter. In that case he could have said that much without a lot of minutes about what Mr. Nicholls, Mr. Anderson and others said. Anyway, I don't think motions that do not get a seconder are written in the minutes. I wouldn't have referred to Warden Rye's letter only those who mentioned it to me said that it wasn't me he was hiting at. It was published on January 2 just before the elections in some of the townships. Surely our Reeve wasn't pulling the trigger for somebody else.

JOHN McINTOSH.

BETTER BUSINESS SYSTEMS.

To the Editor of Examiner.

Sir,—It is often urged that Church Union is good business, that what the churches need is better business methods. Yes, that's what business itself often needs. It is what the Home Bank needed badly. It is what the forty odd failures in Canada per week need. But business methods are good only where there is good business. All the methods in the world will not even keep the wolf from the door. It is the persuasion in the minds of customers that a particular shop is the place to go to. That idea is kept in mind by the quality of the goods, not by the wonderful new labor-saving business methods employed. The truth is that churches have been run on business lines altogether too much. The main idea became business instead of religion, and they failed. The little old meeting house in the faraway spots were closed first. The people who built them and kept them going had died and left no successors capable of doing their work. They were all away learning the new business ways to do everything and had no time—or disposition—to do it. The meeting houses having closed, it was only a matter of time until the big churches began to close—the big churches where all the business methods are. To prevent closing an appeal for Union is made—to save money. Pretty poor successors to the old-timers, you will say. Well, we must have Union or collapse. We must raise or save money, somehow. But what was it, my friend, that enabled half the present population to keep going double the number of churches? Faith. That, of course, went out when pulpit entertainments and entertaining lectures in the pulpit came in and fancy music. They brought the crowds, but not the money. Get back to where you were. That is the remedy. Poetry cannot be commercialized. Love cannot be commercialized. Faith cannot be commercialized. You have got the wrong idea. Strange as it may seem, it is you who is wrong. There are some things, and those always the supremest and best, which business has no more to do with than it has with making the genius of Shakespeare. Money and sane methods are necessary and wise. Food is more so. But who could found a church on a barrel of pork? You may save money—you can save more money by quitting altogether—but money can't save you. Union is a confession of failure of disbelief in the old faiths, an attempt to impose "something just as good" upon an uneffecting and unbelieving public which thinks that true religion consists in doing what you please so long as you say that it is the best you can do. That is not Christianity. It may be a sort of religion, but it is not Christianity. It is a form of modernism which, like the modernism of the critics, is trying to throw out the old religion and to establish a new one in its place.

Take care the new church does not go the way of the Home Bank. Business methods won't save anything. It is the intangible something called faith or honesty behind that is necessary. The rest may be necessary also, but that is easy. Don't exaggerate its importance. Don't. It is fatal. READER.

TO ST. PAUL'S PEOPLE.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I would like to address a few words to the members of St. Paul's Church who have not already cast their votes for or against Union. I have gone in and out of St. Paul's Church almost every Sunday for nearly fifty years, and love it more than I can tell you, and do so want to see this great church of ours go forward into Union with the other churches fulfilling the mission God intends her to fulfill, that of saving souls for His kingdom. Men and women of St. Paul's, do not let people who are opposing Union and wrecking our church if they succeed persuade you that they are right. Think of our church a unit by itself, an almost dismantled church, or think of it united with the other churches, filled with hearts glowing with love for our Master, glad and thankful that we, by entering Union, are helping to give the Gospel to men and women, and especially boys and girls, in this Canada of ours, as well as those in heathen lands. Patriotism would prompt me to vote Union, leaving my Christian duty out of the question altogether. — Yours very sincerely,

An Old Member of St. Paul's.

SOME FACTS

A Certain Cynicism Concerning "Sales" Has Developed in the Public Mind

ONE READS across the front of a store:—"Come in! We are being forced to the wall", or "Goods slaughtered", "Everything cut in two"—and rushing to the rescue, one discovers a peaceful array of stock, the lowest figure a mere figure of speech—nothing being "slaughtered", "cut in two", butchered" or "sacrificed".

If you are among the disillusioned concerning most "Sales", you are invited to come to and investigate with an open mind, the prices submitted.

Barries' Ltd. Fur Sale

You will find the Original Prices Marked on the Ticket and we Quote the Reduced Price so that the Actual Saving is Apparent

Notwithstanding anything you may be led to believe OUR HOME MANUFACTURED STOCKS OF FURS ARE UNSURPASSED for intrinsic worth and value. They are well made, carefully selected merchandise, which we guarantee as represented, and have been reduced as represented.

We do not offer the "sightly" looking garments made specially for "Sales" ,never worth more at any time than the so-called "Sale" prices asked—MARKED UP TO CREATE THE IMPRESSION OF ENORMOUS REDUCTIONS, "Cuts" that if bonifide, mean one of several things; either an altogether unreasonable profit in the first place, or old, out-of-date styles or garments made of old "stagey" skins, impaired, unsatisfactory or low grade in quality, brushed and made up to look well.

Our stock of Furs is not being "cut in two", our salesmen are not being "slaughtered" but we are selling the best value Furs in Canada, because we are selling GOOD FURS, home-made, backed up by a life time's experience and doing it on a magnitude sufficient to place us at the forefront in our line.

Herriot's Statement Denied By Newspaper

ROME, Jan. 30 (United News).—The Catholic newspaper Osservatore Romano has sharply denied the statement of Premier Herriot, that the Pope requested the late Woodrow Wilson to withhold foodstuffs, arms and ammunition from the Allies during the war.

Herriot, the paper says, made such a statement in a speech before the Chamber last week, "quoting a previous declaration of the French historian, Pernot."

"This is a serious charge, a responsible historian should not have raised it without proof," the paper says. "It has already been proved that the charges is libellous. Now the Holy See issues a categorical denial of it."

The paper denied the truth of Herriot's entire arraignment of the Vatican as pro-German during the war.

Probably she dreamed. But she was never quite sure of it, because if it began as a dream it ended as something that really happened. There was a rhythmic throbbing in her ears, and as she came slowly and reluctantly to consciousness it grew steadily louder. There was a mechanical regularity about it that reminded her of the windmill at the Bar-M, but she realized an instant later that she was not in her own home. And it wasn't a windmill, either; it was more like an engine. Her eyes were blinking now. Why, it was an automobile!

Sally uncurled herself and straightened up in the big chair. If Henry Williams had resurrected that flivver, if he had found that wheel, if he had been in a fight with Charley McSween—well, then, he was going to have some first-class trouble on his hands. Her ears were sharper now; she was completely awake. She listened a second or two longer. No; it was not the flivver. It was a different kind of an engine, more orderly and dignified—wealthier.

She leaned forward and pushed aside a corner of the curtain. The thing that made the noise had just come to a stop outside. Sally stared at it with round eyes.

"Why, I believe—Oh, it is!"

She flipped out of the chair with the sudden speed of a cat and raced in the direction of the kitchen.

"They've trailed us!" she gasped, as she ran.

CHAPTER VIII.
Hiding Out

As Sally charged into the kitchen by way of the pantry, the Wreck was coming in through the door that opened on the yard. He stared at her in plain surprise; he did not know she could run so fast.

"What's the hurry?" he asked, mildly.

"We're trailed!"

"Trailed? What do you mean?"

"Have they seen you?" she panted.

"Who? What are you talking about? I haven't seen anybody but some horses down in the corral."

"Well, we're trailed all right, Henry Williams. They're out in the front now."

"Who's out in front?"

"The people you stuck up—the big car!"

The Wreck lifted his eyebrows, looked thoughtful for an instant, then began squaring his shoulders.

"Oh, all right," he said. "We'll stick 'em up a aim."

Sally groaned.

"We've got to get out of here," she said sharply. "We've got to make a getaway. We'll get a couple of horses down at the corral before they see us. You'll just have to ride."

It was a despairing thing to contemplate the Wreck on horseback, but it seemed the only chance.

"Oh, I can ride," he said. "I can ride anythin'. Only it's easier to stick 'em up. "We'll take their car!"

Sally shook her head angrily.

"No, you idiot!" she cried. "We'll take horses, if we get a chance at them. Hurry!"

She had seized him by the hand and was dragging him in the direction of the door when in walked Charley McSween. Sally stopped and eyed him appraisingly. If the Wreck insisted on whipping him, this seemed to be the chosen time. And if it was necessary, she would help.

"I was just lookin' for you," said Charley, addressing the Wreck. "I want a hand with some baggage outside."

"Huh?" inquired the Wreck.

"Baggage," repeated Charley. "The boss is here."

Sally and the Wreck exchanged a slow glance. Then she pinched his fingers tightly, and he knew it was meant to be some sort of a signal.

"Where are your men? Can't they handle baggage?" she demanded.

"The boys ain't here, ma'am. So I'm askin' him," with a nod toward the Wreck.

"Well, my husband doesn't handle baggage."

Again she pinched the Wreck's fingers.

"What's the reason he don't handle baggage?" inquired Charley. "Ain't it dignified?"

"He's—he's not strong," said Sally.

The Wreck began to squirm and look truculent.

"I admit he ain't exactly powerful lookin', ma'am. But a while back he said he was goin' to lick me, so I thought maybe he could rassle a couple of trunks without sustainin' any personal damage."

"No; you'll have to get somebody else," said Sally.

Charley made no effort to conceal the disgust in his soul. He inspected the Wreck from his horn-rimmed spectacles to his shoes, following the examination with a gesture of contempt.

"Seein' as your wife won't let you," he remarked, "I suppose me and the chauffeur 'll manage."

The Wreck never knew how he managed to maintain any self-control, but he blamed it all on Sally. All he did was to shout:

"If you think I'm a baggage-smasher, you just wait and see what happens to your dishes."

Charley went out with a remark to the effect that he did not have to pay for the dishes. The Wreck and Sally stared at each other.

"You—you stuck up the owner of the place!" she wailed.

"He was a hog," said the Wreck, with fine simplicity.

He was not worrying about the owner; his mind was occupied with plans to revenge himself for the insults of Charley McSween.

"Of all the awful luck," continued Sally, in an awed whisper. "To think that we walked right into his hands. I knew there was something queer about this place the minute I took a look around the house."

"Well, what do we do now? Swipe the horses?"

Sally considered, then shook her head slowly.

"No; I think we'd better wait now. I don't believe it's quite as bad as I thought. You see, they didn't trail us here, after all. They were coming, anyhow. Probably they don't know we're here; if they did, we'd have heardof it before this. We've got to figure this out now—carefully. The main thing is to keep them from seeing you. That's why I wouldn't let you go out to help with the baggage."

He was not a good hand at playing a waiting game, and said so. He was still in favor of going out and taking the big car, a feat which presented to him no considerations of dismay. But Sally sharply ordered him to put the idea out of his head.

The situation bewildered her, but she did not think it had yet reached a crisis. Nobody in the car had seen her; it was very unlikely that they even knew their hold-up man had a girl with him. So long as she could keep the Wreck out of their sight and as long as the flivver remained locked up in a shed, there was still a chance to figure something out. But how utterly exasperating it was! Just when she was satisfied that they had blundered into a safe hide-out, she discovered that they had really walked into the lion's den.

"The thing to do, of course, is to keep them from seeing you," she said. "You'll have to stay in the kitchen all the time, I'm afraid. I don't suppose they'll come in here."

"They're not going to coop me up in a kitchen," he growled. "Besides, it was dark last night, anyhow. They didn't get a good look at me. I had my cap pulled down."

Charley came into the kitchen again. "We've got that baggage in, thanks to nobody that washes dishes," he said. "And now, ma'am, I'll have to ask you to hustle dinner. They're real hungry."

"They'll have dinner just as soon as I can get it," said Sally, promptly.

The Wreck regarded her with a look of amazed disappointment. Was she going to turn to and cook for a hog? It was enough to be drafted as cook for an unknown, but to do chores for your enemy was humiliation. He was about to speak when she stopped him with a look.

"Seems they didn't get any regular breakfast, except crackers, which they had with 'em," explained Charley. "That leaves 'em kind of hungry. They got hung up on the road. In fact, they got held up."

"You don't mean it!" exclaimed Sally, who was digging into the flour barrel, as a first step in the direction of making biscuits.

"Oh, it don't seem like it was serious, ma'am. That is, there wasn't anybody got shot. Feller just took watches and valuables and left 'em flat without any gas."

Sally ventured a look at the Wreck. He seemed to be curiously elated.

"It's been done before," said Charley, who was slightly bored. "It ain't anything to what they used to do. Only, the boss is pretty well stirred up, which maybe is natural enough. He comes from the east, where they don't know anything about such things."

The Wreck was standing near a window, polishing his spectacles. It was Sally's first conscious glimpse of him without the horn rims. He gave her a swift impression of being another person. But there was no time to study him; Charley was too interesting.

"Who is the boss?" she asked, trying to be indifferent.

"His name is Underwood," said Charley. "He's from New York. It's funny the way those New Yorkers buy themselves places that take such a pile of travellin' to get at. And he don't come here oftener than once a year. This time he drove all the way. It don't sound reasonable, but he did. He's got his boy and girl with him. I expect he'll stay a few weeks.

"His bein' from New York is why I was so particular about the cookin'. I had Chinks here last year and they did real well. So I went and got another pair this summer; but, as I told you, the boys got kind of juvenile with 'em and they lit out. It seems that a Chink expects you to take him serious. It beats hell."

"The boss must have money," suggested Sally.

"Yes, ma'am; he's lousy with it. He raises fancy cattle, only that ain't the way he made his money. He took it from somebody in Wall Street. But there ain't any finer cattle in Montana. They don't know how he made his money. They don't care. I can't say that I care anything myself. I'm liberal in my views. If I were you, ma'am, I'd sort of give 'em plenty to eat, but I'd make it look as much like New York as I could."

"Oh, I'll give them lots," said Sally. "Don't you worry, old——"

It slipped half way from her lips—"old timer." It was awfully hard to play tenderfoot when Charley was around. But Charley gave no sign that he noticed anything.

"That's right, ma'am; feed 'em liberal and fancy. I can see you're goin' to make an awful hit with the boys."

He went out again, satisfied that dinner was under way and that Sally would be a credit to his discrimination in cooks. She was flying around the kitchen like a marionette on wires, attending to three or four things at once, but without the least trace of confusion.

"Poke that fire up, Henry; put a lot of wood on it and get it going. I want a hot oven. There's a pile of wood outside the door. Fill the kettle over at the sink pump and put it on. I've got fifty things to do, and you've got to help with some of them. Better put your apron on, too; you'll get all mussed up if you don't."

The Wreck went about his task with a scowl.

"The big lying hog," he said. "I never touched their valuables and watches."

"They're just excited," explained Sally, as she hunted for a rolling-pin. "People always exaggerate. Charley doesn't suspect us, anyhow, so there's that much gained. Don't fill the kettle too full; it'll boil over."

"I'm not. I'll be hanged if I'd break my neck cooking for them."

"That's nothing. I've cooked for lots of people. Besides, we're stalling for time. We're going to give them the best meal we know how."

"Chinamen's work!"

"It would be a good thing for us if we were Chinamen," said Sally, blandly. "Then we'd have a complete alibi."

4 out of 5 are victims

The law of averages is immutable. Dental statistics prove that four out of every five over 40—and thousands younger, too—are marred by Pyorrhea. Do you want to escape?

It takes healthy gums to keep healthy teeth

Bleeding gums are Nature's first warning of Pyorrhea. Then they begin to recede, lose that rich, pink color. Disease-breeding poisons collect in pus pockets and often drain through the entire system.

If used in time and used consistently, Forhan's will prevent Pyorrhea, or check its progress—something ordinary tooth pastes are powerless to do. It contains just the right proportion of Forhan's Astringent (as used by the dental profession in the treatment of Pyorrhea). It is safe, efficient and pleasant tasting. Even if you don't care to discontinue your favorite dentifrice, at least start using Forhan's once a day.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

Struggle in England is Not Strife Between Ideals.

SEEK ONE END.

LONDON, Jan. 30. — (Canadian Press).—"What is going on in England is not so much a struggle between ideals," said Premier Stanley Baldwin, in a speech here last night, "as a struggle between men to achieve the ideals which are common, more or less, to all thinking men who wish their country well."

"I think one of the difficulties which Labor leaders must have to contend with is that while to a great extent their members of Parliament are perhaps more closely in touch with the harsher realities of life than are the members of any other party, yet in their speeches and proposed remedies they seem to be far more remote from the real problems than the members of other parties. We find that men who talk most freely of universal brotherhood of man talk about it before they have any real conception of it.

"It is essential that brotherhood at home should be attained before we can strive successfully for that wider brotherhood which we desire as much as the members of the Labor party."

FINDS VANCOUVER CANADA'S OLDEST

Mrs. Snowden Thinks Canadian Weather "Perfectly Lovely—So Bracing, Y'know."

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 30. — Canada's rigorous climate may be cold for Canadians, but it does not bother Mrs. Philip Snowden in the least, she said in an interview here just prior to her departure for the East on the Canadian Pacific flier, the Toronto express. "I think the Canadian weather is perfectly lovely," she said, "so bracing. I have never found Canada cold. I shivered a little in Vancouver, but that is because the climate is so much like that of England. It was raining a little while on the coast, and the misty dampness of the Pacific winter made me almost homesick for England." It is hard to talk about the West. The wonderful expanse of prairie and the magnificent beauty of the Rockies left me nearly breathless. I still feel rather stunned when I think of them. The prairies I think are Canada's greatest heritage. It is really thrilling when speeding through the West to watch them rolling away in the distance and think of the millions who feed each year from these lands. Prairie people possess some subtle quality that no other people possess. They seem so open and untrammelled. It is something they have gained from the country they live it, I suppose. It is certainly a privilege to know them.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

Harvey's Greater Minstrels which comes to the Grand Saturday Jan. 31st, matinee and night, is one of those rare attractions that seem to improve with age. It has made its success without any help from this or that star. It is repeating its grand triumph of the past years and fills the theatres nightly with wildly enthusiastic audiences with its wholesome entertainment, always ringing with cheers and tumultous applause. Mr. Harvey claims to have the best company this season he has ever assembled, numbering fifty people, traveling in all steel Pullman cars built especially to accommodate the company and its paraphernalia. The wardrobe, scenery and performance is entirely new this season.

AT THE CAPITOL.

CARTER THRILLER SCHEDULED FOR LOCAL SHOWING

"The Cyclone Rider," Staged by Thomas Buckingham, Promises Many Sensations.'

Remember how you were thrilled last year by "The Eleventh Hour" and "The Arizona Express"?

Well, get ready to have the same pleasure in double or triple measure.

Lincoln J. Carter, creator of thrilling super-plots, has written another one for William Fox, called "The Cyclone Rider," which is at the Capitol to-day and Saturday.

This picture is a 1925 high-speed melodrama and contains a dazzling automobile race which will set your spine a tingling and your flesh a creeping. It is a roaring race for girl and gold and Reed Howes, as Jim Kent a young automobile racer, shows you how to step on the gas. Alma Bennett has the feminine lead.

William Bailey, villain par-excellent of the screen is seen in the role of Gordon Trask, a leader of the Underworld.

Among the things the hero is called upon to do are climbing the skeleton framework of a sky-scraper dashing madly through the city street with his racer going full speed, leaping across a ten-foot gap of water in his car to a moving ferry-boat and dashing like mad under the nose of a speeding express train In fact, every move Jim makes, would in ordinary life be considered a narrow escape from death.

Thomas Buckingham, the director, knows how to put thrill in a picture and he is reported to have outdone himself in this one. Others in the cast playing important roles are Evelyn Brent, Margaret McQuade, Charles Conklin, Ben Deeley and Frank Beal.

AT THE ROYAL.

"TWO SHALL BE BORN" PLEASES AUDIENCE WITH ROMANCE, THRILLS AND ADVENTURE.

Capable Cast of Stage and Screen Favorites Enact Roles in Picturization of Popular Novel by Marie Conway Oelmer.

For an interesting evening of entertainment where intense dramatic situations and strong love interest is desired, "Two Shall Be Born," an adaption of Marie Conway Oelmer's novel of the same name which was shown at the Royal Theatre yesterday, may be recommended.

The story is woven around the poem of two individuals speaking foreign tongues, born upon opposite sides of the globe, being brought together by Fate and ultimately married. Around this theme a fascinating story, with action laid for the most part in New York, has been woven. There are scenes in the Prague with secret treaties, spies, family jewels and diplomatic commissions, which savor of romance, adventure, intrigue and mystery; but serve principally to bring the characters from the Prague to New York, where a government agent is waiting to receive the documents.

In New York the action centres around the son of a financial magnate, who refuses to marry the girl of his father's choice and breaks away from family ties. He becomes a traffic policeman. The introduction of this element furnishes opportunity for interesting street scenes, dramatic incidents and brings the girl of the Prague into contact with the New York youth. In New York there is the background of Central Park, the interior of one of the large telephone exchanges, police stations, the ambulance corps of Bellevue Hospital and numerous street scenes that have been familiar through news items and works of fiction.

There are humorous moments in the production which offset the high tension of the dramatic sequences and the whole makes a fabric of character study that will appeal to those who enjoy analyzing life and seeking the causes which produce certain effects. The characters and action are true to life and the whole furnishes an evening's entertainment which will be considered as well spent.

The cast includes: Marya Jadwiga Vuleski, Jane Novak; Brian Kelly, Kenneth Harlan; Janet Van Wyck, Sigrid Holmquist; Dominisk Kelly, Frank Sheridan; Baron Von Rittenheim, Hermann Lieb; Count Florian Victor Ladislaus, Fuller Mellish; Wenceslaus, Joseph Burke; Aunt Honora Kelly, Blanche Craig; Franciszka, Joseffa de Bok; Widow Callaghan, Catherine Evans; Hund, Walter James; Colette, Zyllah Inez Shannon; Kosciusko, H. Cooper Cliffe.

ANDY GUMP AT HIS FUNNIEST IN "WEST BOUND."

Andy Gump is causing lots of laughs at the Royal, to-night and Saturday, in "West Bound," his newest comedy. Andy as a cowboy is as funny as they make 'em.

Another clever "Sweet Sixteen" comedy, "When Love is Young," and Wm. Duncan in "The Fast Express," are among the shorter features on the Royal program now playing.

FORTUNE IN CLOTHES.

During the filming of "Born Rich" at the Biograph Studios in New York City watchmen sat, day and night, in front of a door. The reason for this precaution was that behind the door there were gowns and other feminine finery that represented a total cost of $15,000.

Owing to the fact that Hughes Cornell's story had a background of New York social life, it was necessary to spend such an immense sum on costumes to achieve an air of splendor and luxury in keeping with the settings. The costumes were worn by Claire Windsor and Doris Kenyon, and to prevent them from being stolen a guard was kept outside the wardroom twenty-four hours a day.

"Born Rich" will be at the Royal Monday.

AT THE REGENT

GREAT TRICK RIDING BY BUCK JONES.

A new high record for daring horsemanship is hung up by Buck Jones, the popular western in "The Desert Outlaw," the newest William Fox offering which will star Buck at the Regent Theatre to-day for a run of 3 days.

"Handcuffed horsemanship" is the sensational trick riding novelty which Buck Jones flashes before the astounded eye. It's the greatest riding of Buck's long hard-riding career—a stellar performance. And there's still a greater thrill in store when Buck, still handcuffed, rides the brake beam of a railroad car, and at the risk of his life, ingeniously frees himself from the handcuffs.

The bully action plot of desert love and outlawry, written by Charles Kenyon, was directed by Edmund Mortimer. Evelyn Brent is Buck's little leading lady, and the distinguished cast includes DeWitt Jennings, William Haynes, Claude Payton, William Gould and Bob Klein.

FENELON FALLS WIN DISTRICT CUP ROUND FROM CAMPBELLFORD

Skips Cole and Moore Both Defeated by the Northern Town's Rinks.

THREE BIG ENDS

Fenelon Falls curlers were declared District Cup winners of Group No. 2 here yesterday as a result of their victory over the two Campbellford rinks who downed Peterboro representatives in the first round of the District Cup games played at the Curling Rink here on January 22nd.

Although Fenelon Falls boasts two clever teams, they came within a hair's breadth of being put out of the race yesterday. Aided greatly by Lady Luck the Northerners piled up 16 points in the last three ends, which not only won them the laurels, but set up a record which has never before been equalled on Peterboro ice. Fenelon Falls will now go to Toronto and compete for the Ontario championship.

In the first game, R. H. Cole's rink from Campbellford met defeat at the hands of A. J. Gould's rink of Fenelon Falls to the tune of 25 stones to 18. Moore made a strong bid for the second game against G. F. Vicars of Fenelon Falls, but he received the same dose as his partner Cole, when he took the small end of a 20 to 15 score. The final score was Campbellford 33, Fenelon Falls 45.

The following is the personnel of the rinks:

KNOTTY LEE NOT DEPENDING ON PETERBORO TO JOIN HIS CIRCUIT

"Pro" League Promoter Eager to Line Up Belleville and Kingston Teams.

LIKES KINGSTON

(Special to the Examiner)

KINGSTON, Jan. 30.—"I feel sure that Kingston can support a team in the Ontario-Quebec League," said Knotty Lee, who was in the city Thursday in connection with having Kingston put at team in this new baseball league. He is also endeavoring to get Belleville to enter a team.

Knotty stated that he was very optimistic about the two cities being in the "pro" class this season and declared that he had no doubt that Kingston would be among the six teams. He stated Belleville was assured of entering the league but he did not figure much on Peterboro joining up. He pointed out that it was an out of the way place for teams to get into and did not think that Peterboro would come through with a team this season anyway for the Ontario-Quebec League.

"I am not worrying about the money end of it as far as Kingston is concerned but my chief aim here is to get a site for a ball park," said Lee. "I am quite confident that Kingston will be in the Ontario-Quebec League and I am sure that a "pro" team in this district can be supported."

Mr. Lee said that it would cost three thousand dollars a month for salaries. The teams would play every day and would be home a week and away a week. In the league would be Kingston, Belleville, Ottawa, Quebec, Three Rivers and Montreal.

"What about Kingston and Belleville and the C.O.B.L." Mr. Lee was asked. "They would drop out of the C.O.B.L." replied Knotty. He stated that there were only about four players of the local team that he could use on his "pro" team, and he would have to dig up some more players from universities and other centres.

"I feel sure that Kingston can support a team in the Ontario-Quebec League", stated Mr. Lee, and if I can get the site here everything will be O.K.

Knotty will be here until Saturday and in the meantime he will interview baseball men and try to come to some arrangement with Queen's for the Athletic Grounds. Knotty is quite struck on this site for a ball park and believes it would be an ideal place.

HAVELOCK WON FROM HASTINGS

Trent Valley League Game Ended 6 to 2 on Snowy Ice.

AT HAVELOCK.

HAVELOCK, Jan. 30. — A fast game of hockey was played here, last night, between Havelock and Hastings, although it snowed during the whole of the game. Havelock started out in great style and were rewarded, by Doug. Brennan making one of his great rushes the whole length of the ice and scoring a good tally. This wakened the whole of the Havelock team up and it was not long till Haveock through a nice piece of combination scored again through C. Brennan. After the puck had been centred again Hastings made one or two spurts, but nothing availed from this, and then Doug. Brennan made another grand rush and scored again making it 3-0 at the end of the first period. Snow bothered the players quite a lot and after the boys had cleaned off the ice the second period started and Havelock were out for goals and by pretty combination play Frank Pollock, commonly known as "Hornet" scored the 4th tally. Then Hastings scored through L. Hill and that ended the scoring for the second period, but all the time Havelock were in the Hastings net and their net guardian was doing some nice work and saved his team from a big defeat.

When time was called for the second period the game stood at 4-1. The last period was all bombardment and Havelock should have scored at least 5 more tallies, but the Hastings goal-tender was not caught napping, although Rugs Wright went through and got a nice counter. Wright could not get going very soon on account of the heavy ice, but when he did wake up he showed what hockey was, and how it should be played. Then after end to end play Hastings scored another after a scrimmage, but they never looked like winners. Havelock got another tally through Doug. Brennan, who had been playing a great game all through, and if it had been good ice instead of so much snow, altogether likely Havelock would have run up a record score, but no more scoring took place, and the final came with Havelock winners of a good clean game by the score of 6-2. Credit must be given to Mr. Will Jackson, of Peterboro, for the able way in which he handled the game. There was a goodly number of fans out in spite of the cold snowy night and they got their money's worth.

Havelock is now in the running for championship.

GOULDING SENT TO SANITARIUM

Examination Revealed Serious Heart Affection by Attempted "Come Back."

NEVER RACE AGAIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(Canadian Press).—George Goulding, famous Canadian walker, who was forced by a breakdown to withdraw from competition on the eve of his attempted comeback Wednesday night against Ugo Frigerio of Italy and Willie Plant of the United States, was sent to a sanitarium yesterday.

Physicians who examined Goulding confirmed the announcement at the Millrose A. A. meet said that it would have been dangerous for the veteran to have competed. Their examination showed Goulding's heart had been seriously affected by his attempt to come back after nearly a decade of idleness, and also confirmed the fact that Goulding will never be able to race again.

Goulding's breakdown came as a startling surprise, although he had shown in a handicap race Tuesday night that he was not up to the form he possessed when in his prime. He had been in training at his home in Vancouver, B. C., for some time, and reports of his trials were that he had recovered the speed that carried him to many world's records and the Olympic championship in 1912.

CHARLEY WHITE QUITS THE RING

One of Benny Leonard's Famous Rivals Announces His Retirement.

A LONG CAREER

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(Canadian Press).—Following the example set by Benny Leonard, the champion of the lightweight division, Charley White, English by birth but long time resident of Chicago, one of Leonard's foremost rivals for years, yesterday announced his retirement from the ring through his manager, Ike Dorgan.

White, who plans to devote his future to business in Chicago, leaves the ring with a record of having fought eleven champions in bantamweight, featherweight and lightweight ranks in a career begun in 1906. Record books credit him with having engaged in 181 fights, of which 61 were knockout victories.

One of White's most notable encounters was with Benny Leonard in 1906 at Benton Harbor, Mich. White was knocked out in the ninth round of a terrific battle after he had sent Leonard through the ropes with one of his famous left hooks and come close to winning the lightweight title.

YDE DENIES SAYING "HIGHER-UPS" FIXED

No Immunity for O'Connell, State Investigator Announces.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(Canadian Press).—Leslie M. O'Connor, secretary to Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis and Cozy Dolan, former coach of the New York Giants, who has been barred from baseball, were the principals Thursday in the State's investigation into the attempted bribery of Heinie Sand, shortstop of the Philadelphia National League Baseball Club, during a game in this city last season.

Jimmy O'Connell, Giant outfielder in that contest, confessed that he offered Sand $500 if he would "not bear down," and with Dolan went out of the national game forever. Yesterday, O'Connell's attorney wired to Assistant District Attorney Brothers that his client would not come east to aid him in the investigation unless immunity was promised. Such a course is impossible at this time, Mr. Brothers replied.

Emil Yde of the Pittsburgh Pirates, one of the leading pitchers of the 1924 season, yesterday sent in full a denial that he had stated that there had been talk among players regarding the "fixing" of the "higher-ups." It was in the form of a transcript of the correspondence he had with the Commissioner.

ANOTHER FAN URGES TRIP ORGANIZATION

Suggests Meeting be Called And Rooters Get Together.

The following letter signed "Fan" lacked a personal signature but for obvious reasons the omission may be overlooked for the sake of the cause it advocates:

Sporting Editor, Examiner:

Re discussion of Rooters' Club for the Peterboro Senior team, I think that this should be organized at once. While we cannot expect our Mayor to be the regular leader in all activities he would be the one to call a public meeting and the club be organized. Officers or leaders could be chosen and probably representatives from the L.O.L., Belmont Club, K. of C., and such organizations would attend. Thereafter any rehearsals I'm sure could be held in the different halls or club rooms and it certainly would weld a good community spirit.

The enthusiastic members could bring in suitable parodies on popular songs and when passed on they could be printed in the paper and everyone use them at the game.

Sincerely hope immediate action will be taken along the above lines, and would be pleased to see your comments added to the above suggestion.

Yours truly,

FAN.

HEWITSON WILL REFEREE GAME WITH AURA LEE

Good Ice and Big Crowd Expected for Senior Fixture To-night.

PETES DETERMINED.

Blue and White Squad Had Best Practice of Season Last Night.

Everything is set for to-night's senior O.H.A. game at Brock street rink between Aura Lee and Peterborough, and with good ice assured and both teams at full strength, the fixture looms up as one of the best of the season.

The Petes are out to show home fans the kind of hockey that captured the admiration of Toronto enthusiasts. The blue and white had their best practise of the year last night and they are going into to-night's game with a determination that was missing a week ago, when they tackled Parkdale.

Needless to say there will be plenty of the same kind of stuff accompanying Aura Lee, too, for Marsden's squad are a bunch of fighters who make every game a hard fought struggle. Just how the wily Aura Lee manager will line his squad up will not be known until to-night. Moore will be in gaol and Jack Cain on the defence, but it is not certain whether Walker or Tracey Shaw will team up with him. Shaw, if not used on the defence, will likely be at centre, with Bond and Burke on the wings, with the subs chosen from Morris, Clayton, Deniord and Walkem.

The Petes will have their regular line-up in action.

Bobby Hewitson, of Toronto, has been given the refereeing assignment and the game will get under way sharp at 8.30 o'clock.

This is the last home game scheduled until February 16th, when Varsity will be here for the final game in the group list.

DOUBLE LEFT IS VILLA'S WINNING WEAPON

Hooks to Body and Head With Same Movement Surprising to Opponent — Philippine Fighter Free Spender.

Color! Pancho Villa has plenty of it. Action! The little brown man from the Philippines teems with it. Couple these two qualities in the betting and you have his formula, the why and wherefore of his standing as the world flyweight champion. Because he is eternally on the aggressive and because he hits faster with a left hand than any little man the game has yet produced, Villa deserves to rank with the elite.

Like most fighters who get anywhere, Villa's best weapon is his left. Let him tell you about it, and note carefully, please, the writer's faithful adherence to the native dialect.

"My best punch? They is two f them. It is what you call the double left. First I hook to the body, and then with the same movement I hook to the jaw."

Villa knocked out the aged Johnny Buff with a double left. That was the fight that put him in the fancy pictures and brought about the subsequent match with Jimmy Wilde, the outcome of which made a Far East athlete a champion ring man for the first time in history.

"I surprised the Buff," Villa relates. "When I hooked him to the stomach he expected me to step back and do something else. But I no step back (please follow the dialect!), instead I hook him to the chin with the same hand, and almost the same movement, and the Buff, him drop (dialect is not really hard to master if one works at it long enough) to the mat and I know I have him the whipped."

First Punch Beat Jimmy Wilde.

Villa thinks the first punch he landed beat Wilde. It was a left to the body. "As soon as I hit the Wilde with that punch he clinched and I could feel his fingers pressing hard against my arm, as if he was afraid to let go. I say to myself, Pancho you win 'em the fight and you win 'em easy, begorra."

Villa's real name is Francisco Tingson. He was born 21 years ago in the city of Iloilo, where the man-eating Iloilos come from. After two years in grade school he ran away from home and went to Manila, where he made new friends.

Returning to school he went out for the baseball squad and made it. Soon he was the star of the team and was elected captain. After the games there would be boxing. Pancho went in for that also and presently became the school champion.

One Pasquito Villa, a professional, took the kid in hand and taught him the ins and outs. A little over two years ago Pancho fought his first professional fight, meeting one Kid Moro. Since then he has fought all the little men in the game and has been beaten by only one man, Frankie Genaro, holder of the American flyweight championship.

Easy Come, Easy Go, With Mr. Pancho.

Villa, however, tells you Genaro has never beaten him. "I win all three matches from the Genaro. I do all the advancing. He do all the retreating. How can you win 'em the decision running away?" (We feel that we really MUST go in for dialect-ing in a serious way!)

Villa is literally worth his weight in gold. His fights and theatrical engagements have yielded him more than a quarter of a million dollars. But the other part of the story is that he is a free spender. Breaking $1,000 bills to pop the eyes of waiters is one of his whims.

"I live but the once, as you tell 'em," says Pancho. "I like not the money itself, I like what him buys."

Any reader wishing to know how we mastered so thoroughly the technique of dialect can get the information by simply sending the writer a self-addressed stamped envelope, lavender if available.

MANY COMMUNICATE WITH THE DEAD.

ORANGE, N.J., Jan. 28—The secretary who arranged the interview with Thomas A. Edison volunteered the admonition: "You mustn't ask Mr Edison about communication with the dead. Mr. Edison has been so misrepresented in regard to that delicate matter that if you mention it to him he will go right up in the air."

Despite this dire warning, the forbidden question was the first one ventured:

"Do you think it possible Mr. Edison, that you may devise any mechanism through which, when you have left this life, you may hope to communicate with us?"

The wonder-wizard of communication did not go up in the air. He answered graciously and fully. But he was cautious against misquotation. He took a pencil and pad and wrote carefully this fundamental part of his statement:

"If my theory is correct—that the machine called man is only a mass of dead matter and that the real life is in the millions of individual units which navigate this macrine and if on the destruction of the machine they keep together, including those individuals which have charge of memory which is our personality)—then I think it is possible to devise apparatus to receive communications if they desire to make them. It will be very difficult, as each individual as to size is beyond the limits of our present microscopes."

Having thus marked securely his metes and bounds, Mr. Edison relaxed into frank talk. He stoutly insisted that he be understood as not meaning any such moot thing as "spiritistic messages, so called."

He means messages as substantial and as susceptible of authentication as those of the telegraph, telephone, phonograph and radio. There shall be no "medium," no mystery, no superstition, no "autohypnotism known as faith." His method, to serve at all, must absolutely guarantee the integrity of the communication it conveys and guard positively against any possible doubt, dispute or misconstruction

It goes without saying that communication with the dead, thoroughly authenticated, as Edison says he must have it, would instantly revolutionize all generally-accepted theories regarding human existence, reveal a new science of the essence of life and open up vast new visions as to the nature and ultimate function of matter.

LADY SMUGGLERS JAILED.

Two Toronto Women Allowed Bail at $5,000 and $2,000.

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (Canadian Press).—In the arrest last night of two local women, one on a charge of contravening the Customs Act, and the other as a material witness, there is provided proof of results of recent attempts made in certain quarters to bring an end to the smuggling which is said to be prevalent from the United States to Canada. Those under arrest are Rachael Goodman, of D'Arcy Street, and Eva Buckstein of Euclid Avenue, Toronto.

The former is charged with breach of the act, and was allowed out on bail of $5,000, while the latter, who was held as a material witness, has been granted bail in $2,000.

It has been claimed of late that a good deal of smuggling has been going on between the two countries, the chief commodities being silks, dresses, narcotics and cigarettes and that there is some big central organization at work.

THE MANNING GARAGE.

Former Fitzgerald Premises Fitted Up as a Modern Garage, Fully Equipped.

After an interval of five years since engaging in the automobile business in Peterboro, Mr. B. W. Manning has purchased the fine roomy stone building, formerly occupied by Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald, on Brock street, between Aylmer and Bethune street, and had it fitted up as an up-to-date modern shop, to be known as the Manning Garage.

The building being peculiarly adapted to use as a garage, about all that was necessary was the addition of a complete air pump service, press, battery charger, cylinder hone, and full line of repair tools. The latest automatic, visible gas tank, ready for instant service, with the high test British American Peerless gas, is in place, and the entire plant is now ready for business. The office is also a supply storehouse where a full line of Dominion Royal Cord Tires, Tubes and accessories is carried in stock.

Last, but not least, the work of looking after cars left for attention, will be taken care of by Mr. James McArthur, a qualified machinist, who thoroughly understands the mechanism of any make of automobile, quickly locates any trouble, and knows what is required to put the engine in good running order. Mr. Manning promises that his charges for work done will always be moderate, a feature that will commend itself to most car owners.

The Manning Garage carries Gray-Dort parts.

MERSON AND SHERMAN HEARING ENDS IN COMMITTAL FOR TRIAL

No Funds in Bank to Meet Cheques They Gave 32 Farmers.

CATTLE DEALS.

On agreement of counsel, Nathan Merson and R. Sherman were committed this morning in police court, after a preliminary investigation before Magistrate Langley, for trial before a higher court, Merson to be tried on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretences and both to be tried jointly on a charge of conspiracy to defraud, under Section 444 of the Criminal Code.

Merson and Sherman were arraigned on charges laid by a score or more farmers of Peterboro County, from whom they obtained cattle, giving in exchange cheques which afterwards proved to be worth less.

The court-room was crowded, the majority of the spectators being farmers from the districts where the two men operated. Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K.C., conducted the case for the Crown with R. R. Hall K.C., an interested companion, and Joseph Wearing appeared for the two men.

In the first hearing, on the conspiracy charge, James Healey of Westwood, Asphodel township, was the first witness called. He testified with regard to transactions involving the sale of a cow and a calf to Sherman and Merson, in a total account amounting to $62.50. The sum of $25 was paid in cash, and a cheque given for the balance; $37.50 The cow which formed the basis for the last payment was afterwards traded by Merson to a neighbor, Joseph Welsh, and did not join the carload of stock collected from the neighborhood of Indian River by the two men, and shipped to Montreal about the first of November.

A certain unfamiliarity with business transactions and a laxness in noting important items was apparet in the testimony of the witness and his father, who was in the stand later. The cheque tendered them in payment for the animal was post-dated, a fact not noted at the time of receipt and the spelling of the payee's name was incorrect. The cheque afterwards was refused at the bank, with "no funds" as a reason. Explanations in later conversations with the men had been to the effect that they were in financial difficulties for the time, on account of an attachment of their cattle in Montreal, but would make matters right at a future date.

Mortimer Healey, father of the first witness, also testified to practically the same thing. Mr. Healey, senior, shook hands with Sherman and Merson on his way back to his seat.

The manager of a local bank, testified that the two men had an account with his bank for about eight months back. He produced a sheet from the loose-leaf ledger of the bank, showing entries during that time. On November 1st., the day that the cheque in question had been issued to Healey, there was an overdraft in the Sherman and Merson account of $373.61. On November 4th, the day when the post-dated cheque was due, the overdraft was $420.11. On November 5th, a deposit of $3,795.60 was made but two cheques for $1707.75 were marked at the bank on the same day, leaving the account again overdrawn to the extent of $40.01. This amount was covered on November 8th, leaving a balance to the credit at present of $1.16.

In reply to Mr. Wearing's questions, the manager, admitted that cases of this kind, of men operating "on a shoestring", were common enough, "unfortunately", and that, as far as the bank was concerned, it had no reason to doubt the honesty of the men or of their intentions. He related a telephone conversation, when Sherman had called him up, told him that they were shipping, and that cheques in the neighborhood of $2,000 were being issued, dated 3rd of November, and payable on the 6th, allowing the usual three days of grace. Funds, however, to cover these arrangements, were not forthcoming at the proper time, and consequently cheques presented had to be refused.

The hearing in connection with the second charge, again Merson, was very brief. James Healey was recalled to the box and repeated his former testimony, counsel then deciding to agree to committal for trial on both charges.

LUTHER DENIES HERRIOT CHARGE OF SECRET GERMAN ARMAMENTS

Some Irregularities Under Peace Treaty Might Exist, But Would be Remedied.

PRESS INTERVIEW

Strong Police Force Needed To Maintain Internal Peace By Government.

BERLIN, Jan. 31.—At a reception of representatives of the foreign press tendered by the government press section last night, Chancellor Luther replied to the recent charges of Premeir Herriott of France with regard to Germany. The chief burden of the chancellor's speech was a flat denial that Germany is being secretly armed, and that she constituted a menace to the security of France.

Admitting that there might be minor irregularities, Dr. Luther asked: "Is Herriot ready to evacuate the northern Rhineland forthwith after the removal of possible infractions of our disarmament obligations is vouchsafed?"

The chancellor began his speech by revealing the uncertainties of post-war conditions as long as the reparation problem remained political. The London Conference, he observed, put the question on an economic basis, and the contending parties were brought together at the green table.

"The Dawes plan was adopted," Dr. Luther added, "and with it the foundation was laid for the economic reconstruction of Europe."

But the London conference in the German government's opinion, was not merely economic, Dr. Luther continued. Germany expected a new epoch would start in which all problems would be solved by mutual discussion and agreement.

Could End Conflict

"The attempted solution of the Cologne conflict by a public exchange of notes," Dr. Luther went on, "awakens in Germany memories of the fruitless method employed immediately following the war. I believe the conflict would be much nearer solution if the London method of a trustful exchange of views had been applied."

The chancellor then protested vigorously against what he termed merely accusing Germany, without giving Germany full data which the government might examine and rebut.

"The allies," he said, "assume the right to treat us as thought we were standing at the bar of justice and handing out a verdict while we know nothing of the indictment or the evidence."

Taking up Premier Herriot's specific charges, Dr. Luther declared the possible drilling of several thousand students was negligible in view of the fact that Germany had no arms. The alleged finding of war materials was insignificant when compared with what actually had been destroyed by order of the allies and enumerated in the report of the allies The chancellor promised, however, that the government would remedy immediately any shortcomings or any failure to observe the terms of the allies if a report on them was presented.

Trained Police Needed

Turning to the problem of the police, Dr. Luther explained that the internal situation in Germany demanded well-trained police, and especially if Communism should grow stronger. M. Herriott's reference to "the rattling of arms," the chancellor characterized as "almost mockery," in view of the fact that Germany had no state munitions factory, no modern fortresses and a small amount of artillery.

"Does M. Herriot really believe the details repeated by him can be looked upon remotely as a threat against France's security?" asked the chancellor.

Taking up M. Herriot's reference to lack of moral disarmament, Dr. Luther declared the control commission had peremptory orders not to further a pacifist spirit in the defeated nation. It was also his opinion that the belief that might makes right was furthered if the military occupation was simply extended by the decision of the victors.

Vital to Germany

The German government, Dr. Luther declared, would have been willing to compromise on the Cologne situation, possibly agreeing to evacuation at a later date. But it never was asked. On the question of security the chancellor said emphatically:—"The German government not only is sympathetic with the security idea, but it has a vital interest in its realization. As soon as the security problem is solved all other problems will almost solve themselves."

M. Herriot's suggestion of a world convention as outlined in the Geneva protocol, appealed to Chancellor Luther as "the final goal, but is uncertain whether it can be practically reached immediately."

"If, however, M. Herriot thinks of preparing the final goal by agreements between a group of states, thereby hoping to solve a problem where it is immediately acute, the German government is entirely willing to co-operate therein, "the chancellor declared.

BEGGAR'S DAILY TAKINGS HEAVY

Note Book Showed About $10—Claimed to be Ex-Officer in Need.

OTHER SCHEMES.

LONDON, Jan. 31. — (Canadian Press).—"I am an ex-soldier, and married, this is my only means of support."

This was the legend which was borne upon a tray of matches hawked in Regent Street by a man who found himself in the dock for begging. Regent Street is beset by beggars and hawkers of every kind and description, especially during the afternoons, when the ladies come down from the suburbs to do a little shop-window gazing. This particular beggar was of a methodical habit, for he carried a pocket-book showing his takings. They amounted to over £2 a day on an average—an income, it is safe to say, which some of the kind-hearted folk who game him coppers would envy.

Not so very long ago there was a man who used to tour the west-end with a barrel organ. He proclaimed himself an ex-officer and workless, but the amazing fact was revealed that he was working regularly in a Government office, and went in for this mendicancy in his spare time.

Street traders in London of a perfectly honest sort—the newspaper sellers and so forth—are reputed to make handsome incomes. All such vendors, of course, are licensed by the police, and take care to ply their trade without making themselves a nuisance to the public.

QUEBEC, Jan. 31. — (Canadian Press).—Its tongue frost-bound to a rail of the railroad crossing on the Charlesbourg Road, near here, a beautiful collie dog was unable to release himself, and was dashed to death by a train. Retiring Directors Re-elected for Three Years—Staff's Work Appreciated.

The annual meeting of the local branch of the Young Men's Christian Association was held last night. After the regular Friday night supper of the senior department, the representatives of the Belleville and Oshawa volleyball teams who took part in the Central Ontario volleyball tournament were introduced by the chairman, Mr. J. F. H. Wallace, Mr. Bromfield, of the Oshawa Y.M.C.A., and Mr. Brockel, of Belleville, both expressed their thanks for the hospitable treatment they had received, and mentioned what regret it had given them to beat their hosts in the tournament. Mr. G. C. Scott, of the Peterboro team, said that they had every hope of reversing the verdict in the next tournament.

After community singing, led by Alex. Donnelly, with Fred Chenhall at the piano, Mr. Wallace turned the meeting over to Mr. G. A. Gillespie, president of the association. Mr. Gillespie announced that it was his tenth meeting as president and his fifteenth as a member of the board.

Directors Retained.

Mr. T. Barrie read the report of the nominating committee recommending that the retiring directors, Messrs. W. R. Brevfogle, James Hamilton, G. A. MacDonald, P. P. Westbye, L. D. W. Magie, and Vincent Eastwood, be re-elected for a new term of three years. Letters were read from Mayor Turner and Mr. G. A. MacDonald, expresing their regret at being unable to attend.

The financial report was read by Mr. James Hamilton, showing total receipts of $15,042.53 and expenditures of $14,974.43, leavving a balance on the right side of $68.10.

The general secretary, Mr. G. H. Roper, read the annual report showing that the Association had increased its membership from 591 in April, 1923, to 706 at the end of 1924, and that the usefulness of the Association in all its activities had greatly increased. The report of the physical director was read by Mr. B. D. Hall and showed the gymnasium classes, etc., to have had a total attendance of nearly 7,500.

Boys' Department.

Mr. J. E. Smith read the report of the Boys' Department. This department provided a great deal of healthy recreation for the boys of the city during the year, including the annual boys' camp and spring swimming campaign. Mr. Hamilton moved a hearty vote of thanks to the staff, ascribing the success of the Association to their untiring efforts. This was seconded by Rev. J. W. Gordon and heartily endorsed by the members.

The reports will be published in full during the coming week.

DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS BROKEN BETWEEN GREECE AND TURKEY AND WAR APPEARS POSSIBLE

Greek Charge d'Affaires in Turkey Is Recalled—Deputies Urge Armed Force to Teach Reason to Turkey—Nation in Mourning and Church Bells Toll.

WAR RIDDEN BALKANS TO ERUPT AGAIN?

Expulsion by Turks of Patriarchate at Constantinople, in Effort to Obliterate Orthodox Church, Sets Sparks to Powder—Greece to Call on League of Nations?

(By Anthony Papanakayous, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

ATHENS, Jan. 31.—Greece to-day severed diplomatic relations with Turkey, and Athens buzzed with talk of war because the Angora Government expelled the Ecumenical Patriarchate, which has for seven centuries represented the Orthodox Greek Church at Constantinople.

A wave of indigation has swept the Greek nation.

There were violent scenes in the Chamber of Deputies to-day, many deputies shouting, "Down with Turkey."

Former Minister of War Pangalos, in a stirring speech, declared: "It is by armed force only that Turkey can be taught reason."

It is probable, however, that an appeal will be made to the League of Nations, and possibly to other nations, including the United States, against the expulsion.

The Greek nation is in mourning. Church bells throughout the country were tolled to-day and the President of Greece cancelled a diplomatic banquet.

Expulsion by the Turks of the Patriarchate at Constantinople marks the culmination of their effort to obliterate the Orthodox Church in Turkey.

At the Lausanne Conference, the Turks, having just defeated the Greeks in war, promised to respect the Patriarchate. It is understood here that following recent threats against the Patriarchate, the Archbishop of Canterbury and leaders of Christian churches generally have brought pressure on the British Government to intervene.

The expelled Patriarchate and his staff arrived on Greek soil to-day and was received with great reverence. He may stay at the Monastery atop the Holy Mountain in Macedonia.

Meanwhile the Greek Government is doing its best to curb the extremists who are crying for war and is preparing a protest to the nations of the world.

Greece is in no condition to fight another war, although so great is the public indignation and religious fervor, that a conflict is not impossible. Rumors of mobilization, however, are premature.

The Greek Charge d'Affaires at Angora was recalled to-day.

FROST NIPPED APPLE CARGO

Action at Cobourg Against C.N.R. Over Shipment to Britain in 1922.

SOLD AT DISCOUNT.

COBOURG, Jan. 31. — The Colborne apple cases came up in the County Court for Northumberland and Durham before Judge Cameron on Tuesday and Wednesday for argument. They have been again adjourned, this time until February 5. The plaintiffs are Matthews Bros. and R. Coyle and Son, both well-known apple exporters of Colborne, and both actions are against the Canadian National Railway and the Anchor-Donaldson steamboat line. There were three carloads of apples shipped from Colborne, via Portland, to Glasgow, Scotland, which are stated to have been frosted on the way, and which, it is stated, had to be disposed of at a much lower price because of this. One car, it is stated, was to go through at five above zero, and if a lower temperature, heaters were to be put in the car; the other at 10 above zero. The Canadian National brought car inspectors from different points between here and Portland to give evidence as to the temperature at various points en route. Altogether, the defence called twelve witnesses in the two cases, and the plaintiffs six witnesses. The apples were shipped in January, 1922, by C.N.R. to Portland, then by steamer Gracia to Glasgow.

The counsel in the case are: F. Webb for the plaintiffs; G. R. Pratt, solicitor for the C.N.R., and Mr. Bolland, solicitor for the Anchor-Donaldson Line, for the defence.

Address at Brockville on Proposed Development of the St. Lawrence.

PLAN OF HYDRO

BROCKVILLE, Jan. 31. — Concerted action on the part of the people of Eastern Ontario to bring about Hydro-Electric development on the St. Lawrence at Morrisburg for the benefit of the municipalities of the province was urged here Friday by C. A. Maguire, of Toronto, President of the Ontario Municipal Power Association, in an address before members of the Eastern Ontario Municipal Power Union. He strongly impressed upon the members the necessity for appealing through their parliamentary representatives irrespective of party affiliations, that the Dominion Government should immediately issue a permit to the hydro-electric power commission to proceed with the Morrisburg development according the plans of the commission approved by the Ontario Government.

He also recorded strong opposition to the control of these water powers being vested in an international commission, for the reason that the surplus waters within the province are the property of the people of that province and should be developed for their benefit. Mr. Maguire was satisfied that once the permit was granted and the Dominion Government agreed to assume the cost of such works as had to do with navigation, and the bonds of the commission were guaranteed by the municipalities, not one five cent piece would be required of the taxpayers.

ASK MANUFACTURERS TO GIVE STATEMENT

Committee Asks Whether Agreements With City Are Being Carried Out.

More with a view to obtaining information than with the object of making demands, the Manufacturers' Committee last night decided to ask manufacturers having fixed assessment to what extent the agreements with the city are being carried out.

In cases where the advantage of a fixed assessment is given the manufacturer, he usually undertakes to employ a certain number of men.

In the present depressed condition of industry it was recognized by the committee that all promises might not be possible of fulfillment.

A provision that periodical reports be made on this phase of the agreement will probably be incorporated in future agreements.

There were present: Alderman J. W. Meyers, chairman; Aldermen Joseph Crowe, Malcolm McIntyre and J. O. Fife. This did not constitute a quorum, and no resolutions were put through.

WEAK BEER IN BREWERY WASN'T WORTH STEALING

Thieves Scorned Stuff Less Than O. T. A. Standard.

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 31.—(Canadian Press).—Burglarizing a brewery may have been a popular pastime in the dead dead days of long ago but it has its drawbacks in these days of O.T.A. dryness. However, hope springs enternal in the human breast and Roy's brewery now being overhauled, preparatory to resuming operations, was entered and a number of bottles of beer discovered.

The joy of the discovers must have turned to sadness when they found the bottles to contain only near beer and not very near at that, in fact it was less than the legal two and one half percent. Inspector Naphin and Chief of Police Kidd inspected the brewery yesterday and satisfied themselves that no further damage had been done and nothing stolen.

MINE DIRECTOR IS ACCUSED OF FALSE REPORTS

Joseph Myers, of Winnipeg, Arrested in London, Eng., Says it is Like Blackmail.

NO PRODUCTION.

Winnipeg Despatch Indicates Heavy Indebtedness and Alleges Ore Tampered With.

LONDON, Jan. 31. (Canadian Press cable).—Joseph Myers, aged 55 years, of Winnipeg, managing director of the Bingo Gold Mines, Manitoba, Canada, was charged in the Bow Street Police Court yesterday on a provisional warrant, issued under the Fugitive Offenders' Act, with fraud and with circulating as a director, false statements relating to the mine.

Detective-Segeant Thomas stated that he met Meyers in a Piccadilly hotel and asked him if he was the managing director of the Bingo Mines. Defendant replied that he was, and witness then read the warrant under which he was apprehended. Myers replied: "There is nothing in this. It is just like blackmail. I was returning to Winnipeg next Saturday week."

Witness said he took possession of a number of papers relating to the Bingo Mines. Defendant's lawyer, Mr. Levinson, said that Myers came to London to attend the annual general meeting of the company which was held last Wednesday.

The subject matter of the prosecution was then discussed, but no suggestion was made regarding any charge against the defendant, who has booked his return passage to Winnipeg.

The magistrate ordered a remand in the case, and refused an application for bail on behalf of the accused.

Post-War Flotation.

Bingo Mines, Limited, of Canada, was floated in the immediate post-war period by Mr. Myers. The rise of the stock was sensational, but following independent surveys, the property and sampling of the assay by expert engineers, the market value of the shares declined rapidly.

At the annual meeting of the Bingo Mine Company in London on January 28th last, the shareholders passed a vote of confidence in the shareholders, although the despatches indicated that some criticism had been directed against the board.

Mr. Myers, born in Wellington, New Zealand, of Jewish parentage, came from London to Winnipeg in 1916. He was widely known both in mining circles of the Dominion and the Old Country.

Mr. Myers was associated with a number of local business men in the organization of the Bingo Mines, Lited, the Canadian Company, following which he went to England and formed the Bingo Gold Mines, Limited, with a capital of 500,000 pounds, which was later increased to 750,000 pounds. The Canadian shareholders had the option of converting their stock, and take the English shares.

It is understood that a recent report of the company showed that there had been no production, and it revealed debts of 676,755 pounds.

At the annual meeting on January 28, it was reported that one shareholder suggested that ore had been tampered with, and that mining engineers had been prevented from visiting the mine. This was emphatically denied by the directors.

M'CAMUS WARDENSHIP IS MADE UNANIMOUS BY REEVE ELLIOTT

SUICIDE PACT

A secret which they felt they dared not tell caused Mary Eitenmiller, 20, and Pete Lichtenberger, 28, of Pekin, Ill., to enter into a love suicide pact. Lichtenberger shot the girl twice through the head and then turned the weapon on himself.

Bowmanville's Reeve Removed Any Doubt of Honor Bestowed By Counties Council.

WISHED SUCCESS

Northumberland and Durham Appropriate $100,000 for Roads at Cobourg Sessions.

COBOURG, Jan. 31.—The situation, which has been somewhat strained, regarding the Wardenship was referred to yesterday by Reeve M. J. Elliott, Bowmanville, who addressed the chair stating that so far as he was concerned the election was unanimous.

"I wish you, Mr. Warden, every success during your term as I am sure you will have, with the co-operation of the Reeves and Deputy Reeves. Perhaps at some future date I shall again offer my services and try for the office."

Hearty applause greeted his remarks. Warden McCamus in reply expressed his appreciation of Reeve Elliott's words and personally thanked him for the stand taken. "I fought a clean fight and never approached any man illegally. There has been considerable feeling in the matter, and I believe if the ratepayers of Bowmanville had backed up their Reeve in his campaign, I should not have won out. Seniority always counts in this contest. I cannot help it that the occasion happened, and I will do anything in my power to help the town of Bowmanville while I hold the office."

Reeve W. H. Nelson of Percy, said he admired the stand Reeve Elliott had taken and moved a hearty vote of thanks for his manly action.

In seconding the motion Reeve H. Lawson, Hope, referred to the debt of gratitude the council owed to Mr. Elliott, "who has placed things in a sound business basis".

The motion carried with prolonged applause.

Clerk N. MacNachton brought in the portrait of Ex-Warden A. J. Henderson, Cavan, which the latter has presented to the Counties Council and recommended that it be placed upon the wall.

Ex-Wardens S. Ferguson, C. McNei, T. A. Kelly, all of Cavan Township, have similarly presented their portraits and same are among the several others which adorn the walls of the Council Chamber.

Report on Roads

Reeve H. H. Holdaway, Port Hope, chairman of the committee on Roads and Bridges, submitted the following report which was adopted:

"We recommend that Reeve J. H. Hess, Hastings, and Reeve W. H. Nelson, Percy, be a Committee to make necessary repairs in Hastings bridge.

We recommend that the connecting link between the County Roads, Ontario and Division streets in town of Cobourg, be taken over on the County road system, and a by-law prepared accordingly.

We recommend that the Superintendent be a delegate to the annual conference on road construction for County and Township Road Superintendents and Engineers.

We recommend that the dues to the Ontario Road Association be not paid, and that no delegate be sent.

We recommend that the petition from the Township of Seymour regarding County Roads be referred to the County Roads Commission."

Printing Contract

We recommend that the acount of the Department of Public Highways be laid over until the the June session.

Campbellford Bridge

We recommend that the communication as read from the Government regarding Campbellford bridge be received and that Campbellford be notified that the Government will not pay for work done, and that they, Campbellford, owe the Counties the balance of the twenty-five per cent.

We recommend that the request for membership in the Municipal Association be not entertained.

We recommend that a grant of $200 be given the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

We recommend that a grant of

CHILDREN IN BARE FEET ESCAPE FIRE

Lakefield Store Destroyed With Apartments Overhead Last Night.

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 31. — Fire cause by an overheated stovepipe last night completey destroyed the building occupied by Hill's grocery store, and the apartments above, drove their two tenant families into the street barefooted and for a time seriously threatened with a shower of sparks and embers a section of the village. Only the efficiency of the firemen prevented the flames from spreading to nearby buildings.

Small children of the Patrick and Pringle families living over the store were rescued with considerable difficulty.

A strong west wind swept the flames through the two and a half storey frame building which for years, as a hotel, had been a landmark at Lakefield, under the management of the late Jerry Carveth.

The volunteer fire brigade, under Chief W. L. Webster, did gallant work in preventing the spread of the flames, but the task of saving the building was hopeless from the start. The firemen worked all night.

HEALTH ASSOCIATION MEETING RECEIVES REPORTS FOR YEAR

Ask That Houses be Fumigated by Board of Health After Cases of Tuberculosis.

NO MOTOR SHOW.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Health Association was held in the board room of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon, with the following members present: W. R. Breyfogle, Dr. G. S. Cameron, Messrs. E. F. Mason, C. H. Pennefather, W. Stocker, W. S. Merrell, Dr. F. C. Neal, E. A. Peck, Dr. W. D. Scott, Mesdames R. R. Hall, B. Gardiner, C. G. Graham, A. W. Turner, G. S. Cameron, J. H. McClellan, Miss M. Archer, Miss Ann Long, and Messrs. J. M. Greene, and N. Phelan, representing the City Council.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read by the secretary, Dr. G. S. Cameron, and were followed by reports, which will be published in full in these columns during the week. The report of the president, Mr. W. R. Breyfogle, was given, also the report of the Health Association's nurse, Miss Ann Long, of the summer camp, by Mrs. G. S. Cameron, of the Supervision committee, by Miss M. Archer, and the financial report, by Mr. C. H. Pennefather.

Following the reading of reports, general business was discussed, the meeting being conducted in a business like and efficient fashion that expedited all business.

General Business.

The secretary was instructed to ask the Red Cross Society to again pay the salary of the nurse at the summer camp at Jackson Park, as the society did last year. A resolution voiced by Mrs. R. R. Hall, chairman of the Supervision committee, was to the effect that in cases where tubercular patients had either left a house or died therein, that proper steps be taken for the fumigation of the premises, by the city. Where the fumigating process is carried out by private individuals, it is often ineffective and sometimes dangerous to themselves. The secretary was instructed to communicate with the local Board of Health along this line.

Mr. Breyfogle spoke of the new departure of the Association, the projected holding of a "Made in Peterboro" Fair during the first week in June, in the Armories. This will replace the former Motor Show.

Members of Executive Committee.

A nominating committee, composed of Mrs. C. G. Graham, Miss M. Archer and Mr. W. S. Merrell, to name committee members for the ensuing year, retired, to return later and pesent their report, voiced by Mr. Merrell. The following will be executive committee members this year: Mrs. H. H. Cameron, Miss Archer, Mrs. B. Gardiner, Mrs. A. E. Coulthard, Mrs. R. R. Hall, Mrs. J. A. Aylmer, Mrs. A. W. Turner, Mrs. C. H. Pennefather, Mrs. C. G. Graham, Messrs. W. R. Breyfogle, Geo. Macdonald, E. A. Peck, C. H. Pennefather, E. J. H. Vanston, J. R. Corkery, W. Stocker, W. G. Morrow, V. J. McElderry, E. F. Mason, Rev. P. Costello, W. S. Merrell, Mayor J. J. Turner, Dr. A. W. MacPherson, Dr. J. A. Morgan, Dr. F. C. Neal, Dr. W. D. Scott, Dr. G. S. Cameron, J. H. Vernor, R. A. Brown, R. Abbott, N. Phelan.

Officers Elected.

On suggestion of Mr. W. R. Breyfogle, instead of waiting for a later meeting, as is usual, the executive members elected their officers at yesterday's session. Mr. Breyfogle was nominated for president by E. F. Mason, the nomination being seconded by Dr. W. D. Scott. Mr. Breyfogle, saying that the office should be passed along, nominated Rev .Father Costello, the nomination being seconded by Mr. C. H. Pennefather. A vote by ballot was called for, Dr. Scott and Miss Ann Long were appointed scrutineers, and the decision resulted in favor of Mr. Breyfogle, who will once again take the chair for the Peterboro Health Association in 1925.

The election of other officials went through by acclamation, as follows: 1st vice-president, Rev. P. Costello; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. A. E. Coulthard; treasurer, C. H. Pennefather; secretary, Dr. G. S. Cameron. Chairmen of Committees: Nurses' Supervision, Mrs. R. R. Hall; Finance, E. J. H. Vanstone; Publicity, V. J. McElderry.

SOVIET ORDERS COTTON.

May Relieve Lancashire of Necessity to Close Down Factories.

MANCHESTER, Eng., Jan. 31.—(Canadian Press). — Soviet agents have been busy here for some days placing orders for yarn and cotton waste. It is stated that more than a million pounds of American yarn have already been sold and that impending orders are considerably larger. Re-opening of the Russian market after nearly ten years of inactivity is arousing great interest in Lancashire, and may change the aspect of the proposal for the reduction of working hours.

Managers Resign

Four of the Board of Managers resigned for the following reason:—Finding ourselves conscientiously opposed to the action of the majority of St. Andrew's Congregation toward the question of church union, and unable to follow the leadership of the "Division of the Church" with which the said congregation by the recent vote has identified itself.

We, the undersigned members of the Board of Managers of St. Andrew's Church, not being in sympathy with the policies of this congregation and wishing to allow these policies to be proceeded with unhampered herewith tender our resignations.— Signed N. Thompson, J. A. Stewart, A. M. Rollo, W. Henson.

After receiving and discussing the above another man also resigned and three others for various reasons declined to accept re-appointment. The old board of managers were as follows: Messrs. J. COVERT'S ARENA SAW BIG GAME

Fans Are Asking "Was it a Joke, or Couldn't They Help It?"

AT CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 31.—One of the greatest hockey struggles this old town has ever seen was staged at Covert's Arena last night. The gladiators were two differenrt groups of Hydro employees, one from the construction department and the other known as Dam No. 9 Electrical team. The crowd was about as large as any regular schedule game, and they sure got their money's worth. (Admission was free). Nobody is quite sure which is the better team, although the Construction gang emerged masters of the situation by a score of 5½ to 9. The half goal was given on a disputed counter, scored just as the bell rang, and both sides agreed to split 50-50 to save an argument. Both goal-tenders were like a sieve, and the shots that didn't go in the net either hit them or were wide of the mark.

Jack Cowell was supposed to be the star for his team, but outside of helping out the goal-keeper in a tight situation, doing the bulk of the defence work, and scoring all their goals, he wasn't up to much. Jones looked like the best inside home player on the ice. Brown and Goodman were good for the Electrical team, and it was rumored they were imported specially for this game. The losing team paid for the use of the rink. The line-up:

Construction—Goal, Shore; defence, Stewart and Watt; centre, Cowell; wings, Andrews and Abar; subs., Jones and Hall.

Electrical—Goal, Ferguson; defence, Goodman and De Carroll; centre, Brown; wings, Floyd and Mckeel; subs., Rhea and Reynolds.

Referee—Charlie Holmes.

TRUE BLUES LODGE HAD OYSTER SUPPER

Campbellford Lodge Entertains Ladies— Interesting Programme and Big Attendance.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 31.—The members of the L. T. B. No. 36, Duke of Clarence Lodge, had an oyster supper on Friday night at F. F. Long's restaurant, to which they invited their wives and the members of the Ladies' Lodge, the Duchess of Clarence Lodge. About fifty in all sat down to the well-filled tables and dishes of oysters.

At the close of the supper there were speeches. Mr. Chas. Long was chairman for the evening. He gave a short address, welcoming the members and also the Ladies' Lodge and he spoke of the high ideals of the principles of the Lodge. He then called upon several for short addresses. Mrs. Phillips, the Worshipful Mistress of the Ladies' Lodge, spoke and extended an invitation to any of the ladies present to become members of the True Blue Ladies' Lodge. Mr. Chas. Hankinson, who has been a member of the Lodge for thirty-five years, also spoke, and Mrs. Wm. Ayrhart of the Ladies' Lodge. The chairman then asked Captain Fisher, of the Salvation Army to speak. He spoke of "What the Orange Order Stands For," "Fear God and honor the King." Put God and His kingdom first. He also spoke of memories he had of Ireland, where he formerly lived, and conditions there and of the Orange Order there. Mr. Long then asked others to speak.

At the close all stood and sang the National Anthem.

The evening was very pleasant, and all enjoyed the social hour as it tends to bring the members closer together and unites them in a stronger bond of friendship.

The chairman's address and the short speeches from the others received a hearty applause.

A hearty clap of hands was given to the ladies of the Duchess of Clarence Lodge and a final one for the men's lodge.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

CHURCH UNION.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Having read several of the letters which have appeared in the press regarding Church Union, and having in mind one written by the Anti-Unionists in which they said it was their intention to try and have a vote brought on by those churches in the West which have decided to enter the United Church without the formality of a vote, in the hope that they could induce them to change their decision, it looks very much as if those who are opposed to Union are going after the small churches in the West which want Union, with a bitterness which one church member ought not to show towards another. We all know places where there are two or more church where one would do for all the people who live in the place, and yet when those poor people in the West decide that they will unite, then the Anti-Unionists of Ontario say they will make these people take a vote which will stir up strife amongst them, the very thing these people want to avoid. Surely this is not the Christian spirit that is expected from Presbyterians with their noble past. So far, voting has taken place in seven provinces, and of these, six have shown by large majorities that they want Union, while only one, that is, Ontario, has any showing of opposition, and yet the minority in Ontario won't give in. I wonder what they will do when they go to Heaven? Will they mingle with the others there, or will the great majority have to give in to them there too? Why not give in a little, brethren, for the sake of your weaker brother in the West, to whom Church Union means so much.

ONLOOKER.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir: Unity means unity in spirit. It never meant anything else. You might as well ask all humanity to join and be one preosn speaking through one mouth as to expect all people to join in the body when all that they can do, and should do, is to join in the spirit. Does the League of Nations propose to give up all nationalities, races and nations, becauses it proposes to unite in spirit and confer? Why! Some of the very people crying out that we should be one church are in favor of more political groups than one.

Unless you have a system that is so good and tight that you cannot break away from it, union—that is, voluntary union—can never be anything more or better than co-operation. And why should it be? I admit that church union will save money. But who wants to save money in the cause of Christ? Surely no one feels the burden now. If you can centralize Protestantism, and put an all-powerful settlement committee over it, you will break it up with a smash like the river in spring.

Work and Worry Weaken Many Women

NEW HEALTH CAN BE HAD THROUGH

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

They Give New Vitality—and more.

The demands upon a mother's strength are many and severe; her own health trials and her children's welfare exact heavy tolls, while broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her constitution. No wonder that the woman at home is often indisposed through sick headache, backache and nervous troubles. But varied as her health troubles are, the cause is simple, and relief near at hand. When well, it is good blood that keeps a woman well; when ill, she must make her blood rich to renew her health; and the nursing mother—more than any other—needs rich blood and plenty of it.

Care of diet, sufficient rest, fresh air and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will keep a woman's health robust and regular; and because these pills make new blood abundantly, thousands of weak wives and mothers have derived prompt health-help from them.

Mrs. Stewart Grant, Stewiacke, N. S., says: "After the birth of my first baby I did not regain my health. I could scarcely walk across the room because of the pains in my back. I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and through their use regained good health. Later an attack of influenza left me very weak, and again the pills fully restored me. I can recommend them to any one who is weak or run down."

THE WHEAT SITUATION.

Despite temporary checks, the price of wheat for May delivery seems to be on the rise, and the situation is of absorbing interest to the farmers of Canada, especially the Western growers.

The rise is in a general way good news for such farmers, even although the grain involved in the present trading left the hands of the growers months ago.

To city folks it perhaps forecasts higher prices for bread and other foods, but that disadvantage should be offset by the effect of better prices for the farmers will have upon business generally and consequently upon the employment situation.

The prices at which farmers generally sold their last crop of grain were very much better than any they had received since the break caused by the post-war liquidation.

Last year the shortage in the world crop of wheat sent European buyers over in large numbers, and prices advanced accordingly.

What the farmer especially desires to know now, of course, is what he will get for his next crop.

Naturally that will depend upon the size of the crop here and in other countries and upon the world's buying power.

The condition of the old world is constantly, although slowly, improving, and European nations are becoming better able to buy and pay for the surplus products this Continent has to export.

As a Chicago paper puts it, "There is nothing now to indicate a return of such conditions as those that beset the agriculturists during the liquidation that followed the post-war inflation."

GOVERNMENT CONTROL.

Financially, at least, there can be no complaint about the success of Government control as exemplified by the Province of Quebec, which is able to report a surplus of over five million dollars as the result of a year's operations of Government sale.

There are those who will say that this profit is merely a paper one, that the Province would be really better off financially if its people spent their money on something more beneficial and less harmful than liquor, and that the majority of families would be more prosperous, even if their taxes were higher, if they did not dig so deeply into the pay envelope to buy the liquid refreshment represented in the huge profit reported by the Government.

On the other hand, of course, it is evident that the surplus was not all piled up by the purchases of the people of Quebec.

It is not possible to get at the exact proportions, but beyond a doubt a large share of the money left with the Quebec Government in exchange for supplies of liquor was paid by the numerous visitors from the United States, who seem to have an unusual amount of business to transact in the sister Province, and there is some reason for believing, too, that otherwise thrifty citizens of Ontario have done something to swell the profits.

Be that as it may, it must be a source of considerable satisfaction to the Provincial Treasurer to be able to count upon an annual revenue of five or six million dollars from a channel that shows not the least sign of drying up.

THE GASOLINE TAX.

One of the arguments that is being used against the introduction of a tax on gasoline is that it will hit hard the companies which operate large fleets of trucks in Toronto.

These heavy cars do not run anywhere except within the city limits, and the wear and tear represented by them is upon roads kept up by the city of Toronto, and not by the Province.

Undoubtedly a strong case can be made out so far as these particular truck owners are concerned, but at the same time the general fairness of the gasoline tax cannot be denied, for it is based on the principle that the man who does the most driving and uses the roads the most must necessarily contribute the most to the upkeep of the highways.

It cannot be denied that the greatest strain to which the Provincial roads are subjected is caused by the passage over them of ponderous, heavily-laden trucks.

In this section of the Province it is only necessary to drive over the Kingston road to get some idea of the extent to which freight trucking is being carried on and of the amount of damage that is being done to the road surface.

There is a steady freight traffic to and from Toronto and extending as far east as Belleville, and the daily procession of big trucks, carrying tons of freight, cannot fail to damage the highway.

It is only fair that the companies operating this traffic should pay their share of keeping up the roads their machines do so much to break down.

PLAIN SPEAKING.

A short time ago the Examiner commented upon an address given by Hon. J. S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture, to the Eastern Ontario dairymen, declaring that the optimistic tone of the Minister's remarks was something new so far as rural audiences were concerned.

Now a "dirt farmer," Mr. J. W. Freeborn, the U. F. O. member for East Middlesex, comes along with another speech in the same vein, and once again the Examiner gives three cheers.

Mr. Freeborn takes his brother farmers to task for their tendency to "grouch" over their industry.

And he is right.

The worst possible advertising that Canada could obtain is this habit of many agarians to run down their own business.

The world hears far more about one farmer who has made a failure than about the one hundred who have done well.

The Progressive members in the Dominion Parliament fill the air with their lamentations over the sad state of agriculture in the West, and their doleful stories gain far bigger circulation than the recital of the rise to high places of men who landed in the Prairie Provinces not so many years with little more than the clothes they wore.

The member for East Middlesex is doing his comrades in agriculture a good service when he points out to them the folly of running down farming, and outlines the prospects before the industry if the farmers visualize their opportunities.

Blue ruin talk from the country may perhaps do little harm in Canada where the tendency to complain is taken at its true value, but it is not difficult to realize the ill-effect of the wail of the pessimists when it is heard in countries across the sea where the trait is not so well understood.

"MAGGIE MURPHY'S HOME."

In a local playhouse last week there was given a rollicking sketch which introduced a verse and the chorus of "Maggie Murphy's Home." To ninety-nine out of every hundred in the audience it probably meant nothing and awakened no memories; but it was nevertheless a great popular song forty-five years ago. It had this refrain:

"On Sunday night, 'Tis my delight
And pleasure, don't you see,
Meeting all the girls, and all the boys,
Who work down town with me;
There's an organ in the parlor,
There's music when you come,
And your welcome every evening
At Maggie Murphy's home."

These tuneful and catchy songs of the day—best described as "popular"—have always been the milestones which mark our social evolution.

It is easy for those of us whose recollections carry them back for half a century to visualize that parlor in Maggie Murphy's home. Besides the organ, there were six chairs and a sofa, upholstered in horse-hair. There was a what-not in the corner, and a table in the centre of the room on which rested a plush-covered album, flanked by a basket of wax fruit and the family Bible. The chairs and sofas had anti-macassars; for the young men who came to enjoy the music in Maggie's home all used hair oil. On the wall was the framed motto "God Bless Our Home," worked in Berlin wool by the deft fingers of Maggie herself or her mother. It all seemed very beautiful and cozy and inviting in those far-away days. Life was full and rich and sweet in that unpretentious setting.

Maggie Murphy's home lacked a great many things that are common in the homes of today; but it had compensations. Mother knew where the children were at 10 o'clock at night. They were in bed; and father was not out at the movies. Maggie never heard of a dance hall, nor a "the dansant." The boys and girls who came around to her home played charades and authors, and neither she nor they knew anything about auction bridge until they learned it from their grandchildren. At times they danced waltzes or polkas to the music of the "organ in the parlor"; but they wore no dress suits, for the sufficient reason that they hadn't any. Yet they enjoyed themselves quite thoroughly, and the entertainment didn't eat a ghastly hole in their weekly wages. It was all very plain and very commonplace; but it was wholesome and harmless. It jibed with the frugality of the period—that frugality which laid the foundations of our present-day prosperity.

Maggie Murphy didn't roll her stockings. They were knitted either by herself or her mother, and wouldn't roll. If she had rolled them, or put them on exhibition at all, even one inch of them, she would have been thought immodest. She would have been arrested, and subsequently ostracized, if she had worn a one-piece bathing suit or put on the "breeks" with which we are now so familiar. She never saw a lip stick, and her toilet set consisted of a brush and comb. The color in her cheeks was not bought at the drug store. There were no beauty parlors in those pristine times; so she never enjoyed a permanent wave. It must be confessed, however, that she wore a bustle as big as a small-sized tub, and beneath it was a crinoline to keep her dress at least two feet away from her heels. Her hair was not bobbed. It was done up in three huge rolls, which hung down her back in the shape of what was known as a "waterfall." Her shoes had low and broad heels, and were probably made to order out of honest calfskin. Of galoshes she was entirely innocent; for the inventive genius of man had not produced at that period so much as the rubbers of our time.

Maggie Murphy never had a fur coat in her life. A rich and fashionable lady might at that period have had a sealskin sacque for very cold weather; but Maggie's great middle-class set did not have so much as a scrap of fur of any kind. In fact, she dressed very plainly. She wore a woollen muffler around her neck, and woollen mitts on her hands. She may have seemed a trifle embonpoint below the waist line; for fashion then required her to wear at least three heavy flannel petticoats. She had one good dress for Sun days and parties; but, including "a bunch of blue ribbons to tie up her bonny brown hair," she had a wardrobe that barely filled one drawer of her bureau. Maggie had learned the art of looking neat in a plain frock when she was at school; for her classmates never dreamt of the sartorial embellishments which make the school-rooms of our day look like a group of fashion models. This did not matter, since five o'clock teas had not then been invented.

In fact, Maggie was very much like the organ in the parlor—an expression in every way of her time. Let us not, however, point derisively at that humble instrument of half a century ago. We should, on the contrary, reverently see in it a symbol of the long and heroic upward-struggling of our forebears, with their denials and limitations. That type of home is gone, and with it some things which, in the final reckoning, must be regarded as a real loss—the hallowed fireside and the closely-knitted family group around it. The abstractions and diversions of our time have brought changes in domestic and social life, and it is only by glancing backward we are able to measure those changes in their relationship to the structure of today.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Frontenac Council has decided to refuse to pay its share of Provincial highway maintenance. How do they get that way?

Nothing that is being said in Great Britain against emigration to Canada could possibly be as harmful as some of the Progressive speeches in the last session.

Hastings County Council is worrying about wolves. Why not bring Jim Curran and the rest of the Sault wolf hunters down for a week or two?

Earl Beatty asks for a ten million pound increase in the naval appropriations. He must have heard Red Newman sing "Don't Let Them Scrap the British Navy."

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, Jan. 30.—Cattle market closed steady to strong for the week end. The lighter receipts this week gave a stimulus to prices, especially in the butcher class, where real choice, well-finished butcher were scarce in face of an active demand. For the best butcher offerings, prices closed strong and more than regained the 25c drop the previous wek.

Export trade was moderately active, prices holding practically steady and unchanged from last week.

Total exports for the week were about 1,000, Rogers & Maybee taking 800, and the H. P. Kennedy Co. the balance. Prospects are the export requirements will be lighter next week.

Calves steady.

Hogs steady for today, but packers bidding 25c lower for Saturday's deliveries.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Although wheat trading as a whole diminished in volume today, the marked proved responsive at times when speculative buying in a big way was renewed. May delivery touched $2.05 1-2, within 3-8 of the recent high price record, and September went above any peak heretofore attained this season. July and September corn and oats likewise overtopped the season's best previous quotations. Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish, to 1 5-8c higher, May 2.03 3-4 to 2.03 7-8 and July 1.71 5-8 to 1.71 3-4, with corn ranging from 3-4 cent decline to 3-4 advance, oats unchanged to 3/8 up, and provisions varying from 10 cents setback to a rise of 15 cents.

Enforcement of heavy margin rates, 20 cents to 35 cents a bushel, on all trading in wheat, did much to curtail the volume of business as well as to make the market a good deal steadier than for a long while back. The new rates, at least quadruple the usual figures, virtually shut out the majority of small speculators, a class traditionally a danger to themselves and to others during an excited market. News of greatly enlarged shipments from Australia and Argentina led to an early setback in wheat prices, but this factor was more or less lost sight of later.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Jan. 30.—Owing to the continued excitement in the Winnipeg market today for oats and barley, and the fact that prices were advanced, the export business in these lines was practically brought to a standstill as the foreign bids at the closing figures here were reported to be fully 3s. per quarter out of line for barley. The local market for oats was stronger and values for Canadian Western oats were marked up 2 cents per bushel, and Ontario's 1 cent per bushel. Ontario No. 2 white was quoted at 70 cents, No. 3 grade at 68 cents, and No. 4 grade at 66 cents per bushel, ex store.

The feature of the local flour was the further strength for winter wheat grades and prices scored a further advance of 35 to 40 cents per barrel. This was attributed to the light offerings from Ontario millers owing to the somewhat scarcity of wheat. There was no change on the condition of the spring wheat grades.

The tone of the market for millfeed remains firm under a steady demand. A moderate amount of business was transacted in rolled oats and prices were steady.

The egg trade was featured by the easier feeling that developed for fresh extras and prices were reduced tario No. 2 white was quoted at 70 were unchanged. Potatoes were reduced 10 cents per bag. Butter price scored another decline of 1-2 cent per pound. Trading in cheese was quiet with fodder made No. 1 goods quoted at 20 1-4 to 20 1-2 cents per pound, and No. 2 grade at 19 1-4 to 19 1-2 cents per pound.

Crop beans were steady at $2.90 per bushel.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30. — Public eagerness to own unlimited wheat and to reap immense profits ran into something like a stone wall today. The market went as high as $2.05 1-2 a bushel, May delivery, within three-eights of a cent of the top price record, but only speculators who could put up at least four times as much collateral as usual and show faith either for or against belief in a world shortage of breadstuffs, were allowed to take a hand in trading.

A jump of nearly four cents a bushel at Winnipeg had much to do with stimulating a lively renewal of buying here in the face of the difficulties encountered from a general enforcement of heavy margin calls.

Commission houses had found ordinary margins of five cents a bushel far too risky and were demanding all the way from 20 to 35 cents instead. Nevertheless enough big buying developed to send May wheat whirling upward temporarily and also to put September wheat beyond any previous record this season.

Quick profit taking on the new bulge in wheat prices left May and July wheat at the finish just about where they were at the close yesterday, but with September showing 1 5-8 cents a bushel net advance. One reason given for the gain in September wheat was the relative cheapness of that delivery as compared with May. Apparently numerous traders failed to grasp the fact that September represents new crop wheat still in the ground or perhaps yet unplanted, whereas May delivery means wheat actually on hand available either for domestic mills or for export to Europe.

NORTH AMERICAN LIFE GOOD YEAR

Forty-fourth Annual Report Shows Great Strides Forward.

During the year 1924, the 44th in the history of the North American Life, the Company made great strides forward in all branches of its business. The policies issued and revived amounted to $26,239,954, a very substantial increase over the figures for 1923 and the total business in force has now reached $126,625,040, which is a new high level in the Company's history.

For forty-four years the North American Life has represented the highest ideals in liberal treatment of policy holders and the fact that over $600,000.00 was paid during 1924 as profits on policies is ample proof of how well this reputation is deserved. Mr. Goldman, the President in commenting on the figures in the report pointed out that the first duty of the Company, its obligations to its policyholders, was being well fulfilled, nearly $3,000,000 being distributed in 1924 among policyholders and beneficiaries. There is no doubt that the prife object of the North American Life is that of furthering the interests of its clients, this fact being borne out by the consideraion accorded them.

Due to the expansion of business in 1924, the Companys Assets now total over $27,000,000 composed for the most part of the soundest and safest bonds and other guaranteed securities. Investments have always been restricted to the highest class of securities and it is a notable achievement that an advance of nearly $2,000,000 was made in the total Assets. A feature of the North American Life has always been its high Surplus Fund. This year this amount is over $4,500,000., more than ever before, and that is why the North Aferican Life is known everywhere as "Solid as the Continent".

A THOUGHT.

THE GREAT SATISFACTION OF HAVING A FIRM HOLD ON SOME FAITH

This question of Religion is much like a man's hat or a woman's bonnet. A man wears a soft hat, or he wears a derby. Some men wear silk hats, and what a variety of hats women wear! But every human has a hat. We simply differ as to style.

Go where you will, among the islands of the sea, and you will always find the tribes without laws, without science or without arts, but nowhere will you find a tribe without some form of belief.

Most people are not so much concerned about your creed of your denomination as they are about your spirit of human cooperation. Your worship of some ideal, or rather your service for some ideal, does not interest others as much as your disposition to do the right thing by your friends and neighbors.

It is necessary to get right while here, or we shall, as the show people say, "be left on the lot."

I accept the various forms of religions, creeds or denominations as I accept the many languages, so long as they represent right.

Religion is a belief, science a knowledge. Many men of scientific minds are not in full accord with religion. They feel they know, but let me tell you a story of the greatest scientist of his time. He felt he knew, but when his beautiful daughter lay dying, Pasteur the world-known physician, held her hand hoping for some responsive pressure; and while holding the hand of his daughter in the death-grip, he said: "I know only scentifically determined truth, but I am going to believe what I wish to believe, what I cannot but believe. I expect to meet this dear child again in another world."

Here you have the great test between Hope and Science, between Faith and Human Knowledge.

The NERVOUS WRECK

by E. J. Rath

©1924 - by NEA Service Inc.

He grumbled his way through the chores, but she could not complain that he was inefficient. Although he seemed constantly at the point of disobedience, the Wreck followed his orders. He even kept a faithful eye on the stove, while she went into the dining-room to set the table. She took a swift peep into the living-room while engaged in this task, but the Underwood family was evidently upstairs.

"Underwood?" she mused. "Can't say that I remember hearing the name around here. Fancy cattle, eh? I've heard of somebody around here who raised prize Herefords. I'll bet it's the same one. But, if it is, we're a long way from the Bar-M. We haven't any neighbors like that."

There were footsteps on the staircase that came down into the living rooms, and Sally, with a final look at the table, fled back into the kitchen.

"They're coming down," she informed the Wreck. "We've got to hurry. Thank heaven, biscuits don't take long. You keep an eye on that coffee, and don't let it boil. Stop it just when it starts. I haven't time to cook any meat; besides, I don't know where they keep it. They're going to have an omelette."

It was a very large omelette that she made, fluffy and thick, a rhapsody in yellows and golden browns. The Wreck eyed it with jealous disapproval, but she did not give him time to express an opinion. She had him opening a can of soup and pouring it into a saucepan for heating. There was time for that much, anyhow.

"I'll cook them a regular meal next time," she promised. "But this will have to do for short notice."

Her enthusiasm for the odious task depressed him.

"Don't worry your head off," he advised. "You'll get no thanks for it."

"Oh, I've got lots to do yet," said Sally, cheerfully. "For one thing, I've got to wait on the table."

The Wreck nearly upset the coffeepot in his anger.

"You will not!" he exclaimed.

"Of course I will."

"I'll not have you waiting on hogs, Sally Morgan. They can wait on themselves."

"Don't be ridiculous. They don't eat in the kitchen. Somebody's got to carry it to them."

"All right, then. I'll carry it to 'em."

She stared, then shook her head vehemently.

"You can't. You've got to dodge them as long as you can. There'll be a blow-up, as sure as a gun, the minute they see you."

"Well, I'm going to wait on them, if anybody does," he said, doggedly. "What's the use of dodging around? We may just as well find out now as any other time."

"See here, Henry Williams! If you——"

She stopped, studied his face with a new interest and remembered something. Reaching out, she lifted off his spectacles, then stepped back a pace for another inspection. Her scrutiny lasted several seconds.

"It makes you look tremendously different," she said. "Can you see anything without them?"

"I can see you," said the Wreck, blinking.

"Wait a minute."

She ran to the closet and came back carrying a starched white jacket.

"It must have belonged to one of the Chinamen," she said, "but I think it will fit you. Put it on."

She managed to get him into it, after fierce protest. Then she viewed him again.

"I really believe," she said, slowly, "that you can get away with it. With that, and the apron, and no spectacles, you don't look the least bit like a nervous wreck. You don't look like a hold-up man, anyhow. And if you're sure you can get around without falling over things, I believe I'll let you try it. But be awfully, awfully careful about your voice. Try to disguise it, if you can. Don't forget yourself and bark at them."

"I never bark."

"You did then. But you mustn't. Just keep remembering that we're still hiding out. I think they're at the table now. You can take in the soup, and don't forget to serve things from the left."

He picked up a tray and began navigating cautiously in the direction of the dining-room. Sally watched him anxiously. It was an awful risk, she thought; but if he passed the test she would feel a lot safer.

CHAPTER IX.

The Four-in-One Bandit.

There were two persons in the dining-room when the Wreck entered with the tray. He could make them out with reasonable clearness as he drew nearer to them. One was a girl, Underwood's daughter. If you like colorful blonds, she was just the right sort: slim, with a delicate prettiness that belonged to the city. Opposite her sat a youth who appeared to be a year or so older. He was well set up and rather good looking, even if there was a surly set to his features. He was drawing things on the table-cloth with the tine of a fork.

In the living-room there was a table, close to the dining-room door, and on the table was a telephone. Somebody, with a heavy voice, was using it; the Wreck identified the voice instantly. It belonged to the large man who would not share his gasoline. The girl and the youth were listening, and the Wreck, putting down his tray, listened also, pretending to be busy by wiping the soup plates with a napkin.

"Well, you've got to get him," said the heavy voice, with a note of irascible authority. "I don't care if you have to try every place in the country. He ought to leave word where he goes. This is Underwood talking. What? Yes, certainly. Oh, you understand now, do you? Well, you get him. Leave word every place you try that he's to call me. He knows who it is. And tell him it's important, see? Tell him it's the most important job he ever had. I don't call people up for nothing. Get busy."

There was the snap of a receiver roughly replaced and the creaking of a chair.

"Haven't they located him yet, ather?" called the girl.

"No and I don't believe they're half trying." Underwood was entering the dining-room. "First they thought he was over at Fisher. Now they think he's gone back to the county seat. I don't care where he is. I want him."

The owner of the ranch seated himself at the end of the table. The Wreck observed that he lowered himself into his chair with a slight stiffness of movement. It pleased him to think that he knew the cause. The mudguard of the flivver showed a tell-tale warp, where it had nudged him violently. There was no mistaking Underwood, even without the aid of spectacles. The Wreck had seen him in the white glare of road lights, toiling desperately at a crank, and the heavily-jowled face was forever marked in his memory.

"I don't see why you can't have Charley call in the men and start them out on the road," observed the youth.

"They've got work to do here," growled his father, as he spread a napkin. "And it's not their job, anyhow. It's a sheriff's job."

The Wreck, who was ladling soup at the serving table, never spilled a drop. He merely prolonged the task, as he listened.

"It seems to me he ought to have some deputy you could get hold of," suggested Harriet Underwood.

"I don't want his deputy. I don't do business with deputies. I want the man in charge. Lord knows, I pay enough taxes in this county to get a sheriff when I want one. He must be a fine sheriff to let a state of affairs like this go on."

"Well, I guess you could get another one elected, if you wanted to," remarked the young man, with an effort at lightness.

His father glared at him.

"Don't be an ass, Chester. What we want now is a sheriff—on the job. We're not running next year's election."

The Wreck, having ladled soup into three plates, picked one of them up and turned toward the table. This was the crisis, and there was no longer any use in trying to postpone it. He laid the plate in front of Miss Underwood, and then, for the first time since he had entered the room, he seemed to attract family attention.

The girl gave him a casual look and picked up her napkin. Chester's examination was equally brief. Servants were a matter of no great interest, either to himself or his sister. But the scrutiny of Jerome Underwood was more prolonged. The Wreck blinked painfully and wished that he has his glasses: he wanted to read the big man's expression more accurately.

He had fetched a second plate of soup and laid it before the ranch owner before a word was addressed to him.

"You didn't work here last summer," announced Underwood.

"No, sir."

It was a bitter wrench, but the Wreck kept his voice low and respectful.

"What's your name?"

"Williams."

"Where are you from?"

"Pittsburg, sir."

"Juse working here for the summer?"

"Yes, sir."

Underwood nodded and picked up his spoon. The Wreck moved off toward the serving table and got another plate of soup. He felt as though he were treading on air. He did not believe he was going to mind waiting on the hog, after all: it was so much satisfaction to fool him.

The head of the ranch ate his soup with purposeful speed, pushed back the plate and began drumming on the table with the tips of his thick fingers.

"It's a fine telephone service we get out here," he grumbled. "I sup pose that girl hasn't bothered her head about it since."

"But of course it may take time to locate him, father," said Miss Underwood.

"It ought not to. What's a sheriff for? He's supposed to be within call, if I know anything about his business. Here's a bunch of highway robbers running around the country, and I dare say he's never heard about it. And they talk about improving the roads for tourists!"

Jerome Underwood's voice trailed off in a low growl and he continued to drum with his fingers.

"Well, I wanted to take a shot at the one in the road and you wouldn't let me," complained Chester.

"That would have been fine business, wouldn't it?" observed his father. "He'd have shot every last one of us before you could lift your finger. You never had a chance after you got out of the car. If you wanted to take a shot at him, why didn't you do it before you climbed out?"

"But is was just a bit unexpected, father. We didn't think——"

Underwood silenced his son with a gesture.

"Of course we didn't think. We didn't think that the country was running wild, with a lot of desperadoes doing as they damn well please. But we found out differently, didn't we? You shoot at him! Why, there were three more of them up by his car. I saw them."

"Timothy said he didn't see anybody else," said Miss Underwood.

"Timothy's a blind ass. What do you expect of a chauffeur who is scared so stiff that he forgets how to work a tire pump? I say there were three men, lined up at the side of the road—with guns. Why, if it hadn't been for them I'd have had the other one."

The Wreck collected the soup plates and piled them carefully.

"You could have jumped on him while he was trying to get his car started," observed Miss Underwood, with a nod.

Her father mumbled something that did not appear to be a reply. The Wreck was feeling jubilant. He would not have missed waiting on table for the world. Now he knew how deeply he had bitten into the pride of Jerome Underwood: for even in the intimacy of the family circle Underwood had not confessed his humiliation at the crank of the flivver. He had been hidden from the famiy sight as he toiled, and now he was hiding the story. Too bad, thought the Wreck, that he had not marched the whole family up where they could see.

THE MANNING GARAGE.

Former Fitzgerald Premises Fitted Up as a Modern Garage, Fully Equipped.

After an interval of five years since engaging in the automobile business in Peterboro, Mr. B. W. Manning has purchased the fine roomy stone building, formerly occupied by Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald, on Brock street, between Aylmer and Bethune street, and had it fitted up as an up-to-date modern shop, to be known as the Manning Garage.

The building being peculiarly adapted to use as a garage, about all that was necessary was the addition of a complete air pump service, press, battery charger, cylinder hone, and full line of repair tools. The latest automatic, visible gas tank, ready for instant service, with the high test British American Peerless gas, is in place, and the entire plant is now ready for business. The office is also a supply storehouse where a full line of Dominion Royal Cord Tires, Tubes and accessories is carried in stock.

Last, but not least, the work of looking after cars left for attention, will be taken care of by Mr. James McArthur, a qualified machinist, who thoroughly understands the mechanism of any make of automobile, quickly locates any trouble, and knows what is required to put the engine in good running order. Mr. Manning promises that his charges for work done will always be moderate, a feature that will commend itself to most car owners.

Former Fitzgerald premises fitted up as a modern garage, fully equipped.

FAREWELL DINNER TO FRANK KELLOGG

Retiring U. S. Ambasasdor at Court of St. James is Honored.

LONDON, Jan. 31. — (Canadian Press).—A brilliant farewell dinner was given by the Pilgrims' Club last night to Frank B. Kellogg, who is retiring as United States Ambassador to the Court of St. James to take up the post of Secretary of State in succession to Charles E. Hughes. The function was attended by the Prince of Wales, Winston Churchill, the Earl of Balfour, a number of Cabinet officers, the Ambassadors of Belgium, Italy and France, and scores of men prominent in the civic, commercial and military life of Great Britain.

In proposing Mr. Kellogg's health Mr. Churchill paid a warm tribute to his character and ability.

Mr. Churchill made a jocular remark concerning the American dry law. "We hope," he said, "that he will tell his fellow-citizens that while we are subjects of a hereditary monarchy, we nevertheless enjoy a certain amount of personal liberty."

Before he sat down Mr. Churchill spoke with obvious pride about the British Navy, and with manifest sincerity about the accomplishments of the Washington Arms Conference.

"We have entered upon a new naval situation," he declared. "For the first time we have willingly and trustfully agreed to the conditions of the Washington agreement—that noble instrument associated with the names of Hughes and Balfour—not only guaranteed the peace of the Pacific Ocean for a definite period, but also rendered impossible the fateful and perilous rivalry in naval competition between Great Britain and the United States."

DISEASE SCOURGE ATTACKS INDIANS

Nelson House Settlement Swept by Measles and Whooping Cough.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 31.—(Canadian Press).—Word reached Winnipeg yesterday from distant Northern Manitoba of a veritable scourge of measles and whooping cough among the Indian settlement at Nelson House. The ravages of these diseases are said to have greatly reduced the number of this small colony, comprising approximately 460 wards of the Dominion Government. Medical aid is limited, the task of fighting the epidemic being placed on the shoulders of two women and Rev. Mr. Hattie, Methodist missionary.

In the fall of 1924, a similar epidemic visited the settlement and before it could be checked fifty-one members of the band had died.

Let First Things be First This Year

SMITH was figuring with a pencil on the margin of his newspaper.

"What are you working at?" asked Mrs. Smith.

"Well," said Mr. Smith, slowly, "I was just figuring on some more life insurance."

"But can we afford it?"

Smith looked at the list of his golf expenses for the past twelve months.

"Yes," he replied slowly, "I think we can—this year."

Life Insurance is a first consideration with every man with others depending on him A little golf economy saves $240 for Mr. Smith this year—more than enough to pay for $8,000 of ordinary, profit-participating life insurance in the Mutual Life of Canada.

"Nearly Lost Baby With Croup"

Has Depended on Dr. Chase's Medicines for 25 Years

This letter from Mrs. Thompson gives you some idea of why so many thousands of people depend on Dr. Chase in the hour of sickness.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has a permanent place in the great majority of Canadian homes because it is the most certain relief from Croup, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough and Asthma.

Mrs. Alex. Thompson, Whitla, Alta., writes:—"When my first baby was born, I think she would have died from croup before we could reach a doctor, if it had not been for a neighbor who had a bottle of Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine in the house. This relieved her almost immediately. That was 21 years ago, and Dr. Chase's Medicines have been friends of ours ever since."

Bad Cold

Mr. H. D. James, Merigomish, N.S., writes:—"I caught a bad cold in the early fall, and my head and chest became all stuffed up. The persistent use of Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine completely relieved me, and I shall never be without a bottle of this excellent remedy in future."

Mr. J. Lockie Wilson, superintendent of Ontario Fairs and Exhibitions, was present, and gave an interesting address concerning his work, touching upon conditions as he saw them at the British Empire Exposition at Wembley, where, he said, Canada was above and beyond any other British colony in respect to quality and display of her exhibits. He stated that the agriculturists of Canada would have to do their very best to maintain the position they now hold. This can be helped by competition, which causes friendly strife, and is beneficial, notably the field crop competitions, which the Ontario Department of Agriculture helps to a great extent and is available to any agricultural Society.

County Council.

The Hastings County Council is holding their first meeting in Belleville this week. Reeve C. B. McGuire of Stirling is in attendance, and has been honored by being chosen as chairman of the Finance Committee for 1925. He held this important position in 1924.

Congregational Meeting.

The annual meeting of the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was held on Wednesday evening. There was a good attendance, considering the very cold weather.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. R. Simpson, Mr. Lindsay Meiklejohn was chosen as chairman.

Satisfactory reports were presented from the different organizations of the church, all going to show that each had their particular work at heart and had done their best to make it a success.

The gross receipts for the year 1924 amounted to over $4,300.

A resolution of sympathy for the pastor was unanimously passed, a copy of which is to be sent to him.

It was also resolved that the congregation vote on the Union question, the Session of the church to make the necessary arrangements. The congregation has 189 members on the roll.

At the close of the meeting the ladies of the church served refreshments.

Birds Won at Picton.

Mr. H. L. VanAllen has again been very successful with his poultry exhibit. At Picton la week he exhibited 150 birds and captured 92 first, 32 second and 12 third, and 12 special prizes, besides a handsome silver cup for the best display of water fowl.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bl.haw will on Wednesday, February 4th, celebrate the 62nd anniversary of their marriage. As highly respected residents of the community everybody congratulates them at this time with best wishes for the future.

Store Destroyed.

Mr. Wilbert Jones, a former resident of Stirling, met with a severe loss when fire destroyed his store at Lyndhurst, with all its contents, he and his family escaping with barely their nig' clothes, as their residence was over the store.

His brother, Mr. Wesley Jones of Philadelphia, New York, is visiting their mother here.

The Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, are holding a series of sewing meetings and ten cent teas, the first being held at Mrs. Bissonnette's last week, and the one this week at Mrs. T. Burkitt's.

The local Tuxis Square and Trail Rangers honored Mr. Gordon Lapp of Brighton, with a banquet in St. Andrew's church on Tuesday evening. He is premier of the Older Boys' Provincial Parliament.

After the banquet Mr. Lapp addressed an audience in the main auditorium of the church.

On account of the severe weather the delegates from Madoc, West Huntingdon and Bonar Law, were prevented from being present.

Mr. James Donne has sold a lot on Baker street, to Mr. Jo. Geary, who intends to build a residence there.

Mrs. William Kyle who has resided in or near Stirling for a great many years suffered a stroke the first of the week from which she never rallied. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon from her late residence, Edward street, conducted by Rev. C. ... Barrett, of the Methodist church.

Miss Moyer, one of the High School staff, has been under the doctor's care since last week.

Mr. R. P. Coulter is still confined to his home and not gaining strength as his friends would like.

Master Calcy Marshall has been confined to his bed since Sunday with threatened appendicitis.

Mrs. (Dr.) Charles S. Green, of New York, was a recent visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Tucker, Gore street.

Mr. Don. Bissonnette, son of Mrs. Annie Bissonnette, and favorably known to a great many here when he occupied the position of teller in the United Empire Bank, when they had their office in the Conlon block, on the north side of Front street, has recently succeeded in passing his final examination as a chartered acountant.

Rev. C. F. McIntosh of Campbellford, was a visitor in Stirling on Thursday.

Our Postmaster, Mr. Fred Hulm, is all smiles; it is a boy.

On Tuesday night and Wednesday morning the thermometers recorded the lowest temeratures ever known here. At 11.30 p.m., on Tuesday, 30 below, and on Wednesday morning anywhere from 34 to 40 below, according to location.

ALNWICK RURAL 'PHONE MEETING

J. T. Drope Re-elected President With Rest of the Board.

BALANCE OF $876.

ROSENEATH, Jan. 30.—The six-Rural Telephone Company was held teenth annual meeting of Alnwick in the town hall on Wednesday afternoon with a good attendance of subscribers. The president, J. T. Drope opened the meeting with a short address in which he gave a splendid report of the work of the directors during the past year. He spoke of the practice of listening in on conversations over the telephone and especially interruptions and asked all subscribers to see that these interruptions ceased in any of their homes where this was done. Mr. Drope has been a very active president during his term of office, giving up his time unsparingly in the interests of the company.

The auditors' report was read by James Webb, giving a total expenditure of $1,746.56, a balance of $876.13 in cash and $259.70 of uncalled accounts. This was accepted as read, on motion of Thos. McCracken and Wm. Coyle.

The directors' report was accepted on motion of Chas. Grigg and Geo. Clarke.

On motion of Jas. Webb and Thos. McCracken the assesment on each subscriber per year was left the same as last year, namely, $8, this sum to include 2 pair of batteries. A night bell for the central was discussed but nothing was done.

The company had cause to meet the telephone representatives of the Railway Board during the past year and they found out that they could not charge 5 per cent. on overdue accounts, as had been the practice, but could add one dollar per annum to these accounts.

All the old officers were re-elected for the coming year, namely:

President—J. G. Drope.

Directors — Cecil Badley, Jno. Brickman, Jas. A. Brown and N. D. Timlin.

Auditors— Jas. Webb and And. Brown.

Mr. Drope, who has been the president for the past three years, asked to be relieved of his office, but the subscribers would not listen and finally prevailed on him to serve for another term.

Ubiquitous Snow Car.

A very interesting event took place in the village on Wednesday, which drew about as much attention as the first automobile did. A snowmobile owned by Mr. Duffus of Peterboro, drove into the village, having crossed the lake in its journey. It did not seem possible that a car of any description could get over the drifted roads in this vicinity.

The annual meeting of the Alnwick Agricultural Society, which was postponed on account of sickness, will be held in the town hall, Roseneath, on Wednesday afternoon, at 1.30, February 4th.

Alderman Thomas is in Milwaukee and in a wire to representatives of the Hotel Men's Association here, Thursday, declared that first-class brewery machinery can be had dirt cheap.

"Machinery can be had anywhere from 15 to 50 cents on the dollar," Mr. Thomas is said to have wired.

DOLLAR DAY WEATHER FROSTY FOR SHOPPERS

Waited at Flag Stations for Trains Overdue.

CAVAN, Jan. 31.—The severe cold on Wednesday morning made it extremely unpleasant for those Dollar Day shoppers who waited at flag stopping places for the mixed train, due at Dranoel at twenty-five minutes to seven and at Cavan a few minutes before seven. It was very late, in fact so late that it had to wait on Tapley siding for the Port McNichol train to go up at a few minutes past ten. The day before the mixed train had been still later, probably did not arrive in Peterboro until about twelve.

The extreme cold doubtless had much to do with the delay.

Cavan electors are pleased to note that Mr. J. L. McCamus has been elected Warden of the United Counties.

Mr. J. Kelly returned to Edmonton on Monday after a ten days' visit with his brother, Mr. T. A. Kelly, and sisters in Cavan and Peterboro.

Mrs B. McNeil spent a few days of this week with her aunt, Miss M. Fair, who is seriously ill at the home of her nephew, Mr. Will McCamus.

Mr. Chas. Smith put in the wood at S.S. No. 7, three cords of maple and beech, for twenty-eight dollars. It was not necessary to purchase as much wood as usual this year, as a large part of last winter's supply was still in the shed.

PETERBOROUGH COUNTY COUNCIL

SCHOOL INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

—I beg respectfully to submit my report on the schools of the Inspectorate of Peterboro East, for the year 1924.

During the year all the schools were open, but four in the northern part for less than the full school year having been closed for a part of the winter months. They were No. 2, Burleigh, Nos. 7 and 8, Chandos, and one of the schools in Section No. 2, Anstruther. No. 12, Otonabee which had been closed for two years for lack of pupils, was reopened in September with an attendance of five.

For the fall term the qualification of the teachers was as follows:

First class, 2; Second class, 70; Third class, 11; District, 4. Total 97.

There was no difficulty last midsummer, in securing fully qualified teachers for all of the schools, and no holders of District Certificates need have been employed had it not been on the basis of an understanding that where teachers with this grade of certificate attended the summer model school, they would be permitted to continue in the same school for the next year, if all other conditions were satisfactory.

The Summer model schools have served a useful purpose in providing teachers with some measure of professional training for the schools in the poorer sections during the years when it was very difficult to secure teachers for these schools. Now that conditions are changed, and there is an abundance of better trained teachers, they should either be discontinued or modified to meet the new conditions. It seems reasonable that those who have been permitted to begin the course there should be enabled to finish, but no new students should be admitted. The supply of teachers holding First, Second or Third Class Certificates is now adequate for all the schools, and these should not be crowded out by teachers of a lower grade.

In the matter of school attendance the reports indicate a slight improvement over last year. Attendance, however, depends on so many local conditions, such as the weather, the general health of the community, and other things, that it is hard to decide whether or not real progress has been made. The actual, as compared with the possible attendance for the past two years is as follows for the different municipalities:

	Per Cent. 1924.	1923.
Asphodel	82.2	83.
Bel. and Methuen	75.	74.4
Burleigh and Ans.	74.	71.
Chandos	68.	66.4
Douro	79.	80.7
Dummer	82.	79.
N. Monaghan	89.	88.
Otonabee	88.	85.5
Havelock	86.6	87.5
Lakefield	83.4	88.6
Norwood	90.8	86.6

The total enrolment of pupils was 3148 as compared with 3143 in 1923, and 3296 in 1914.

Some of the rural schools are very small. At the last inspection there were ten schools at which the total number on the roll was less than ten, and several others where it was only 11 or 12. The ten referred to had a total enrolment of 87 and the teachers were being paid at the rate of $7800 per annum. Add to this the other expenses of maintenance, and it will put the cost per pupil for these schools over a hundred dollars a year.

This is a condition that is not easily remedied. The obvious remedy would be to combine these small schools with the adjoining schools, which in many cases could be done without difficulty, were it not that popular prejudice against this method is so intense and insurmountable as to make any progress almost impossible.

A recent announcement by the Minister of Education in this connection suggested the possibility of Township School Boards. All educational authorities are of the opinion that this would be a great improvement on the present antiquated district, or as we call it, school section system. It would lead to a more equitable distribution of the cost of education. Parents would be free to send their children to the most convenient school. Boards would have authority to adjust matters, close up schools that were too small to be efficient, place teachers in positions for which their abilities and qualifications best fitted them, and to plan comprehensively for the educational interests of the whole community. Probably not the least important advantage would be the increased control it would give the people over their own educational affairs.

As things are, complaints are loud and frequent that there is a lack of local control. Trustees tell you that they have nothing to do but hire some one to light the fires and sweep floors. Ratepayers take so little interest that it is frequently difficult to get an annual meeting. As an illustration of this lack of control, in one direction at least, consider the township of Otonabee. During 1924, there was raised in that township, by direct taxation, for school purposes a sum slightly over $19,000, of which only $5438, or a little more than a quarter, was in any way under the control of the people of the township. The rest had to be raised whether or not they approved. The introduction of a larger unit of administration, such as township boards, with control over secondary as well as elementary education, would eliminate a lot of this, and give wider and more complete control.

Some new construction was undertaken during the year. A new building was erected in the northern end of S. S. No. 2, Anstruther. The former building was of logs, out of date and out of repair, and entirely unsuitable for school purposes. Notwithstanding these things I have to say that I entirely disapproved of the erection of a new building. There was a good building in the southern end of the section, and as there are only a dozen children or less in the whole section, they should all have been brought to the one school.

Somewhat extensive repairs were made in a few other places, most of which were long overdue. The cost of this kind of work has been so high of late that there has been a disposition to let things go as long as possible. The result is that there are now a number of schools where repairs and improvements will have to be made in the near future, whatever the cost may be.

There are now three Fifth Form classes in the inspectorate. Those at Keene and Lang have been in operation since September, 1923, and have proved very successful. There are at present, at Keene 22, and at Lang 14 students in these classes. The great drawback in both places is the lack of suitable and adequate accommodations. At Warsaw, a class of seven pupils are taking this work and are doing well. The attendance at all these classes is likely to increase.

All of which is respectfully submitted by, yours respectfully,

RICHARD LEES,
P. S. Inspector.

MAKE CARE OF BABIES EASIER

Stomach disturbances and constipation are responsible for much of the peevishness of babies and young children. When the baby is cross or irritable the mother should not resort to so-called soothing mixtures to correct the trouble, for in the majority of cases these mixtures simply drug the child into an unnatural sleep. What is needed is a gentle laxative that will sweeten the stomach and regulate the bowels. Such a remedy is found in Baby's Own Tablets. They are easy to take and are guaranteed to be entirely free from opiates and narcotics. Concerning them, Mrs. Jos. Tousaignant, Ste. Sophie, Que., writes: "I would like all mothers to know that I feel there is no other medicine to equal Baby's Own Tablets. I always keep a box in the house and their prompt use never fails to restore my little ones to health." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

I.O.D.E. ENTERTAIN SISTER VISITORS

Norwood Chapter Has Splendid Programme—Record of Year's Work.

NORWOOD, Jan. 31. — A very pleasant time was spent at the home of Mrs. B. W. Squire on Wednesday afternoon, when the members of the 40th Northumberland Chapter I.O.D.E. entertained a number of the Harry Lauder Chapter I.O.D.E. of Havelock. A program of instrumental numbers by Mrs. J. Stan Weir, Miss Rhoda Frost and Miss Jean Tedford and recitations by Mrs. C. Adams and Miss Stella Burgess, was enjoyed by all present. An alphabet contest was also indulged in, after which a delightful lunch was served from a table decorated in colors of yellow and pink. Mrs. W. H. Brethen poured tea and Mrs. D. B. Cutcliffe cut the ices.

As the visitors did not have to leave until the 8.55 p.m. train, progressive euchre was played until it was time to leave.

Mrs. B. Haig was the winner of the first prize. Before leaving Mrs. Vance, Regent of the Havelock Chap termade a few remarks, thanking the Norwood ladies for their hospitality and said that she hoped the path between Norwood and Havelock would be made more use of in the future.

The officers for the 40th Northumberland Chapter I.O.D.E. of Norwood for 1925 are:—

Regent—Mrs. B. W. Squire.
1st Vice-Regent—Mrs. R. E. Birdsall.
2nd Vice-Regent—Mrs. D. B. Cutcliffe.
Secretary—Miss E. Cuffe.
Treasurer—Mrs. John Weir.
Standard Bearer—Mrs. J. Frost.
Echoes Secretary — Mrs. F. K. Kempt.
Educational Secretary—Mrs. E. P. Cuffe.

The society has had a very successful year. At the beginning of the year they decided to work for a memorial to be erected in memory of "Our Heroes". As a result of their efforts a monument has been erected at the head of Colborne street. The grounds around it have been terraced and sodded, cement steps and walk have been built and altogether the spot presents a very creditable appearance. As it now stands everything has been paid. It is purposed to put some more improvements in the spring.

MARMORA NEWS.

Young People Have Debate and Musical Programme.

MARMORA, Jan. 31.—A very interesting meeting was held at the Young People's League of the Methodist Church on Wednesday evening.

The devotional exercises were led by Mr. Cotterell. Then the chair was taken by Miss Conner, 3rd vice-president.

Miss Alma Osborne sang a solo, with violin accompaniment.

The next item was a debate, "Is a Lie Ever Justifiable?" The affirmative speakers were Miss Nellie Williams and Miss Florence Clare. On the negative side were Miss Hazel Williams and Miss Edith Phillips. The judges were Miss Longmore, Miss Conner and Mr. Cotterell.

The speakers spoke well, and both sides did good work in refuting the points of the other side.

After a lengthy deliberation, the judges gave the decision in favor of the negative side by one point.

While the judges were making their decision, the programme was continued.

Miss Marjory Colster read "Thirty Years with a Shrew." Miss Hart gave a very fine violin solo. Then all joined in community songs until the decision was ready.

Miss Longmore, in giving the decision, reviewed some of the points showing how they might have improved on them.

Mr. G. B. Airhart, Reeve of Marmora village, and Mr. Richard Bonter, Reeve of Marmora Township, are attending County Council in Belleville.

Marmora Won.

Wednesday night Marmora High School's hockey team played in Madoc. The score was 7-2 in favor of Marmora.

HANGING CURTAINS.

An easy way to hang curtains in a kitchen or room where they must be laundered frequently is to suspend a fine wire across the top of the window and sew a row of dress hooks on the top of the curtain. They are easily taken off and put on.

Boston Hockey Player to Use Steel Guard.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 31.—(Canadian Press).—Howell Van Gerbig, defence man on the Boston Athletic Association team of the United States Amateur Hockey Association, who was injured recently in a game with the Fort Pitt team in Pittsburgh, will wear a steel face guard in future appearances on the ice, he announced Friday. An X-ray examination disclosed that Van Gerbig suffered four fractures of the left cheek bone. A similar injury befell Dr. Charles Stewart, goaltender of the Boston professional hockey team, who was hurt in practice on Monday. Stewart played against the Canadiens of Montreal in a National Hockey League game here Tuesday with one eye shut. Friday it was found that the left cheek bone was fractured. A substitute will be used in to-night's game against the Hamilton Tigers at Hamilton, Ont.

Interdependence of Transportation and Industry

The following paper was delivered at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club by Mr. W. S. Campbell, of Toronto, formerly of Peterboro, transportation expert with the Canadian General Electric Company, Canada Foundry Company, Allis-Chamlers etc.

Confederation.

In approaching the subject we will probably get a better grasp of the importance of transportation by carrying our thoughts back about sixty years and this will be back of the experience of most everyone in this room.

The first Parliament of Canada assembled on November 6th, 1867, under the articles of confederation.

We express our appreciation of the unrelenting energy, ability and business judgment of the late Honorable George Brown and the Hon. Sir John A. Macdonald as being practically the founders of confederation. But, you say, what has this to do with industry and transportation—Well let us see.

A large measure of the opposition to confederation centred in New York City in those days. Why did it centre in New York? Because the financial interests of that country, at that time, took no serious view of the future of Canada any more than to consider it a section of country which was for all time to come to be accessible to them at their pleasure, and their solution of the necessities of this country at that time, and in their opinion, was the building of branch lines of railway jutting north from the Great Northern Railway and the Northern Pacific, and, in this way, serve and develop the Western portion of Canada for the benefit of the United States. This was financial New York's idea in those days.

More than once, suggestions were made that something might be done if the idea of an all-Canadian route were abandoned as impossible, and a great part of the line built in the United States. That would have destroyed the national character of the proposition, and in face of almost certain failure the Government stuck to the original project of a Canadian railway, to develop Canadian territory and unite the scattered British provinces into a Canadian nation.

This must bring clearly within our comprehension the fact that what really made confederation possible in Canada was the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway east and west out of the city of Winnipeg and I might remark that at this time there were only about 200 people in Winnipeg.

Railways Transportation Basis of Industrial Relationship.

The developing of this line east and west until it reached the Atlantic and the Pacific was absolutely the basis upon which the various provinces of Canada were drawn into one great Dominion, and the conceiving of the idea and the construction of this line should remain as a vivid picture in the minds of the younger generations to follow. Incidently, I may say that I think we all have the feeling that in our lower grades of school we are slightly lax in our teaching of Canadian history. A lot of children get away from school before they have got a good grasp of what Confederation meant.

Might I not claim, therefore, without fear of contradiction that the building of a great steam railway across this country has formed the basis that has brought to this generation and this country the privilege of representation in Imperial conferences and all important Imperial matters within the British Empire.

This shows us clearly that transportation is a basic factor in the status of a nation.

Western Canada's Growth.

Let us compare just a few statistics having reference to the Prairie Provinces of Canada only. I will not burden you with very many figures, but just a few pertinent facts by way of comparison to show what growth means and what is necessary as a foundation of growth.

In 1890 there were approximately 1,400,000 acres of land under cultivation, while in 1923 this had grown to over 37,800,000 acres and still only one fifth of the agricultural land of the west has been taken up.

In 1891 there were 219,305 people in these Provinces while in 1923 their population was over two millions.

In 1891 there were approximately 148,000 horses in these Western Provinces, while in 1923 there were over 2,300,000 horses and this is just one item of livestock.

The production of grain alone in these Provinces in 1923 was 22,400,000 tons, and, in addition, huge quantities of vegetables, butter, eggs, hay, etc. were produced.

In 1923 there were mined in Western Canada over seven million tons of coal or 43 per cent of all that was produced in Canada.

In 1890, as far as records go, there was not steam turbine installation in Western Canada. In 1923 there was 195,092 H.P. being produced and consumed.

These Prairies Provinces are capable of producing under a minimum flow four million H.P. of electrical energy and for six months of the year eight million H.P. The Nelson river alone can produce two-and-a-half million H.P. Do we comprehend just what these figures mean?

There are 124 people for every mile of railway and there is one mile of railway for every sixteen occupied farms.

In 1900 these provinces had 3,716 miles of railway and in 1924 they had 15,820 miles.

We have in Canada about 221 people per mile of railway while the United States give their railways the benefit of a population of about 420 to the mile and we hear it occasionally said that we are overbuilt. We have put a sure foundation under our future.

Not very long ago I heard one of the best posted men on railway matters in the United States make the remark that of the two positions, ours was the preferable, and what was in his mind was development.

Now my feeling is that we are inclined to think too little of our railways and to appreciate the benefits which naturally result from the existence of the same. Transportation must lead in the matter of development.

Is it not clear to you that without the expansion of the railways, the Prairie Provinces would be standing today practically where they stood in 1890 and you may be saying to yourselves—why stress the Prairie Provinces to this extent?

More Contented People.

Well, we are all sufficiently familiar with economics to know that anything which is produced of commercial value and circulated helps form a link in the endless chain of our economic existence. By this I mean that the enormous possibilities of Western Canada, the tonnage which it produces and the value of that tonnage in dollars and cents when put into circulation must form a very important factor in the circulation of wealth within our fair Dominion.

1923, $394,131,082.00; 1924, $384,019,137.00.

More wealth produced means more industry and more industry means more jobs and more jobs means a more contented people and when you have reached this stage you have sounded the birth of the greatest asset known to any nation.

A happy and contented people will surely discharge that huge National debt resulting from the war, to which the Prime Minister himself so forcibly referred in his speech recently delivered in the city of Toronto.

Now I think we must be pretty well convinced that what has developed these Provinces between 1890 and 1924 is transportation more than any other single factor.

If such is the case, and facts prove it to be such, then it must go without contradiction that the more transportation we introduce into these Provinces the greater will be the wealth which must flow from them and the better will be our position in the east resulting from the circulation of the wealth of the west. Then why not the branch lines? Statisticians and financial men all claim that the wealth produced in the west very quickly finds it way to the east where the more highly industrialized area is centred.

If we but take time to reflect upon the enormous resources of this young country in the form of mineral wealth, forests, fisheries, agriculture, and manufactured products, surely it should dispel some of our fear as to the final outcome. It can well be said that our National debt is secured by our raw material assets and well secured.

But we must not rest where we are, but rather should we strive harder and have continually before us the question of the development, of these great natural resources which we have inherited, and by their natural continuous development and in the process of time, find ourselves feeding our railways with such a tonnage as will make their operation possible on an economical basis, and many of the young men here will live to see the day when they will be thankful that their predecessors invested so freely in transportation service.

Let us comprehend the fact that the possible land fit for cultivation in the West is over 167 million acres and I have already told you that only about 38 million acres have been taken up. We need a greater development in this section of the country for the circulation of wealth. It will help our trade balance and improve exchange.

Probably we could best catch the picture of the whole situation vividly and forcibly were we to ask ourselves the question: What would the city of Peterboro be if it were not for the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways? What will appeal to you as an answer to such a question will apply exactly in the same ratio throughout the whole country.

Again, I say, build those branch lines. We need the production which follows in their wake.

Develop Natural Resources and Industry in Parallel.

Your railways bring to you large supplies of raw materials; they also carry to you materials that are needed to erect buildings and factories; machinery for installation in your factories; the materials for the houses required by your people who work in your factories and the furniture, food and clothing necessary for your people, and so the list would go on at great length. They carry material that goes into the banks, shops, the streets, the sewers, and the water-works system, that is required to serve you and your industries.

The services performed by your people through these industrial pursuits must naturally support your doctors, lawyers, insurance brokers, mercantile agencies, wholesalers, retailers, and many others, who must give their services to the population in general.

In fact our whole economic condition is entirely and absolutely dependent upon the efficiency of the transportation service which we maintain and operate and only will a city, town or country expand in proportion as its means of interchange of traffic expands. It is entirely and absolutely inconceivable that industry can do without transportation any more than transportation can do without industry.

In 1913 the number of passengers carried on our Canadian railways was, in round figures, 46 million, in 1922 the number of passengers carried was 44 million. In 1913 the railways carried 106 million tons of freight and in 1923 they carried 108 million tons. During this time we built 10,000 miles of additional railway.

You will observe from what I have just stated that in passengers handled there was a slight decrease over the ten years ending 1922 while in freight tons handled there was a slight increase. In neither case is the record good.

The builders of this additional mileage of railway naturally anticipated a greater domestic growth. We need increased population and we need terrific investments of capital to develop our natural resources.

You say, why build more lines if we have not enough tonnage for present systems.

Well, those branch lines were to act as feeders to the present system and it is better to feed it than scrap any mileage.

These are things which the Government are striving to accomplish but you know that large bodies move slowly and, as for your local representative you have a pretty fair idea of his avoirdupois. Give him time and give him your support and he will obtain results.

So far as our transportation systems are directly concerned, what they need is more passengers and more freight. This is all they are equipped to handle and the only business they are permitted to engage in.

This increase in passenger and freight traffic can only come from an intelligent and well balanced development in this country. But, you say, where is this increase to come from? It will come from a greater production in our agricultural pursuits, our mines, our forests, our fisheries, and articles of production in our various factories. There is no other source for it to come from.

Look where you will in any country in the world today and where do you find well-equipped, well-operated and paying railways? You will find them in those countries where industrial development is the highest because other developments naturally follow in the trend of industry.

The Cure.

Now we have come to that point where we have convinced ourselves that our railways need more passengers and more freight tonnage and we have indicated that there is but one source from which this must come, viz., our natural resources and our industries.

It is about time we asked ourselves the question as to whether or not there is a cure in whole or in part for this condition and, if so, what is it?

I am prepared to state, without any fear of contradiction, that a large part of this situation is curable and it lies within the province of your hands and mine to apply the cure.

First, it is sentimental; second, it is easy of application; third, it is absolute in operation; fourth, the cure may be applied without injury to ourselves. Could anything appeal as more reasonable.

Now, you say, what is the cure? It is this, viz, that if you and I and every other citizen of this country when spending his weekly portions of normal expenditure would insist and demand goods which are produced in Canada in exchange for his money we would change the whole position of this country for the better in less time than it takes to tell you.

I have absolutely no quarrel or bone of contention with your wholesalers or retailers. It is not their fault. The fault is ours and it is more sentimental than any other thing. The wholesaler and the retailer must buy goods which he can sell, otherwise you know what happens to him and he is just as good a citizen as any one of us and if you and I would but demand and insist that we be supplied with goods produced in Canada no one will be more ready to serve us than that same wholesaler and retailer and serve us with better advantage to themselves.

Carry this question right to your own heart and consider yourself going down the street to spend ten dollars for hosiery and other knitted goods and your neighbor who ought to be employed in the knitted goods industry is out of employment. Do we ever stop to think of what we were taught in Sunday school, namely, to treat our neighbor as ourself. Apply the golden rule.

You know when you have spent that ten dollars for goods produced in a foreign country that your ten dollars went out of the country and that the labor of that country entered into competition with your neighbor who is out of employment. While, on the other hand, had you insisted that your ten dollars buy Canadian goods your money would have remained within your own country to help support the country and your neighbor would be given that much better opportunity of securing employment and help bear his natural portion of the burden of the operating of the country.

Gentlemen, I am absolutely convinced we are all too easily led in our sentiments and we have no one to blame for our condition but ourselves and it is up to each and every one of us to rise to the opportunity and make cast-iron resolutions in this new year.

If we insist on being supplied with goods produced in Canada our railways will get the haul on the raw material as well as the finished article.

Let us resolve to do our duty to ourselves, our country and our railways.

DRUGS HAVE NEVER CURED CONSTIPATION

It is surprising to note the number of people who buy drugs year after year for Constipation. Drugs only aggravate the trouble and add more poisons to a system already poisoned.

When you are constipated your blood is in poor condition. Your resistance to practically every disease is lowered. You take cold easily, you lose your appetite, your digestion is poor, and generally life is miserable and cheerless. Even rheumatism, appendicitis and hardening of the arteries are often due to ordinary everyday constipation.

Internal Bathing is a drugless, sensible method of ending constipation. Unlike strong, griping, over-energetic drugs which must injure the stomach before working on the bowels, Internal Bathings acts directly on the congested colon.

Thousands of people have stopped the drugs and welcomed the J.B.L. Cascade, the perfected invention of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, of New York, for Internal Bathing. His theory was: Keep the blood pure and you will be well. A jeweler of Cobalt wrote us: "Before geting the J.B.L. Cascade our doctor's bills were over $200.00 each year. For two years now we have not had a doctor in the house. We all use the Cascade."

Send for booklet "The What, the Why, the Way of Internal Bathing," and learn many surprising facts about auto-intoxication and the modern J.B.L. warm water treatment. The booklet is entirely free; no canvassed will call on you. Write to-day to Tyrell's Hygienic Institute, 181 College street, Toronto.

This booklet may be obtained and the J.B.L. Cascade shown to you at The Warne Drug Company, Peterboro.

This Lassie Has Her Colds "Rubbed Away"

The mother of this attractive little girl, Mrs. E. E. Emmans, of 215 Seventh Ave., N.E., Portage La Prairie, Man., is one of the many Canadian mothers who are enthusiastic about the vaporizing salve, Vicks Vapo Rub, for treating children's colds. Mrs. Emmans writes: "My little girl had croup at night pretty badly and Vicks did her a lot of good. I have also used it with very satisfactory results for head and chest colds."

Vicks is just "rubbed in" for sore throat, tonsilitis, bronchitis, croup or deep chest colds. When so applied, Vicks has a double direct action; internally medicated vapors are inhaled while, at the same time, externally, it is absorbed through and stimulates the skin.

FREE STATE IS URGED TO HELP

Famine Crisis in West Ireland is Not Changing for Better.

EVEN FIRES OUT.

By George MacDongh, United Press Staff Correspondent

DUBLIN, Jan. 31.—Public pressure was brought to bear upon the Free State Government to-day to intervene in the famine crisis of the west.

An official statement was being prepared, concretely defining the areas in which the failure of the potato crop had brought on conditions akin to starvation. The government is also attempting to estimate the precise amount of charity relief needed.

Everything depends upon the weather conditions of the remainder of the winter and early spring. Continuous rains not only have blighted the potato crops and deprived thousands of their own source of food, but have inundated the peat bogs where the peasants were won't to get their fuel for the winter.

A continuation of inclement weather will undoubtably result in a situation surpassing the worst famine in all Ireland's history.

The Government is perfecting a map of the famine area, showing the "black misery" pockets and sections where the fuel supply is from one half to two thirds below normal. Such a condition exists in County Cork as well as on the western seaboard.

Government officials are confident but it is certain that the present relief fund of £500,000 is insufficient.

SMALL MARKET IN CITY TO-DAY

Little Produce Offered—Butter Was 40 Cents and Eggs 50.

FOWL PLENTIFUL.

The open section of the farmers' market had very few vendors this morning, and there was little on sale outside of meat, a few loads of wood, a sparse collection of vegetables, and a few apples. Beef was selling at 10 and 12 cents a pound and pork at 16 and 18 cents. Onions were 40 cents a peck, and pickled cucumbers 30 cents a basket.

Peewaukee apples were 50 cents a peck, and McIntosh Reds were 75 cents. A few five-pound pails of honey were priced at 75 and 85 cents for light and dark supply.

Upstairs, fowl was plentiful. Chickens were priced at 30 cents a pound, hens at 25c, ducks were 35c and geese 25c. Butter was selling generally at 40 cents a pound, and eggs anywhere from 50 to 55 cents a dozen. Toothsome - looking pickles in large and small sealers, one and three quart size, were 75 cents and a dollar.

SEEK A SETTLEMENT.

Charlie Chaplin and His Sixteen Year Old Bride Negotiate.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—(Canadian Press.)—Attorneys are negotiating a financial settlement between Charles Spencer Chaplin, motion picture comedian and the sixteen year old bride he married in Mexico last November, says the Los Angeles Times to-day.

The fact that Mrs. Chaplin former Lita Grey, leading woman for Chaplin had joined the members of her family in consulting an attorney became known, according to the Times, upon arrival here week ago of Edwin McMurray, San Francisco Attorney and uncle of the bride.

McMurray to-day is quoted by the Times as admitting that financial negotiations are "in progress" though declaring "that there is no connection betwen these negotiations and any contemplated action for separation or divorce." Chaplin himself has avoided interviews ever since his return from Empalme, Mexico, with his bride and efforts to communicate with him, relative to the reported financial settlement negotiations have met with failure.

What part, if any, the anticipated arrival of an heir to the Chaplin fortune has played or will play in the negotiations was not disclosed.

GIVE PEACE RIVER BETTER RAILWAYS

Sir Henry Thornton Thinks Steps Will be Taken in 1925.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 31 (Canadian Press).—Referring to the Peace River transportation question, in an interview here last night, Sir Henry Thornton stated that engineers of the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific Rilways were examining the various entrances to the Peace River district, to ascertain exactly what should be done, having regard for the interests of all concerned. "No definite statement can be made on what action the Canadian National Railways will take until the conclusions of these experts are available," Sir Henry declared. He thought, however, that before the year was out, preliminary but definite steps would be taken to give this district improved transportation facilites.

RUSSIA IS BUYING WHEAT THIS YEAR

Nations Formerly Supplied by Russia Are Forced to Purchase Elsewhere.

(By Lloyd Allen—United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The fact that Russia is buying wheat this year instead of selling, is the outstanding factor in the world wheat situation.

Half a dozen nations which normally received their wheat supply from Russia are now forced to buy of the United States, Canada and Australia.

Last year Russia exported four million tons of wheat, this year she is buying in the open market.

Rubinovitch, head of the Russian trade delegation in London, defended the action, saying present purchases were a precautionary measure in view of what might happen in the next three months.

"This year's crop in Russia is ten to twelve per cent, less than last year's, besides which our peasants are hoarding their grain, Rubinovitch declared.

INSURANCE COMPANY WON'T PAY DELORME

Claim in Superior Court Alleges Raoul Committed Suicide.

MONTREAL, Jan. 31 (Canadan Press).—That Raoul Delorme, half brother of Rev. Father Adelard Delorme, committed suicide on or about January 6th, 1922, and that in consequence, the policy insuring his life for $25,000, in favor of the priest, is now void, is the plea advanced in the superior court by "La Sauvegarde Insurance Company." This company, contesting Father Delorme's claim for insurance, declares that the policy is also void, because Raoul Delorme made false statements when it was issued. Another allegation is that Father Delorme made the policy a mere gamble on his half brother's chance of dying before he changed his will and that, in any case, the claim is now outlawed.

FIGHT AGAINST "BLACK DEATH"

Plague of North is Spreading With Frightful Speed.

TO USE AIRPLANES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(Canadian Press).—The speed of an air machine is to be pitted against that of a faithful Alaskan dog in carrying relief to the beleaguered people of Nome in the fight against diphtheria, the "black death" of the north.

A telegram received by Delegate Sutherland of Alaska yesterday from the Mayor Nome, conveyed information that the situation there had taken a sudden turn for the worse. The plague is spreading with fearful speed, and it was decided to try the airplane method of relief, if possible.

At the same time, Leonard Segalla, one of the champion dog team drivers of Alaska, has started from Nome with a team of 21 champion Siberian dogs to meet the sledge which is "mushing" through to Nome from Nenana.

Public health service this morning started a million units of additional anti-toxin serum from Seattle on a fast steamer to be relayed either by dogs or airplanes after it reaches Alaska.

Catholic Women's League.

Annual Reports Presented and Officers Elected for the Year.

A very well-attended meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum on Thursday evening, when annual reports were read by various officers and elections for the ensuing year took place.

The reports showed a very encouraging impetus given to the society's work during the past year, and a great deal of excellent endeavor accomplished along all lines. The Catholic Women's League has a wide variety of interests, ranging all the way from co-operation in various social activities to a great deal of good work in charitable relief measures and sewing, both for the children at St. Vincent's Orphanage and for the linen chests at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The President, Mrs. C. J. Snider, spoke briefly, outlining the work of the year; Mrs. Jno. Coughlin gave the report of relief work, Mrs. J. Lynch on the Orphanage sewing, Mrs. A. J. MacPherson on Hospital sewing, Mrs. B. Law on the membership campaign, and reports of the treasurer, the corresponding and recording secretaries were given by Mrs. Ed. H. Hickey, Mrs. F. J. McFadden and Mrs. F. A. Hodgson, the last report reviewing in satisfactory fashion the various activities of the League during the past year.

The election of officers was carried out by ballot. Various nominations for president were made, Mrs. C. J. Snider, the former president, being returnerd again by a large majority. The other officers are as follows: 1st Vice-President, Mrs. J. W. Fitzgerald; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. H. Owen; 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. E. G. Hiland; Recording Secretary, Mrs. F. A. Hodgson; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. F. J. McFadden; Treasurer, Mrs. E. H. Hickey.

An exeecutive meeting will be held next week, when convenors of committees will be appointed.

FLY TRAPS FOR THE FARM AND HOME

Preparations to trap the flies that molest farm animals should be made now, so that the earliest possible precautions against these pests may be taken.

There are various kinds of traps for various purposes, but there are two main types in which the farmer is most interested. These are the Hodge type trap and the conical hoop flytrap, both of which catch flies in great numbers and have proven of remarkable success.

The flies which bother the farmer most are the blowflies, which breed in animal matter, and the flies that breed in vegetable and animal matter, of which the house fly is most important. The bait for these is prepared accordingly.

Conical Trap

A trap that appears best for effective trapping, durability, ease of construction and repair, and cheapness may be made as follows:

The trap consists essentially of a screen cylinder with a frame made of barrel hoops in the bottom of which is inserted a screen cone. The height of the cylinder is 24 inches, the diameter 18 inches and the cone is 22 inches high and 18 inches in diameter at the base.

Material necessary for the trap consists of four wooden barrel hoops, one barrel head, four laths, 10 feet of strips 1 to 1½ inches wide by ¼ inch thick (portions of oil boxes will suffice), 61 linear inches of 12 to 24 mesh galvanized screening 24 inches wide for the cone and door, an ounce of carpet tacks, and two turn-buttons which may be made of wood.

One of these traps is shown in Figs. 1 and 2. Two of the hoops are bent in a circle 18 inches in diameter on the inside, and nailed together, the ends being trimmed to give a close fit. These form the bottom of the frame (A), and the other two, prepared in a similar way, the top (B).

Top Construction

The top (C) is made of an ordinary barrel head with the bevel edge sawed off sufficiently to cause the head to fit closely in the hoops and allow secure nailing.

A square, 10 inches on each side, is cut out of the centre of the top to form a door. The portions of the top are held together by one-inch strips (D) placed around the opening one-half inch from the edge to form a jamb for the door.

The door consists of a narrow frame (E) covered with screen (F) well fitted to the trap and held in place, not hinged, by buttons (G).

The top is then nailed in the upper hoops and the sides (H) formed by closely tacking screen wire on the outside of the hoops. Four laths (I) (or light strips) are nailed to the hoops on the outside of the trap to act as supports between the hoops, and the ends are allowed to project one inch at the bottom to form legs (J).

The cone (K) is cut from the screen and either sewed with fine wire or soldered where the edges meet at (L), or a narrow lath may be nailed along these edges. The apex of the cone is then cut off to give an aperture (M) one inch in diameter. It is then inserted in the trap and closely tacked to the hoop around the base.

Building the Cone

To build the cone, first cut a pattern from a large piece of heavy paper. Fig. 3 shows how to lay out the cone for this trap.

An ordinary square is placed on the material from which the pattern is to be cut. A distance (22 inches) equal to the height of the cone is laid off on one leg of the square at A, and a distance (9 inches) equal to one-half of the diameter of the base of the cone is laid off on the other leg at B, and a line is drawn between the points A and B.

With the distance between these points as a radius and with the point A as a centre, the portion of a circle C D, is drawn. With a pair of dividers, the legs of which are set one inch apart, or with the square, lay off as many inches on the arc C D, starting at C, as there are inches around the base of the cone, which, in this case, is about 56½, reaching nearly to the point E. Then add one-half inch for the lapping of the edges of the cone, and one-half inch which is taken up when the cone is tacked in, thus making a total distance from C to E of 57½ inches.

Draw a line from A to C and another from A to E, and cut out the pattern on these lines and on the arc from C to E. The edges A C and A E are then brought together, lapped one-half inch and sewed with wire or soldered. After the aperture of the cone is formed by cutting off the apex, as previously described, it is ready for insertion in the trap.

Light Essential

Under no condition should the sides or top of the trap be of solid material, as the elimination of light from top or sides has been found to decrease the catch from 50 to 75 per cent.

Prof. C. F. Hodge has designed a trap (Fig. 4) adapted for use in windows. This trap is built so as to catch the flies as they enter or leave through the window. It is adaptable to barns that are fairly free from cracks or other places where flies may enter. It may also be used on windows of buildings where foodstuffs are prepared and where flies endeavor to enter through the windows or escape after having gained entrance through other passageways.

All openings not provided with traps should be closely screened, and on large buildings traps may be installed in every third window.

Details of Hodge Type

This trap is essentially a screen box closely fitted to the frame of a window. The thickness of the box (A) should be about 12 inches. Instead of the screen running straight down over the box on either side, it is folded inward nearly to the centre of the frame in V-shaped folds running longitudinally across the window.

One, two, or even more folds may be made in the screen on either side. The upper side of the fold (B) should extend toward the centre almost at right angles with the side of the trap, that is, parallel with the top and bottom; and the lower side (C) should slant downward, as shown in the drawing. The sides of the frame may be cut out at the proper angle and the pieces (D) returned after the screen has been tacked along the edges.

Along the apex (inner edge) of each fold is punched a series of holes (E) about one-half inch in diameter and one inch apart. The apices of the fold on either side of the window should not be directly opposite.

A narrow door (F) opening downward on hinges should be made on one side of the trap at the bottom for removal of the dead flies. The entire trap is fastened to the window by hooks so that it may be readily taken off.

Proper Bait

In choosing a bait, it should be remembered that it is largely the fermentation that renders the material attractive, and that baits are most attractive during the most active period of fermentation. The kind of bait used should be governed by the species of flies to be destroyed.

A mixture of cheap cane molasses (black-strap) and water is among the most economical and effective baits for the house fly. One part of molasses is mixed with three parts of water. The attractiveness becomes marked on the second or third day.

On dairy farms, probably milk is the next choice, considering its convenience. The curd from milk, with about one-half pound of brown sugar added to each pound, and water to make it thoroughly moist, is a very good bait, and continues to be attractive for 10 days or more if kept moist.

During hot weather, stirring the old bait or adding fresh is a daily necessity if best results are desired.

Decaying Fruit

For blowflies, overripe or fermenting fruit, such as watermelon rinds or crushed bananas, placed in the bait pans sometimes gives satisfactory results. A combination of overripe bananas with milk is much more attractive than either one used separately. A considerable number of blowflies as well as house flies are attracted to such baits.

The size of the bait contained in relation to the size of the trap is important. It has been found that a small pan or deep pan of bait set in the centre under a trap will catch only a small fraction of the number of flies secured by using larger, shallow containers.

The best and most convenient pan for baits is a shallow circular tin, such as the cover of a lard bucket. Its diameter should be about 4 inches less than that of the base of the trap, thus bringing the edge within 2 inches of the outside edge of the trap.

The catch can be increased slightly by placing a piece of sponge or a few chips in the centre of the bait pan to provide additional surface upon which the flies may alight.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE FARM PAGE

ABOUT ALFALFA.

Dear Sir,—In the issue of your paper, dated Jan. 21, I read an article, written by G. A. Carpenter, on "Sweet Clover as a Great Crop."

Now, I would like to say, in the beginning, that our section of county is a good grain-growing part of country and that sweet clover has been tried here. The good farmers and those who have good farms, have found out sweet clover to be a poor investment, either for feed or as a land improver. What is the benefit derived from selling your birthright for a mess of pottage by getting sweet clover, and later, sweet clover get you?

In the first place, Mr. Carpenter says sweet clover improves the soil faster than red clover. Well, we, in this section, cannot see it that way, for the men in this neighborhood, who grow the largest crops, are the men who never grow sweet clover. Alfalfa, which is fast becoming popular in our community, will improve the soil just as fast as sweet clover, and you need not fear of it spreading and smothering out your other crops, as sweet clover will do, and has done in hundreds of cases.

In regard to alfalfa bloating cattle, well, I have not heard of a case around here, but have heard of sweet clover doing so. Mr. Carpenter says sweetf clover will grow on the poorest of land. I am of the opinion that he must have some of that poor land, because I will admit it will grow where nothing else will. That is one objection I have to it; it will grow in the middle of the road, and any fence corner. All you have to do is travel some of our railroads in the fall to satisfy yourself if it is not becoming a nuisance, as there is miles and miles of railroad that is will cost as much to keep down the sweet clover weed as to keep the tracks cleared of snow.

What is the benefit of improving your farm by growing sweet clover (I doubt if it will improve very much), and then have it take possession of your farm in the long run? Not for me.

I heard a local seed merchant say, the other day, he did not think he would stock up with much sweet clover seed for seed, as he did not think there would be much of it sowed this spring, but he was going to stock up with alfalfa as he thought it was becoming very popular as a feed and soil improver. I heard another man say he made $1,000 out of sweet clover seed a few years ago. He said, a short time ago, that he would gladly give back the $1,000, and more on top of it, if he had never seen the stuff.

In a few years it will be almost impossible to get any clover for seed that is not infested with sweet clover, which is fast becoming one of the worst weeds we will have to contend with, and the dear knows we have enough weeds to fight now.

In conclusion, I would say grow alfalfa. You will have more feed and better feed, your land improved just as fast, and you will not have the fear and worry of your farm being taken away from you in the night.

THE COWHORN TURNIP.

Dear Sir.—The Cowhorn turnip, or Long White, is not by any means a new root, but has only recently been brought to prominence throughout this section. The roots are long and grow well out of the ground, giving an enormous yield of the most valuable food for the dairy cow, as well as hogs and poultry. This root can be fed early in the fall, when the pastures are short, without leaving any characteristic flavor, as has been well proven throughout this section by our local dairymen. For early feed, it might be sown as early as June 1, but for winter storing should not be sown till nearly July 1. When properly stored in a well-ventilated cellar, it will keep well on into the spring. One man, in the Warsaw section, last year had them as late as June. This root goes into storing very clean and is easily harvested, outside of being a little hard to top. Thinking that these few thoughts might be of some interest and help to some farmers.—I remain, yours, etc.

Says Egg Grading Has Been Success

J. J. Fee, Toronto, reviewing the Canadian produce trade during 1924, declares egg grading has been a success, and has brought about a marked improvement in quality and increased consumption. Of the 700,000 laying hens in Canada, most are in Ontario, he says. During 1923, the total production of eggs was 227,186,508 dozen.

This year should prove to be one of the most epoch-making in the effective improvement of the Canadian egg trade—Canada stands on the threshold of real efficiency from the standpoint of big development in the poultry industry.

Be sure the brood sows get enough exercise. This insures strong, healthy sows and litters at farrowing time. Exercise keeps the sows in good condition and prevents disease.

Use clean straw for banking around the cellar wall: it's just as effective as anything else and worlds better for sanitary reasons.

Producing high-quality fruit is hard enough without wasting time on varieties that can only be poor even when at their best.

For best results cooked potatoes fed to pigs should replace no more than one-half of the corn that would be consumed if corn were fed alone.

SHEEP RAISING ON BIG SCALE IS PROFITABLE

Farmers Are Advised to Raise the Livestock That Bring Returns.

MANY SHIPPERS.

Climate Conditions in This Country Are Favorable For Sheep Rearing.

Farms in the British Isles support 24,000,000 shorn sheep, while the whole Dominion of Canada supports but 2,000,000, one twelfth as many. Yet during the fiscal year ended March, 1924, woollen and knitting mills imported into Canada some 19,375,925 pounds of raw wool.

In Canada, in 1922, according to the census of industry figures we had 277 woollen and knitting mills, which employed some 22,000 workers. Yet in 1922, countries abroad sent into Canada $38,000,000 worth of woollen and knitted goods, and in 1923, $41,000,000 worth, representing employment for some 17,000 to 20,000 workers. Although during the past year the wool and knitting industries have expanded to some extent and, particularly in the Eastern Townships of Quebec, have new mills opened up, it is seen that only about half of the woollen goods sold in this country could have been produced here. Raw wool, grown in Canada, comprises but a small fraction of that which is used by the mills that are operating in the Dominion.

Market Expanding

There is not enough wool grown to supply the demand of the world. Japan and China, the staple clothing and bedding materials for which countries were formerly silk and cotton, are rapidly becoming great wool consuming countries, imports to Japan also having jumped 700 per cent. in ten years.

Thus it is seen that the Canadian wool grower has not only a growing domestic market, but an ever-increasing foreign market for his clips, yet sheep are rarely given due consideration by Canadian farmers even though they have been dubbed "mortgage lifters" in the west.

Col. Robt. McEwen of London, Ont., president of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers' Association, who won the championship for a carload of Canadian wether lambs, "Southdowns," at the Chicago International Show, has said, "taking Canada as a whole it has been proved that climatic conditions are favorable to sheep raising. No devastating disease has visited our flocks. Yet today we find ourselves up against the serious economic condition of consuming more wool than we produce, and for a comparatively new and fertile country like Canada to have reached the stage of deficient supply for such an essential as clothing should surely demand the serious consideration of us all."

Sell Co-operatively

But although wool growing as an industry in Canada does not come up to what might be expected of it, those who are engaged in it are highly and effectively organized as regards marketing. In 1914 those in charge of the Dominion Live Stock Branch, Ottawa, began to urge that sheepmen be more careful in putting up their fleeces and that they stop selling at any old price which might be offered locally. Following their efforts various sheep breeders and wool growers' associations throughout Canada began to collect wool from their members, this wool being graded in turn by expert graders supplied by the Dominion government and being sold on the graded basis. As more and more local associations were formed, it was felt that all should be affiliated under one central selling agency with the result that in 1918 the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers Limited was formed with headquarters in Toronto. This is a commodity marketing organization handling wool only, having about 2,500 shareholders and approximately 12,000 shippers of wool throughout the Dominion. Individual clips are collected at various points for shipment in carload lots to the central warehouse at Weston, Ont., for grading and sale.

At the present time this organization, which operates from coast to coast, is handling from a quarter to one-third of the Canadian clip reaching the open market. Its influence is being extended more and more each season as will be noted from the fact that in Ontario alone the number of shippers has increased from 3,200 in 1922, to 4,000 in 1924. The various grades of wool are sold to equal advantage in Canadian, American and English markets, and it is perhaps noteworthy that during the past two years approximately three-quarters of a million pounds of Canadian graded wools have found a market with English mills.

GROW ALFALFA.

The King of the Forage Plants—Better Than Other Hay.

1. It is better than other hay for feeding, being equal in feeding value to bran, and should be fed to horses, cattle, sheep, swine and poultry.
2. It produces a big yield—four to five tons of hay per acre from two cuttings in this county is common.
3. It enriches the soil.
4. It improves the efficiency of the farm, cheapens the cost of production of live stock and increases profits.

Land that is deep, fairly rich, well drained, sweet, and free of weeds should grow alfalfa. Buy the very best home-grown seed and use nitro-culture.

Determine to grow alfalfa. If you fail at the first trial try it again.

Ask men who have grown alfalfa a few years what they think of the crop.

Some excellent seed is being sold by growers in this county. You should purchase what you require this year at once as the supply is limited. If you want assistance in locating good seed or any information about alfalfa write or telephone us.—F. C. Paterson, Dept. of Agriculture, Port Hope.

CATTLE KINGS HAVE PASSED WITH WEST OF FORMER DAYS

Cowman Now Sits at a Desk And Sells Hornless Steers.

EVEN BEASTS CHANGE

Oldtimer Felt Cold Without His Six-Shooter—Wear Wrist Watches Now.

By OWEN P. WHITE.

Pathetic indeed has been the degeneration, upward, of the Texas cow and the Texas cowman. Only a short four decades ago the one wore wicked spurs and high-heeled boots; the other, horns with a five-foot sweep, and both were as lithe, as active and as dangerous to fool with as a bob-cat.

But today what are they like? The cattle king, once a character admirable for his broad acres, his personal hardness, his likable wickedness, his open-handed generosity and his entire indifference to the comforts of civilization, has yielded to the uplifting pressure of commercialism and allowed himself to be forced into a position of secure mediocrity.

In other words those fine old-timers who used to come into town for a hell of a time, and have it after they got there; who played poker, monte and farobank with the high and beautiful North Star as the limit; who took cold unless they wore a six-shooter and carried a Winchester; who slept better on the ground than they did on a mattress; who "rolled their own" and drank whisky out of tin dippers and, who held no natural enmity in their hearts for any one in the world, except Apache Indians, cattle rustlers and horse thieves, have now entirely disappeared from the face of the earth.

Degeneration of a Type

In their place, out here in the West, we have a line of fat, sleek, well-fed, complacent bank directors who wear wrist watches, carry golf clubs and resent insults with foreclosure proceedings; who play mah jong at a tenth of a cent and poker at two bits; who proudly bear a general sartorial resemblance to the advertising pages of The Saturday Evening Post; who love nobody, have their nails manicured, sleep under eider down quilts visit their ranches in Cadillacs and devilishly absorb coca-cola with a teaspoon full of tequila in it.

This is sad enough, but it is only half the story. The same catastrophe that befell the cow man has overtaken the cow.

In the old days, before the railroads came in to haul them to slaughter, and before barbed wire fences were erected to interfere with their roving proclivities, the longhorns on the Texas ranges were much like their masters. They were tough to eat and tougher to handle; they carried the glint of battle constantly in their eyes; man was their enemy and they were equipped for the battle; life on a million-acre pasture was a precious thing, and to live it out, to a full term of years, was the aim and ambition of every bull, steer, calf and heifer on the range.

But now look at them! They have changed greatly. Civilization has worked its devastating effect and—they still resemble their owners. Today the cattle of West Texas are sleek, well-fed and not open to insult; they are free from horns almost as a frog is from feathers; where they used to be tall, rangy and built for speed they are now squat, heavy and built for beef. And, saddest of all, where in bygone times it was a wise cow that knew its own father it is now a common thing on the range to see a steer look complacently upward and backward at a tag in his ear and hear him tell the admiring bystanders that his Pa was Lord So-and-So and his Ma the Lady Sich-and-Such.

In 1860, when Melvin Ferrar was running a ten-million-acre ranch west of the Pecos, any such behavior on the part of any of his animals would have created a riot. In fact, if any farseeing individual had told the young Virginian, who came to the country in '54, liked it and stayed, that registered cattle would some day be running over his unexplored dominions he would probably have locked that dreamer up in his privately owned jail and kept him there until he got over it.

Ferrar came to West Texas with the first United States troops. What he saw after he crossed the Pecos and arrived at Fort Davis was a vast empire waiting for somebody to claim it. He did so at once, and twenty years later no man could have told how many cattle were wearing his brand or where, except for the Rio Grande on the south, his dominion over them ended.

Ferrar could climb to the summit of one of the peaks in the Chinati Mountains, down in the Big Bend, where he had planted his home, and as far as he could see to the north, the east and the west, everything that his eyes rested upon belonged to him. To the south it was his also, but, as it was only twenty-five miles to the river, that little piece of ground, containing only a million acres or so, wasn't big enough to worry about. It was his backyard and nothing more.

Over this vast territory wandered the Ferrar herds. Wherever the brand went there went the dominion of the owner. A hundred and fifty miles away from the home ranch, far up in the Davis Mountains—where they now hold annual camp meetings—or down under the rim rock at Terlingua—where they now mine quicksilver—Ferrar's vaqueros were busy six months in the year branding his calves.

The Long Drive to Market

During the other six months came the round-up and the long drive to market. This was the glorified season during which the men eased the cattle along over the trail during the day, sang to them during the night and always had before them, in imaginations rendered vivid through enforced temperance, the vision of the wine and women of the market town way up in Kansas.

Sometimes Ferrar went with his herd to market and sometimes he didn't. The debauch at the end of the drive represented life to his men but it meant nothing to him. As a cattle king who had no idea of his actual worth it was his privilege to get drunk and carouse as often and wherever he pleased. He did so.

The saloons and gambling houses of San Antonio and El Paso knew him well. His check was good for as many thousands as he cared to draw. Not one of them was ever dishonored. He was no piker. He could lose a fortune at poker and never bat an eye. He could lose a fortune at poker and never bat an eye. He could win one and never smile. No man dared call him a liar and he never called any other man one unless he was ready to shoot quick and prove it.

In everything he did he went the limit. He pauperized those who came to him for charity by showering them with gold pieces; he affronted the peace and dignity of the law by shooting out the lights in the barroom or wrecking the dance hall. And the next morning he comforted the proprietors—who had secretly welcomed the onslaught—by going around and paying them, several times over, for the damage he had done. He did these things and thought nothing of them.

All Things to All Men

Ferrar is gone and so are his cattle. It began to happen, in his particular case, in 1881. But before 1881, the year in which the railroad crossed the Pecos, something else had been going on for some time. As already stated, Ferrar's range and his heart were both open. The combination was one that other men found it easy to take advantage of. On the ten million acres which Ferrar controlled, not as an owner but merely because a quarter of a million of his cattle roamed over them, there was not a foot of fence and hence it was a simple matter for men, who knew that Ferrar didn't care anyhow, to build up herds of their own that wore their own brands.

It is hard to say how many men laid foundations for future fortunes in this way, before 1881.

Then came the railroad and conditions changed rapidly. Instead of being ten weeks from a market, cattle were only ten days. They had to be dehorned. Steers with needle-pointed horns and bad dispositions couldn't be loaded into the cars; the mortality rate was too heavy. Then came the wire fence and with it the downfall of Ferrar. Leasing lands from the State of Texas which now began to parcel out its acres at a nominal rental, men began to cut into the open range of the old cattle king from every direction. They fenced in hundreds of thousands of acres and if, in so doing, they happened to enclose a few thousand of Ferrar's cattle it was a matter of no moment. Ferrar still didn't care.

Living in the home that he had originally built for himself, a fortress whose walls were pierced with loopholes for fighting off the Apaches, Ferrar was still a king. It was a home in which there were no glass windows, no board floors and little, if any, furniture—there were luxuries for which Ferrar cared nothing.

Only a few years ago the writer visited Ferrar's old home near the head of Cibolo Creek in the Chinati Mountains—it has since been made over into a modern ranch house with hot and cold water and a telephone—and watched the new owner salvage and sell for junk a huge copper still with a capacity of at least a hundred gallons. When Farrar, the young Virginian, first built his home he planted peach and apple trees within the enclosure of his walls. In a few years his fruit brandy was almost as famous as he was and, in his old age, although his herds had diminished to nothing and his acres had dwindled to a bare homestead, his trees still continued to bear and Ferrar, the cattle king, was still wealthy.

And now, what of the present day? The picture it presents is one of dreary commercialism and uninteresting flatness. Ferrar's old ranch is cut up into a hundred pastures. Barbed wire is everywhere.

On one of the most prominent of these Ferrar subdivisions a dude cowpuncher from the East "rides fence" with a hammer and a saddle-pocket full of staples. He gets off and nails up a fallen wire. He gets on, rides a mile or so, gets off and does it again. The fat cattle pay no attention to him. They know that he couldn't rope, throw and tie one of them in a week. One of Ferrar's men would have done the job in thirty seconds and thought that slow time.

Goes Home to Bathe

When his day's work is over the dude puncher rides back to a regular house, takes a bath, changes his clothes, eats off a table cloth, jumps into an automobile and goes to a picture show. Once in a while he gets drunk and begs the cook not to mention it to the boss.

Two or three times a year the boss, the modern "cattle king," who lives in town, in a house six or eight sizes too big for him, visits his ranch in his car. He is fat and pudgy—you can stick your finger in him most anywhere—and he can't ride a cow-pony. He looks like his cattle. They are heavy, white-faced and sad-eyed, just as if they had always known, and they probably have, what their ultimate destiny is to be.

The boss—and let's not call him a cattle king again, because he is merely a business man and probably a Kiwanian also—rides around in his car and looks the place over; he checks up a set of books and maybe, if he can spare the time from his social entanglements in town, stays long enough to see a few hundred choice beeves, now topping the market, driven tamely aboard the cars for shipment.

This done, he goes back to his oversize mansion, dons his dinner coat, steps into his town car and drives forth to dine out.

Sometimes this present-day "cattle king"—I say it with quotes—pulls a house party down on his ranch. This is as near as he ever comes to going on a debauch. But gosh! Those parties must be something awful.

PETES EMERGED WITH ONE GOAL VICTORY FROM CLOSE CHECKING BATTLE WITH TORONTO AURA LEE

Visitors Virtually Eliminated From Group Race By Last Night's Defeat at Brock Street Rink By 2-1—Marsden's Men Made It Strenuous.

PETES STRENGTHEN LEADERSHIP

The Game Was One of the Tightest And Most Interesting of the Season—Aura Lee's Only Goal Was Kicked In.

(By F. D. C.)

The Peterboro Hockey Club Seniors resumed their winning habits last night, after a slight slump, by beating Aura Lee of Toronto, 2 goals to 1, at Brock Street Rink, the defeat practically eliminating Bill Marsden's squad from the group race.

The "Play-the-Game' boys lived up to their reputation as tough battlers and, for the third time in succession, the Petes were only able to beat them by the narrowest possible margin, the season's score between the two clubs being: Petes 7; Aura Lee, 4.

They were on even terms with the blue and white last night until the middle of the last period, when Harold Parker won the decision for the Petes by a quick breakaway and a fast ankle-high shot from outside the defence that carried too much stuff for Alf. Moore, Aura Lee's clever goaler.

The close checking of the Aura Lee crew was one of the outstanding features of the battle. Up in front Morris and Clayton in particular poke-checked in great style, and the whole line back-checked persistently with the result that although the Petes pressed during the greater part of the game, it was a tough passage to work inside or to get set for a shot when they did get in. The Marsden outfit gave every ounce they had to stay in the running and the blue shirts could not let down for a minute.

The scoring was equally distributed over the three periods the Petes registered in the first and third sessions, and Aura Lee getting the solitary counter in the second.

The homesters, however, had the edge on the play after the first period, in spite of the fact that the teams got but one marker each in the last forty minutes. Aura Lee lost a couple of good chances early in the game when shifty stick-handling by Clayton and Morris carried them within scoring range, but they were barely inside after that, while the Petes did the bulk of the attacking in the last two stanzas.

Bumps Handed Out.

It was a hard fought argument, the teams wading into each other in determined style and the nature of the going is not reflected very accurately in the penalty column, which contains but two names. Referee Bobby Hewitson was unusually lenient and a lot of the checking done on both sides bordered on strenuosity, but nobody was hurt, and the crowd seemed to enjoy the bumping handed out.

The Petes showed a lot more determination last night than they did against Parkdale, and also an appreciated tendency to play combination. Of course, the close checking of the Aura Lee gang, who never relaxed for a minute, made team work a most difficult proposition, but the homesters were trying at all times and the fans gave them credit for it.

Aura Lee went down with their colors flying. The two graduated from last year's Junior ranks, Clayton and "Shrimp" Morris caught the eye of the crowd with their clever stick-handling and good poke-checking and Jack Bond, the light haired left wing showed a lot of speed. Cain, although not as dangerous as usual offensively, was a bear in his defence methods, while Track Shaw was good both on the rearguard and when he took a turn on the forward line. Moore, in the nets, made some beautiful saves.

The Petes all turned in good games, with no one outstanding particularly. Dwyer was as good as usual, and Parker and McLeod were effective both as a defence and on the attack, each having a share in the goal getting. On the line all five played their part in bringing home the honors, and there was a noticeable improvement in the checking of the advance gard.

The teams:—

Aura Lee

Goal—Moore.
Defence—Shaw, Walkem.
Centre—Clayton.
Right wing—Morris.
Left wing—Bond.
Subs.—Cain, Burke.

Peterboro

Goal—Dwyer.
Defence—Parker, McLeod.
Centre—Collins.
Right wing—Bailey.
Left wing—Ranger.
Subs.—Rose, Burgess.

Referee—R. W. Hewitson, Toronto.

Game Started Late.

The game did not get away until 9 o'clock owing to the C.P.R. train being late, but it opened at top speed when the teams finally lined up. The checking was close and hard and both teams found it difficult to get away for a really dangerous attack. The visitors were the first to loom up as likely scorers when Clayton worked his passage nicely down the wing and gave Morris a beautiful pass inside the defence which the little right winger failed to use to advantage. The Petes gave Moore some lively moments shortly after, but he was equal to the occasion.

Petes Score First.

The blue shirts finally broke into the scoring column six minutes after the start, when McLeod broke up an Aura Lee rush and carried the rubber down to lose it when he reached the visitors' defence. Bailey was trailing him, and his snap shot at top speed when the loose puck came back to him fairly smoked through the air and crashed into the twine behind Moore. The Aura Lee goaler hadn't time to move on that one.

The red sweatered lads almost evened up the count a little later when Morris, after some beautiful stick-handling, beat the Petes' defence, only to overskate the rubber.

Shaw Kicked It In.

The second period did not get away so fast and there was little excitement until all of a sudden Aura Lee tied the score. Five minutes after the start the bulky Jack Cain went down the rink and beat the defence with a neat pass to Tracey Shaw, whose first shot was blocked by Dwyer. Shaw succeeded in netting the rebound—by some successful football, the Petes claim, but Referee Hewitson missed the drop-kick if there was one, and the goal counted.

The game livened up immediately as the Petes tore into the visitors to pick up their lead again. They buzzed around the visitors' nets, keeping Moore on the jump, but they could not beat him even when Cain drew a penalty for hooking Collins, and the Aura Lee played a man short for two minutes. The blue shirts had the best of the play until the end of the period, but it got them nothing, the gong finding the score still firmly knotted at 1-1.

Parker Broke It Up.

The Petes started in the third period where they had left off the second, and did most of the attacking. Moore, however, performed sensationally, and the good defence work of Cain and Walkem, aided by clever back-checking, wrecked attack after attack.

The period was half over before the deadlock was broken. An Aura Lee raid was shattered when it reached the Peterboro defence, and Parker sailed down with the rubber with Collins alongside. Aura Lee expected a pass, but the Petes' defence man cut loose a low shot between the visitors' defence men and Moore failed to get his foot over in time to block the drive that meant victory for the Petes.

After that it was not a difficult task for the Petes to hold the lead for the ten minutes that remained. Only once was there any great danger of the game being again tied up, and "Shorty" Burgess killed that peril by a smart play. Jack Bond was all set to slip a rebound into the open net when Burgess sailed back in the nick of time and lifted his stick. The quick move saved an overtime game for a score looked sure.

Summary.

First Period—
1 Peterboro—Bailey, 6 mins.
Second Period—
2 Aura Lee—Shaw, 5 mins.
Third Period—
3 Peterboro—Parker, 10 mins.
Penalties—Auro Lee, Cain, Morris.

DEMPSEY'S RING DAYS NOT OVER

Champion Keeps in Training, But Will Retire About May 20.

TO BE MARRIED

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Jan. 31.—(Canadian Press).—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight boxing champion yesterday qualified earlier stories of his immediate retirement from the ring with a statement that he would "probably quit fighting about May 20."

He said that he expected to marry Estelle Taylor, film actress on or about that date, her birthday, but he added:

"I am open for bouts until that time and am keeping in training."

Dempsey said that after his retirement from fighting he might "go into the pictures or open a gymnasium."

As to his relations with Jack Kearns, his manager, the champion said his dealings with Kearns were purely on a business basis, that they were interested together in several real estate deals and likely would continue for some time.

"I never had a contract with Kearns," he concluded.

BROWN A GOAL GETTER

Hamilton Rowing Club's Centre Has Scored Ten.

(Hamilton Spectator)

Freddy Brown, the sterling little center ice star of the Scullers, is receiving considerable attention and it is more than likely that attempts will be made to have him shake the dust of Hamilton from his shoes when the present season is over. Brownie started off in the first game of the season and has been going at top speed ever since. He is without a doubt, the best prospect to come up in the senior O.H.A. in many moons.

The Scullers have scored twelve goals in their games to date. Brown tallied no less than ten of these, the majority from individual efforts, and assisted in one other. There has been only one goal scored that he has not figured in.

Milton and Elmira boast of many freaks and unusual kinks of doubt interesting enough, but the Soo enters the contest with a Chinese Greyhound. Hong Ching, who plays wing on one of the strongest junior teams in the city, is a slippery customer on the ice, a pretty stick-handler and can swap jolts with all and sundry. Within a few years, improving as he does, he will be quite eligible for senior company, and the Soo may have the novel experience of cheering for Ching on the return of the Hounds from an Allan cup tour.

WILTSE WITH YANKEES.

NEW YORK, January 31. — Geo. Wiltse, former Giant left hander, and until the middle of last season, manager of the Buffalo International League Club, was signed on Friday by Miller Huggins, Yankee staff. Wiltse will depart for the south with the first contingent of rookies who start for St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 21st.

WILL TOUR AUSTRALIA.

LONDON, Jan. 31. — (Canadian Press Cable)—The English Football Association has received a cable definitely agreeing to a team representative of the Association touring Australia this year. The team will leave England on April 4, returning September 3.

Give Cobb a second baseman and Detroit would win the pennant. Give the various other clubs a star player here and there and the chase would develop into a free-for all fight.

SOO'S WITHDRAWAL WOULD HELP NORTH

Cup Hunting Has Nearly Ruined N.O.H.A., Says North Bay "Nugget."

NORTH BAY, Ont., January 30. —The threat of the Soo Greyhounds to bolt from the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, yesterday brought the following comment in a sport editorial in the North Bay Nugget: "This threat has come to be an annual affair from the Lock City, and the other clubs in the N. O.H.A. are just about tired hearing it. The Soo Club has been pampered and petted by the N.O.H.A. long enough.

"The hunt for trophies has almost ruined the Senior series of the N. O.H.A. Our hats are off to the clubs at the northern end of the circuit for their gameness in undertaking to reconstruct a Senior Group this year. They haven't teams of Allan cup calibre but they have a bunch of boys who play hockey for the sake of the sport. Sudbury tried something of the same style this year, but grouped with the Soo it was not a success. If the Soo will kindly live up to its threats and get out of the N.O.H.A., Senior hockey in Northern Ontario can come back. North Bay should be able to enter a team next year in the Junior series if the other clubs are of the calibre shown this year by Sudbury, Iroquois Falls, Timmins and New Liskeard. With the Trappers in the group with Sudbury, the Soo can be easily dispensed with."

SOLDIER JONES LOST TO WELLS

Toronto Heavyweight Disqualified for "Back-Heeling" in London Fight.

WAS ASTONISHED

BRIGHTON, England, Jan. 31.—(Canadian Press Cable.) — Wild scenes marked the termination of a heavyweight bout here last night between Soldier Jones of Toronto, Canada, and Bombadier Billy Wells, a former heavyweight champion of England, who is staging a comeback.

Wells was given the decision on the sixth round when the Canadian was disqualified for back-heeling. Jones was unable to understand what had happened, and was amazed when told that he had lost the fight on a foul. He refused to leave the ring and demanded that the fight continue.

Up till the sudden termination of the bout Jones was looked upon as the winner by the knock-out route, and when the decision was given against him it was loudly jeered by his supporters, while cheers greeted the victor, who proved extraordinarily clever and brilliantly game. The crowd surged around the ring, some hissing Jones and some condemning the decision, and for a time the situation was ugly but quiet was restored when Jones went to his dressing room and the programme continued.

It was a heartrending fight, and certainly one of the most sensational fought in England in many years. Jones was the aggressor from the first gong and fought grimly and tenaciously. For the first two rounds however he was unable to land effectively on his tall and long-armed opponent, but when at last he succeeded in getting inside Wells defence he repeatedly floored the Englishman. Only Wells' gameness kept him on his feet and in the fourth round he was saved by the bell when Jones sent him to the canvas with a smashing blow to the jaw. The Bombardier was cautious when the bell went for the fifth and was putting up a good defence when back-heeled by the Canadian.

WILLIAMS TELLS OF CONTRACT FOR $3,500 WITH THE HUSTLERS

For Belleville Pitcher Expects Place on Rochester's Regular Staff This Year.

THREE WERE SOLD

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 31.—(Canadian Press).—According to a letter received from Johnny Williams, famous Indian pitcher, formerly an amateur with the Belleville Grand Trunks, who is wintering at his home at Verona, he has great hopes of being on the first string staff of pitchers ofr the Rochester Club next summer.

Last fall before the season closed Manager George Stallings sold to the major clubs Wisner, Beal and Moore for a good sum with the hope that some of his farmed out ones would have the needed experience to carry them through an International campaign and Stallings thinks that Williams is ripe for the fast company.

Last season Williams spent the greater part of his time in Quebec as a member of the pitching staff, and made good with a vengeance hitting around .200. As to fielding his position he was in the 1000 class and his pitching record was the highest in the league, having 13 wins and lost for an average of 867 and he allowed only about 4.24 earned runs per game. George Stallings has sent him a contract to report at the training camp about February 22nd and his season's work will net him around $3,500, so reads the letter.

COLTS BEAT GROVE

Score Was 9 to 5 in Lakefield District Game.

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 31. — Kennedy's Colts handed the Grove school a 9 to 5 trimming in the first game of the second half of the schedule in the Lakefield District League last night. The Colts started out by running in four goals before the school boys got started. Blewett and Northey got two apiece. Young counted one for the Grove before the period ended. The Grove adopted their opponents' plan in the second period by running in four goals in a row, Young counting twice and Rainnie and Fawcett one each. Blewett and Wanamaker added a pair for the Colts. In the third period the Colts made sure of the game by notching three more from the sticks of Blwett, S. Trude and W. Trude. The game was fast and clean, only four penalties being handed out by Referee R. D. Murduff. Blewett collected two trips to the penitent bench and W. Trude and Christmas one each.

There was a large crowd present until a fire alarm called a good number of the spectators away. The teams:

Colts— Goal, Graham; defence, Sabatino and Hill; centre, Wanamaker; wings, Blewett and Northey. Subs, S. Trude and W. Trude.

The Grove— Goal, Griffiths; defence, Christmas and Loosemore; centre, Rainnie; wings, Fawcett and Young. Subs, Barnard and James.

CHAMPS by D. Fence

Morenz, the big Canadian flash, is coming down the ice at terrific speed. Only Dunc Munro, youthful captain of the Montreal team, stands in his way. Morenz tries to sail through, but Munro bumps him. Zowie! The fiery Frenchman crashes to the ice. Before he recovers Munro gallops up centre with the puck, plunges through Canadiens' line and shoots square into the net.

Tactics like this are what make Duncan Munro one of the most spectacular players in the game. It was his leadership that won the Olympic championship for Canada.

ONTARIO ENDS QUEBEC MISSION

Greatest Goodwill Existed Between Visitors and Hosts—Co-operation Urged.

JUDGE HUYCKE SPOKE.

MONTREAL, January 31. — The visit of the huge delegation of Ontario's most prominent citizens to the sister province of Quebec, for the purpose of fostering closer relationship between the two largest provinces of the Dominion, and bringing into harmony the aspirations of the two races of Canada, was brought to a close last night by a monster banquet, at which were heard the leaders in public affairs of Ontario and Quebec, and also men prominent in the life of the Dominion at large.

Henry Cockshutt, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, emphasized the need for closer contact between the English and the French citizens of Canada and entered a plea for co-operation in the development of the natural resources of the country.

Hon. Senator Belcourt entered upon the development of the Canadian nation of of the disconnected entities that existed at confederation. Nationhood could be and should be developed not by the absorption of one race by another but by the harmonious blending of the culture of both and the development side by side of English and French in Canada.

His Honor Judge Huycke of Peterborough County, was one of the speakers.

RAMESES TEMPLE SELECTS COUNCIL

Big Field For Election—Representatives to Imperial Council Chosen.

TORONTO, January 31.—There were large fields for election as Representatives to the Imperial Council at Los Angeles next June, and as members of Rameses Temple Council at the annual business session of Rameses Temple of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine yesterday. Gus L. Hay, Peterboro; T. G. Soole and W. G. Gallow, Toronto, and Frank E. Walker, Hamilton, will go to Los Angeles.

The following will compose the Council: Dan Pierce, James Calvert, W. W. Jones, Ross Sheppard, Dr. G. B. Foster, Bert Neal, H. J. Pritchard, J. A. Montgomery, J. T. Lester and Will Moore.

Rameses Temple has now a membership of 2,726. The treasurer's statement was satisfactory in every particular, being accepted without discussion. Noble Macoomb, in his capacity of Recorder, referred to the charitable work for crippled children carried on by the Shrine, with special reference to cases at Kingston and Brockville.

The ceremonial session took place in the evening, when a class of 50 candidates were initiated with Oriental splendor, the party crossing the hot sands to Mecca without mishap. The whole jurisdiction was represented in the list of neophytes.

Harry L. Glendenning, the retiring Potentate, was warmly received when he made his farewell address to the Nobility. He cordially thanked all the Nobles for their assistance and co-operation, and extended a hearty welcome to his successor in the chief office. The new Potentate is Secretary of The Peterboro Examiner, and active in industry and commerce in his home town. He is a member of Corinthian Masonic Lodge, Corinthian Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, and Moore Preceptory of Knights Templar.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

ANSWER TO "MEMBER OF ST PAULS"

Editor of the Examiner,

Dear Sir,—I notice a "member of St. Paul's" has claimed space to devote a little attention to my recent letter. May I have space for a brief reply?

The "Member of St. Paul's" appears to think it is too soon to expect ministers who resigned from the Presbyterian Churches to offer their services, and states as follows: —"And take up work in a locality where he may get little or no financial reward and have no organization behind them."

What! Will they not have the organization and resources of the Union Church behind them? Why then hesitate? It has been announced that 90 per cent. of the Presbyterian ministers are entering the Union. It is well known that only a part of the Presbyterian Church will enter the Union. Already a considerable number of formerly Presbyterian Ministers have resigned their positions because their congregations have voted against them in this matter.

We have been told that the Presbyterian Unionists are consumed with a "burning desire" to prevent Canada from becoming a "pagan" country. We have been told also that they are raising a "special fund" to provide for the surplus ministers they now realize they are going to have—even placing two ministers to do the work of one—like surfeiting the people at home and letting the outlying districts starve.

We are willing to wait a reasonable time to see if they will use some of these surplus funds and ministers on the Mission fields of the West.

Yes, I heard Dr. Edmison's appeal for funds —he is real strong on that —but now that they have both men and money, will they do it? Even the "member of St. Paul's" does not appear to be very sure.

Now when resources must be conserved in order to promote this great cause, would not this be splendid point, and the logical one, since they have both men and money to start at once?

Yes, we will wait and see if they will do it?

Yours truly,
D. H. Moore.

Jan. 31st, 1925.

Editor The Examiner:

Dear Sir: Those of your readers who are interested in the Church Union question would read with a great deal of interest a letter which appeared in a recent issue, written by the Rev. Mr. Pogue of St. Paul's church, Peterboro, (Unionist), and in the same issue an extract from a message delivered by the Rev. Mr. McGillivry, of Orillia, (Presbyterian), to his congregation. Mr. McGillivry tells his people to vote as their conscience bids them rather than follow their minister because he is anti-unionist. The Rev. Mr Pogue says: "Vote the way I do or it will break my heart." In other words, Rev. Mr. Pogue virtually tells his congregation no matter if you do think Union is wrong, vote for it because he is in favor of it. A vast contrast surely between the advice of these two ministers. Without further comment I ask the people of St. Paul's church, which is the better way?

A pathetic incident came under the observation of your correspondent at the close of the congregational meeting at St. Paul's on Monday night last. The writer, when leaving the church, held the door open for an old lady, who had evidently seen three score years and ten. As she was passing out, she paused and said with a sob in her voice: "Surely it isn't right that we should have to go to all this trouble to save our church." Continuing she said, "I like Mr. Pogue, but when he tells us that he has been minister of St. Paul's church for seventeen years and that it will break his heart if St. Paul's votes out of union, I wonder," she said, "if he thinks of those of us who who have worshiped here for four times seventeen years, and whose hearts are already broken because of the divided church." With tears on her wrinkled cheeks she passed out of the church, and the door was closed.

PRESBYTERIAN.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—We observe that St. Paul's branch of the Presbyterian Association in their reply to our letter in last Saturday's issue of The Daily Examiner, have not thought it necessary to meet the arguments adduced with regard to a number of points at issue. Whether or not this is due to the inability of our friends to counter successfully the evidence produced in these cases we may leave to the judgment of our readers. A further reference, however, to some of the points dealt with in this letter may be desirable.

(1) An attempt is made to belittle the fact that recognition of the United Church by the Pan-Presbyterian Alliance has been practically assured. It is true that the question of recognition has not yet come before the Pan-Presbyterian Council, which does not meet until next summer, but it has been decided upon by the executives both of the Western and Eastern sections of world-wide Presbyterianism. The statement that this decision was arrived at without sufficient knowledge of the facts of the situation in Canada is quite wide of the mark. The decision was arrived at after examination of the basis of Union and with full knowledge of the doctrine and polity of the United Church; and these are the determining factors in the case. If there should be another Presbyterian church formed in Canada no doubt it will also be eligible for membership in the Alliance, but certainly not to the exclusion of the United Church.

(2) Our friends of the Presbyterian Church Association effect to regard as ridiculous the claim that the Presbyterian Church will enter the United Church without loss of its identity. Do they mean to say that the claim of the Church of Scotland in the Act of 1921— a claim acknowledged by the British Parliament in passing the Act—of a right to unite with other churches "without loss of its identity" is a ridiculous one? The truth is that in the sense in which Unionists make this claim it is not ridiculous but a simple statement of fact. The Church as a Church has made this decision. The Church as a Church moves forward into union. Its corporate life, with its traditions, its ideals and spirit, remains. It continues to live in the bosom of the other Church, and therefore has a right to carry with it its property and all that is necessary to make effective its full power to accomplish the task to which it is called.

(3) The statement made with reference to the menace of an arbitrary and tyrannical General Council may be dismissed as a "false alarm." The United Church, like the Presbyterian Church in Canada, will have a supreme court exercising similar powers to those of our own General Assembly, and naturally having jurisdiction over the lower courts. But these have their defined rights and privileges; and if the General Council should attempt to interfere with these rights and privileges there is abundant safeguard in the provision that no change can be made in the polity of the Church without reference to Presbyteries, and if thought desirable, to congregations, under the Barrier Act, which is retained in the United Church.

(4) With reference to the alleged power of the General Council of the United Church to make obligatory assessments upon congregations, we have already quoted competent legal opinion to the effect that there is no ground for the contention 'that allocations for the Aged and Infirm Ministers' Fund might be levied by legal process against the property of congregations." In the Presbyterian Church at present the support of the Pension Funds is made dependent on the voluntary offerings of the people. In the United Church these funds, which are really on the same basis as the obligation for the payment of stipend, will be raised by assessment; but no one need fear that any power will be exercised for the collection of these assessments other than that which is now employed in the collection of Presbytery and Synod funds.

Chesterton Pokes Fun at Demonstration Of Spiritualistic Communiction Between Sir A. Conan Doyle and Late Lord Northcliffe

(By John Gunther—United Press Staff Correspondent—Copyright, 1925, by United Press Copyright in Canada).

LONDON, Jan. 31.—G. K. Chesterton, noted British author and critic, to-day scoffed at recent alleged spiritualistic demonstrations involving Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and the late Lord Northcliffe.

"Not a single line of thought, not an idea, not even an adjective ever came from a spirit," Chesterton declared, in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

And he poked good-natured fun at Lord Balfour and Professor Murray and their recent experiment in thought transference.

Chesterton said that many so-called spiritualistic demonstrations were but an "interminable process of spinning lies out of lies."

On the other hand, he agreed they might not all be humbug, saying, "Certainly there is some force external to man in action. This may be perceptible to ordinary mortals but I doubt it.

"Many spiritualists are like imps and hobgoblins chasing themselves about in a deep forest and always popping out at the same place."

The author declared that attempts to get ideas from spirits was "an utter waste of energy and mentality."

Chesterton gives this advice to spirit-hunters: "If you're quite sure it's a fraud, then go ahead, but not otherwise. In such cases, it will be amusing while it lasts."

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's recent communications from the late Lord Northcliffe "were derided."

As for Professor Murray's recent experiments of thought transference with Lord Balfour, Chesterton laughed.

"Well, at least Professor Murray has achieved something miraculous never before done in history. He had read Lord Balfour's mind."

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

A few months ago Mr. T. A. McLain, the proprietor and manager of Harvey's Great Minstrels, advertised in the leading musical journals for a bass singer, but said he wanted the best and highest priced and and most talented basso profundo in the country, and among the numerous applications was one from Emmett Moss, who came on for a try-out and made good from the start, and it is a nightly occurrence for him to have to respond to encore after encore until he is tired out.

Mr. Harvey is justly proud of Moss, and with Leland, Goldman, Irvy Richardson, Will Merritt, Lawrence Baker and Charlie Johnson, his singing is in excellent hands, while Josie Gardner and Johnella Gay among the female singers stand out prominently.

The company will be at the Grand Opera House to-day, with Matinee and Evening performances.

AT THE CAPITOL.

One of those thrilly pictures that delights a movie palace audience is the feature at the Capitol Theatre for the week-end, in "The Cyclone Rider," written by Lincoln J. Carter.

With an underworld element that shows the "bumping off" of rebellious assistants of the master-mind, by way of the pistol route, with a heroine in the daughter of a millionaire contractor and a hero in the structural iron-worker on one of her father's tallest buildings, with an automobile race full of spectacular moments, it is a picture crammed with possibilities for excitement. Somewhat improbable it its plot, it provides the strong mental meat of hazardous happenings for the watchers.

A Hal Roach comedy is "Hitting the High Spots," picturing the adventures of three amateur mountain-climbers, and there is a funny animated cartoon.

REAL APPEAL IN "THE TURMOIL."

Director of "Flirt" Made this Tarkington Picture—At Capitol on Monday.

There are some plays that depend on mystery for their appeal; some on dramatic action or surprise climaxes; some purely on thrills and excitement, but after all, the greatest appeal in a play is humaneness. This is well exemplified in "The Turmoil," Hobart Henley's Universal-Jewel picturization of Booth Tarkington's famous novel, playing at the Capitol Theatre.

The play has all qualities, one laughs with its characters, one weeps with them; its smashing dramatic episodes thrill; but all over these things, the play is great because it is life itself. Booth Tarkington, perhaps better than any other author, knows how to get real human beings into his stories.

It is a powerful story, the tale of a self made millionaire, imperious, ruthless and indomitable, fighting ever to gain more dollars. The son, a temperamental youth with the soul of an artist, he struggles to break to his will.

Good Cast Used.

The cast is exceptional. George Hackathorne plays the dreamy "Bibbs." Eileen Percy plays Sybil, the daughter in law. Pauline Garon is a perfect blonde flapper.

There are other notable figures in the cast, too. Emmett Corrigan dominates the story in places, as the capitalist, while Victory Bateman, as his wife, plays a difficult character role pleasingly. Through it all one feels the appealing beauty of Eleanor Boardman, who is loved by two of the sons.

The staging is lavish. The garish home of the millionaire, with its gaudy finery and hodge-podge assembling of every style of art and architecture, is splendidly portrayed.

Altogether the picture is one of the real achievements of the year, and another really worthwhile Universal production.

FASHION SHOW IN 'BORN RICH'

Many Expensive Gowns Worn by Claire Windsor in New Motion Picture.

What is one of the most vital factors in the production of a motion picture? A mere man would never be able to answer that question no matter how many "guesses" he is given. As for the women —well, we'll supply the answer.

It is the star's or the leading woman's gowns.

An incredible amount of time and study is given to the dresses to be worn in a picture, and there are several good reasons why producers are obliged to go to such pains. In the first place, the women in the audience would feel "cheated" if they were not treated to the sight of several stunning creations of the modiste's art. Secondly, those in charge of overseeing the costuming must never lose sight of the fact that fashions change almost overnight.

The latter problem is one that causes many headaches. Months elapse between the time a picture is started and the time it is shown on the screen. It would never do for a producer to show his star in gowns that have gone out of style in the meantime. Therefore he sends out scouts to the centers of fashion to learn what the styles will be six months or a year hence—and during the intervening period. Striking a balance, they are able to design gowns that will be up to the minute at the completion of the picture—and many times far in advance of the showing of those styles in the fashionable shops.

As a result of this condition the motion picture actresses often are the first to appear in the new styles and their appearance on the screen in a new gown automatically brings it into "vogue".

While necessary to the success of a picture, this custom is an extremely expensive one, and it was especially so in the case of "Born Rich," a First National picture, showing at the Royal Theatre, Monday in which the leading roles are portrayed by Claire Windsor, Bert Lytell, Doris Kenyon, Cullen Landis, J. Barney Sherry, Frank Morgan Maude Turner Gordon and Jackie Ott.

Every gown worn by Miss Windsor in this Garrick Pictures offering was especially created for her by the most noted modiste in New York City. Being a member of the set which was "born rich," the character has to dress the part; hence the reason for this action.

The result of all these efforts is a veritable fashion shown at the Royal Theatre next Monday.

AN EVENING OF FOLK MUSIC AT THE CONSERVATORY
The purest and most perfect music in the world is to be found in the ancient songs of the people, melodies that have been handed down from generation to generation, and rounded to perfection by the hand of Time. Our modern music with all its complexities had its birth in these early folk tunes, and we sometimes forget our wonderful national heritage of song, as well as that of other countries and peoples. We cannot afford to forget our mother tongue of music, so come and revive national sentiments and memories at the Evening of Folk Music arranged by Miss Edwina Palmer, L.R.A.M., at the Conservatory Music Hall, on Friday, Febuary 6th, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park will give a descriptive talk which will be illustrated by music and song. Among those taking part will be Miss Mathilde Masson, R. A. Brown, D. Carlysle, String Ensembles, Conservatory String Quartette, Pupils of Miss Littlefield (Y.W.C.A.). A pantomime of an old Scotch Ballad will be acted by pupils of Mrs. McKee Bingham to music arranged by Miss Agnes Logan and sung by Mrs. Park. Admission 25 cents. 1d—27—5442

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR
There are two distinct classes of religious people in the world today; namely, those who do, and those who do not think and investigate truth for themselves. Some of those who do not think and act have acquired some scholarly attainments, are well read, but deal in ideas of others, travel along in the same old rut; and always looking behind them; and others in the same class are too dilatory, or too much occupied with minor matters, to even read up in regard to old creeds and traditions, but are willing to let others, who have assumed authority tell them what to accept or believe. The other class of people, think, read and investigate for themselves, and by so doing can demonstrate and verify important truths. These people in a true sense, can be called leaders. Nevertheless, it takes those people (who have got the light and can speak with authority) some length of time to impress vital truths upon the hearts and minds of their fellowman. This is not strange, seeing erroneous doctrines have been born in us, and taught us from our earliest infancy, and therefore are not easily or quickly eradicated. Then we suppose some are slow to accept truth even when they see it, on account of meaning to them severing long time relationships and customs, with persecution. Light is coming, and Jesus shall enlighten every man that cometh into the world.

OBITUARY

McGUIRE.— A very sudden death occured on Saturday morning, Jan. 24th, in the person of James McGuire of Ennismore, when death, due to heart failure, called one of Ennismore's most highly repected citizens.

The deceased was born in Huntingdon, Que., seventy years ago, and went to Lakehurst as a child, where he spent the greater part of his life. Nine years ago he moved to Ennismore, where he resided until death overtook him one week ago.

Owing to the fact that he spent all his life in Lakehurst and Ennismore, his disposition was such that he won the love and respect of all with whom he came in contact.

The funeral took place from the family residence Monday morning at ten o'clock, and proceeded to St. Martin's Church, of which he was a staunch member. Solemn high mass was sung by Rev. P. Costello and the Rev. J. V. McAuley, assisted by Rev. Jas. McGuire, son of the deceased. In the sanctuary also were Rev. Peter McGuire, Rev. P. J. Galvin and Rev. J. Finn.

The sympathy of the community goes out to the family in their bereavement, which is made doubly sorrowful because of the ordination to the holy priesthood of their oldest son and brother, James, on February 8th.

The deceased is survived by a sorrowing wife, two sons, Rev. Jas. McGuire, St. Augustine's Seminary, Toronto, and Joseph, at home Also six daughters, Mrs. F. Easson and Mrs. I. E. King, both of Lakehurst; Anna of Toronto; Margaret and Mary, nurses in training at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterboro, and Zetta, at home. The deceased is also survived by three brothers, John, of Peterboro; William, of Lakehurst, and Hugh, of Seattle, Washington.

JANE BLANCHARD
The death occurred in Toronto on Thursday, January 29th., of Jane Bell Blanchard, a former resident of this city.
The funeral took place from the noon C.P.R. train to-day and proceeded to the Little Lake Cemetery for interment.

EARTH SWINGS LIKE PENDULUM

Scientists Make Startling Statement and Offers to Disprove Orbit Theory.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31. — Are the orthodox beliefs concerning the workings of the solar system all wrong and the generally credited theories of Newton as antiquated as the one-time platitude that the world was flat?

Can it be possible that the earth does not revolve around the sun at all but instead swings from that celestial body like the mighty pendulum of a huge clock?

Such are the questions creating a furore in scientific circles here following the announcement of an entirely new theory of astronomy by James L. Bussanich, an Austrian astronomer who has devoted 30 years to investigating the solar system and who came here recently from the University of Triest.

Bussanich bases his novel theory upon discoveries which he says he has made in electro-magnetism and hydro-mechanics, aided by Einstein's evidence that the planets do not describe closed eclipses. In lay language, Bussanich's theory is briefly as follows:

"The earth is held in a pendulum position from the sun by electro-magnetism exerted by that body and makes a complete swing once a year, describing an arc of 47 degrees. On June 21 the pendulum reaches one extremity of its swing and on December 21 the other. On March 21 and September 22 the pendulum hangs in mid-swing.

"Night and day are caused, as is generally believed, by the rotation of the earth on its axis. The axis is tilted at an angle of 23½ degrees from the run's ray to its centre by an electro-magnetic force constantly at variance with that of the sun. This accounts for the seasons and the length of daylight.

"The sun is not a stationary body but describes movements of its own through space, although not those usually graphed and believed. This also is true of other planetary bodies."

In advancing this startling theory, Bussanich says that astronomers of the past were deluded in the first place by failure to make correct measurements, the apparent changing of the distance from the earth to the sun being due to an optical shortening of space caused by the varying angles from which that body is viewed on different dates.

From this first false premise, he says, astronomers have constructed an elaborate theory that the earth goes around the sun and have made all their observations assuming that the earth was somewhere else than where it actually was.

Bussanich says there is no cause for alarm from his alleged discoveries since the universe, while it does not function in the clock-like manner usually believed, operates according to another system, which is even more precise and infallible.

"My hypothesis accounts for all heavenly movements, such as the eclipse of the sun on January 24," he says, "and goes further than the Newton-Keplar theory and gives logical reasons for phenomena which have always been puzzling—the aurora borealis, for instance, and the twinkling of the stars."

Asked if his theory was a new one, Mr. Bussanich replied:

"Oh, no, not absolutely new, as nothing is. Plato and Aristotle believed vaguely in the pendulum theory and Niccolo Mancine, the famous Italian electrical scientist, at the present time has repudiated the Newton idea and hinted at an electro-magnetic hypothesis for the universe. However, I believe I am the first man who has solved the details of the theory and believe that I will eventually prove it to the complete satisfaction of science."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir: My attention has just been called to a letter which appeared in your issue of the 23rd ult., signed by "Presbyter," and entitled "Church Union in Peterboro Presbytery." The letter so reflected on certain congregations of our Presbytery as to be highly offensive to the office-bearers and others of those congregations, that they have requested me to reply. Would you then be good enough to grant me space in your valuable paper to do so, and oblige.

It is evident at the outset that "Presbyter" must be somewhat new to our Presbytery when he states that Colborne and Lakeport received aid from the H. M. or Augmentation Fund. Those congregations have never asked or received such aid. But supposing they did, would it not be given willingly to a charge so deserving? It is the principle of Presbyterianism that the strong shall help the weak and a Bible principle as well. It is bad taste on the part of "Presbyter" to cast up anything of the kind, and cast a slur on any congregation.

It is true that the Hastings congregation has received for three years past $100 per annum, and it is deserving of much more. Previous to 1921 the congregation was self-sustaining, and was helping Western congregations by its contributions to the Augmentation Fund. The people most willingly answered every call of the Assembly to come up to the minimum. But in 1921 the minimum was raised from $1,500 to $1,800 at a time when farm produce went down with a slump, while the cost of living was still very high. That made it impossible for many rural congregations, like Hastings, to comply with the Assembly's decision. Why then should Presbyter use such insulting language towards these congregations because forsooth they do not vote as he votes? Is it a mortal sin to remain Presbyterian—to hold to the principle for which our forefathers fought, bled and died, in preference to a "policy" as expressed in the Assembly's resolutions from time to time? At best it is but a great experiment — it has to be proved, and if it stands the test of the old Presbyterian Church we will know it is of God.

Thanking you, I am, yours sincerely,

D. A. THOMPSON,
Presbytery Clerk.
Hastings, Ont.

ONCE MORE FROM NOVA SCOTIA

Comes a Tribute to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Joshua Smith, Well-known Ex-Postmaster, Tells How Dodd's Kidney Pills Relieved Him.

Port Hood Islands, N.S., Jan. 30. —(Special.)— "I used Dodd's Kidney Pills two years ago. I had poor circulation in my legs and feet. I used to have hot water tanks at night to keep my feet warm. I was able to do without them after using one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills.
I also had urinary trouble, but now I am quite well. My age is 80 years."
This statement is made by Mr. J. Smith of this place.
Dodd's Kidney Pills simply heal sick kidneys. They relieved Mr. Smith because his ailments were symptoms of kidney disease. When the kidneys get out of order they fail to strain the impurities out of the blood and general lassitude and weakness ensues. This condition is not only disagreeable but dangerous as well. The impurities in the blood are the seeds of disease. If they are not removed Rheumatism, Lumbago, Gravel, Dropsy, Diabetes, or Bright's Disease may result.

THE women who own a Hurley washing machine say they would feel utterly lost on wash day if they didn't have it. They get the wash on the line by nine or nine-thirty and feel as if they haven't ruined a perfectly good day just because the family had to have some clean clothes, and it will pay for itself.

CHAPLIN LIVING SEPARATE FROM HIS YOUNG WIFE

Rumors of Estrangement Denied, But Wife Seeks Big Money Settlement.

MARRIED NOV. 25

Comedian and Wife Refuse to Discuss Reports—Sum Mentioned is $500,000.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2.— Announcement that attorneys representing Mrs. Charles Chaplin, the 16-year-old bride of the movie comedian, have been in conference with Chaplin's lawyers for the last ten days with a view to a financial settlement has brought to a head the many rumors arising from the reports that Mrs. Chaplin had not been seen in the company of her husband since their return from Empalme, Mexico, where they were married on Nov. 25.

The financial considerations under discussion revolve around the coming of a baby and its future welfare according to Edwin McMurray, attorney of San Francisco and a relative of the bride. Afternoon papers here published reports that the sum under consideration was $500,000, but no confirmation of this could be obtained from any one even remotely connected with the case.

Mr. McMurray, speaking for Mrs. Chaplin and her mother, made the following statement:

"The negotiations mentioned are in progress. They are of a purely financial and personal character. There is no connection between these negotiations and any contemplated separation or divorce."

Efforts to communicate with Mr. Chaplin since these negotiations were started have been unavailing.

George Beebe of this city is associated with McMurray in the negotiations. He said that Chaplin and his girl bride were on the "best of terms."

The two lawyers announced that Mrs. Chaplin would refuse any personal interviews. Members of Mrs. Chaplin's family, with her mother, Mrs. Lillian Curry McMurray Spicer, spokesman, announced that Mrs. Chaplin would continue to live under the same roof as Chaplin.

Despite this announcement Mrs. Spicer and Mrs. Chaplin were located not at the Chaplin house of forty rooms, but in the home of Lita's grandfather, W. E. Curry of Beverly Hills.

Chaplin's limousine was waiting at the front steps of his home, which until the announcement of the financial negotiations, had been the scene of interviews with Mrs. Chaplin. Yoshi, a smiling Japanese servant, said, "Yes, Charlie is inside, but he is so busy with plans of his new picture that he cannot be interviewed."

Chaplin's apparent return to his house, and Lita's apparent desertion on top of the family's announcement of financial negotiations, were accepted to-day as prefacing a break in the movie matrimonial alliance.

$10,000 FACTORY FIRE

Blaze in St. Catharines Macaroni Factory Was Checked.

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 2.— A fire which was confined to the third storey of the Puccini Macaroni factory here, did $10,000 damage Sunday afternoon. The blaze is believed to have started near the roof in the motor equipment used in running the elevator. The flames were first noticed in the roof and as there was no person in the building it is believed the fire had been smouldering for some time before detected. The blaze became menacing when it spread to a pile of wood used in construction of packing cases, but was held in check, doing little damage to the machinery of the plant or the large sotck of macaroni.

Six starving peasant families of Stravropolsk committed suicide simultaneously by locking themselves in their house to which they then set fire, burning them to the ground.

INSANE FATHERS CAUSED DEATHS OF SIX PERSONS

Two Families Almost Wiped Out by Fathers Said To Be Demented.

FOUR CHILDREN

Farmer and Miner, Both Crazed by Religion, Under Arrest.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Feb. 2.—Crazed by religion and continually muttering, "I know the kind Lord has received them," Walter Bingaman, aged 36, a rich farmer of James Mill, near Coventryille, in northern Chester County, was removed from the Chester County prison here on Saturday night, to the Chester County Home, in a strait jacket, having murdered his two children, William, aged 11 months, and Priscilla, aged 3, early on Saturday morning, and indirectly caused the death of his father, Christopher Bingaman, aged 72 years.

The latter collapsed and died of apoplexy when he rushed from his room and discovered the crime. The bodies of the three were found close together.

For some time Bingaman has been acting strangely and had suffered recently attacks of religious frenzy and would become violent but had never attempted to harm members of his family. On Friday night, however, he became so violent that his wife fled to the home of a neighbor and early on Saturday notified the authorities.

County Detective Mullen and other officers went to the place, and found the house a wreck, glass had been broken from the windows, furniture wrecked and other damage done. They were forced to break into the room occupied by the children, where they found the almost headless bodies of the two lying on the floor beside the body of their grandfather. Their slayer was found asleep in bed and placed under arrest. A third child, George, aged 6, was also sleeping.

On the trip to prison here Bingaman suffered several attacks of frenzy and was restrained with difficulty. Once in prison he talked freely of the crime.

"I killed them because the Lord called upon them and for me to send them to Him," he said. "I would have killed my wife also had she been present because she is no lover of the Lord. The reason I did not kill George was that I loved him and he loved the Lord."

WIFE AND CHILDREN.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Feb. 2. — After the bodies of his wife and two children had been found with their throats cut Russell Martin was locked in the Cumberland jail Saturday, charged with killing them.

The tragedy occurred just about 9.30 o'clock on Friday night in the Martin home in Paradise, a suburb of Midland, about 16 miles west of Cumberland. Martin is a miner, 28 years old. His wife was 23 years old. The children were girls, one 4 years old, and the other 18 months.

George W. Winters, uncle of Mrs. Martin, and the only other occupant of the house other than the Martins, made the discovery. While in his room he heard strange sounds in another room, it is said. Then seeing Martin leave the house with a knife in his hand, he investigated.

The uncle hurried away to find Govan Martin, the father of the young miner. When they returned they found that the bodies had been removed from the house, placed in a mine hole and covered with snow. A portion of a blanket in which they were wrapped, stuck out.

Russell Martin is said to have been an active member of a religious sect and is reported that speculation on religion has caused differences between him and his wife. For a time he and his family lived at Wyoming, and the wife it is said had been planning to return there.

Constable Henry F. Wagus and a posse went to the house where the tragedy occurred. Martin it is said, met them at the door with a shotgun. It was knocked out of his hand, and he was taken into Midland.

While he was being held in a lunch room in Midland until means of transportation to Cumberland could be found, it is charged that he picked up a bread knife and made an attempt to kill his captors. He was disarmed a second time. Frank Gray, one of the men guarding him, was cut on the hand before this was done.

Wilfred Desjardins, of the Mnotreal fire brigade, who was entombed in the wreckage of the flaming Lamoine street building for eight hours on Wednesday night and Thursday morning, and who was finally rescued after devoted efforts on the part of his comrades, died Sunday in the Montreal General Hospital from shock and exposure.

HISTORIC TOWN HALL OF MELBOURNE BURNED

Electric Wires in Organ Fused—Loss About $100,000.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Feb. 2. (Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's)—Fire which broke out in the Melbourne Town Hall early Sunday gutted the fine concert hall and completely destroyed the organ and the historic, life-sized paintings of previous mayors of the city and the state governors. The hall was only recently renovated and the pitch of the organ altered. It is believed that the fire was caused by the fusing of electric wires in the mechanism of the organ. The damage is estimated by civic officials at about $400,000.

The fire will probably hasten the decision whether or not a large town hall shall be built on the present site or elsewhere in the city.

MONUMENT TO WOMEN'S WAR WORK IS PROPOSED

Premier King Promises Consideration of Women's Proposal.

OTTAWA, Feb. 2. — That the work of Canadian women in the Great War should be commemorated by the erection of a monument similar to the one which it is proposed to put up on Connaught Square in Ottawa to the memory of the Canadians who fought in the war, was the proposal submitted to the Federal Government here Saturday by a committee representing several women's clubs in Canada. Mrs. Asa Gordon headed the delegation. Premier King promised consideration of the committee's proposal.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 2.— One passenger was killed and about 20 other persons were injured when the 'Frisco passenger train, No. 104, the Memphis-Atlanta express, northbound, was derailed several miles north of Winfield, Alabama, early Sunday, according to despatches received here, which stated that a baggage car, two day coaches and two sleepers left the rails and overturned.

Mrs. Elizabeth Northcutt, Lexington, Okla. was killed; Miss Sarah McFall of Adamville., Ala., and Charles Bernard, news agent, of Memphis, were seriously injured.

The passengers and a number of the injured arrived here on a relief train.

OPIUM PARLEY FAILED AGAIN

Formula of Solution Still Perplexing Delegates of Nations at Geneva.

MEET ON TEUSDAY.

GENEVA, Feb. 2—The joint commission of the two opium conferences failed Saturday to bring forth the magic formula for solving the perplexing problem of how and when to abolish authorized opium smoking in the Far East.

Great Britain France and Holland, in whose Far Eastern possessions opium smoking prevails under government commission and supervision, all explained that suppression within a definite term of years was impracticable and dangerous, until the illicit cultivation of the posonous poppy was checked in China and some means found to prevent smuggling into other Oriental countries.

Representative Stephen G. Porter, head of the United States delegation, who is striving for immediate action in the suppression of the habit without making it contingent on what China will do, did not address Saturday's session and he proposed adjournment until Tuesday. He said afterwards that he still hoped for an eventual agreement, yet could not now forsee along what lines. He added that he was still dissatisfied with the provisions of the anti-narcotic convention, which he was convinced should be strengthened.

The British favor the signing of the anti-narcotic convention and the postponement of further consideration of the smoking problem for a future conference.

ANOTHER DEATH IN HERRIN FEUD WAR ON SUNDAY

Pseudo Federal Agent Shot Dead by Policeman in Bloody Illinois Town.

PEACE HOPES FADE

Sheriff Requests Military Aid and Martial Law Under State Control.

HERRIN, Ills., Feb. 2.—(Canadian Press).—An unidentified man, posing as a Federal agent, was killed by Rufus Whitson, Herrin policeman, and Sim H. Stevens, another policeman, was slightly wounded in a pistol fight here early Sunday in the dining-room of the Lymar Hotel.

Appeal to State.

Hopes of immediate peace between the Klan and anti-Klan factions, held out since the battle of a week ago when S. Glenn Young, leader of the Klan forces and Deputy Sheriff Ora Thomas, foe of the order, killed each other, were dashed Saturday when Sheriff Galligan and A. M. Walker, Chief of Police of Herrin, sent a joint telegram to Adjutant General Black asking for the immediate declaration of martial law here.

The telegram, signed by the Sheriff, read:

"Deeper trouble now on at Herrin. Myself and the Chief of Police of Herrin sincerely believe martial law for Herrin only solution for problem. Quick action is necessary and only martial law will avail anything."

Says Klan Threatened Life.

The telegram followed the declaration by Chief Walker that his life was threatened in front of the City Hall by J. H. Smith, Klan leader, at whose garage a few months ago there occurred one of the bloodiest battles of the long-continued strife. Smith has succeeded to the chieftaincy of the militant Klansmen left vacant by the slaying of Young.

Two versions of the encounter between Chief Walker and Smith are current. One is that the Chief told Patrolman Crain, a Klan supporter, that he was dismissed, and made a motion as if to draw his revolver. Later Smith met Walker and told him not to discharge Crain or there would be trouble. Smith denies he was armed. The other story is that Smith demanded Walker's resignation as Chief. Whichever is right, the upshot was that Walker hastened at once to Marion to confer with Sheriff Galligan, with the result that the message was sent to Adjt. Gen. Black asking for a declaration of martial law.

Chief Walker and his son Henry, who is a patrolman, were formerly Klansmen, but are reported to have quit the hooded order. Smith met Walker just after the former had denied at the Coroner's inquest over the slaying of Young and Thomas that he had told newspaper men that he was an eyewitness of the shooting.

Verdict on Young-Thomas Duel.

The Coroner's jury, unaware of the new state of affairs, continued to hear evidence and finally decided that Deputy Sheriff Thomas killed Young and that Young killed Thomas. Ed Forbes and Homer Warren, Klan Lieutenants of Young, were killed, according to the verdict, by party or parties unknown to the jury. The verdict had been forecast for several days.

The jury's investigation was the fairest and most thorough of any in recent years. Foreman Tom Benton of Johnston City, connected with no faction within the county, announced at the first session of the jury that, as the charge had been made that the jury was controlled by the Klan, he would guarantee personally a fair deal to every one and he repeated his promise to witness after witness of the anti-Klan factions.

No one was recommended for punishment in the verdict, and the jurors ventured no observations on the warfare which has kept Williamson County in an uproar for two years.

A Town of Feuds.

Feuds are not a new thing in Williamson County. In the early '70s there was a reign of lawlessness and factional fighting in the county. It ended on Jan. 21, 1876, with the first legal execution in the county.

Things were comparatively peaceful from that time until 1922. Then, following the development of coal mining in the county and the introduction of unionism, labor troubles broke out, reaching a climax in the "Herrin massacre" of June in that year, when a mob of 5,000 union labor men stormed a mine between this town and Marion, and after a brisk battle captured non-union workers, lined many of them

LABOR PROGRAM TO GOVERNMENT BY DEPUTATION

Many Proposals Presented to Federal Cabinet by Labor Congress Officials.

SENATE REFORM

Unemployed Insurance, Old Age Pensions and Eight-Hour Day Included.

OTTAWA Feb. 2.— Abolition of the Senate, establishment of unemployed insurance and old age pension, and a request that Canada ask the United States government to remove the discrimination between Canadian born and other Canadian citizens in the quota regulations, were among the legislative proposals submitted to the prime minister and cabinet this afternoon by a deputation from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Other matters submitted were amendments to the election act to provide for proportional representation in group constituencies and the transferable vote in single constituencies, the creation of a public holiday on election day or better arrangements of voting hours for working men's ballots. The deputation urged that immediate effect be given to the eight-hour day conventions of the international Labor organization so far as lay within power of the dominion government. This subject was introduced by E. Ingles, Canadian vice-president International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Curtail Senate's Power.

Speaking for the abolition of the senate, T. J. Foster, vice-president of the congress informed the government that there had been no change in the policy of congress that the best interests of the country would be served by doing away with the senate. Labor would support the government in any measure which would restrict the power of the senate, especially in vetoing legislation passed by the House of Commons, reducing the senate's numbers, or making it more representative and answerable to the people for its actions.

In presenting unemployed insurance, James Simpson, vice-president of congress, stressed the endorsation of numerous public bodies for a measure of this nature and the inability of the workers themselves to make provision against the oft-recurring periods of unemployment. The opinion was again expressed that unemployment relief was a joint responsibility of the federal government, provincial legislatures and municipalities.

Tom Moore, president of congress, stated the immigration proposals, commending the government for attempting to remove from the immigration act objectionable clause discriminating against British born subjects and permitting the deportation of political offenders without trial by jury. It was regretted that this legislation had been rejected by the Senate. Protest was lodged against the continued influx of industrial workers notwithstanding the volume of unemployed existing in Canada and amendments to the act were requested which would place in the prohibited classes all contract labor except such as was approved by the employment service council of Canada. Other requests were for discouragement of immigration of of children under school age abolition of bonuses to private employment agencies, and solicitation of the aid of the British government to obtain closer supervision of all immigration advertisements.

Action was urged by J. T. Foster to give prompt legislative effect to the report of the committee which dealt with old-age pensions at the last session of parliament.

Would Amend Code.

James Simpson submitted amendments to the criminal code which would restore the right of the freedom of speech and assembly and prevent "indiscriminate arrests for sedition and seditious conspiracy." Cases were quoted showing the continuation of the practice of using the injunction to prevent peaceful picketing and the conducting of strikes in accordance with British practice.

James F. Marsh, general organizer, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, of America, stated that in view of the commitments of the government to the peace treaty to the eight-hour day and the fact that 50 per cent of industrial workers in Canada enjoy the eight-hour day, the fair wage clauses should be amended by striking out the prevailing rates section in districts where government contracts are being undertaken and substituting the eight-hour day.

Congress asked that the government confer with the marines engineers' organizations before introducing any new shipping act; political freedom for government employees, federal, provincial or municipal, was asked.

The speakers included Bert Merson, vice-president of congress; John W.Bruce, general organizer journeymen plumbers and steamfitters; J. A. McCleland, vice-president international association of machinists, and P. M. Draper, secretary-treasurer of congress.

Sustains Injunction Barring City Council From Holding Inquiry

Mr. Justice Middleton Says Proposed Investigation Into Power Accounts of Campbell Flour Mills Ltd., is Not Within Powers Conferred by Section 248 of the Municipal Act.

CITY'S COUNSEL WILL ADVISE APPEAL.

R. R. Hall Did Not Charge Utilities Commission With Dishonesty, But Claimed City Is Entitled to Investigate Affairs of Commission.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Feb. 2.—Mr. Justice Middleton held today at Osgoode Hall that the judicial investigation directed by the Peterborough City Council into matters between the Peterborough Utilities Commission and the Campbell Flour Mills Company Limited, did not come within Section 248 of The Municipal Act.

The original motion by the milling company had been to restrain Judge Huycke from probing into and reporting upon the alleged failure of the Peterborough Utilities Commission to charge the Campbell company for electric power used in their mill in Peterborough from March, 1919, to December, 1921. This motion for an interim injunction was turned into one for judgment by Mr. Justice Middleton, with the result as stated.

R. R. Hall, K.C., appeared for Judge Huycke; City Solicitor Joseph Wearing for the City of Peterborough; Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., for the Campbell company, and C. C. Robinson, K.C., for the Peterborough Utilities Commission.

Advise Appeal.

After the hearing, Messrs. Hall and Wearing stated that they would advise an appeal from the Middleton judgment.

Mr. Hall urged before the Osgoode judge, that Judge Huycke had jurisdiction to make the enquiry ordered by the city council, as it concerned the public business of Peterborough. The enquiry related to the power purchased and the city must incur either a loss or a gain. Either through error or otherwise, according to Mr. Hall, the Campbell Company received 150 more horsepower than it actually paid for. The amount involved in three years was about $10,000. An important feature was the city's desire to have a remedy as to the future.

Answering Mr. Justice Middleton, Mr. Hall said he did not charge the Peterborough Utilities Commission with dishonesty, but he did stress that the city was entitled to an investigation.

Mr. Hall insisted that the proposed enquiry was warranted by these words in Section 248. "or the conduct of any part of its public business."

Claims Public Business.

Emphasizing the public business of the city, Mr. Hall argued that the enquiry came within the act.

Mr. Justice Middleton: "You say that the Utilities Commission is your agent?"

Mr. Hall: "The commissioners are our managers."

Mr. Justice Middleton: "Isn't a manager a servant?"

Mr. Hall: "Substantially an agent."

Mr. Hall alleged that the so-called enquiry held by the Utilities Commission had not disclosed what the city wished to know.

Mr. Nesbitt: "Why not make the reference to Mr. Hall, as pooh-bah"

Mr. Hall: "I might do it in a too-judicial way."

Mr. Hall repeated that whether a gain or a loss were sustained, the city had the right to know the reason.

Cases were submitted to Mr. Justice Middleton, but the latter said, "Cases don't trouble me. I must base my opinion on the scope of the Act."

Mr. Hall: "In this case, it's the city's own property and the city and council have the right to know about the disposal of the property. The city wants to see that the waste or error shall not take place in future."

Interests All Province.

It was suggested that the present issue was not only of interest to Peterborough, but to the whole province, to the other muncipalities.

Mr. Wearing, following Mr. Hall, said it was necessary to have witnesses, as the commission's report had not been satisfactory.

Mr. Robinson, for the Peterborough Utilities Commission, explained that he was not present to support the motion for an injunction. The commission wanted the fullest possible investigation.

The Campbell company's writ had sought an injunction on the ground that the council's enquiry resolution did not fall within Section 248 of The Municipal Act. This point was upheld today by Mr. Justice Middleton, whatever other judges may say on appeal.

So the Campbells get their injunction.

The enquiry before Judge Huycke was to have opened today, but His Honor enlarged it until February 5th, so that today's Osgoode application might be made. Now, of course, Judge Huycke will not proceed on February 5th or at all unless the Court of Appeal reverses Mr. Justice Middleton's order.

BOLSHEVIKI ADOPT OLD WAGE SYSTEM

Return to Piecework and Remove All Limits on Production and Workers' Earnings.

RIGA, Feb. 2.—During the last fortnight the Bolsheviki have decided to introduce unobtrusively several measures to invigorate the economic life of Soviet Russia, some of which are in striking contradiction to the doctrines they hitherto have professed.

The most noteworthy is perhaps the supreme trade unionist authority's scheme to raise the productivity of labor by enforcing the application of the piecework system as much as possible in all industries. The scheme explicitly removes all maximum production limits and consequent wage limits, and definitely expresses the hope that workers will increase both their output and earnings to an indefinite extent. Piecework payment, which in the early years of the revolution the Bolsheviki condemned, gradually has crept in since they began a campaign a year ago to spur the workers to greater production as the only means of bringing prices down and saving Soviet industry from total ruin.

The Currency Department of the Soviet Government has decided to abolish the existing prohibition and henceforth allow private persons and enterprises to conclude agreements not only in Tchervontsi, but also in foreign currencies.

The Central Committee of the Communist Party recently held a special meeting to consider ways and means of overcoming the widespread evil of non-payment of workers' wages, which they considered one of the chief obstacles to the increase of the industrial output because it fostered discontent among the workers and conflicts. The trust directorates' figures produced at the meeting show some progress has been made during the last few months in dealing with this problem.

On Jan. 1 Soviet industries, apart from chemical concerns, still owed their workers £312,000, whereas in October the arrears of wages amounted to £1,419,700 and in July £1,307,600. The greatest debtors to the workers were the metal industry and the Don coal mines.

The Soviet press announces the arrival at Leningrad from Birkenhead and London of the first cargoes of flour purchased abroad, amounting to 6,300 tons.

THE WEATHER

Lowest temperature yesterday 3 degrees below zero; west this morning, 4 above zero. January had 14 days below zero, and there have been already this winter 21 days of below zero temperatures, This winter is proving to be unusually severe, and the end is not yet. The highest temperature in January was 37 degrees above (on the 27th), and the lowest 36 below (on the 28th.) This is Candlemas day, a church feast, inaugurated in 492 A.D., in commemoration of the presentation of Christ in the temple. It is perhaps more commonly known as the day on which the bear awakes from his winter's sleep to see if winter is yet over. If he sees his shadow he goes back for another six weeks; otherwise he stays out. The legend is probably as old as the church feast, and with different variations is held by practically all nations.—W.P.

GREEKS APPEAL TO CHRISTIANS AGAINST TURKS

People Assure Government of Support in Demanding That Patriarch be Reinstated.

MANY PROTESTS

Another Act Illustrating Brutality of the Turks to Christians.

ATHENS, Feb. 2.— (Canadian Press).—The tide of public indignation is rapidly rising throughout the country, and everywhere associations and public bodies of all kinds, religious and lay, are passing resolutions of protest, assuring the Greek government of the support of the entire nation in demanding satisfaction for the expulsion of the Greek patriarch from Turkey by the Turkish government.

Athens University has addressed a protest to foreign universities while indignation meetings are being held in all the chief cities. Whether the Greek representative at Angora will be recalled depends upon Turkey's reply to the Greek note.

An appeal to the churches of America and Europe to protest against the expulsion of Patriarch Constantinos and to demand his reinstatement, is made by the archbishop of Athens, in a message which he has sent to the heads of all Christian Churches in Great Britain and the United States and other countries.

"The Turks' hostility toward the Christians which has manifested itself in many acts of indescribable brutality," says the appeal, "has led them to expel Patriarch Constantinos from his see."

Just as a hundred years ago they hanged Patriarch Gregorius V., so today before the eyes of the civilized world and in defiance of international treaties they have expelled Constantinos VI., with the object of abolishing the patriarchate, which for centuries has been the centre of Christianity and civilization through which Europe was regenerated."

WATCH DEVELOPMENTS.

LONDON, Feb. 2. — (Canadian Press)—As officially viewed at London, the expulsion of the Greek patriarch by the Turkish government may eventually demand some kind of action by the allied governments. The disposition for the time being, however, is to watch developments.

SUBJECT TO EXCHANGE.

GENEVA, Feb. 2.—According to League of Nations officials, the Mixed Commission, which has been supervising the exchange of populations of Greece and Turkey recently ruled that the Most Reverend Constantinos, Ecumenical Patriarch of the Greek Catholic Church, was technically exchangeable because he arrived in Constantinople after the Armistice.

The commission recommended that the Patriarch be permitted to remain in Turkey, but the Angora Government insisted it would only permit a Greek Patriarch who was a Turkish subject to reside in the country. The Turks, it was stated, disclaimed any intention of violating the Lausanne Treaty in forcing the abolition of the Patriarchate as an institution.

REVOLVER USED BY HOLD-UP MAN

Victim Summoned Help by Trick, but Rescuer Was Lined Up, Too.

BANDIT ESCAPED.

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (Canadian Press).—"Get 'm up quick, don't shout or I'll pull the trigger." Such was the command which greeted Joseph Morris, assistant manager of the Dominion Stores shortly before midnight on Saturday, when a man of stocky build held him up and relieved him of $35 in bills and change and some other small trinkets, in a dark lane in the rear of 35 Metcalfe Street.

Morris was opening the doors of a garage to put his machine away, when the unwelcome visitor crept up behind him and covered him with a revolver. The hold-up man did not wear a mask.

After Morris pockets had been turned out, the hold-up man turned his attention to a small bag which Morris had in the car. Apparently to the surprise of the thug, the bag contained only a few papers.

As the robber was making a hasty examination of the inside of the car, Morris stepped back towards the garage, and using one of his feet to open the door set in motion a burglar alarm connecting the garage with the house.

W. H. Miller, owner of the garage, responded. When the latter appeared on the scene he, too, was ordered to throw up his hands, but Miller slammed the door in the face of the robber, and rushed into the house calling for hehlp.

Upon his return he found that the man had made good his escape in a car which was parked a short distance away.

BOULDER HOLDS MAN ENTOMBED

Futile Efforts Made by Rescuers to Chip the Huge Rock.

FOURTK DAY.

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 2.—(Canadian Press).—Hope came with dawn to-day to the sand cave wherein one of its crooked little crevices, three hundred feet from the entrance, Floyd Collins, 35 years of age, has lain pinioned by a huge boulder since Friday morning.

A squad of men, bringing a portable drill, was to leave Louisville early to-day. A truck was here ready to transport the equipment to the cave, six miles away. With this drill the rescuers hoped to cut away enough of the stone to release the victim.

His strength slowly ebbing, Collins devoted his conscious moments to directing the workers, who for more than forty hours have been chipping tiny flakes from the huge rock in a futile effort to release Collins.

Handicapped by lack of tools and by the narrow passage, the rescuers have made little headway, but have kept unceasingly at their task. Water, seeping in from the ice-covered cliffs, added to the discomfort of Collins, and the men who had squirmed through the crevice to take him food and do what little else they could for him. Collins' brothers, Marshall and Homer, themselves experienced cave men, have worked incessantly since their brother was entombed.

An offer of $5000 to a reputable surgeon who will crawl through the sand cave to Floyd Collins, chloroform the imprisoned man, and amputate his leg, was made to-day by Homer Collins, a brother of the victim.

Ostriches may be able to eat barbed wire, and men may drink moonshine liquor—but when a puppy swallows a seven-inch pin there is plenty of trouble. MY TWO YEARS AMONG CANNIBALS

Witnessed a Head-Hunters' Feast in Land of Papua.

WOMEN WORK.

(By CAPT. FRANK HURLEY.)

The two years I have just spent in the hitherto untrodden wilderness of Papua's interior have been the most thrilling in my life of adventure. The birth of this desire to explore unknown regions of the tropics with a camera was brought about by my experiences with Shackleton's Endurance expedition, when, in a land of ice, we spent seven months beneath three overturned boats, with dim prospects of rescue.

Shivering and half-starved as we were at the bottom of the world, my companions and I longed body and soul for the heat of the tropics, and, while the icy blasts of wind froze us stiff, we planned an expedition to New Guinea and Papua should we ever escape from the ice.

The war prevented an early realisation of this ambition, but at last I was able to organise the expedition I had set my heart upon, and, in company with Mr. Allan M'Culloch and Mr. Andrew Lang, two Scots friends I had met over in Australia, I formed a party of five white men and thirty natives and set out to explore the land of thrills.

Allan M'Culloch was born in Glasgow, but he now is ichthyologist at Sydney Museum. Captain Andrew Lang served in the Royal Air Force during the war, and shortly afterwards returned to Australia. After the expedition ended he was killed in a motor accident. He was at one time an Oban resident.

M'Culloch was my able lieutenant, and together with Lang enjoyed the excitement of the wilderness as much as myself. "Andy" was a very clever pilot, and he saved our lives more than once when we went out viewing the country from the air in one of our seaplanes.

My intention was to make a film record of my adventures amongst the cannibals and headhunters who dwell in that mystic land of Papua. We certainly did see sights that fall to the lot of few men to witness. Amongst our experiences was the witnessing of a cannibal feast, a scene we were powerless to prevent, but which I was able to photograph because the savages themselves did not know what my camera was doing.

We were in a land where the men slay and the women work, and where skulls on your "hat-rack" are a sign of genius. The modern girl demands that her lover be handsome, fairly rich, and well educated; but the dusky flapper of unknown Papua gives her love only to the brave who has rings through his nose, no hair, and a rack full of the skulls of his enemies.

I was lucky enough to get the chief of the headhunters of Papua to pose for a picture. His skull rack contained the heads of nearly fifty victims, and he let it be known that I was the only white man that had ever gazed upon his features, which were vicious to say the least.

Some of the native tribes we came across were hospitable enough, and readily became amateur film stars. The cannibal brides amazed and startled us from the very first. They wore strange "Alice in Wonderland" caps, with long teazled fibre pending down in luxuriant tresses, which lent to them a particularly wild appearance.

They certainly were neither comely nor alluring, encumbered as they were with grass gowns, which appeared to add length to their grotesque headgear. The latter is known as Atsum. There is no doubting the suitability of the word, for it is sure 'sum 'at." The whole rig-out suggested fearsome grass widows very much run to weeds.

To make themselves more attractive the unmarried women have what appear to be skewers put through their nostrils. These are really pieces of bone, and together with necklaces of human teeth, they consider themselves to be very attractively made up for the marriage market.

When we landed at one village on the side of Lake Murray the natives could not understand why our faces were white and not black. Then they saw M'Culloch washing himself with a piece of soap and laughed. They thought our faces were really black, but that with some piece of magic we changed our colour at will. One villager washed himself all day with a piece of soap we gave him in a vain endeavour to make his skin white.

The expedition was provided with two seaplanes, and when we flew about in one or the other of these machines we frightened the lives out of the savages. When we landed at one place they thought we were gods from above, and as a great honour they killed a large pig amid much cere mony. This sacrifice they placed on the bows of the machine which they eyed in wonderment.

Papua is, indeed, the strangest land on earth, and as we plunged deep into the jungle fastnesses, and mingled with the head-hunters, we marvelled at our own dare-devilry.

Principal of Queen's University Takes Issue With Premier Ferguson.

KINGSTON, February 2. — Canadian Press. — Disapproval of Premier Ferguson's proposal to give the first two years of the University course in the Collegiate Institutes of the province, and a scathing denunciation of the type of theological narrow minedness which interferes with intellectual freedom, were features of an address by Dr. R. Bruce Taylor, principal of Queen's University at the annual arts society dinner held at the University on Saturday evening.

DANGER OF WAR EMPIRE MENACE

Only Real Immunity for Dominions is in Secession, Says Writer.

MENACING POSITION.

LONDON, Feb. 2.— (Canadian Press.)—"A menacing position," is the heading in the first of a series of articles which the Times is running dealing with "the problem of a common empire policy." The writer, while discussing the bulk of ordinary diplomatic procedure as offering comparatively little difficulty, declares that the real danger lies in the international issues which are continually cropping up, involving danger of war, because, although the dominions have secured the right to abstain from any war in which the other parts of the empire are involved, the only practical way of escaping belligerency is secession from the empire.

EXPEL GREEK PRIESTS.

Fear is Expressed That Others May Suffer Fate of Most Rev. Constantinos.

LONDON, Feb. 2. — (Canadian Press). — Special despatches from Constantinople say that most of the Greek prelates and priests there are likely to suffer the same fate as the ecumenical patriarch, the Most Rev. Constantinos, who was expelled by the Turks.

INSPIRATIONAL ADDRESS ENDS SHORT AGRICULTURAL COURSE CONDUCTED AT CENTREVILLE

Professor Wade Toole, of the "Cow College," Urges the Need for Hard Work.

BENEFITS OF FARM.

Modern Farming Requires Just Such Training as Young People Received.

BAILIEBORO, Feb. 2. — The young people of Cavan and South Monaghan, as well as others from Hamilton and Otonabee, brought to a close their short course which has been held in Centreville Town Hall for the last month. As a suitable closing for this course, a very successful banquet was held on Friday evening in the Sunday School Hall.

The event was supervised by those who directed the course, including F. C. Paterson, of Port Hope, who is the agricultural representative for Durham County, and who was in charge of this course, also Fraser Ross, agricultural representative of Fort William, who was in charge of the boys' class, and Miss Norah Williams, Burlington, who supervised the domestic science course for the girls' class for the last two weeks of the course. Mrs. M. M. Ailsworth, Toronto, conducted the sewing during the first two weeks. Besides the instructers and instructresses were other occasional lecturers, including Messrs. McGreer, lecturer on sheep; Thompson, on wool-grading; Hilliard, on butchering; Hart, on co-operation; Tucker, on potatoes; Snyder, of Guelph, a lecture and demonstration on the plucking and killing of poultry; Dr. Hancock, veterinary from Cobourg, and Mrs. Aikens, on poultry, as well as others.

The course also consisted of a trip to the Canadian Packing Co., Peterboro, and to the Union Stock Yards, Swift's abbatoir, and the Farmers' Dairy, all in Toronto. The boys took part in local judging at the farms of Jas. Whittington, where beef cattle were judged; at James Campbell's, horses; at Wm. Belck's, dairy cattle, and Jas. McGill's, sheep.

Ladies Busy.

The young lady members of the course spent the last week, busily engaged in cooking and preparing for the banquet, all preparations being made at the hall. The abundance of dainties spread before the crowd assembled certainly showed some of the benefits, at least, which had been reaped from the course in cooking. The hall was very daintily decorated with flowing streamers, to all parts of the room. The tables were prettily adorned with artificial flowers and glimmering candles, while the waiters wore shoulder bands of colored paper and the waitresses wore aprons and colored hair bands, all combining with the color scheme worked out in the window shades and the table decorations. The boys and girls, twenty-two in number, who helped to serve, served very efficiently and without confusion. Those who were present at the banquet were the members of the class and their parents. Everyone paid ample justice to the favors which were placed at each plate, consisting principally of toy horns and whistles in various forms. The honored guest of the banquet was Wade Toole, Professor of Animal Husbandry, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, as well as other guests of honor, including Rev. A. H. McConnachie, Messrs. A. J. Fallis, M.P.P., and J. L. McCamus, newly elected Warden for Northumberland and Durham.

Orchestra Enjoyed

During the banquet occasional interruptions were made in the form of "sing songs". The orchestra provided entertainment while supper was being served. At the close of the banquet a lengthy programme was carried through consisting of toasts, addresses and musical numbers. Mr. F. C. Paterson acted as toast-master first proposing a toast to the king. The toast to the ladies class was proposed by Harry Campbell, and by Miss Viola White, Miss Emma Tate proposed the toast to the boy's class and Williard Waterman, made a suitable reply. The boy's class "yell" resounded through the hall and the girls's "yell" echoed back in response. The next item was a violin solo given by Wilfred Johnston. The toast to the instructors and instructress was made by Harold Bebee, and replied to by the toastmaster. Brief addresses were made by Miss Williams, and Mr. Ross, also a joke by Jas. Johnston. Miss Jean Eagleson provided an excellent piano solo followed by an address by Warden J. L. McCamus. Mr. McConnachie made a brief address, giving time for the speaker of the evening, Mr. Toole.

From "Cow College".

Mr. Toole stated that he came from the college, commonly known to the students of the Toronto University as the "Cow College," but he wanted the people to know that he was proud to be a member of the staff of that "Cow College". The speaker based the subject of his address upon "Success". In beginning Mr. Toole highly commended the instructors and instructress upon the success of their classes, and also the pupils upon the success of their banquet. "It is one of the finest banquets that I have ever had the pleasure of attending," he said. "Success depends upon the things that we are aiming at, and if we mean to make a success of life we should not depend upon the almighty dollar alone, but by actually doing something that is worth while in our every day work in our community and also in our homes.

We as citizens of Canada, often overlook the most important crop in our land, the crop of boys and girls. The Agricultural Representatives are doing splendid work to cultivate and to teach the younger element, by holding these short courses and distributing splendid literature throughout the country for the young boys and girls to read.

I was raised on a farm in Ontario County and I can safely say that good, hard, honest work will never prove harmful to anyone. When at home on my father's farm, I was never expected to do a day's work in ten hours, but rather in seventeen hours, and I have never found that this hard daily labour one the farm has ever done me any harm, but it has taught me to appreciate the farmer all the more for his honest toil.

Even to obtain the benefit of this short course you young people have had to work and sacrifice a great deal. There were extra chores to do at both house and barn for you boys and girls to do in the morning before going to the course, and in the evening after returning from the course. But it certainly is no disgrace for anyone to work hard with either their hands or head.

Benefit by Training.

My advice to young people is to take every advantage of getting upon their feet and expressing themselves in public. Some day, you may be taking a part in public or municipal affairs and you will find this training of great benefit to you.

Farmers are apt to look at the blue side of life too much. They should consider that there were hard times, when the city people experienced hard times also, and no matter what occupation one follows, he will find dull times.

Are we going to aim at something worth while, or are we going to be satisfied with securing some object which we have already had in view? Right must prevail, success in this course will be measured by bettering our own success rather than to make money. We have all seen people who are miserly and mean.

"Living, shall forfeit fair renown,
And doubly dying, shall go down
To the vile dust, from whence he sprung
Unwept, unhonored, and unsung.
—Scott.

Good Work on Farm.

We can do as good work on our farms as we can at any other profession. On the farm, character grows strong and free, but not so in the cities. Farm work cannot be done without that character, nor can any other work. It is necessary for the whole world. It needs men well educated in the principles of farming to make a success of this occupation.

The only knowledge worth while, is that knowledge which teaches the child to think. I believe in the old-fashioned rules of strict discipline as carried out in the public schools. I firmly believe in teaching a certain amount of modern agriculture in the public schools.

The teaching in public schools should be thorough and well-chosen as it is in this stage of life that a child is taught the lessons which he is going to carry through life and which will be most firmly planted in his mind.

The young men and wome who had the opportunity to procure an education should pass all the beneficial ideas along to those who have not had the same chance. They should carry such a good character that the other fellow will be able to follow that example.

Every boy and girl should have a mind of his own and do his own thinking, and not allow themselves to be led by what they hear other people say.

I believe in bringing children up to be useful. The boys who have been born and brought up on the farms and who have been taught to make themselves useful as children, are the boys who will turn out to be the best citizens. Men do not need to be out of work if they are willing to work, as there is sufficient work for all to do.

The "old timers" are keeping the ancient methods of farming still prevailing, but these short courses are teaching the young people the modern methods and I strongly advise some of the young men to try out some of the latest methods and to try to prove to your "Dads" the result of good farming. There is no use of sending the boy back to the farm without experience, because he will not turnout to be a successful farmer. We need men on the farms who have been raised on the farms. It is necessary to have advanced knowledge to be a successful modern farmer. If one can prove a modern method to be correct others will fall in line. We cannot get along without our neighbors, or the city people, because we must have help and a market.

I would like to reverse the farm people to the city and the city people to the farms and see how they could progress. They would soon tire of it and be glad to return to their former occupation. We should not gaze too long on far-off pastures that look green, as one meets with as many difficulties in one occupation as in another.

Enjoy Education.

I do not believe in young people not being able to enjoy an evening's entertainment without a dance. Young people should be able to enjoy an educational programme just as readily as they do a dance.

If we intend to make a success of life we should work at an occupation that we are really interested in and that we enjoy. It requires as much knowledge to grow crops, and to raise cattle as it does in any other profession. Farmers are making progress yearly, and every farmer should be of service in his community as well as in his home.

Some people will not listen to modern professors, but if we are going to farm we should do our best and not keep on continually in the same old rut. The young farmers who have had the experience should boost the modern methods to his fellowmen.

In closing I want to say that the short course is over, we do not want to cease, but rather let us advance our knowledge still farther. With regards to the young ladies, I would advise them to keep on cooking, and I hope the boys will try out some of their experiments and by all means to make use of their district agricultural representatives.

At the conclusion of Professor Toole's splendid address Mr. A. J. Fallis, M.P.P. made a brief address. Other short speeches were made by Geo. Morrison, Wilfrid Johnston and Arnold Brown. The latter was the youngest member of the class.

The programme having come to a close Mr. Paterson gave his hearty congratulations to the committee in charge, headed by W. Waterman, on the success of the evening.

Mr. Paterson also announced that Miss Emma Tate was the winner of the ladies' first prize for her efficient work during the course, the prize being a Boston cook book.

After the banquet and the programme were completed the crowd adjourned to the town hall, where the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. Excellent music was provided by the six-piece Class Orchestra. The dance was largely attended by both those who were present at the banquet, as well as many others from the community.

The orchestra consisted of Viola White, pianist; Herb Cardwell, saxaphone; Clifford Emberson, violin; James Wood, violin; Clifford Wood, traps; Wilfred Johnston, violin.

We do all things without thinking, and one is being bored with life.

SCREEN ARTISTS CAN BE HAPPILY MARRIED SAYS A SUCCESSFUL ONE

By HAROLD E. SWISHER.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 2.—(United Press).—What is it that assures happy marriages among the makers of the movies? The same things which tend to wedded bliss in any other rank of life.

Tolerance and patience are the prime demands.

Take Corinne Griffith's word for it! This beauty of universal screen renown has just ended her first year of married life as the bride of Walter Morosco, son of the theatrical producer, and considers herself well qualified to talk on the subject.

"Viewing married life from the foundation laid during our first year," said Miss Griffith, discussing the topic with the United Press, "I would say that, with love, the exercise of these two qualities—tolerance and patience—makes for happy wedded life among couples engaged in film work more than any other virtues.

"Tolerance, of course, entails a charitable view of shortcomings. It's reasonable to expect that the type of person gifted in one direction, as professional people are, may be lacking in other traits.

"I mean by this that the artistic husband may come home to his wife on her birthday with a perfectly inartistic lapse of memory, bringing neither presents nor a recollection of the day's significance. Yet he is not derelict—he is simply absorbed in his work and his innocently overlooked custom and courtesy.

"This may and does happen in any walk of life. It shouldn't be any harder for movie folk to be happy than any one else, and I don't believe it is.

"Patience," Miss Griffith continued, "implies the curbing of petulance and a resolute determination not to quarrel with fate when the family finances will not permit purchase of that promised sport model or the finery your heart is set on.

"Devotion and sacrifice are perhaps the principal ingredients of the much mistaken element called love. Combine these into practical form and you have co-operation.

"The wife who co-operates with her husband, and vice versa, according to which one has a career to make or maintain, winning the bread of existence and the bonbons of luvury—that wife will always hold her husband, so that husband will never have occasion to doubt the fidelity of his wife.

"The bulk of picture people who have married are happy," Miss Griffith said. "Look at Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, the Bryant Washburns, and the Fred Niblos. They didn't have to be shoemakers to be eligible for marital concord.

"Nor was it necessary for James Kirkwood and his bride, Lila Lee; for Wallace McDonald and Doris May, Harold Lloyd and Mildred Davis or the Pat O'Malleys to renounce the screen in order to make real homes for themselves."

Mrs. Wallace Reid, whose second production, "Broken Laws," is meeting with success in a number of cities, has started a personal appearance tour, opening at Kansas City. Mrs. Reid will speak from the stage in the larger cities where her film is shown and voice a plea for law observance, especially as it affects children.

Nita Naldi has startled Hollywood with her svelte figure. When she left California some months ago she was growing a bit buxom, but now she is lithe again. There is a clause in Miss Naldi's contract with Rudolph Valentino providing that she must keep under 130 pounds, else she will not be able to do her most seducive vamping.

Miss Naldi explains that she got thin and keeps thin by eating spinach. She exercises regularly, but not violently. Cigarettes and cocktails are taboo.

FIRST AND PARAMOUNT, ABSOLUTE SECURITY TO POLICYHOLDERS

"IF I should die to-day my family would have plenty," you say.

If you die to-day, yes; but what about years hence? There are many men who were very well-to-do two or three years ago who are in straitened circumstances to-day. If one of these men were to die the only ready money his family would have would be the proceeds of his life insurance.

DIVIDENDS IN GOOD CITIZENSHIP.

The older Boys' Parliament of Ontario in commencing their campaign for $8,500 with which to carry on their work during the next year, will sell one dollar bonds, dividends being payable in better Canadian citizenship.

The boys should have little difficulty in achieving their objective if their plans are as well explained as they were by Premier Lapp here last week,

An investment in an enterprise that can absolutely guarantee dividends in the shape of better citizenship should appeal to the average man as good business, and the $1.00 bonds should have a ready sale when they are offered to the public.

The total aimed at is small when divided over the whole Province, and when the nature of the work carried on by the Boys' Parliament is considered.

Anything that promises to arouse more interest in public affairs will surely be regarded by thinking citizens as worth an investment, and viewed from this angle, no better proposition has been put on the market in this Province.

If the Boys' Parliament develops but one citizen capable and worthy of taking a prominent part in the administration of public affairs, Ontario will never have invested $8,500 to better advantage.

MADE-IN-PETERBOROUGH.

The Examiner is glad to note that the Peterborough Health Association proposes to hold a made-in-Peterborough exhibition in the Armouries in June as a substitute for the Motor Show that has been held for a number of years.

The reason is not that there is any complaint to voice against the Motor Show, which has been uniformly successful, but rather that the made-in-Peterborough project is a pet scheme of the Examiner's and we are glad that it is at last to be given a practical test under auspices that have never yet been connected with a failure.

Peterborough with its large number of industries and the varied lines of products turned out by the city's manufacturing concerns, should be able to arrange an exhibition of made-at-home goods that will not only attract the attention of the outside world but will have the very happy effect of giving the citizens generally an acquaintanceship with the output of their own factories that is at present sadly lacking.

We do not know nearly enough about the articles that are made in Peterborough's manufacturing plants, and an exhibition such as is being planned would be well worth while, if only viewed from an educational standpoint.

The manufacturers no doubt will heartily cooperate with the Health Association in this undertaking.

It will be good business for themselves, for Peterborough and for the Health Association.

THE AMUSEMENT TAX.

Several country weeklies—and their efforts have received the blessing of the Toronto Star—are pleading for the abolition of the Amusement Tax in the rural districts, declaring that it is all very well to collect this levy from the "lucrative recreations" in the larger centres, but it should not be imposed upon amusements in small places.

The chief thing wrong with this view is that it ignores the fundamental principle of the Amusement Tax, as the Examiner understands it.

It is not a tax upon recreations, profitable or otherwise; it is a tax upon the individual.

The whole idea behind the tax was when it was first imposed, and still is, that those who could afford to spend money on amusements could afford to pay a small percentage of that money for public purposes—first, of course, for war purposes and afterward for general Government expenditure.

When the levy is made at a moving picture show or a hockey match it is not the theatre or the hockey club that is taxed—it is the patron, the theatre or the hockey club merely acting as the collector of the tax.

Why, then, should any destinction be made between a man who goes to a hockey match in a village or his city cousin who goes down to the Arena to see an exhibition of Canada's national game?

If it is fair to levy upon one it is fair to levy upon the other, and it would be just as logical to suggest that the Income Tax should not apply to the rural districts as it is to suggest that the Amusement Tax should only be collected in the larger centres.

MODERN NEROES.

Nero is accused of having fiddled while Rome burned—instead of seeing that the city fire department was on the job promptly and doing its work properly.

The reports from Ottawa and Toronto as to the programmes for the coming sessions of the Federal Parliament and the Ontario Legislature seems to indicate that Canada has more than one Nero just now.

Ottawa advices declare that the Senate reform is to be a big feature of the Federal session.

That will be good news for the thousands of unemployed in the industrial centres of Canada, and to the thousands more who are trying to keep their heads above water on the meagre returns from a couple of days' work a week.

Senate reform—with the bread-lines in operation in some of Canada's cities!

Senate reform—when thousands are looking to Ottawa for some relief from the present situation!

Horatio Bottomley used to write a lot of nonsense in "John Bull" before his foot slipped from the straight and narrow path, but one thing he never failed to plead for and that was a "business government."

That is what is needed in Canada at the present time—business governments at Ottawa, at the Provincial capitals and in the seats of the council boards of the municipalities.

Political ties are slackening and people are beginning to ask themselves if it is not time that our Federal representatives had something more important to discuss than Senate reform, or if the representatives of the people in Queen's Park cannot see that there are other matters much more vital than bickering over the Ontario Temperance Act.

The man who has been out of work all winter and his fellow who has been working only part time are not interested in the Senate, they care not a whit about Canada's status as a nation, and if the Ontario Temperance Act once interested them it does not give them much concern alongside the problem of where the food and the fuel and the clothes their families need are to come from.

They have a right to look to Ottawa for an honest and sincere and energetic effort to cope with and relieve the present crisis, and to Toronto, too, for the help that the Provincial Government can offer.

To have Senate reform flung at them as a panacea for all their troubles and to be told that the Ontario Temperance Act is to occupy a large share of the time of the Legislature is a mockery to thousands who are struggling to keep out of the bread-line and many others who have failed to do so.

CHILD IMMIGRANTS IN CANADA.

Is it right for Canada to permit the importation of child labor through the agency of Bernardo and similar Old Country institutions? asks the Kingston Whig. Opinions differ sharply on this question. The Social Service Council of Canada, a federation of all the churches and social welfare organizations of the Dominion, regards such child importation with disfavor, if not something stronger. They know too well the drudgery and stunting which will be the lot of too many of those farm roustabouts. On the other hand, the Bernardo and other homes, the Catholic Emigration Association and the Salvation Army, institutions which are in the closest touch with the life of both the old land and the new, take to themselves no little credit for fostering child emigration, which they consider rescue work. They are confident that only in the most exceptional cases is the child's lot as deplorable here as in the warrens of misery and misfortune from which they were lifted.

The total number of children who have come to Canada under this system is about 78,000, the largest number in one year having been 3,264 in 1905. In 1913, the last year for which figures are available, 1,407 were sent to Canada. The selection of these children is entirely in the hands of representatives of the Dominion Government resident in Great Britain. On arrival in this country they are distributed as rapidly as possible among Canadian families, chiefly in farming communities. Here is where the system sometimes breaks down. The children are too often expected from the first to earn their keep and a bit over. But that their condition and prospects are relatively improved in the new country is borne out by the favorable report of a delegation appointed by the Parliament of Great Britain to investigate conditions after the unfortunate suicide of one or two home boys a year ago. This delegation approved both of the condition of the children and the workings of the system. But it remains for this country by vigilance and enforcement of the various excellent children's protection acts to mitigrate the undoubted hardships of this class of our immigrants.

"WANTED—A GEDDES AXE."

Who will lead a great campaign for economy in Canada?

After the Armistice in Britain, when the statesmen in control of affairs realized the enormous inflation in expenditure and the economic loss to the nation through the lack of co-ordination and through the extravagance of the spending departments, a cry for economy rose up throughout the country. Lloyd George heard the rumblings of the coming storm and appointed Sir Eric Geddes to make report on the savings in national expenditure that could be made.

Sir Eric was ruthless and the "Geddes axe" became a word of terror to sycophants who were drawing large salaries for doing nothing and for men with power to draw on the public purse who had stifled their sense of values and imagined that the load of the patient tax-payer could be increased without limit.

The United States tackled the problem of its inflated war-time expenditures and the craze for Government spending which was stimulated by "easy money" in similar fashion and General Dawes made a reputation for himself by the directness of his methods, the vigor of his condemnations and his uncompromising attitude towards the spendthrifts.

Who will lead the campaign in Canada?

The need for it is universally acknowledged. Only those who, like the ostrich, bury their heads in the sands of self-deception fail to realize the urgency of a campaign for economy. In such circumstances it is natural that the people look first to the members of the House of Commons and of the Senate. Their example is not encouraging. In both Houses there are scores of men who would find it difficult to persuade an employer that their services are worth $4,000 in any capacity. Yet these men unblushingly take this sum for their services to the country. They find the smoking-rooms and the lounging places of the Parliament Buildings entirely to their liking. They sit and chat and gossip for hours at a time and loaf the halcyon hours away as men of leisure might do in any well-appointed club.

When called upon to make speeches they deliver long-winded and tiresome orations containing platitudes and copy book maxims by the hundred. This lean and flashy oratory means nothing. It is supposed to have some effect in keeping the members of the Commons in their seats, and in the case of the Upper House in hoodwinking the country that the men who deliver them are earning their salt. Yet the orators who make and frank them in thousands to their constituents must have a mean opinion of the standard of intelligence if they think that the average man of common school education is humbugged by such pretentious folly.

If it was not for the long-winded speeches the business of the Federal Government could be transacted in twenty-five working days at the most. If the cackle that follows the Address was cut out and Parliamentary speeches were limited to ten minutes there is no reason why the business of any session could not be completed in four weeks. Emolument for this labor in accordance with the time spent and the capacity of the spenders would cut these $4,000 a year men down to a compensation in keeping with the wages paid to the real workers of the world. Moreover, thousands in addition would be saved to the country by confining the session to the time limit that any business organization would require for similar work.

The moral effect of such a self-denying ordinance on the part of the Legislature would be enormous.

Is there anyone brave enough or patriotic enough to propose it?—Montreal Star.

SUDDEN DEATH AT HAVELOCK

Almore Haig Passd Away After Social Evening—Prominent Church Worker.

VISITING PARENTS.

HAVELOCK, Feb. 2.—Death came with startling suddenness about ten o'clock on Friday evening to Mr. Almore Haig at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Haig, George Street, Havelock.

The deceased, who was 42 years of age, and unmarried, was born in Havelock, but had resided in Toronto for nearly twenty years. The last eight years he has been employed by the T. Eaton Co. in the city receiving department.

He was taken ill in Walkerton about three weeks ago, where he had gone to spend a few days, and as soon as he was able to take the journey, he came to visit his parents while convalescent, arriving on Saturday evening, January 24.

On Friday afternroon a tea was held at his parents' residence under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church, and a few days before his mother suggested that they postpone it until a later date, but to this he would not listen, being very anxious to meet his old friends. During the afternoon he seemed so cheerful and so much better that his death came as a great shock to the community, and some of those who had attended the tea had only arrived at their homes when they received the word. Death was due to rheumatism striking the heart.

Mr. Haig was greatly interested in church work among young people and had conducted a class at Evangel Hall, a Presbyterian mission on Queen Street West, Toronto.

There are left to mourn his loss his parents, three sisters, Mrs. John Howley, London; Mrs. Wm. Page and Mrs. Thos. Page, Havelock, and three brothers, Firman of Toronto and Peter and Ben of Havelock. The deepest sympathy goes out to the parents and brothers and sisters at this time.

The funeral was held this afternoon, the service in the Methodist Church at 2 o'clock, and interment in Maple Grove Cemetery.

A THOUGHT.

AND YOU WIN.

Human kindness is like the oak—the more it is shaken by the winds of adversity, the deeper root the old oak takes.

Human Kindness is like the flowers that grow along the pathway of life. Crush them under you feet and the perfume is sweeter.

Human Kindness is like the stars that shine brighter on the darkest night.

Human Kindness is not bound by ritual, not a profession, neither is it a real religion. It is the soul seeking exercise which is so necessary to its life.

Some have said that it is all right to talk about Human Kindness, but it will not always work in everyday business. What a cynical thought!

The man who is always kind often gets a kick, but not often enough to make it pay to be unkind.

Human Kindness is a great solace to those who practice it. The very self-satisfaction of knowing that you are kind in your behavior toward others, puts your conscience to work with you; and when a man has the co-operation of his conscience, he knows full well that the majority of men will discover his worth, and with a majority on your side, you win.

BACHELOR KING PREDICTED FOR BRITISH THRONE

Prince of Wales is Matrimony Shy—Englishmen Disappointed.

FEW ELIGIBLES.

Name Has Been Linked With Many Girls Who Are Since Married.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—(Associated Press.)— Even those people who spoke with forbearance of the matrimonial shyness of the Prince of Wales are now getting uneasy with the announcement that the royal heir will prolong his visit to South Africa next year to include a trip to the Argentine. This can only mean to these Englishmen that another year will be added to the interval until the prince announces he has picked out a girl to be the future queen.

And Englishmen have listened to the same tale of postponment for the last five years. Whenever the Prince of Wales remains in London for a long period, the busy bodies get up a series of stories intimating that a certain interesting announcement on royal notepaper will be forthcoming from Buckingham palace, and even speculating who the girl is. Such great expectations have never been given a chance to materialize, for the prince has stepped out of the country on a trip to his future domains just in time and the ladies in question have, in most cases, married before his return home.

Now there are not so many eligibles for speculation. The Ladies Mary and Rachel Cavendish, Lady Mary Gordon-Lennox and Lady Mary Cambridge, who were all freely discussed as prospective mates for the Prince of Wales, have marage is becoming distressingly narried. In fact the list of English girls who are of a suitrowed, and as most Englishmen have made up thier minds that David Edward is not going outside his father's realm for a bride, the prince will probably have to choose his bride from a younger generation.

So interested have the public become in this chapter of his life, His Royal Highness can hardly attend house parties or dances without a resounding echo connecting his name with some debutante being heard immeditaely throughout Mayfair, then down to Southwark and Clapham. Since returning from his last trip the prince has successfully counteracted this gossip by not appearing at dances and house parties. At the present time there is no girl being honored as the prospective Princess of Wales.

There are many people in London now who whisper that the announcement of the engagement of the Prince of Wales will never come and he is going to be that strange complex, a bachelor king. Some who profess to know even say the prince has often stated he does not want to marry. So far as the outward circumstances show, the betting is on their side.

Trying to enjoy money you haven't earned is about like sitting down to a big meal with no appetite.

A man who works to forget is better off than one who forgets to work.

The tremendous increase in the popularity of tea as a beverage has been such that the producing countries have been unable to satisfy the demand. The price of tea has been steadily increasing for a number of years. Since, however, you can make from 250 to 300 cups of tea to the pound, even at the price of $1.00 the cost per cup is only one-third of a cent.

The NERVOUS WRECK

by E. J. Rath

©1924 - by NEA Service Inc.

He carried the soup-plates back to the kitchen, where he found Sally standing in the middle of the floor, her hands clasped and an anxious look on her face.

"Is it all right?" she whispered.

"Sure it is," he said.

The grin on his face meant more than his words. Sally breathed deeply and exhaled a long sigh.

"I was getting anxious," she said. "You were gone so terribly long. Didn't they ask you a lot of questions, or anything?"

"They're too busy telling each other how they were held up by four men," he observed.

"Four?"

"Yes—the liars. Four desperadoes, Underwood says. Me—" The Wreck peered down at his white jacket and apron and smiled wryly. "Me—I'm four desperadoes!"

Sally did not join in the smile. She was ready to admit that he was one desperado, at the very least.

"Tell me everything they said, Henry."

"I've got to go back. Give me the next tray full. I'll tell you about it afterward. I'm getting some information now."

Sally hurried with the tray and the Wreck went back to the dining-room. Underwood was still drumming on the table. He glanced at the tray as it passed him, ceased drumming and riveted his eye on the omelette. Even a dyspeptic, which the boss of the ranch was not, would have viewed it with attention. The Wreck was actually proud to carry it, for not only was it an object of beauty in itself, but Sally had found things to garnish it with, so that it was art in a frame.

Two minutes later Underwood looked up from his plate and fixed his glance on the Wreck.

"Say, who made this omelette?" he demanded.

"The cook, sir."

"Biscuits, too?"

"Yes, sir."

And the coffee?"

"Yes, sir."

The large man helped himself to another mouthful and lingered over it.

"Not the same cook who was here last summer," he announced.

"No, sir."

"Who is he?"

"It's a lady, sir—my wife."

The Underwood family sighed comfortably, in unison.

"At last, father, we've got somebody who can cook," said Harriet. "Remember how awful it was last summer?"

The boss of the ranch nodded and reached for the omelette platter.

"Tell your wife that she's a good cook," he said. "Tell her to keep it up. Tell her to have fried chicken tonight, and browned potatoes, and beans, and corn, if she's got any—and more biscuits. Understand? More biscuits. Coffee, too. And I want her to make some pie. If she hasn't got stuff to make pie out of, we'll send for it. And tell her to cook a lot of everything."

Harriet Underwood frowned and glanced at her brother.

"Remember, father, the doctor said ——"

"The doctor's in New York," interrupted Underwood. "What he doesn't know will never get into his bill. Don't forget, Williams—whatever you said your name was—have your wife keep right on cooking."

The Wreck, passing the biscuits again, acknowledged the command with a nod. He was hungry himself and he hoped there would be something left of the omelette, although he could see that the chances were against him. He did not need to be told that Sally Morgan could cook; he knew it before they did, back at the Bar-M, where Sally often shooed her mother out of the kitchen and ran things to suit herself.

"People can eat more out in this country," observed Underwood, apparently talking to himself. "It's the dry air and the altitude. Back in New York——"

There was an uncertain tinkle of the telephone bell in the next room. He lumbered hastily out of his chair in answer to it.

"Yes; this is Underwood. Got him, have you? . . . All right. Put him on. . . . That the sheriff? Great Scott! you're a hard man to get. . . . Never mind. This is Underwood. Get me? What? . . . Yes; that's right. Off in the northeast corner of the county. Now listen:

"I was held up last night in my car. About thirty miles from the ranch, I should say. West of it, on the main road; there's only one road. We didn't come here direct; drove around by way of Duncan. The road's better. Had my son and daughter with me, and a driver. Are you getting this . . .

"Four men. . . . Yes; four! Blocked the road with their own car and held us up. We never had a chance. Took watches, valuables, money. What? . . . Took everything we had that was worth carrying off. Stole all the gasoline out of our tank and left us flat on the road. Let the air out of our tires with a knife. How's that? . . .

"How the devil can I give you a description? It was pitch dark. They had handkershiefs over their faces. I'm not supposed to furnish a set of Bertillon measurements, am I? You didn't expect me to take fingerprints, did you, with a gun stuck under my nose? You're what' . . ."

There was an inarticulate rumble from the living-room, then a booming of the heavy voice.

"You're surprised?" roared Underwood. "You didn't think there was anybody working the road over this way? Well, if you're surprised, what do you think I am? Doesn't a property owner get any protection in this county? I'm no tourist. I've got a place here. If you want to know whether I pay any taxes just look up the books. What? . . . Oh, you know about me, do you? Well, I'm damned glad somebody knows about me. Now, the best advice I can give you is to get busy. . . . How's that? . . .

"How do I know what direction they went in? They started east when they left us; that's all I know. I want action—understand? I'll pay any reward and any expenses that are necessary, but I want action. I'm going to find out whether a taxpayer in this county has any protection against highwaymen. . . . All right. You're getting on the job at once; is that it? . . . Yes; I'll be here for some time. I'll expect to hear from you without much delay. Your name is Wells, isn't it? . . All right."

The Wreck, who was pouring coffee for Chester, spilled some into the saucer, but recovered himself. So the sheriff's name was Wells!

Jerome Underwood came back into the dining-room wearing the expression of a man who has achieved a stroke of business.

"Made it pretty strong, didn't you, father?" suggested his son, with a faint smile.

"Strong? Certainly I did. You don't suppose I wanted to give him the idea that it was a tea party, do you? When I've got a hand I play it to the limit. I don't want him loafing on the job. He knows who I am. If he doesn't, it won't take him long to find out."

He made another dive at the omelette.

"Says he'll get a posse on the road at once. Well, he'd better. A posse! What they need out here is a few New York policemen."

The Wreck, seeing no immediate need of his services, disappeared through the pantry in the direction of the kitchen. He had a queer look; as much a look of triumph as anything else.

Sally jumped up from a chair by the window and shot a glance of inquiry at him.

"Where are my spectacles?" he demanded. "My eyes hurt."

She found them and the Wreck began to look like himself again.

"Now tell me everything," she ordered.

"He's been at the telephone, raising the county against four desperadoes," said the Wreck. "He's made a regular yarn of it by this time. I guess they'll hang us for sure, Sally."

"They'd better wait till they catch us."

The Wreck contemplated her for a few seconds. He wondered just how she was going to take the news.

"He's a good liar; he piled it on. And he pulled all the old stuff about influence, and how much taxes he pays, and all the New York dope. He made me thank God I came from Pittsburg."

"Could you get any idea of what's being done about it?" asked Sally, with the practical aspects uppermost in her thoughts.

"Oh, there's a posse getting on the job," said the Wreck, wearily.

"A posse," mused Sally, nodding. "Yes; I'd imagine that. Who did he have on the phone?"

"He was talking to the sheriff."

"The sheriff. Uh-huh. Well, that means——"

Sally stopped and stared at the Wreck. Something had startled her.

"What county are we in?" she demanded.

He shrugged. He never tried to keep track of counties and he did not know. But she read something in his eyes that caused her to clutch at his arm.

"Henry Williams! He wasn't talking to——"

"Yes, he was. That's exactly who he was talking to."

She walked back to the chair by the window and sat down, suddenly limp. For half a minute the Wreck was unable to figure just what sort of reaction she was having. It seemed to him that every possible emotion flashed into her face, one succeeding the other so rapidly that all was a confused blur. And then, with her head tossed back and her eyes wide with merriment, she began to laugh.

"Oh!" she gasped. "Oh, Henry, did you ever hear of such a joke? Bob Wells! Bob—out with a posse—to catch me!"

"I'll admit it's a joke," said the Wreck, cheerfully.

"Why, it's a perfect scream! I might have known we were in the same county; it's so terribly big. But I never even thought about it. And now he's got the sheriff—Bob Wells!"

She passed into another spasm of laughter while the Wreck watched. Any time they wanted to laugh about Bob Wells, the Wreck was a willing listener.

"I start out for a trousseau, and I get turned into a hold-up man, and I'm chased—by Bob Wells!"

"It's great," he affirmed, solemnly.

Then he saw that another change was coming. She was getting control of herself and the laughter was fading. There was a questioning look in her eyes, a chewing of her under lip.

"H'm. It's rather embarrassing at that," she said, slowly. "I don't know that it's so funny, after all. It complicates things. Bob Wells is an awfully good sheriff. When he goes after people he's a perfect bloodhound. He got a murderer last year that nobody ever dreamed he could get. And if he should ever find us ——"

She broke off and plunged into another period of reflection. Presently she was frowning, and the Wreck saw that she was clenching her fists.

"Henry Williams," she said, standing up and facing him, "I don't like it. I don't like it one bit. Bob Wells hasn't got any business to be chasing me!"

The Wreck had never been able to make anything out of women, and now he knew that he never would.

CHAPTER X.

The Wreck Fights

Sally did not get her emotions sorted out and classified in an orderly manner for the rest of the day. They insisted on mixing themselves up; they refused to stay where she tried to put them. Ordinarily she was of a temperament quite serene and obedient to her will, except, of course, when the Wreck charged into it like a frisky steer. Even on those occasions her departure from the normal calm was brief and largely superficial. But the news that Sheriff Bob Wells was going out with a posse upset her poise; it struck deeper, and affected her in so many different ways that she seemed to be spinning like a weather vane in a whirlwind.

She laughed, she was serious, she was scornful, she was angry, she was incredulous, she was alarmed—all these and other moods took possession of her, one giving way to another, only to come back and repeat itself after a while, so that the final result was to leave her in a very uncertain state of mind.

It did not help her that the Wreck seemed to be singularly unmoved by the news. He treated it as if it were a matter of small consequence. But Sally was not in the habit of steadying herself by leaning on Henry Williams; she could only account for his calmness by attributing it to a failure to realize the situation. He did not know what it meant to have a Montana sheriff and a posse hard on his heels, but Sally did.

A MIRACLE NONE WERE KILLED

When this Passaic (N.J.) trolley left the trestle over the West Shore R. R. tracks in Jersey City, N.J., it seemed that a miracle was all that saved the 22 passengers from death. As it was, all were hurled in a tangled heap in front of the car. Most of them were unconscious when dragged out, but recovered quickly after being taken to the hospital, only two being found to have been seriously injured.

WOMAN SERVES 21 YEARS IN PRISON.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 2.—"It was winter for me there in prison, but I knew, through all those terrible years, another springtime would come."

Aggie Myers, longest term woman convict in America, thus sums up her htoughts and experiences, after 21 years in the Missouri State Penitentiary for the murder of her husband.

Twenty-one years of confinement—shut off from the world—with only memories of a happy girlhood and memories of her fatal mistake to keep her company.

Now Aggie, at 42, has passed again into the open places of freedom, paroled as a farewell act of retiring Governor Arthur M. Hyde.

But it is a different world than the one which Aggie left 21 years ago. On all sides conditions are changed. Her old friends are gone, the places she used to visit are there no more.

Once in Death House.

And she finds herself reaching out aimlessly to gather anew the tangled threads of her existence.

Aggie went to prison for killing her husband while the "other man" held him in bed.

For a year she sat in the death house, having been sentenced to die on the gallows. Then her sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

"My soul was filled with horror during my first few years in prison," Aggie says. "Later I became resigned, realizing I would have to face the long road with a happier mind.

"With the knowledge finally gained that some degree of happiness could be attained by kindliness and service to other unfortunates, I began building for myself a bridge of memories. And that bridge often led me to the grave of my dreams.

Lived With Memories.

"Memories—I believe it was my memories that kept me from going mad. It was the memory of other days and loved ones I had known that enabled me to see beyond the prison walls, to give me solace in hours of trial.

"I thought of everything—my past, my friends, and I dreamed of a possible future if once I ever could convince anyone I was not bad, but only wanted to live my life in quiet goodness to prove attonement for my act.

'Motherhood—sometimes it was that, because I too, had the yearning of natural womanhood—but this instinct in time was relegated also to my dream graves."

"Life for me up there was a constant repression of everything. I was shut away from all life, and except for the occasional rumble of street cars and motor trucks, I only could dream of the distant cities in which I had lived and picture to myself the charm of the hum and throb of industry.

"The faces I saw were dull and paled by prison routine. It was only in my mind that I could picture the flushed and happy faces of women and girls who were living their natural life.

A Little Dog Came.

"With all our troubles, I don't think prison life was so hard for me or the other women inmates as it seemed for the men we saw occasionally.

"So many of them were young—just boys, sometimes—and they came for long stretches of years. Sometimes it seemed their hearts were broken and, after a few months, their spirits and lives were broken, too."

One day a little fox terrier found its way to Aggie's cell. She gathered the dog to her bosom and begged guards to permit her to keep it.

Upon advice of the prison physician the dog was permitted to remain in the cell. Aggie named her new friend "Wiggles."

One day a group of wives of state officials visited the prison. There they met Aggie and "Wiggles." A matron told of Aggie's love for the dog and of the unfailing faithfulness of the animal toward his mistress.

Her Spring Has Come.

"No woman can be wholly bad and love a dog so well," said Mrs. Hyde, wife of the governor.

And she and the other women joined their pleas to those of others for Aggie's freedom.

Three days before his term of office expired Hyde signed a parole.

And Aggie came back here to live with a sister, carrying a plant which had brightened her prison cell.

"Down there my little cell room became my home," Aggie explains, "and I loved to keep it clean. Once in a while there were flowers and I had this potted plant which I kept green and fragrant.

"I am looking forward to the time the plant will bloom again, for it will mean the springtime of my dreams have come again—to bring warmth after 21 years of winter."

SURPRISE PARTY AT CAMPBELLFORD

Presentation to Miss Evelyn Dooher, Who Is Leaving For Toronto.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 2.—On Thursday night the Sunday School choir, with Mr. Lucy, the choir leader and pianist, and Mrs. Lucy, went to the home of Miss Evelyn Dooher, one of the members, and gave her a surprise party, as she is leaving for Toronto this week to attend the millinery openings and get a position. A social evening was spent, and during the evening the choir presented Evelyn with a pretty ivory clock. Miss Ruth Plumpton read the address, and Miss Jean Blake made the presentation. Then all enjoyed the refreshments that the girls served. The best wishes of the members of the choir will go with Evelyn as she leaves Campbellford.

Mr. Herb Frederick, of Toronto, but formerly of Campbellford, is returning to Campbellford and will start a tailor shop in the Wallace Block. He and his family will move to town in the near future.

Mr. George Wilson, of Oshawa, spent the week-end last week, with his sister, Mrs. W. J. Abernethy, and then left for New York City, where he has secured a position as a reporter for the New York Journal.

Fire on Friday Night.

About seven o'clock on Friday night the fire alarm rang. It was a burning chimney at the home of Mr. Wrightmeyer, just across from the Campbellford Cloth Company Mill. Very little damage was done, and the fire truck was soon on its way back to the fire hall.

The Misses Hazel Mason, Eleanor Ferris, Helen McDonald, Lucille Abar, Margaret Irwin, Dorothy Ackerman and Hazel Thomas went to Belleville on Friday to see the hockey game between Belleville and Campbellford.

Mr. John Beattie has purchased Mrs. Mary Wilson's house on Sebastapol Street, and has had his furniture shipped from Guelph, and moved into his new home.

Mrs. Mary Wilson, who has been visiting her sons, Messrs. Thos. and George Wilson, at Oshawa, has returned to Campbellford, and is with her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Abernethy, Sebastapol Street.

Mrs. A. W. Free, Queen Street, left on Friday to spend a couple of weeks with her sisters in Stirling.

Prayer Meeting.

The prayer meeting service at the Baptist Church on Thursday was of a splendid nature. The first part of the service was singing led by the "Canadian Girls-in-Training." An effort is being made to get the young people out so that their organization may be re-organized. Mr. D. Mason had charge of the devotional part. Mrs. Ford, the new pastor's wife, then gave an excellent address, part of which was the story of her conversion, how a consecrated school teacher led her to Christ. The address was most touching and inspiring. Rev. Mr. Ford also made a few remarks, urging the young people to muster together and start up their work again.

SOCIAL EVENING AT PETHERICK'S CORNERS

Fred. Barnum of Young People's League Acted as Chairman.

PETERICK'S CORNERS, Feb. 2—The Young People's League held a social evening in Sentinel Hall on Thursday night, with a large crowd in attendance. Mr. Fred Barnum, the president, acted as chairman, and a very enjoyable programme was presented, the most important items being: 1, A Devotional Talk by Rev. Chas. Daniels; 2, A Solo, "Tumble-Down Shack of Athlone," by Allan Simpson; 3, A Debate, "Resolved, that a good-humored, untidy housewife is preferable to an ill-humored tidy housewife"; the affirmative was taken by Everett Fairman, Miss Hazel Brown and Morley Petherick. The negative by Mr. Thos. Fry, Misses Agnes Thomson and Ethel Forde. The judges were: Rev. Chas. Daniels, Mrs. Fred Barnum and Earl Fairman. The two sides were closely matched and after much battling back and forth the latter won by a majority of one point. After the debate was given, the debaters moved from the platform and Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Fry, who were married just recently, were called to the platform and Miss Agnes Thomson read the following address:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Fry: We, the members of Zion Church, have met this evening to convey to you our heartiest congratulations and sincere wish for your future happiness.

Both individually and as a class we feel very much indebted to you, Mr. Fry, for the inspiration you have given us as teacher of our young people's Bible Class; first vice-president of our People's League and all other branches of our church work, your fine Christian spirit and exemplary life have touched our hearts and we feel that with your life as our ideal we would not live far from God. We assure you, Mr. Fry, that you have won a very prominent place in our hearts and we feel that you have lit a candle in Zion church and community which shall not soon be put out.

To you, Mrs. Fry, we extend a hearty welcome to all branches of ohr church work. Having known you both all our lives, we are sure that God will bless such a union.

Now, as a token of our esteemed love for you both, we would ask you to accept this gift, and we hope that it may often recall pleasant memories of your associates in Zion Church. Wishing you God speed in your new life together and assuring you that our prayers follow you. We hope to spend many more pleasant hours in your company. Signed on behalf of the members of Zioin church.

Morley Petherick,
Harry Barnum.

Mr. Fry replied in a few well-chosen words, thanking the members of the church for the beautiful library table and jardiniere stand which had just been presented to them.

The remainder of the evening was spent in games, contests, singing, etc. After the programme a very sumptuous lunch was served by the ladies of the congregation.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Miller of Iowa, U.S.A., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Barnum, this week.

Mr. Allan Simpson spent Tuesday evening with friends at Stanwood.

We are glad to state that Mr. J. A. M. Thomson, who has been seriously ill, is rapidly improving.

The black bear that has caused so much ecitement in this community, has appeared upon the scene once more, Mr. John Rowe having had a very close view of him in his woods along the twelfth line.

NEW LEGISLATION FOR SETTLING LABOR DISPUTES URGED ON KING

Trades Congress Deputation Convinced Separate Provincial Laws Not Satisfactory.

MANY NEED WORK

Premier King Says Relief of Unemployment is Obligation of Provinces.

OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—Organized Labor in Canada desires the re-enactment of legislation similar to the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act (The Lemieux Act) which has recently been declared unconstitutional by the Privy Council in London. This was made clear to the Federal Government by the delegation from the Trades and Labor Congress, which waited on the Cabinet on Saturday to present its legislative proposals.

The Congress intended to ask for certain amendments to the Act this session "with a view to securing wider use of the Act, more equitable application of its provisions as between employer and employee and eliminate from the Act declarations which might indirectly lead to the inciting of strikes or lockout after decisions have been rendered by a board of arbitration."

But, on the whole, Labor finds the Lemieux desirable and thinks provincial legislation would be unsatisfactory for the purpose as not leading to uniformity. Steps should be taken, the Congress urges, to secure the necessary power to enable the Federal Government to re-enact this legislation. If an amendment to the British North America Act is contemplated, Labor will co-operate with the government in peparing it.

Unemployment Problem.

Unemployment relief is a provincial responsibility and the Federal Government is not authorized to spend money for that purpose except indirectly through the construction of public works. This attitude was taken by Premier King in answer to two separate Labor delebation which waited on the Cabinet to urge the necessity for Federal intervention in unemployment relief.

When the delegation from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada was presenting its annual legislative proposals to the Cabinet, John W. Bruce, representative of the Plumbers' and Steamfitters' Union, urged that unemployment had become a problem so big as to constitute a national emergency. The Federal Government had powers of borrowing money which transcended those of the provinces, and should take up the task where the provinces for lack of money, had been forced to abandon it. The Prime Minister pointed out that under the constitution of Canada, such matters as unemployment fell naturally within the jurisdiction of the provinces.

FEAR FOR ROBIN HOOD HOME.

English People Oppose Railroad Through Sherwood Forest.

NOTTINGHAM, England, Feb. 2—On the ground that a proposed railway line through Sherwood Forest would destroy the beauty of the legendary home of Robin Hood, a strong local protest has been started, headed by Earl Manvers.

The railway company wants to put in a line to serve a new colliery, but as this would touch Beech Avenue, one of the most beautiful spots in the country, the local population is up in arms.

If we could run like Nurmi, we would get back from lunch on time.

Pity the Salesman who cannot—

The salesman who is not free to use Long Distance without being criticized is probably not covering his territory in the most economical manner.

He is competing with salesmen who call up their customers between visits; secure repeat orders; or sell additional items;

— with Sales Managers who encourage salesmen to use Long Distance, because it saves money and time.

— with salesmen who, when travelling, telephone to customers in small towns from some central point.

Of two salesmen who both preserve a proper proportion between expense and sales, the one who uses Long Distance the most is usually the most effective.

HEALTH ASSOCIATION ANNUAL REPORT

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

The year 1924 brought increased demands upon this Association, as periods of industrial depression are always sure to do. The ills of men and women are not decreased by worry, nor do children thrive on a slim diet. Through the activities of the Nurses' Supervision Committee, these calls were met in a most satisfactory manner, as the reports of the Association Nurse and Supervision Committee will show. Consideration of this service, the number of calls, and the attention required and satisfied, will be most convincing as to the importance the ever-ready functioning of the Peterborough Health Association.

Miss Peat, who for several years has been the Association Nurse in the general work, resigned in the Fall, and was succeeded by Miss Ann Long, who for two years has been in charge of the Association Summer Camp for Children at Jackson Park. Miss Long's record there, coupled with her professional accomplishments, was sufficient recommendation, and she has taken over the general nursing work very competently, and all goes well.

Very great credit is due to the ladies of this Executive for the constant care exercised by them in the control of the work. Obviously, it would be impossible to carry on without this supervision. It is an example of great devotion, the only compensation for which is that they are doing good to those who need it.

The Association desires to record its great appreciation of the contributions of the City Council, the Peterborough Red Cross Association, the Kiwanis Club, and the many individual contributors, beside to the several organizations and host of friends who have so generously supported the Motor Show and other efforts in aid of the Health Association work and its Summer Camp. It goes without saying that without this widespread interest and tangible expression of appreciation of the importance and necessity of the work that is being done through this organization, that much suffering would be unrelieved and a good many lives made poorer.

No bequests have been received during the year just closed. The work of the Peterborough Health Association is a good work to be remembered by those who desire to provide means for perpetuating their interest in kindly relief here, when the human uniform must be laid aside. All bequests are capitalized and the income therefrom only, utilized in the work.

The Motor Show, which for a number of years, under the direction of the Advisory Board of the Red Cross, has supplied the funds in support of a good part of our work, partly general and largely the Health Camp for Children at Jackson Park, will be discontinued. There has been considerable difficulty experienced in the proper heating of the Armories so early in the year, and it was a real hardship on those who carried on the work there, particularly the ladies through their several organizations, to be exposed to the low temperatures usually in evidence during the month of April. In place of this means of raising the necessary funds, it has been decided to hold a "Made-in-Peterboro'" Fair in early June in the Armories. Col. Frank Bradburn has very kindly agreed that the Association may have the use of the Armories for this purpose, and already plans are under way, including the support of the Red Cross Advisory Board, the Kiwanis Club, and all of the other societies that have so splendidly contributed heretofore in making the Motor Show a success. The automobile dealers who have for a number o years, at considerable expense and inconvenience to themselves, made their exhibits for the purpose of helping this work, are entitled to the greatest appreciation of the community which they have served in this manner. There isn't any doubt but that it cost them real money each year, the expense of which they gladly incurred in order to make a success of the enterprise. Needless to say there are great expectations as to the success of the "Made-in-Peterborough" Fair, to be held the early part of June.

Many thanks are due to the Treasurer of the Association, Mr. C. H. Pennefather, for his continued good service in looking after a very considerable amount of detail work in connection with the financial side of this business. His report is a general reflection of these activities and the present standing of the Association financially. The Summer Camp for Children at Jackson Park is really one of the main activities of the Association. The splendid equipment there, largely contributed to by the Kiwanis Club and including now a splendid bathing pool, made possible through the construction of the Kiwanis dam, this year, has given an air of stability to the work and afforded conveniences which greatly simplify the handling of so many children safely. More children were cared for during the past Summer at the Jackson Park Camp than during any season in the experience of the Association. This means considerably more than 200 little folk were given a chance for recuperation and body building during the season under the pines, and this in itself will afford gratification to everyone who has contributed to the work in any degree. Those citizens of the City who have not taken the time to go to Jackson Park between June 15 and September 1 and to watch the camp programme for a little while, have missed something out of their lives. Twice a day the Kiwanis Swimming Pool is filled with these little chaps, under the careful supervision of the Nurse. The Kiwanis swings and teetering boards are utilized continually. There are sand boxes for the little shavers, and an opportunity to play games of all sorts for all sizes of them, bu the real benefit comes through their absorption of fresh air, prepared dietary, and splendid bathing facilities, already mentioned. There is the big rest room for those whose bodies are frail, and no physical exertion is permitted beyond the capacity of the little bodies to stand. It should be impressed upon the citizens o Peterborough that they owe it to themselves to see this plant in operation, and a cordial welcome is extended to all to visit the camp whenever and as often as they may find it possible to do so.

Thanks of the Association are repeated to its Secretary, Dr. G. S. Cameron, who for so many years has carred on the work of this position, and given so much of his time in constructive effort to the Association's work in general.

The President desires to express his hearty appreciation of the support given during the year 1924, and to say that the outlook for 1925, based on the general interest in the Association's work, is most hopeful.

W. R. BREYFOGLE, President Peterborough Health Association.

SUMMER CAMP.

On June 24, 1924, the Peterborough Health Association opened its Summer Camp for under-privileged children for the seventh successive year and the eighth in its history and closed again August 23.

During the season 142 children enjoyed an outing in Jackson Park, with a daily average of 55. Some few needy ones were kept during the entire period, but the majority were given the regulation three weeks. Nothing marred the pleasure of the children and much was done for their benefit and happiness, and in nearly every case the nurse found real improvement in the health of the child.

To the Kiwanis Club again our grateful thanks are due for the splendid swimming pool and sandy beach built in the stream running through the Park and also for six swings, and to Mr. Stocker for his never-failing interest and help.

During the absence of the convenor, the work was taken over by Mrs. H. H. Cameron, and carried out in a most efficient and splendid way, and to her is due the most hearty thanks of the Association for her unflagging interest and never-failing kindness and generosity during the entire period of the camp. She never missed visiting it once a day and often twice. Mrs. Hall, the convenor of the Nurses' Supervision Committee, showed her sympathy and help in many concrete ways. Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Cameron, by means of a bridge party, raised quite a sum of money to buy sweaters for some of the poorly-clad little ones. Love for needy children surely can be shown in no better way than this.

The ladies of the committee who took their turns of service were: Mrs. A. W. Turner, Miss Archer, Miss Merrill, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Vanstone, Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Pennefather.

Miss Long again had charge of the camp, and to her our thanks are due for her loving and efficient care of the children, and no better testimonial could be given her than the affection and appreciation shown by the children themselves.

The committee was fortunate in securing as cook such a splendid woman as Mrs. Brady. Complete satisfaction was felt with her services until illness forced her to resign. Great regret was expressed then and at the time of her death, and our sympathy goes out to her family in their loss. Mrs. Wright took up her work and carried on in a satisfactory way for the balance of the season.

Many donations and treats were given the children during the summer, which were duly acknowledged in The Examiner, and to whom we offer our grateful thanks for the unstinted publicity and support which they have always given, not only to the camp, but to the general work of the Association. One donation should have particular mention, and that was of seven dollars given by a group of seven small children. Styling themselves The Help a Bit Club, who held a bazaar in aid of the camp, thus showing their desire to help less fortunate children than themselves. This report would not be complete without mention of Mr. and Mrs. Rose, whose daily help and sympathy with and for the children took very practical form.

GRACE M. CAMERON, Camp Convenor.

HEALTH ASSOCIATION NURSE.

In presenting the annual report to the Peterborough Health Association, I wish to state that the visits made by the Peterborough Health Nurse are not only to the residents of Peterborough who are unable to pay even a small amount, as is understood by a number of people, but also to those who are capable financially but only require the services of a trained nurse for a certain period of the day to carry out the attending doctor's orders.

During the year, Miss Peat, who was engaged for the first eight months, being assisted by Miss Condon for the months of March, April and May, resigned, after which time I took charge of the work.

A total of 2,036 calls were made, of which 63 were obstetrical cases, 12 tubercular and eight cancerous. The treatment of the obstetrical patients was from the time of the confinement to the stage of convalescence, also including the care of the new-born babe throughout. A normal case usually lasted from 10 to 14 days, but in abnormal cases the visits are continued until recovery is definite.

Much is done during this time to improve conditions in some of the homes visited, as they are, in some cases, by no means the best. For example, I would state one case where there were six children, in the family, ranging from ages of two to 12 years.

The conditions of the home was very poor, with not even enough bed clothing to make a comfortable bed for the mother and new-born baby, also no clothing for the infant. These, of course, were soon provided by the ladies of the Peterborough Health Association. This mother seemed to be ignorant of her surroundings, and after being advised and encouraged, showed great sign of improvement. This is only one case of many which have benefited by the efforts of the Peterborough Health Association.

In tubercular cases there is very little treatment given, but patients are called upon regularly and advised as to the care they must take of themselves, and precautions in preventing the spread of the dread disease in the home and surrounding community.

Two tubercular cases died during the year, two were sent to the hospital for the winter months and I still have eight under my care.

For cancerous patients, usually daily calls are made and treatment prescribed by attending physicians carried out. Six cancer patients died during the year and two are still under observation.

The money collected during the year amounted to $266, this being collections made from those patients who were in a position to pay. This amount was handed to the Association. Respectfully submitted,

ANNE LONG, Nurse.

HAD HEARTBURN AND HEADACHES FOR MANY YEARS

Miss Reta Burris, R. R. No. 1, Waterford, Ont., writes:—"I have been troubled with heartburn and headaches for many years. There were verw few things I could eat without suffering from either the heartburn or severe headaches.

A friend recommended me to try

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS

This I did and found relief at once and have never been troubled since. I will always recommend your Pills to any of my friends who are troubled with heartburn, headaches or any other liver trouble."

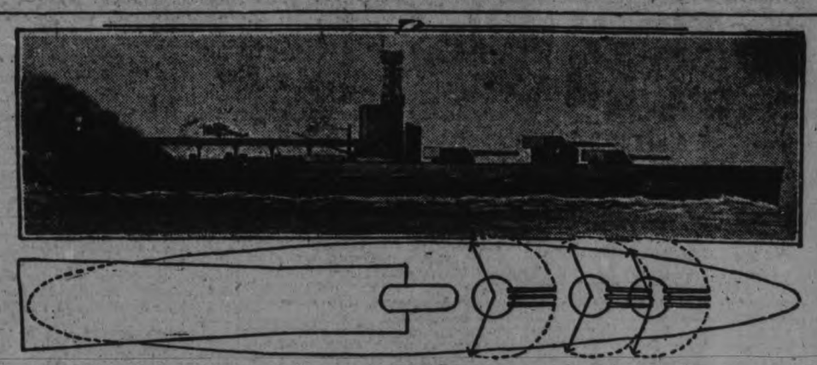
GREAT BRITAIN IS NOW BUILDING ATTACK-PROOF LINERS; CONFERENCE PREVENTS U. S. FROM COMPETING WITH THEM



Above—This is an artist's conc eption of one of Britain's great new dreadnaughts. The turrets are at the front. Immediately behind the m is the control tower. Aft is the airplane landing deck. Below—A deck plan of one of the big ships. The turrets are shown to contain three guns each. Notice the absence of all funnels.

(By Charles P. Stewart)

WASHINGTON Feb. 2. — The airplane-attackproof battleship is England's answer to the aviation threat.

Like waterproof raiment, fireproof construction and foolproof devices of all sorts, the new British capital fighting vessels, the Nelson and the Rodney, of course may not prove to be 100 per cent. proof against bombardment from the sky.

But that was their designers' idea, and from all United States 'naval intelligence' can learn, it will take more formidable aeronautics than are known at present to harm them much.

By the terms of the naval armament limitation agreement between the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy, the United States undertook to scrap the new battleships she had under construction when the pact was signed. She kept five which were newly finished at the time, seven of less up-to-date and six relics of a decade or more ago, while the British were permitted to retain 22 craft then in commission and to complete two she was building, with the understanding that four of the older ones were to be scrapped as soon as these two were ready for sea. This probably will be some time during 1926.

All Armament Well Forward.

Enough, however, is known here now concerning the two newest British ships—the Nelson and Rodney—to give American experts something of a shock.

To say the new boats will make all earlier capital fighting ships obsolete, as some accounts have it, may be going a little too far, the experts agree, but all admit they promise completely to modify future naval construction.

There has been considerable talk in this country to the effect that, with aviation's present development, the battleship's days are past. The British evidently think not.

In the Nelson's and the Rodney's design they prove that they give due weight to the value of planes as a "naval arm" for use against others, but in the same design they prove that they feel ample confidence of their ability to defend their surface vessels against enemy plane attacks.

The Nelson and the Rodney are of 35,000 tons each and each is armed with nine 16-inch guns. The treaty limits capital ships to 35,000 tons and guns to 16 inches, so the British have taken their full allowance in both respects and in the case of both craft.

The peculiar feature of the vessels, as "naval intelligence' gets the news, is that their heavy armament is all well forward, in three turrets. Just aft of them, it is taken for granted, is the fire control tower, and aft of the fire control tower the deck is said to be entirely clear of funnels, superstructure, everything, to enable aeroplanes to take off and land.

The guns are distributed three to a turret. Deck armor is tremendously strong, to resist damage by aerial bombs. Magazines and engines also are in the fore part of the two ships, protected by turrets and the thick, tough steel deck, and at the sides by the extra heavy side armor from bow about to 'midships.

Decks Left Clear for Planes.

Turrets, fire control, magazines and engines are especially subject to attack in a fight and by concentrating them, the size of the enemy's target is reduced. Furthermore, as less damage is done by a shot striking that part of a vessel occupied only by living quarters, the side armor of the after portion of the two new ships presumably is lighter than elsewhere, permitting it to be piled on in still greater weight on deck and toward the bow.

Smoke fumes from the ship's boilers are discharged through tubes alongside and smoke screens are laid down in the same way.

Elimination of funnels atop not only leaves the deck clear for planes but eliminates the danger that an aerial bomb will hit one, crash through and explode inside. The mouth of a funnel is a small target, but the disaster which would result if an airman's missle fell inside always is in every naval commander's mind.

The new ships' hulls of course are provided with blisters, as safeguards against submarine attacks.

Both vessels, in short, are as nearly invulnerable as naval science can make them and, when completed, certainly will be the most formidable craft afloat.

British Get Best of Deal.

In a sense they fill the function of both battleships and airplane carriers. In one respect they are at a disadvantage in comparison with the carriers, in that they lack the full length of a deck on which aircraft may manoeuvre. Planes perhaps can take off from them as well as from a carrier's deck, but a carrier can "head up into the wind" to receive a returning plane, which such a vessel as the Nelson or Rodney could not do, since turrets and fire control tower would be in the way. The former might be decked over, but no the tower.

On the other hand, a carrier, being vulnerable, must linger on the outskirts of a fight, so that its planes can serve only as scouts, which such a battleship as England's two new ones can carry its air force into the midst of an engagement and have it available for combat at any time.

The beauty of the arrangement, from the British standpoint, is that, under the treaty, England soon will have the two greatest fighting engines on the seas at her command, while America can do no more battleship building during the compact's duration.

"It was a compromise between us and the British," as a United States naval officer remarked, laying down a description he had been reading of the new ships. "Such a compromise, on our side,' he added, "as a man makes with his wife."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A WORD TO THE FARMER.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir: The Progressives at Ottawa understand their business and are led by a man who has the greatest of all assets, a reputation for sincerity. He follows this up by a calm and reasoned statement of the federal Progressive position which is the welfare of the Progressives (of the West). His party is purely sectional. It is the Western farmer first, last and always, and if anything is left the East may have it. Mr. Forke has issued the war-cry of the Progressives for the approaching election. It is lower freight rates even in the face of the emphatic protest of Sir Henry Thornton. As neither of these gentlemen imagines that it is statesmanship to fool his opponents and to play weaeel or that other animal of like propensities, and even more offensive qualities. We have the trouble thrown plainly before us on the screen. This trouble is the old one of competition, of each branch of industry in Canada fighting with the other for what each calls fairplay.

Now it must be remembered that it was Eastern Canada that opened up Western Canada. It was like the case of the man who, having one good farm and being just nicely able to work it, decided in the game of enterprise to get another farm and then another until at last he was all farm and land poor. He overdid himself. He is just exactly like the man who ate two meals at once, saying that he mightn't need one of them now but he might later on. He got indigestion in the meantime, and so has Canada.

The question to be settled at the next election is unfortunately a sectional one. Is Eastern Canada going to continue paying terrifying deficits in order to give Western Canada cheaper freight rates, and more railway sidelines, not to speak of the H.B. line? The Ontario farmer has made a fool of himself. He has overfarmed Canada and plunged us into enormous debts—and taxes. As if one federal government had not done enough political, stocks ellers, boomsters, canvassers and heaven knows what else have got hold of this province and Ontario has been trying actually to commit suicide with expenditures for fads. It has gone wild in education and good roads, &c., and again I say, taxes. Now taxes kill the goose (and when we say "goose" we mean goose) that pays for carrying on these grand schemes. The goose does not die ot once but gets weaker and weaker gradually and doubles its burden by growing less able to bear it. It is at this unhappy moment that the Progressives say that they must have cheaper freight rates in the wsst so that this country s going to be "all West," if we do not call a halt. The eastern farmer has never been able fo see that it is madness to build up a rival in the West before its time, before it is needed. He did not eralise his folly and went head-first into it—and the manufacturer took advantage of him because the manufacturer wanted new markets. Then the manufacturer taking undue advantage of Protection, slammed on the prices so that the Eastern farmer spending half his money in taxes to support and develop the West spent the other half in high prices. Why then did the Eastern farmer not call a halt in his development of the West and go into manufacturing on his own account of his own goods? He did neither. In fact at the present moment he is being gold-bricked by public ownership (with private management, in which he bars himself from sharing), and by overdevelopment. He spends enormous sums yearly in taxes for his foolishness. Still he will go on bleeding himself to death. I think we must all agree that what is the matter with us in Canada and especially in Ontario is a lack of simple commonsense. Why pay more taxes? Why buy from manufacturers when you can manufacture for yourselves? Why pay for an education that is certainly not making you wiser? Why pay from a dollar to a dollar and a half per acre tax rent for your farms? What is the matter with you? Meanwhile the West knows what it wants and is going after it and ten to one you farmers here in Ontario will vote to help it on. If you don't like the high prices for implements, etc., etc., and what you wear, why don't you co-operate and do your own manufacturing? The trouble is we are so easily led and people who are easily led are easily misled. Whenever some man or some clique wants a job at the public expense they curse the politicians and then all is well, for them. The rest is easy. The people never seem to realise that they must pay until they are about half-dead with taxes and then they seem to think that the remedy lies in new schemes new expenditures—and more taxes! And now the U.S. farmer is going to shut out our farmers altogether. What next?

—J. H. Burnham.

THE BLOCK ROAD AGAIN

To the Edito , The Examiner.

Dear Sir: In reply to Mr. J. S. Fitzgerald's letter which appeared in your issue o Wednesday, January 28, I would like to put Mr Fitzgerald right on a few statements he makes in his letter as I believe he is either not acquainted with the exact situation or else he has been misinformed.

Mr. Fitzgerald states in the beginning of his letter that not five per cent. of the ratepayers of Otonabee are in favor of the Block Road as a County-Provincial Highway.

Now Mr Fitzgerald, I can prove this statement wron as I am one o the ratepayers of this municipality who went through part of this township with a petition to the Department of Highways, to have this same Block Road designated as a County-Provincia' Highway in 1920, and again in 1923.

We obtained 217 signatures to this petition and did not see one-quarter o the ratepayers of this township: just a few of those who were not too a- away.

At that time there were between eleven and twelve hundred ratepayers in Otonabee, so in place of there not being five per cent. in favor of this project, we got over 20 per cent. of the ratepayers' signatures, and could have obtained a great many more had we spent more time. Not one of these men have ever come and told me that they saw any reason to change their opinion in regard to the Block Road.

Now if Mr. Fitzgerald was thoroughly acquainted with the situation, he would not be asking Mr. Anderson for a statement regarding his stand on this question.

When Mr. Anderson came to the municipal nomination in 1919, to re-enter the Township Council, he came as an ardent supporter of the Block Road as a County-Provincial Highway, and Mr. Anderson has come before the ratepayers of this township six times since, in as many years for re-election on the same platform, and Mr. Anderson is still one of our representatives in both township and county with an increasing support, in spite of the outside influences which have been used to defeat him. Mr. Comrie also stated his stand at the last nomination as in favor of the project, and Mr. Comrie only lacked two votes of being equa' with head councillor.

Mr. Devlin s not opposed to this project, and Mr. Reid has always been in favor of this road since it was first discussed; therefore, this proves another of Mr. Fitzgerald's statements incorrect.

Now, in conclusion, I would like to ask Mr. Fitzgerald two questions. First—Can he produce a report from the Highways Department in which they state that the Norwood or North Road has their approval as a County-Provincial Highway? As Mr. Fitzgerald would lead the public to believe that he has seen such a report, it is up to him to produce it. Second—Are you, Mr. J. S. Fitzgerald a ratepaper in Otonabee? If so, please give the number of your lot and concession, as none of the ratepayers directly interested in this road know who you are. Be a good sport. Come out in the open.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain,

WM. G. HENDERSON,
Lot 24, Con. 8, Otonabee.

Peterboro, Jan. 30 1925.

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Dear Sir,—I made note, a few days ago, of the fact that the Anti-Unionists are going to take steps to bring on a vote in some congregations in the Peterboro Presbytery, which have decided unanimously to enter Union.

Surely this is a matter for each congregation to decide for itself, without interference from outsiders. It is not surprising that in a small town where Presbyterians and Methodists are united in every other sphere of life, that they should decide to be united in their religious associations also. If the writer of the article I mentioned has ever lived in a community where the people are as one large family, he will think again before trying to create a discussion there. Dissension is serious enough at anytime, but doubly so under such circumstances as I have stated.

If the Anti-Unionists carry out this part of their programme, we will know then they are working merely for votes, and not for the advancement of God's work and peace among His children. We have had our suspicions on this point for some time and now this will provide proof. "Citizen" does not take it kindly when I said the Presbyterians were selfish in their present attitude. These past few years we have heard one appeal after another for money, as the Home Mission Board had to recall their workers because they could not support them. It would have been more to the point if these wealthy congregations had disgorged some of their gold then, instead of hanging onto it until now. They aren't likely to become so much more liberal in such a short time. I dont' know anything about the expenses etc., but should think it would be less costly to support a preaching station already in operation than to open up a new one.

It is not the aim of the United Church to have fewer preaching stations, except in villages and communities which now have both Presbyterian and Methodist churches and where both together would make one good sized congregation, which would be self-supporting. The real aims of the United Church have been so beclouded by minor points raised by the Anti-Unionists, that a great many are hazy about what the United Church stands for.

Member of St. Paul's.

Peterboro, Jan. 31, 1925.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—I have been asked if I was the writer of a letter which recently appeared in your columns signed "A Member of St. Paul's Church," of which church I happen to be a very humble member. Will you kindly allow me to say that I never in my life wrote a letter without signing my own name to it. May I also be permitted to express the sincere wish that this strict rule was universal, so that there would then be no danger, in this respect, of any of us receiving either credit or blame which we do not merit.

COOLIDGE PLANS TO RUN IN 1928

So Say Many Politicians in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(Canadian Press).—Many politicians in Washington appear to hold the belief that President Coolidge is laying plans to run again in 1928. This is based partly on the nature of his recent appointments and partly on other reasons. For one thing, there has been nothing whatever emanating from the White House or from any quater close to the President that indicates any aversion on the part of the chief executive to another term.

The fact that Senator Butler of Massachusetts retains the post of Republican national committee chairman is looked on as one of the evidences that Mr. Coolidge looks forward to running again. As national chairman, and a close adviser of the President, Mr. Butler is in a position to build up the Coolidge organization steadily from now on to 1928.

The appointments of Mr. Kellogg to be secretary of state, and Mr. Warren of Michigan to be attorney general are viewed as personal appointments. The prevailing view is that the President was seeking men who would be devoted to him in a personal way and would exert themselves primarily to see that the will of the White House was carried out; that the President prefers a head for the state department of the Kellogg type rather than a man of such independence as Secretary Hughes. It is frequently said that the President means to be his own secretary of state and does not care to be overshadowed by his premier.

It remains to be seen whether the popularity of the President will continue. The usual experience of presidents is that they enter office on a high tide of public favor and then the tide ebbs. In some cases in the past it has ebbed down to a very low level. Whether Mr. Coolidge will be an exception remains to be seen. It is certain that in some of the policies he is backing, such as his agricultural policies, he is going against the desires of a large share of Congress, but his advisers tell him he is stronger with the public than Congress is. By the time the 1926 Congressional elections roll around, it may be possible to get a pretty accurate idea as to which way the administration is heading, whether it remains in public favor or is losing support.

UNITED STATES FARMERS ADVISED NOT TO INCREASE CROP ACREAGE THIS YEAR

Production Guaged on Basis of Domestic Consumption Across the Border—Main tenance of High Wheat Price Not Expected.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. — The general outlook for United States agriculture this year is "fairly encouraging," compared with recent years, the department of agriculture declared in its annual outlook report made public yesterday, but it added that there "may be a slackening in domestic demand for farm products next winter."

Producers of the major farm crops, such as cotton and wheat were advised to "follow about the same programme of production as last year."

"Increased acerages of these crops," it said, "are not advisable this year."

"General business prosperity during the first half of this year will maintain the domestic demand for the 1924 farm products yet to be marketed," the report continued, "and should stimulate the demand for better grades of certain products"

Demand May Drop.

"It is not assured, however, that the industrial improvement of the first half of 1925 will continue into 1926 at the same high level, and should there be a reduction in business activity as a result of overstimulation of business, a slackened demand for some of the 1925 crops may be expected."

"If there is an average crop of wheat in 1925, the outlook report continued, "the present high price of wheat cannot be expected to prevail for the 1925 crop, although prices are expected to be better than in 1923. Growers of hard spring wheat are cautioned not to increase production above domestic requirements. If the spring wheat acreage in the United States is held to that of last year and an average yield is secured, the production of hard spring wheat should about equal the domestic requirements.

Ample Credit.

"From present indications, ample credit for farming purposes will be available in most regions of the United States on more favorable terms. Interest rates are now somewhat lower than in recent years, and credit needed should be arranged for eraly in the season. Additional credit for production purposes, however, should not be used unless there is fair prospect of increasing the net farm income, or unless essential.

"The present tendency in industry points to stronger competition for farm labor during the spring and summer of 1925 than prevailed during 1924. From present indications little change in farm equipment and upkeep costs are to be expected."

RUM RUNNERS HAVE CODE FOR ORDERS

Patches and Inner Tubes Do Not Mean Auto Parts—Always.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Peb. 2.—"Send down five inner tubes and six boxes of patches."

This telephone message may carry little light to the men and women who are uninitiated in the mysteries of the alcohol trail.

To certain rum runners at Champlain and Rouse's Point, the source of supply at the border, however, the apparently innocent order for supplies to keep the old flivver running means an entirely different thing.

New Bootleg Jargon.

"Patches," in the new vernacular of bootlegging as engaged in along the northern part of the State, means "Canadian ale," while "inner tubes" is taken as a code word for "hard liquor."

One veteran today asked:

"Ever hear some bird call up Rouse's Point, St. John's or Champlain, and ask the guy on the other end to 'bring me down ten boxes of 'inner tubes'?"

"We don't fall for that bunk. If you were in the game you would know that inner tubes means whiskey, while 'patches' means ale and beer.

"Why, just last night I sat in a hotel here, and heard a bird from Albany calling Bill at Champlain with a Federal man sitting less than ten feet from him.

"'Hello, Bill-' the runner said. 'Say, can you send me down six inner tubes right away I want them for a fellow that's buying a second-hand car. Yeah, the same kind we sold Steve. He likes the Red brand best.'

"The dry agent must have been asleep, for anyone with a bit of sense would know this fellow didn't come way up here to buy inner tubes for a second-hand car from Champlain.

"The Red brand? Sure, that's Johnny Walker—red label, the high-priced stuff you get in Canada. Each time a fellow orders an inner tube he means a case, you know, and the same goes with patches."

According to this man huge bootlegging operations are carried on by use of the code words. Sometimes, he declares, as high as $100,000 worth of liquor went racing down-State from Plattsburgh transfer points upon the receipt of a telegram worded like this.

"Turkey market good here. Send down as many as you can buy tonight by epress. Will be able to unload immediately at good profit. Can handle up to 150. Can you make it?"

Signal for Caravan.

Such a message filed at Albany or Syracuse in the late afternoon would be the signal for the caravan to putt out from here during the night with the "turkeys." The ship by express" clause is generally included to throw off any possible sleuths who might happen across the message in some manner and to allay suspicion of operators through whose hands the message passes.

Another clever way of ordering out the rum runners in this territory is said to be through "tipping" the officers. A telephone call from a point some distance west of where the liquor loads are to cross the border informs the Federal agents at the Malone office that "the biggest bunch of cars ever seen here are headed for the line near Trout River or Flynn's Corners," two noted booze inlets.

Informer Under Cover.

The "informer" always refuses to make himself known with the excuse:

"I don't want to get mixed up in this thing, but want to help the Government make it dry."

Every available officer is then said to be called toward the threatened leak, and while the Federal men patrol every road in the vicinity the booze caravans race across the line, pass the "danger zone" south of the border, and are soon well on their way to their destination before the officers are aware of the trick, the rum runner said.

Cod Liver Oil Now in Tasteless Tablets

Greatest Flesh Builder

No more will weak, thin, unfortunate children cry in protest when the nasty, fishy-tasting, horrible-smelling cod liver oil is brought out.

Medical science progresses rapidly, and now you can get at your druggist's real, genuine cod liver oil in sugar-coated tablets that young and old can take with ease and pleasure.

Even the run-down and skinny grown-ups, who ought to take cod liver oil, because it really is the greatest vitamine food and builder of healthy flesh in the world, will feel extremely joyful when they read this welcome news.

Of course, doctors have been prescribing cod liver oil in tablets under another name for several years, but it is only of late that one can walk into a drug store and get a box of these flesh-producing tablets just as easy as a bottle of cough syrup.

Thin, run-down, anaemic men, women and children who need to grow strong and take on flesh are advised to get a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, and if you don't gain 5 pounds in 30 days just get your money back.

One woman gained fifteen pounds in five weeks, according to her own doctor—another ten pounds in three weeks. A very sickly child, aged nine, twelve pounds in seven months, and now plays with other children and has a good appetite.

Just ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. Warne Drug Co., McDermid & Jury, Jas. Lynch, or any good druggist will tell you that they are wonderful flesh and health builders. Only 60 cents for 60 tablets, and don't forget that they are wonder workers for feeble old folks.

Be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine.

IF RHEUMATIC BEGIN ON SALTS

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure, Eat No Sweets.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat no sweets of any kind for a while, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of Jad Salts occasionally to help keep down uric and toxic acids.

Rheumatism is caused by poison toxins, called acids, which are generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become week and sluggish and fail to eliminate this poison, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness, and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove body waste also to stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

Edison says he is almost dying of ennui because he can work only 16 hours a day. Anyway, it's a good crossword puzzle word.

Lame?

Drive out stiffness and ache.
After heavy exercise, apply a little Sloan's. No rubbing is necessary—the liniment itself starts fresh blood circulating quickly through the aching muscles. At once—the stiffness vanishes, the aching stops! All druggists—35 cents.

Sloan's Liniment —kills pain!

ANOTHER DEATH IN HERRIN FEUD

up against a fence and shot them. The number killed in this affair has been estimated as high as forty.

The end of the chapter was written in two trials that failed to convict any one of the killings, despite virtually conclusive evidence by eyewitnesses.

National attention and approbium were centred on the town as a result of this labor outbreak and the futile effort to punish those guilty.

More than a year later warfare of a different sort started. On Dec. 22, 1923, a raid was made on openly operated liquor houses in the county and seventy-five prisoners were taken. They were planned and executed by the Ku Klux Klan, which had hired S. Glenn Young, a professional raider.

The Klan announced that the raids were made because Sheriff George Galligan was not enforcing the law, and from all evidences and the hundreds of convictions and pleas of guilty obtained in Federal Court the Klan was right.

The resulting conflict on enforcement authorities finally narrowed down to implacable hatred between Young, afterward disclaimed by the Klan, and Thomas, one of Galligan's deputies.

All last year Young and his raiders were busy off and on and the frequent clashes with county authorities forced many appeals for militia to restore order.

In February a Circuit Court grand jury convened at Marion. On the night after it adjourned Caesar Cable, a constable and Klansman, was called from his lodge meeting and killed. Young hurried back to town and set himself up as dictator, ordering the arrest of the Mayor and Sheriff. During the night a mob of Klansmen riddled the hospital with bullets.

This act turned much public sentiment against Young and the Klan. Not many days after this rioting a special Guard Jury was summoned and found ninety-nine indictments, mostly against Klansmen. Young was named in fifty of them, but was never put on trial.

In April Young was, perhaps, at the zenith of his popularity and power. He became Kleagle of the East St. Louis Klan and went out of his way to assail W. O. Potter, Federal District Attorney, who lives in Marion. Potter appealed to the State Klan and Young lost his post as Kleagle. He afterwards was expelled.

Young, after his expulsion from the Klan, lived by contributions from friends who did not forsake him. He recently sought to borrow money to go into a business in Herrin, but local banks would not accept his note, according to statements published in Southern Illinois newspapers.

He always travelled with a big show of guns—he could never have been charged with carrying concealed weapons, and he usually travelled with two or three extra lieutenants or guards as they were commonly called.

Young Women's Auxiliary Put on Splendid Programme —Proceeds $20.

FIFTH BIRTHDAY.

NORWOOD, Feb. 2.—A very pleasant time was spent by all those who attended the birthday party given in the Sunday school-room by the Young Women's Auxiliary. After singing the Doxology, a secular programme was given, consisting of instrumental numbers by Miss Rhoda Frost and Miss Olive Webster; violin and piano duets by Miss Rhoda Frost and Mr. Charlie Copen, Miss Barbara Foote and Mr. Hector Munroe; a reading by Miss Stella Burgess was very much enjoyed by all present. GAS AND GERMS NOT PRACTICAL

Secretary of U. S. Navy Says Communities Cannot be Annihilated.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(Canadian Press).—Pictures of the "next war" as a process of annihilation of the whole communities by poison gases, germs and high explosives, are viewed by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur as "absurd" and not only physically impossible but also probably outside the possibility of human will.

The Secretary, in a statement last night, asserted that reports that such methods of destruction had been perfected since the last war to a point where whole populations could be destroyed by their use are "not true and not justified by past history or present conditions." The production and transportation of poison gas in sufficient quantity would be impossible, Mr. Wilbur said, while the use of germs would mean the spread of disease to the forces employing them.

While the world war, the Secretary said, was "terrible enough to stagger mankind by the possibilities of another world war," analysis of that war "clearly indicated the absurdity of assuming that men would have either the will or the means to destroy whole nations."

"There is no doubt," the Secretary added, "that modern warfare is a serious and a frightful thing, as we have been so lately reminded, and that unpreparedness for such a war and its possibilities is inexcusable for any nation that has the means for preparing to avoid the hideous possibilities of modern warfare."

LADIES' AID PLAN ANNUAL BAZAAR

Business and Social Gatherings in Havelock Church Circles.

HAVELOCK, Feb. 2.—The regu- Knox church was held on Thursday afternoon the President Mrs. (Dr.) Thompson presiding. The meeting was opened by Scripture reading by the President after which the Lord's Prayer was repeated. A report of the work for 1924 was read showing $329.77 receipts and a balance of $59.61 on hand at the end of the year.

On motion of Mrs. Squire and Mrs. Yuill the caretaker will be given a donation of $10.00 for extra work of heating the church during the time that the voting was being carried on.

It was suggested by the President that the ladies make an early start to make provision for the bazaar. The meeting was divided as some wanted to start an autograph quilt and others thought it would be better for each one to donate some fancy goods the work to be done at the meetings. After a discussion as to what should be done, first a committee of three was appointed to purchase the material necessary for the quilt and each member was asked to secure ten names at 10c each before next meeting day.

After the business was concluded a 10c tea was served.

Tea was served from 5 to 8 but had been announced from 4 to 7 so that the parlors were filled early. Two recitations were given by Mrs. Henderson and a real old time visit was enjoyed by all and the ladies are to be congratulated on the pleasant social time provided for such a large number.

CLAIM DAMAGES IN AUTO SMASH

Two Civil Cases Opened Before His Honor Judge Huycke.

IN COUNTY COURT.

Before Judge E. C. S. Huycke, in the County Court this morning, two civil actions commenced, one a claim for $500 and costs, in which Mrs. Olivine Brooks, wife of H. T. Brooks, of this city, claims compensation for injuries received when an automobile in which she was riding, the property of Michael Hickey, and driven by J. McMartin, collided with a car driven by William Baker of Oshawa. Mrs. Brooks claims the stated damages from Baker, who, it is alleged, was driving at an excessive rate of speed at the time of the collision, which occurred when the plaintiff's car was going to Peterboro, and met the defendant near Phelan's Corners, in the Township of Smith.

The second action concerns Michael Hickey and William Baker, in which the former makes a claim for $900, as damages to his car in the collision.

G. N. Gordon, K.C., is appearing for the plaintiffs, and D. A. J. Swanson, K.C., of Oshawa, for the defendants.

Evidence in the first action was heard this morning, the Court adjourning for an afternoon session. Mrs. Brooks was the first witness called, followed by her husband, H. T. Brooks and Dr. J. B. Mann, who attended the plaintiff after the accident, in which injuries are cited to Mrs. Brooks as follows: A broken collar-bone, gashed head, knees cut, her left leg from the knee to the ankle cut open, and a general bruised and shaken-up condition, followed by nervous trouble which extended over a period of nine months after the accident. The plaintiff also claims expenses for torn clothing, doctors' bills and medicine. The defendant denies all the charges, saying that the plaintiff's condition is attributable to the carelessness of the driver of the car in which she was riding. The plaintiff was in the front seat beside the driver, J. McMartin, while her husband, Mrs. McMartin and M. Hickey were in the rear seat.

SUSPECTS ARRESTED FOR SIRDAR MURDER

Two Egyptians Captured in Dramatic Fashion—Mock Hold-up.

CAIRO, Feb. 2.—(United Press). —Two Egyptians suspected of participating in the assassination of Sir Lee Stack, the late Sirdar, were captured to-day in dramatic fashion. Disguised as Bedouins, they had taken a train that was leaving for Tripoli, a long journey across the desert.

Police agents, knowing the suspects were on the alert, likewise disguised themselves as Bedouins, rode into the desert, staged a mock hold-up of the train when it was half-way to Tripoli, and captured the Egyptians at the point of revolvers.

The Government is making every effort to round up suspects as pressure is still being brought by Great Britain which exacted severe penalties following Sir Lee's murder.

Three-quarters of a Million People Suffering From Hunger In Ireland, Government Announces

(By George MacDonagh United Press Correspondent.)

DUBLIN, Feb. 2.—Seven hundred and fifty thousand persons are affected by the lack of food and fuel in the distress areas in the West of Ireland, the Free State Government announced officially today.

The first definite statistics regarding the hunger and suffering that has followed the blight of the potato crop and the incessant rainfall this winter were furnished the United Press by the Local Government Board.

The Government statistics show that, despite efforts to decry the talk of famine, 475 hamlets are affected.

DETECTIVE SMITH CONFESSED ROBBER

One of Four Men Who Planned Train Robbery in Which Express Guard Was Killed.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2. — (Canadian Press).—Detective Edward P. Smith of the Detective Bureau confessed last night that he was one of the four men who planned the train robbery in which Russel Sage Dickey, Chicago and North-Western express guard, was shot and killed on December 30th, in an attempt to seize the strong box containing $100,000.

The other three have all confessed. They are Ralph McKee and Edward J. Smith, Chicago and North-Western brakemen, and Berhard Mylin, a former employee. Edward Smith, baggageman, knew there would be $100,000 on the train. He suggested to Mylin that he do the robbery, apparently lone-handed, but he (Smith) would be on the train to assist. Mylin agreed.

Detective Smith was to meet the robbers in Evanston with an automobile. Mylin boarded the train at Highland Park, entered the express car and held up Dickey and the messenger Marquardt.

Mylin says Dickey jumped for him and he had to shoot. He put Marquarda in a locker and started to work on the strong box when the conductor, Edward Delger, entered. He put him in a locker. The key would not fit. Suddenly the train stopped. He thought it was Evanston, and jumped off without the loot, only to find he was in Winnetka. He held up a taxi and was driven to Evanston.

Edward Smith admits he got cold feet and didn't go in to help Mylin.

VAGRANCY CHARGE.

Young Woman Again Remanded—Insanity Allegation is Dropped.

The young local woman who appeared in the police co- on Saturday morning on a double charge of insanity and vagrancy, was again remanded this morning until Thursday of this week, when witnesses required will be on hand to testify as to the second charge. The insanity charge, after examination by two local physicians, was dropped.

Magistrate Langley, seeking justification for a remand, had two witnesses placed in the box. Rev. Francis Daw was called first, pastor of the Free Methodist church, on which premises the woman was charged with creating a disturbance on Friday of last week. Threats against himself and his wife were recounted, with the use of much foul language. The second witness corroborated the testimony, when Walter Hayes, the janitor of the church, was called and gave evidence along the same lines.

GAS IN STOMACH HURTS THE HEART

Thousands of Cases of Heart Failure Are Caused by Acute Indigestion, Says Medical Writer

Gas pressure from sour, acid, upset stomach is not only nauseating and highly uncomfortable but some day it may prove fatal.

When your meals are followed by bloating, a feeling of fullness or pressure, shortness of breath and pains around the heart, you may be sure that the acid condition of your stomach is producing a GAS that is pushing upwards and crowding your heart. That's the reason for the shortness of breath and sharp, shooting pains.

Whether young or old, the presence of stomach gas is truly serious and should always be given prompt and careful attention.

To quickly banish gas, cleanse and sweeten the stomach, neutralize the acidity—nothing is better than the daily or "as needed" use of ordinary Bisurated Magnesia. It gives almost instant relief.

Any good druggist can supply Bisurated Magnesia, in powder or tablet form, at very small cost—but be sure you get BISURATED Magnesia—recommended by Doctors and Druggists throughout the civilized world for more than 18 years.

Before you hear about what has happened in Russia, something else has happened there.

This new way works wonders on cloudy teeth

Modern science, by perfecting a new way of combating the stubborn film that covers teeth, now opens the road to whiter teeth, safely.

THAT cloudy teeth, yellowish, discolored teeth can be made whiter is now an accepted fact. Foremost dentists of the world are widely urging this new method. You can have cleaner, prettier teeth if you will start today.

This is accomplished by combating a viscous film that covers teeth. A stubborn, hard to remove film that old type dentifrices do not fight successfully.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you can feel this film. Under it are the clear, attractive teeth you envy in others. Combat it, and your teeth become many shades whiter—more glistening. This offers you a 10-day test free. Mail the coupon.

The great enemy of teeth

Film is the great enemy of teeth beauty. And a chief cause, according to world's dental authorities, of most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs by the millions breed in it. They, with tartar, are the common cause of pyorrhea. It holds food in contact with teeth, inviting the acid that causes decay.

You can't have prettier, whiter teeth; you can't have healthier teeth unless you combat that film.

Ask your druggist or mail the coupon for Pepsodent. Don't expect the same results from old time dentifrices. Begin beautifying your teeth today.

ARTICLE No. 17

One of the writer's correspondents has asked for an opinion on a couple of questions that, as he says, "are not sufficiently or explicitly covered in any recent book we have been able to obtain, to definitely settle the matter." They are of such a nature that any discussion regarding them is bound to be of interest to all auction players. The first of these questions will be discussed in this article and the second in the following article. The first is:

"Under what conditions should the initial bidder, if he has one suit missing entirely or represented by only a singleton, declare no-trump? Do the ordinary no-trump indications hold in such case?"

A sound no-trump bid is composed of two elements: (1) The proper values for the no-trump bid; (2) The proper distribution of such values among the four suits. The authorities practically all agree that the minimum strength on which the dealer should bid one no-trump is two quick tricks, divided among at least three suits. The quick trick strength must not only be there but it must be so divided among the four suits that there is more than a reasonable chance to make the contract. A hand might very easily contain two quick tricks and still not justify a no-trump bid. If these quick tricks are confined to one suit, the suit bid is the correct bid. If these quick tricks are distributed among two suits only, it is not advisable to bid no-trump. Experience has shown that with two suits unprotected, a no-trump bid is seldom sound. For that reason, to justify a bid of one no-trump, the hand must contain at least two quick tricks and these should be distributed among at least three suits. That leaves only one suit for partner to protect or, if he also has no protection, only one suit for opponents to make.

In case the dealer has a singleton of a suit or none at all, experience has shown that the no-trump bid as a rule is a losing bid. For that reason with this type of hand, it is better to bid a suit even though the hand contains two quick tricks divided among three suits. If the opponents bid the missing suit, then of course, the dealer should not subsequently bid no-trump, but if his partner should bid the missing suit then the dealer should bid the no-trump on the second round of bidding. A singleton or a void suit is a danger point for a no-trump and the best procedure is to first bid a suit and only shift to a no-trump bid later if the bidding at that time makes such a course necessary or expedient.

The following hands represent sound no-trump bids by the dealer:

Hearts — Q, 8, 2
Clubs — K, J, 4
Diamonds — A, Q, 6
Spades — 7, 6, 4, 3

Hearts — Q, 7, 4
Clubs — 8, 4
Diamonds — A, Q, 6, 4, 2
Spades — K, J, 7

Hearts — 10, 7, 6, 2
Clubs — K, J, 4
Diamonds — K, 10, 9, 2
Spades — A, 4

All of these contain at least two quick tricks and the distribution is of such a nature that there is a reasonable chance to make the bid.

The following hands, however, are not justifiable no-trump bids, even though they contain the necessary quick trick strength. The distribution is of such a nature that the suit in bold print should be bid, rather than the no-trump:

Hearts — J, 7, 4, 2
Clubs — None
Diamonds — A, K, 10, 7
Spades — K, J, 10, 4, 3

Hearts — A, 8, 4, 2
Clubs — A, 10, 9, 3, 2
Diamonds — 4
Spades — K, 7, 5

Hearts — 4
Clubs — Q, 7, 6, 4
Diamonds — A, Q, 6, 4, 2
Spades — K, J, 7

If the opponents hold the missing suit, they will bid it against a suit bid but sit tight and lead it against a no-trump bid. Prefer a suit to the no-trump bid, when the hand contains a singleton or void suit, and you will win many a game and rubber not otherwise possible.

An honest man's word

MORE than three hundred years ago, Miguel de Cervantes said: "An honest man's word is as good as his bond." Advertisers must be honest men, if they would remain advertisers. Their announcements are signed. They must tell the truth in their advertising. For their own protection, as well as yours.

What would it profit a man to advertise "Pure, virgin-wool suits," only to have you discover they were shoddy? You would soon separate the sheep from the cotton. And you would never deal with that man again. And, further, you would tell all your acquaintances what a skinflint he was.

As a matter of business, if not of personal principle, an advertiser must tell the truth in his signed announcements. That's what makes the advertising columns of this paper such reliable guides to honest merchandise. The printed announcements are bonds between you and the advertiser.

Read the advertisements. Read them regularly. To be informed on the newest and best in everything. To save hours of shopping. To make the family purse do a bigger, better job To get goods of known quality at the most attractive price.

You would not plan a motor trip without first consulting road-maps and guide-books. Is it logical to plan a shopping trip without first consulting the advertisements? Read the advertisements. Then go to the stores with your mind more than half made up.

A signed advertisement is, in effect, a sealed bond between you and the advertiser.

Science Predicts the First "Laboratory Man" by 1951

He Will Be Incubator-Born in an Age of Synthetic Steaks, Sun Power and Purple Oceans, Says Professor Haldane

Highly Magnified Reconstruction of a Human Form, Claimed to Have Been Developed from Mineral Salts by Dr. Charles W. Littlefield.

(C) C. W. Littlefield

THAT science will produce its first "laboratory man" in exactly twenty-seven years, and that a short time thereafter biologists will be "turning out" artificially created human beings by the millions, is the astonishing —and to most people terrible—prediction of the famous J. B. S. Haldane, professor of biology and chemistry in Cambridge University, England.

Professor Haldane, himself a scientist, fears that mankind is beginning to go "too far" in exploring the mysteries of the universe, and that science, which began by helping humanity, may end by destroying it.

He says that man to-day, "armed with science, is like a baby with a box of matches," and that the biologist, without realizing it himself, is a "sinister and revolutionary figure," who has already begun to "release from matter a demi-gorgon monster that will turn against him."

One of the first things he expects to see is the manufacture of human beings. The idea immediately conjures up such figures in fiction as the Frankenstein monster, and the "Robots" of Capek's dreadful drama, "R. U. R." But Haldane's idea is radically different. Both Frankenstein and the Robots were purely mechanical monsters, not really human, only cunningly built to look like human beings and to do mechanically almost everything that human beings can do. Still they were really no more human than monstrous mechanical dolls.

Haldane's "laboratory man," he predicts, will be a real human being. He calls it the "ectogenetic man." The word ectogenesis means "the formation of a new structure outside the parent organism."

The process, he believes, will consist of taking actual life cells and placing them in a jar filled with a culture medium, where they will grow. At the proper point they will be taken out of the jar and placed in incubators, and the final product will be a fully developed human child.

The first ectogenetic child, he believes, will be produced within the next twenty-seven years. He puts the prediction in the form of an imaginary essay written by an undergraduate student of a university, who is writing 150 years hence and looking into the past.

He makes this essayist say:

"A number of earnest persons, as early as the first decades of the Twentieth Century (that means the present day) attempted to apply biology in its very crude condition to the production of a race of supermen.

"It was in 1951 that Dupont and Schwartz produced the first ectogenetic child. The news of the first success caused an unprecedented sensation throughout the entire world, for the birth-rate was already less than the death rate in most civilized countries. France was the first country to adopt octogenesis officially, and by 1968 was producing 60,000 children annually by this method. In most countries the opposition was stronger, and was intensified by the interdiction of the churches.

"As we know, ectogenesis is now universal, and in this country (England) less than 30 per cent of children are now born of woman.

"The effect on human psychology and social life is by no means wholly satisfactory. The old family life had certainly a good deal to commend it. The opposition (to the new idea) was very fierce, and this country only adopted its rather stringent rules a generation later than Germany."

An Actual, Present Day "Incubator-Bred Baby," Logical Predecessor of Professor Haldane's Ectogenetic Child.

At Left—a Solar Tower of the Sort Which, in Great Numbers, May by 1951 Provide the "Laboratory Man" with Much-Needed Heat.

Professor Haldane then goes on to predict that when man becomes a factory product, it will be artificially possible to create any sort of human being desired. A nation could manufacture soldiers, strong men, intellectuals, giants, monsters, anything it needed.

He says: "I can foresee the election placards of 300 years hence:

"Vote for Smith and more musicians."

"Vote for O'Leary and more girls."

"Vote for McPherson and a prehensile tail for your grandchildren."

Professor Haldane candidly admits — and he doesn't like it, for he himself is a man of the highest ideals and integrity—that if all this happens, as he fears, it will mean the complete destruction of all present standards of morality.

He predicts, either specifically or by implication, that science will wholly take the place of religion, that there will be no more family, and that women will have an even worse time of it than feminists think they do at present.

Woman's chief and highest service to idealistic mankind would be gone, and she would become either a bedecked and jeweled chattel of man or a physically inferior drudge and laborer.

And when this time comes, he believes, there will be other changes equally startling.

He casts his doleful predictions along other lines, on the dictum that "no human society will ever produce a stable and happy organization in which the majority is employed otherwise than in agriculture, animal-rearing, hunting or fishing."

He thinks humanity is moving rapidly away from that stabilization, toward an industrial and scientific civilization, based on chemistry and machinery. He believes that machines will be so far developed that man will become "a mere parasite of huge and complicated engines."

He thinks that most of the population will be gathered together in enormous cities, with skyscrapers towering to the very clouds, elevator trains like perpendicular subways, and enormous electric globes suspended in the air, making the cities at night as bright as they are on a sunshiny day.

With the coal and ordinary fuel supplies exhausted, he thinks that most power will be drawn from the wind and the sun, that the entire countryside will be dotted with enormous windmills, and that in certain spots there will be huge reflector contrivances, somewhat like that already invented by Marcel Moreau in California, which will catch and store up and convert into power the tremendous heat of the sun.

People will live entirely on synthetic food, he thinks, manufactured from chemicals, so that instead of sitting down to a meal of beefsteak and vegetables and salad and dessert, the hungry person will swallow a couple of pills, and derive from them the nourishment he now gets from natural viands.

A spectacular but relatively unimportant thing he predicts is that within the next hundred years the ocean, instead of being blue-green, as it is now, will have turned a bright purple—not through natural causes, but through the introduction into the water by scientists of a microscopic organism he calls the "porphyrococcus," for the purpose of increasing nitrogen and stimulating the breeding of fishes and other sea-food.

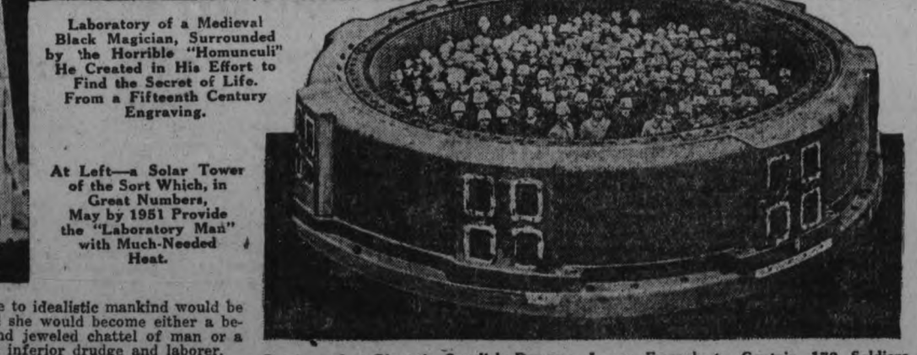
It is a very curious thing that in his chief prediction—about the production of human beings in the laboratory—he draws a picture that is almost parallel with certain alleged "diabolical" discoveries attributed to workers of Black Magic in the Middle Ages.

It was said and seriously believed that some of these men had learned from Satan the power of creating beings that looked human, but were really demons, by means of chemical and alchemical processes, in laboratory jars.

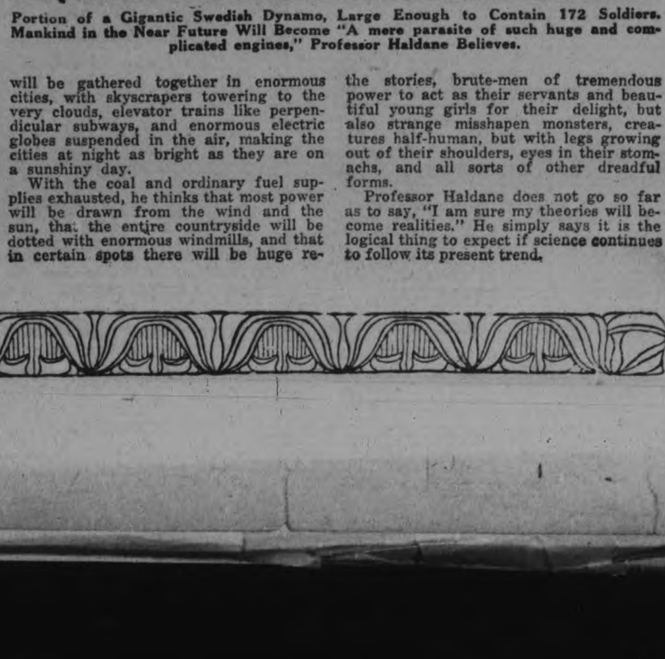
Creatures so made were called "homunculi," and there are many legends concerning them.

They not only created, according to

The "Laboratory Child," as Already Shown on the Stage —Martha-Bryan Allen as the "Egg Baby" and Albert Bruning as the "Ancient," in "Back to Methuselah."



Laboratory of a Medieval Black Magician, Surrounded by the Horrible "Homunculi" He Created in His Effort to Find the Secret of Life. From a Fifteenth Century Engraving.



Portion of a Gigantic Swedish Dynamo, Large Enough to Contain 172 Soldiers. Mankind in the Near Future Will Become "A mere parasite of such huge and complicated engines," Professor Haldane Believes.

STUDENTS TIED WITH PARKDALE

Group Race Centres on Fight for Second Place After Varsity's Win.

PETES RESTING

Varsity's defeat of Parkdale on Saturday strengthens the Petes hold on first place in the Group No. 1 standing and keeps Connie Smythe's collegians still in the running for the play off.

Standing is as follows:

	Won	Lost	To Play
Peterboro	5	1	2
Varsity	3	2	3
Parkdale	3	2	3
Hamilton	1	4	3
Aura Lee	1	4	3

Instead of Parkdale having an easy jaunt into the play off it looks like a merry battle between the Paddlers and Varsity for the right to meet the Petes in the series for the group honours. Varsity tie into Aura Lee this week and if they put away Bill Marsdens' crew, who are now out of the running, will give Parkdale a terrific fight for the honors.

The Petes only two games are in Hamilton on February 13 and with Varsity here on February 16.

Varsity have to meet Aura Lee and Parkdale again and journey to Peterboro while Parkdale have games with Varsity and Aura Lee in Toronto and with Rowing Club in Hamilton.

NEW INDOOR ATHLETIC MARKS SET IN BOSTON

Nurmi Won Two-Mile Race, But Failed to Lower Record.

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—Paavo Nurmi, blond Finn, holder of 24 world's running records, flashed ahead of his field to victory Saturday night in a two-mile special race at the 36th annual Boston Athletic Association indoor games, but failed for the second successive night to set a new indoor mark.

The meet, however, saw two world's marks shattered. Willie Plant New York, walked to a new world's 3,000 metre indoor mark when he defeated Ugo Frigerio, Italian, and Olympic champion, for the second time within a week, and E. E. (Laddie) Myers, of Chicago, established a new world's indoor pole vault record on a board floor.

Plant, in winning, clipped one and one-fifth seconds from his own world's mark, by covering the distance in 12 minutes 52 4-5 seconds.

Myers cleared the crossbar two and three-eights inches higher than he did when he set a world's record for the pole vault indoors in 1922. The new record was 12 feet,, 10 5-8 inshes.

NURMI MAY RECEIVE 10,000-FRANC PRIZE

French Academy of Sports Likely to Honor Finn.

PARIS, Feb. .—Paavo Nurmi may get the 10,000-franc prize awarded annually by the French "Academy of Sports" for "the sporting exploit accomplished in France or by a Frenchman abroad likely to result in material, scientific or moral progress to humanity," unless the Paris-to-Tokio flier, Captain Georges Pelletier Doisy, noses him out, according to L'Excelsior.

Among the previous prize-winners have been the aviators Beaumont, Guynemeyer and Fonck, the fighter Carpentier, the fencer Lucien Gaudin and the single-handed transatlantic mariner Alain Gerbault.

L'Excelsior pays a glowing tribute to Nurmi's "pulverizing of world records." Captain Pelletier Doisy now is engaged in a flight to Lake Tohad in the Central Sudan.

L'Excelsior's forecast of the prize for Nurmi is apparently based on the famous Finnish runner's exploits at the Olympic Games in Paris last Summer, at which he was probably the outstanding individual performer. He set new Olympic records for the 1,500 and 5,000 meter runs and also captured the 10,000-meter event.

JUNIORS AWAY TO-NIGHT.

Youngsters Off to Bowmanville for Second Round Game.

The local Junior Entry in the O.H.A. enter the second round by their win over Lindsay here on January 27 and meet Bowmanville in the Hosiery-Town to-night. The Bowmanville juniors won their group without difficulty and present a well-balanced team. Their winning streak of seven games was broken by Cobourg on Wednesday in the last game of the group but they are confident of starting another at the Young Petes expense. The local youngsters have been practising faithfully and hope to dispose of the Lakeshore gang quite handily. All the players are in good shape for the encounter and a good game is promised the fans when the return game is played at Brock street on Friday.

CHAMPION OF EUROPE.

GLASGOW, Feb. 2, — (Canadian Press).—Elky Clark, of Glasgow, won the flyweight championship of Europe Saturday night by defeating the Belgian pugilist, Michel Montreuil, in a 20-round contest. Clark won on points.

The Glasgow fighter became flyweight champion of Great Britain by defeating Kid Kelly, of Plymouth, in a 20-round bout last March.

ST. PATS GRAB WIN IN OTTAWA

Two Goals by Adams in Last Ten Minutes Decided Result.

SCORE WAS 2-1

OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—(By Canadian Press) —Toronto St. Pats lived up to their reputations as strong finishers and snatched a last-minute victory from Ottawa Senator here Saturday night by a score of two to one. After two scoreless periods, and with the last one three parts gone, Ottawa went into the lead when Clancy scored. With about six minutes left to play it looked like a sure win for the locals, but the "harps" hit back with a pair in less than four minutes, both from the stick of Jack Adams, and carried off the decision.

The game in general was nothing to unduly excite the spectators. The two teams adopted a close checking game with the result that play was considerably slower than usual, and sensational plays, except for the work of the rival goalers, were few and far between. Rarely has a game been seen here when so few shots were directed at the nets. The close watch kept on the players of both teams by their opponents confined a great deal of the play to the area between the blue lines.

St. Pats showed a polished exhibition and were the aggressors throughout. It might be that the last two weeks' schedule has taken much out of the Ottawas, but whatever the cause, they did not play last night with the customary dash and spirit. However that does not detract from the fact that the visitors played hard and consistently and were good value for the margin by which they won the game.

Annual Soccer Meeting Will Be Held To-night

Last Season's Reports Will be Placed Before the Board.

The annual general meeting of the Peterborough and District Football Association will be held to-night in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 7.30 sharp. William Cooke, president, will occupy the chair.

All last year's Board of Directors automatically retire, which compels a new executive and new board to be appointed for 1925 season. Every soccer enthusiast who has the welfare of the game at heart has a splendid opportunity to develop his talent as an administrator of the sport.

No definite action has been taken by the four teams that took part in the game during 1924, but no doubt they will be represented at to-night's meeting.

Education makes you understand how little you really know.

The nice thing about everything is it is just sort of temporary.

WEST BROMWICH HIGHLY FAVORED

Regarded as Good Prospect for English Cut and League Honors.

SOCCER REVIEW

LONDON, Feb. 2.— (Canadian Press Cable)—Eleven of the sixteen games that marked the second round of the English Football Association Cup were decided on Saturday, with five drawn games that call for a re-play, and as a result, eight First Division clubs are assured of entry into the Third Round which will be contested on February 21st.

One of the outstanding events of Saturday's play was the splendid fight offered by Leicester City against the present cup-holders, Newcastle Unit. ', the Tynesiders being compelled to can it a day with honors even. The re-play, which will be called for Leicester, will find the City at a considerable advantage and there are those here who are speculating on the probability of Newcastle having to yield the trophy without going further.

Field Like Bog.

The heaviest scoring on Saturday took place at Sheffield where the "Blades" subdued their fellow citizens, The Wednesday, after a 3 to 2 game. The contest was played off in a field that resembled a bog and its beginning was inauspicious for the United, who had to suffer the shock of seeing two goals stacked up against them in the first ten minutes. The United recovered well, however, and eventually subdued The Wednesday.

Preston North End had their hopes shattered by West Bromwich, and the league leaders moved to Third Round with an excellent prospect of going still further. The Bromwich's career now has taken on an interesting phase, for they are fancied for dual honors, the Cup and the League, a record that has been "pulled off" only twice before in football history.

Bolton Wanderers, who knocked out Huddersfield Town in the first round, forced the Spurs to a draw and gave themselves the advantage of ground in the play-off necessitated by this result. Bolton are fancied considerably for the title.

The other games on Saturday resulted much as expected. Of the ten clubs whose fate is yet uncertain seven belong to the first string.

Game Suspended for Hurricane.

The Cardiff grounds where Cardiff and Fulham met were muddy and the going was heavy, Cardiff monopolized the play in the first half, Beadles almost scoring in the first minute. From a breakaway Edmonds missed an open goal for Fulham. After twenty-five minutes of play the game was suspended for ten minutes owing to a hurricane of wind and rain breaking over the round. Len Davies scored Cardiff's only goal which won the game.

The Attendances.

Attendances were:

Tottenham Hotspurs vs Bolton, 50,000.
Cardiff v. Fulham, 25,000.
Blackburn Rovers v. Portsmouth, 50,000.

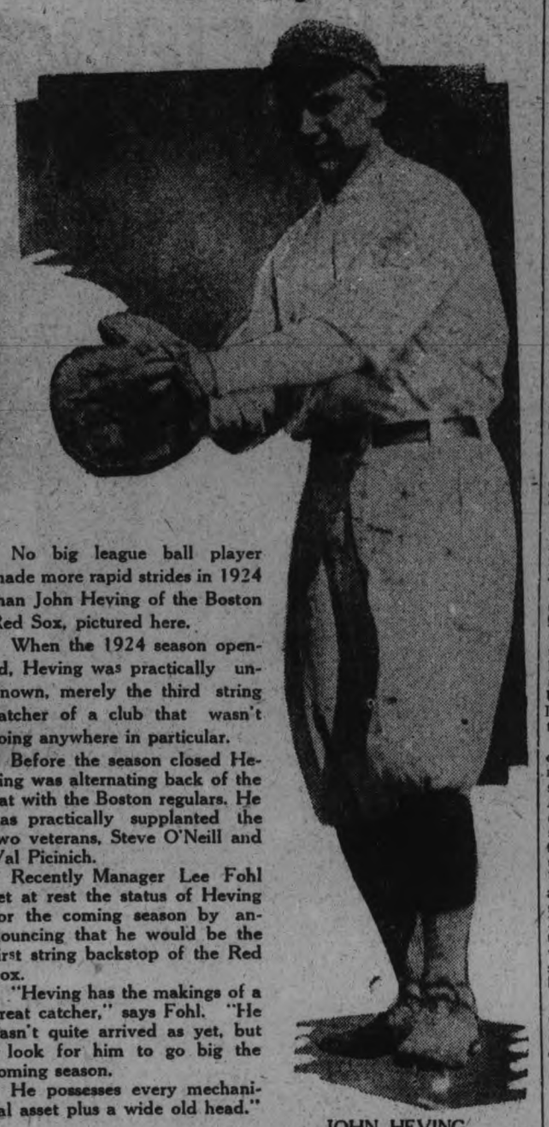
WINS BERTH AS REGULAR

John Heving, Boston Red Sox Third String Catcher, First Choice of Manager Fohl.



JOHN HEVING

No big league ball player made more rapid strides in 1924 than John Heving of the Boston Red Sox, pictured here.

When the 1924 season opened, Heving was practically unknown, merely the third string catcher of a club that wasn't going anywhere in particular.

Before the season closed Heving was alternating back of the bat with the Boston regulars. He has practically supplanted the two veterans, Steve O'Neill and Val Picinich.

Recently Manager Lee Fohl set at rest the status of Heving for the coming season by announcing that he would be the first string backstop of the Red Sox.

"Heving has the makings of a great catcher," says Fohl. "He hasn't quite arrived as yet, but I look for him to go big the coming season.

He possesses every mechanical asset plus a wide old head."

DISTRICT TEAMS HERE THIS WEEK

Lakefield and Trent Valley Winner Play Local Intermediates.

After a long wait the Peterboro Intermediates have been scheduled to play off for the local O.H.A. group with the winners of the Lakefield-District and the Trent Valley Leagues. These playoffs will be sudden death affairs, the first being between Kennedy's Colts, champs of the Lakefield League and the Petes. This game will be played at Brock Street Rink on Thursday, Feb. 5th. The winners of this encounter will play either Havelock or Tweed in Peterboro on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 7th.

Manager Grover Halpin of the locals has had a large turnout including Scotty MacPherson, Mickey Williams, LaPierre, Lackey, Eddie Williams, Frenchy Holland, Freddy Batten, LeGros and many others.

Benny Leonard has retired from the ring to elevate the drama. It is said that Benny still does most of his talking with his hand.

The way Nurmi the Finn continues to shatter the running records makes it appear as if he was the originator of "Hot Dogs."

Eddie Collins should have an easy time satisfying the Chicago fans this year. Last season the Sox supporters thought the team was in a minor league.

Judge Landis has sailed for Panama and Cuba, to be gone two months. In his absence, baseball will prove that it can survive without his august presence.

Mike McTigue objects to being called a "chese champion." After having seen Mike fight we feel that he has been complimented.

BRITAIN TELLS WAR DEBT AIMS TO HER ALLIES

Wants Enough to Make Up Difference Between Reparations and U. S. Demands.

NOTE FOR FRANCE.

Churchill Consults With Balfour and Curzon in Drafting Proposals.

LONDON, Feb. 2. — (Canadian Press)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill is consulting Marquis Curzon and Earl Balfour on a note embodying the British debt policy which will be sent to France. This unusual step is being taken because the policy will be based on a note which the two peers wrote during their terms of office.

Churchill and Foreign Minister Chamberlain consider this note will be the most important statement yet made regarding the Allied debts. It is intended to lay down a basic policy, which will be adhered to in future, no matter how many years the debt question remains open.

Lord Balfour is the author of the note, declaring England will exact from her Allies only as much of what they owe her as is needed to make up the difference between what England gets in reparations from Germany and what she must pay the United States on her own debt. Lord Curzon amplified this same thesis.

Last week Churchill sent a copy of the draft of his note to Curzon, now at Cannes. The Marquis made some suggestions and returned it. A full meeting of the Cabinet will consider the note on Tuesday. It is still in more or less fluid form, but the general terms have been agreed upon. No demand for payment will be made. It will be in the form of an answer to French Finance Minister Clementel's inquiry as to the British views, but it will lay down the conditions which the British want fulfilled before they will consider favorably any proposal to liquidate the debt.

MONTREAL PRO TEAM BLANKED

Cleghorn Brothers Led Canadiens to 5-0 Victory in Top Form.

DANDURAND ILL

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—After four weeks of bumping over the rough road of defeat, Canadiens bounded back to their best form Saturday night, and to the delight of almost 5,000 supporters, literally swamped the Montreal pro players 5 to 0 in a scheduled National Hockey League fixture. There was no indication of staleness in the play of the titleholders, either individually or as a team. Manager Leo Dandurand was confined to his bed through illness. It was the first time in four seasons that the Canadien manager has missed directing his team from the bench.

Odie Cleghorn took over the direction of the play and ran the champions from the bench throughout the first period. After half of the second session had passed and neither team had been able to score, Odie jumped into the game, relieving Morenz at centre. He led an attack and when close in on Benedict, shot through "Dutch" Cain's legs to beat Benedict for the opening goal of the session.

Having had a taste of scoring their was no halting the Canadiens. Sprague Cleghorn led a rush and when he drew the Montreal defence, slipped the puck over to brother Odie. The latter coasted in on Benedict and when the Montreal goalie made his move to block the drive, Odie held the puck, circled around the advancing Benedict and notched his second tally. The pressure was maintained and a minute later Morenz made it three for the title holders after a brilliatn rush.

Canadiens eased up in the final period, but held command of the situation, adding two more goals, Morenz scored his second tally in a combined rush with Joliat, the count coming when Montreal were short their two defence men. Just before time Joliat netted the puck on a back-handed drive from his opposite wing, finding the corner of the goal from a sharp angle when it was left uncovered by the Montreal players.

EAST EMILY, Feb. 2.—On Wednesday, Jan. 28, the annual meeting of the subscribers of the Emily Municipal Telephone System was held in the U. F. O. Hall, Omemee, at 2 o'clock p.m. Mr. J. R. After reading the minutes of the meeting last year, the Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Moses Ruth, gave a detailed account of the business done during the year and showing a balance in the bank of over $1,100.00. It was moved, seconded and carried that a notice be inserted in the Lindsay and Peterborough newspapers giving the subscribers 30 days to pay up their accounts. After the time specified the accounts will be placed in the hands of a collector at the expense of the subscribers. After a lengthy discussion on the work and management of the system, the election of officers for the ensuing year took place.

It was moved, seconded and carried unanimously that the old staff of commissioners be returned to office, namely, J. R. Boate, J. J. O'Leary and Moses Ruth.

HAMILTON WON 8-3.

Boston Bruins, Tired by Long Trip, Were Easy for Gardnerites.

HAMILTON, Feb. 2.—(Canadian Press).—Boston Bruins, minus the services of Dr. Charles Stewart in the nets, and tired from a twenty-seven hour ride, caused by running into storms, and the derailment of two cars at Smithsville, proved easy for the League leading Hams here on Saturday night, and finished on the short end of an 8 to 3 count. It was in the opening period only that the Bruins showed any dash at all, and succeeded in holding the leaders to one goal while they tallied one themselves. In the second session, and particularly in the third, they showed signs of weakening, and the Gardnerites experienced no trouble in running up their large count.

CLAIMS HE CAN SALVAGE SHIPS.

Will the Lusitania, with its treasures, ever be raised from Davy Jones' locker? Is there any way to free this greatest of all ocean greyhounds from its eight year old prison in 360 feet of water off the Irish coast? Even the suggestions seems to border on the ridiculous.

Practically every engineering authority views with amusement any project to salvage the huge Cunarder, disintegration being only one of a dozen reasons advanced for any such attempt being regarded as beyond human ingenuity.

That one man, however, is not discouraged by the well-founded skepticism of the engineering world but sees cause for optimism in the success attending the recent salvaging of a cruiser and two destroyers sunk at Scapa Flow, is evident from the description of the recent invention of J. G. Currey, for many years in the railroad service, reaching Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News recently, consisting of a new type of salvaging apparatus possessing several features of unusual interest, regardless of the manner in which Mr. Currey's claims to be able to hoist to the surface and tow safely to port many of the ships now at the bottom of the sea, are regarded.

It is said a shipwreck in 1902 directed Currey's mind toward the raising of vessels from a considerable depth. In that year an intimate friend of the inventor was lost in a wreck off the Alaskan coast, while returning from a mining expedition.

New Principles Involved

Once interested in the problem, Currey spent every spare hour working toward its solution and his equipment is declared by those who have seen his models to involve new principles which increase materially the prospect of successful salvaging hundreds of ships sunk along practically every coastline in the world.

In the last analysis the success of the equipment depends upon the operation of two factors—a grappler, which it is claimed will cling to any object with which it comes in contact, and a principle of lifting between barges.

Heretofore, the tension in lifting any object submerged in water has been directed from the inner sides of parallel barges. Currey's idea is to equalize the strain by running lines to both sides of the barges so that the latter will not only maintain an even keel but have a fixed resistance against the downward pull.

The grapples are shaped and operated somewhat in the manner of a pair of ice tongs, any increase in the power applied to the lifting cables increasing the grip of the grappler.

Cradle It For Towing

A ship to be salvaged, under the Currey plan, would first be raised from the ocean bottom by grapplers—as many as needed—and when nearing the surface, lines would be thrown under, bow and stern, to cradle it for towing into shallow water or further hoisting as the exigencies of the situation might demand.

It is proposed to throw the cradling lines under the ship by a combination of weights and rigid rods, together with a huge float carrying a cord to the surface on the far side by which the steel cable would be later drawn up.

Another factor in Currey's project is said to be a new method of patching steel hulls under water, by which it is claimed divers can repair damage to a ship's hull and pump the ship dry as it is brought to the surface.

The "patch" contains a trap-door in the centre so that a man can attach the necessary bolts within the hull and then climb out again to a scaffold previously attached to the side of the ship. This part of the work, of course, is done when the vessel is near the surface. If the damage can thus be repaired the ship can be pumped out as it is brought to the surface and the task of getting it to shore is simplified.

Currey has been experimenting for several years at Pacific coast ports, and claims that with a single grappler he has lifted hundred ton weights from 380 feet of water at Astoria, Oregon.—Canadian Machinery.

MOTOR LEAGUE OPPOSES PLAN FOR GAS TAX

Would Agree if Motor License Fees Were Reduced by Same Amount.

LOCAL NEWS.

Motorists Already Contribute 50 Per Cent. of Total Expended on Highways.

The Ontario Government has made known its intention of placing a tax on gasoline. With regard to this tax the Ontario Motor League has taken the position that motorists are at present contributing a fair share of the cost of road work and that with the average yearly increase in the number of motor vehicles in operation, the Government is assured of a growing revenue from this source without any further increase in the fees or collection of new forms of taxes.

The revenue of the Province from motor vehicle fees last year was, the Motor League points out, $4,756,000.00, and this year, on the same basis, should be approximately $5,200,000.00. As the expenditure to be made by the Provincial Government on roads of all classes this year is understood to be in the neighborhood of $10,000,000.00, the motorists' construction and maintenance borne per cent. of the total cost of road construction and maintenance borne by the Province. The League estimates that a tax of one cent per gallon on gasoline will net the Province a total of a million dollars in the first year, and greater amounts in each succeeding year as the number of cars in use increases. A two cent tax would mean the payment of $2,000,000.00, plus annually by motor vehicle owners. Add this to the registration fee and a total of $7,200,000.00 is assessed against motorists, or 72 per cent. of the Government's probable expenditure on roads. This is surely an excessive percentage. The League contends that any tax on gasoline should be accompanied by a reduction in the annual license fee so that the average car owner will not be called upon to pay a greater total sum to the Government than at the present time. The tax on gasoline purchased by tourists who now contribute nothing to the Provincial exchequer would open to the Government an entirely new source of revenue, and, as a total of over three million cars entered this Province from the United States last year, should yield a considerable sum.

In the Province of Quebec, before the gasoline tax was introduced, under a tax of 90c per horsepower, a car of 22.5 horsepower paid a license fee of $20.70. On the new scale which came into effect with the gasoline tax, the same car would now be taxed $13.30 on a basis of 70c per 100 lbs. — a reduction of $7.40 or 36 per cent. This reduction would allow the consumption of approximately 370 gallons of gasoline (a mileage of 7,400) without any net increase in the total fees paid by the owner. The Province of Quebec, in reducing license fees, followed the State of California. In that State previous to the introduction of a tax of 2c on gasoline, the registration fee was computed at the rate of 40c per horsepower—$8.00 on a light car of 20 horsepower or $16.00 on heavy cars of 40 horsepower. When the gasoline tax was applied, the California registration fee was reduced to a uniform rate of $3.00 per car.

The revenue which the Ontario Government derives from motor license fees cannot in fairness be compared with the Government's total expenditure on roads, for during recent years the Government has spent great sums of money on building road foundations and bridges which will be of service for a long period of years. The money spent in this way should be regarded by the Government as an investment for the benefit of the people of the Province.

A fair comparison, however, might be made between the annual cost of road maintenance and the contribution toward that cost by automobile owners. This contribution is already more than double the annual cost of road maintenance borne by the Provincial Government. At the same time, it should be kept in mind that there are other road users besides motorists, and that property owners, and indeed the entire community, reap the benefit of a well-kept system of highways. The cost of building and maintaining the Provincial highways should therefore be distributed in equitable relation to the benefits derived.

The official attitude of the Motor League is conveyed by the following resolution which was adopted:

"Whereas announcement has been made by the Ontario Government that the Legislature is to be asked to authorize the imposition of a tax on gasoline, and,

"Whereas motorists already contribute approximately 50 per cent. of the total amount expended by the Provincial Government on highways construction and maintenance,

"It is resolved that this board is opposed to a tax on gasoline if such a tax is imposed in addition to the present motor license fee.

"It is further resolved that the board approve of the principle of a gasoline tax, provided the present motor license fees are reduced by an amount equal to the income from the gasoline tax."

"China Rose," the new oriental operetta, was written on the assumption that a musical show needn't bother about anachronisms, absurdity or hokum. Many a good show has got by on that theory. It is doubtful if "China Rose" can. It follows an ancient style. John Cort, in producing it, has given an elaborate setting and a pretty and competent company. Olga Steck pleases as the soprano heroine, and the comedians do their best with what material they have.

MRS. HART WINS COURT BATTLE

Mrs. Winnifred Westover Hart and her baby have just left the courtroom where she won the right to return to the screen under her full name. A legal separation agreement with "Two-Gun Bill" which provided for her support, but restricted her from appearing in the movies was declared illegal. The trust fund of $103,000 created for her and another for $100,000 for the baby will be held intact.

Archie McBride Hero, Saved Valuable Doggie

Fireman "Archie" McBride was the hero of a small fire at 172 Lake Street on Saturday morning. When the firemen arrived at the scene of the blaze, the house was filled with smoke. A valuable bull dog was roaming about the house and was just about to fall from suffocation when McBride noticed it and carried it out into the open air, where it soon was alive and kicking again. The blaze started in a hot air register and spread up the wall. The damage is estimated at about $200.

National League Jubilee.

Celebration of Establishing of Baseball Championship of United States.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(Canadian Press).—The National League opens its jubilee celebration to-day at the scene of its birth, Broadway Central Hotel, where nearly fifty years ago a little group gathered to "establish and regulate the baseball championship of the United States." To-day's session will be just a gathering of the "boys" who fought through for that ideal and many of the old-time favorites are expected to attend.

PEACE GUIDED POLICY.

Herriott Says Peace is Principle of True Democracy—To Raise Monument.

PARIS, Feb. 2. — (Canadian Press).—Peace was the guiding principle of true democracy; it had always been and would continue to be the inspiration of his Government, Premier Herriot declared before the audience in Trocadero Hall last night. The occasion was a meeting organized to advance a plan for the erection of a monument to peace on one of the battlefields.

$75,000 FIRE.

One of Two Public Schools at Arnprior Destroyed.

ARNPRIOR, Ont., Feb. 2.—(Canadian Press).—Fire thought to have been caused by an overheated furnace, completely destroyed one of the two public schools here yesterday afternoon at an estimated loss of $75,000. Insurance amounting to $20,000 was carried. Classes will be conducted in the town hall and church basements until a new school house can be built.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

HARVEY'S MINSTRELS.

Harvey's Greater Minstrels at the grand on Saturday, proved one of the smartest and most enjoyable attractions of its kind, staged here for some time. With plenty of good vocal and dancing ability, a chorus of creole belles, and a chorus of fun-makers, including Noah Robinson, Charlie Beecham, Lawrence Baker and Jakie Smith, the first part was well above the average. The work of Interlocutor Johnston and his clever dancing were a feature of this part of the programme. The olio included a fine banjo specialty by Ed. Williams, a pianologue, by Bobbie Hamilton, assisted by Mary Barbee, an amusing number by Hugh Turner, the "Muical Tramp," and an entertaining skit, "The Steward and the Cabin Boy," by Johnson and Baker. The third part was made up of a number of well staged skits and featured a lot of clever dancing. The work of the Harvey Minstrel orchestra was a feature throughout. Harvey's Minstrels are sure of a warm reception so long as their programme is kept up to its present standard.

AT THE REGENT.

ELAINE HAMMERSTEIN AT HER BEST IN HER LATEST FILM "BROADWAY GOLD."

Elaine Hammerstein, the delightful and dainty star of a score of screen romances has at last entered the ranks of the independent movie makers and will be seen in her newest production "Broadway Gold" at the popular Regent Theatre on Hunter Street, for an engagement of three days.

"Broadway Gold" is as its name signifies, a romance dealing with life and vicissitudes of the Great White Way, as the Main Street of New York is popularly termed.

The picture is an elaborate screen adaptation of W. Carey Wonderley's story which created much comment when it ran in Young's Magazine. It is said to be a very faithful and true recital of life among the habitues of Broadway's exotic night life. Into this swirling vortex of gaiety and unconventionalities a young and unsophisticated girl is thrown by force of circumstances. The narrative of her temptations, her adventures, her loves and final escape from her environment make a movie tale which is decidedly unique and unusual.

The picture was produced and directed by Edward Dillon, who was also responsible for "Women Men Marry," as well as many of the successes presented to the public by Goldwyn, Famous Players and the other large producers.

While Miss Hammerstein heads the cast, the picture can be truthfully called an all star production. Elliott Deter appears in the chief male role, while the old favorite Kathlyn Williams appears in the greatest part of her career as Jean Valjean, a beautiful but worldly wise denizen of Manhattan's roaring "Forties."

Other prominent members of the cast include Richard Wayne, Harold Goodwin, Harry Northrup, as well as Henry Barrows. "Boardway Gold" as well as all future Elaine Hammerstein pictures will be offered to the pitcure going public by the Truart Film organization.

AT THE CAPITOL.

GO-GETTER SOUL DEPICTED IN NEW TARKINGTON FILM.

Audiences at the Capitol theatre to-day and Tuesday are given a glimpse into the workings of "Dementia Americana" with the showing there of "The Turmoil." Scientists have used the term for the mental disease that they hold is exclusively American — and one that has made the American go-getter millionaire a person different to his very soul from the rich man of any other nation on earth.

The remarkable Universal Hobart Henley production, based on the epochal novel by Booth Tarkington, is more than a gripping, enthralling play. It is an analysis of the very souls of men and women. He shows men and women who forget love, morals, even self-respect, in the mad chase for the dollar.

"The Turmoil" is a study in human nature. The struggle of the old millionaire with his temperamental son, who hates business and wants to be an author; with his fortune-hunting daughter-in-law, and a flapper daughter, full of all the fads and foibles of the newly rich.

George Hackathorne, as the dreamy son, "Bibbs," has a part that for sheer human sympathy rivals his now famous role in "Merry-Go-Round," and in contrast is Emmett Corrigan, the noted stage star, playing the indomitable "Sheridan," monarch of money.

Eleanor Boardman is charming as Mary Vertrees. Theodore Von Eltz and Edward Hearn appear as two other sons, rather the average American type, with thier father's dementia strongly implanted in them by sheer force of the older man's will—a delicate shading in characterization.

The staging is magnificent, the gaudy splendor of the new millionaire's weird palace being shown opposite the true refinement of a real aristocrat's home. Hobart Henley transcribed the play from the Tarkington book; the caught all its values and added nothing.

AT THE ROYAL.

Romance and Drama of Life in High Society, With a Setting of Luxury and Magnificence.

A new note in motion picture direction has been struck by Will Nigh, director of "Born Rich," a First National picture which is to be the feature at the Royal today. Based on the successful novel by Hughes Cornell, it is a story of New York society circles, but, unlike the ordinary story of "high life," it is one of the most human stories ever thrown upon the screen.

Motion picture fans never tire of "society dramas," and as a result the majority of pictures shown in the many thousands of cinema palaces throughout the land are of that type. Everyone likes to see how the "other half" lives, and inasmuch as the vast majority of Americans are outside of that magic circle of the wealthy, they have given strong evidence of their interest in how the rich conduct themselves.

In the filming of "Born Rich," both the author and the director have set out to show a different side of the wealthy, and to prove that the latter are as susceptible to the elementary emotions and desires as the average mortal. Pride in home and family in many instances outweighs the pride of worldly possessions, they demonstrate, and they have woven a brilliant and interesting story about this theme.

"Born Rich" is enacted by a notable cast of screen celebrities, including Claire Windsor, Bert Lytell, Cullen Landis, Doris Kenyon, J. Barney Sherry, Frank Morgan, Maude Turner Gordon and Jackie Ott.

POPLARITY OF NATION'S HEROES HANGS ON EASILY SNAPPED THREAD

Honor is a fragile thing, a thread taut before the eyes of the world, sustained by the favor of public regard or broken by the whim of public disdain.

The motion picture public is brought poignantly to this realization in "Trifling With Honor," the Universal-Jewel photodrama which will be shown at the Royal Theatre on Thursday.

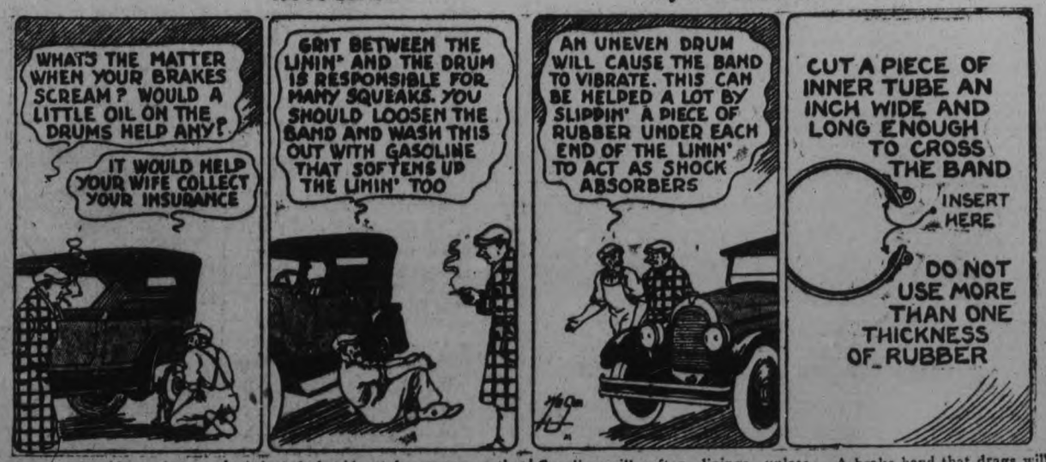
Bat Shugrue had a good name. He was the home-run king of the Pacific Coast Baseball League and a romantic hero to thousands of followers of the game. He was classed as a "regular," and he never disappointed the boys in the bleachers who cheered for him. He always "delivered," and his presence at the "plate" in a pinch meant victory for his team.

But as the wind shifts the course of a straw in its path, public opinion one day cornered Bat Shugrue, and the home-run king was brought face to face with a decision that held his life's freedom and happiness in an uncreakable clasp. To hit the ball meant the loss of all but one thing that every man holds dear—his honors and failure in this pinch to "deliver" meant his freedom, but at the loss of his good name.

It is a story filled with dramatic interest and has a human touch that is like a chapter from real life. It was written for Collier's Weekly by William Slavens McNutt, and was adapted to the screen by Frank Beresford and Raymond L. Schrock. The picture was produced at Universal City with an all-star cast under the direction of Harry Pollard. Prominent players in the cast include Rockliffe Fellowes, Buddy Messinger, Fritzi Ridgeway and Hayden Stevenson. Fellowes is ideally suited for the leading role.

AUTO SENSE

By WILLIAMSON



Don't get the idea that noisy brakes are merely objectionable to the ear and that the cause of the noise can do no harm. The brakes may be just as effective but if they scream when pressure is brought to bear on the drum it is a sign that they are not properly adjusted, or that there is foreign matter between the band and the drum. Either of these causes will result in excessive wear on the lining and gradually reduce the thickness of the drum.

The band upon which the lining is riveted should not be sprung so that any part of the lining will come in contact with the drum when the brakes are off. If both the drum and the band are true there should be no great amount of noise even if grit works into the lining.

* * *

A soft lining is more effective and is never noisy. When a lining becomes glazed it will begin to scream, and cannot get a good grip on the drum. It glazes only when it has withstood its limits of compression. Gasoline will soften linings unless they are too far gone.

* * *

Brakes work better in damp weather. Moisture softens them and at the same time causes the fabric to expand. For this reason brakes should be adjusted when dry, unless you intend to moisten the lining occasionally. Holding a brake lining over a jet o live steam or forcing steam under it while on the drums will increase its effectiveness and its life.

A brake band that drags will cause loss of power and burn out lining. If the band is properly adjusted the drum will not get hot if the brakes are not applied too often. Test for drags by running a few blocks on a level street and then touch a candle to the drum. If it leaves even a slight spot on the drum you have located a thief of power.

* * *

All linings may look somewhat alike, but that is one thing you cannot afford to economize on. Buy the best quality.

MUSIC FEATURES THE LUNCHEON OF ROTARIANS

Splendid Numbers Are Given To-day at Regular Weekly Luncheon.

THE BONNE ENTENTE.

Mayor Turner Gives His Impressions of Visit to Quebec Last Week.

Today's luncheon of the Peterboro Rotary Club was in charge of the music committee and Rotarian Douglas Carlisle; the chairman of that committee presided. The programme provided was greatly enjoyed by the Rotarians.

The musical numbers included two splendidly rendered selections, "Ye Mariners of England," and Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," by the Peterboro Four composed of Rotarians Douglas Carlisle, John Crane and R. A. Browne, and Mr M. H. Park. The stirring bass solos "Over the Border" and "The Trumpeter," by Rotarian R. A. Broune, and a most effective rendition of "Down the Vale," by Mr. M. H. Park and Rotarian Carlisle, who had to respond to a most enthusiastic encore.

The accompaniments were played by Mr. Charles Peaker, who was introduced by Rotarian John Crane as the outstanding organist in Peterboro and a young man of great promise, who was a decided acquisition to Peterboro's musical circles.

In a short address, Mr. Peaker, who was to have spoken on a subject connected with music today, but adjourned his address on account of the length of the programme, promised to give a talk to Rotary at some future luncheon on the life of John Sebastian Back, and to play some of that composer's work.

Mayor Turner, the speaker of the day, gave the club a concise and very interesting account of the Bonne Entente convention in Quebec, he which he was a delegate. Summarizing the remarks of the various speeches and emphasizing the hospitality with which the Ontario delegation had been received in Quebec and in Montreal. His Worship was sure that much good could be accomplished by such gatherings along the lines of a better understanding among the people of the two provinces and the smoothing over of any obstacles that may exist.

P.C.I. BASKETERS WIN ON SATURDAY

Both Girls' and Boys' Teams Victorious Over Cobourg Representatives.

The P.C.I. basketball teams won both their games with Cobourg Collegiate played on the Y.M.C.A. floor Saturday afternoon. The girls won the first game 30 to 6, and the boys finally nosed out the winners by the thinnest of margins, 31 to 20.

This is the second victory for the P.C.I. girls over those of the lakeshore town, having also won handily last Saturday a game played in Cobourg. The P.C.I. girls outshone their opponents defensively, the fine defensive work of Isabel Connolly and Isabel Cooper in breaking up in combination work attempted by Cobourg keeping the almost continually around the Cobourg basket. Jane MacDuffy and "Pip" Killaly made some brilliant baskets in piling up the large score.

The line-ups:

Cobourg C. I.—D. Isoes rf, D. Warmington lf, R. Rathwell sc, A. Elison c, G. Mulhall rg, R. McCollough lg.

P.C.I.—I. MacDuffy rf, Killaly lf, I. Connolly c, K. Roland sc, I. Cooper rg, T. Ackerman lg, K. McKinnon spare.

Boys' Game.

The boys' game was exciting and the play close throughout, but it was lacking in any real basketball. The Cobourg quintette clung tenaciously to their checks, and therefore any combination work was done by Cobourg.

Ecobichon led the P.C.I. pointgetters with eight, while Butler, with his long shots, was most effective for Cobourg.

Cobourg scored first, and it was four minutes before P.C.I. evened the count, when Sturgeon shot a basket. From then on P.C.I. were always out in front.

The two teams are very evenly matched in strength, and each team won their home game by one point, the P.C.I. losing in Cobourg 23 to 22.

The line-ups:

Cobourg C. I.—Steirman rf, Butler lf, Waldon c, MacDonald rg, Murray lg, Andrews, Harris and Chilton spares.

P.C.I.—Pogue rf, Sturgeon lf, McLeish c, Ebbs rg, Goheen lg, Ecobichon, Dormer, Merrell and Levine spares.

Grain and Latest Comment on Industrial Markets. — Closing Quotations on Principal Active Stocks.

GRAIN MARKET.

No new developments of importance were evident in cash grain circles on Saturday. Trade in all grains was moderate and the arrivals were ample for requirements. The cash wheat basis was unchanged all around, save on the lower grades of hard and yellow hard, which eased a cent. Corn discounts were again irregular with gains of two cents to a reduction of two cents being shown. The world situation continues strong, and it is only a matter of whether the advance in prices has offset that situation. The latest available news is that the world shortage is not over estimated. A shortage of corn is likely to develop later, but the movement now is liberal, and the cash market is far from satisfactory.

Oats are cheap com. ed with other grains but there is a tremendous supply in sight and it will take good buying to keep them up on advances.

Kitchener Aldermen May Resign In Body

KITCHENER, Feb. 2 (Canadian Press).—The resignation of members of the Kitchener City Council is now only a matter of hours, following a granting of a fiat by Judge Hearn on Saturday afternoon, allowing the service of a motion to have the aldermanic election set aside. The aldermen will be served with summonses to appear at a scrutiny on February 24 to show why they are holding their seats. Rather than incur the risk of having to pay the bills that would be passed by the council, the aldermen will likely take the easiest course and resign their seats thereby necessitating a new election and making the scrutiny unnecessary.

IN MEMORIAM.
MRS. ELIZABETH ROY.

In loving memory of my dear wife and mother, who passed away February 2, 1920.
"Gone, but not forgotten."
Deep in our hearts lies a picture of a loved one laid to rest. In memory's frame we will keep it.
Because she was one of the best, our lips cannot speak how we loved her. Our hearts cannot tell what to say. God only knows how we miss her as we journey along life's way.
—Sadly missed by Husband and Family.

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of Katie Crough, who died February 2nd, 1924:
When the sun was declining,
O'er the snow-clad hills,
When the curtains of twilight
Are pinned back by the stars,
And the beautiful moon leaps the skies—
It is then that my memory flies,
As if on the wings of some sorrowful dove,
In haste with the message it bears
Of just one year ago to-day,
A frail form on her deathbed lay.

Kind pastor and dear ones,
By her kneeling in prayer,
As the Angelus rang out solemnly,
O'er the clear frosty air,
Calling the weary world to prayer.
With the sweet words on her lips,
"Into Thy hands I commend my spirit—
Lord, receive my soul."
Faintly she sank to rest,
Bidding this lonely world adieu."

When heavenly angels are guard- the good,
As God has ordained them to do,
In answer to prayer we have offered him,
I hope there is one watching o'er her,
And its bright spirit was with her;
To guide her up heaven's bright stairs
To meet the dear little sister
Who lov' her so dearly in life,
Waiting for her in heaven,
And they together before God's throne adore.

CITY COUNCIL WILL NOT TAKE MONDAY'S JUDGMENT AS FINAL IN PROPOSED POWER INQUIRY

Appeal Decided After Report Received From R. R. Hall and Joseph Wearing.

VOTE WAS 7 TO 2

Counsel Question Court Conduct—Say Treatment Was Most Outrageous.

After hearing representations made by R. R. Hall, K.C. and City Solicitor Joseph Wearing last night, the City Council decided to appeal the decision of Mr. Justice Middleton enjoining Judge Huycke and the Council from conducting an investigation into the power accounts of the Campbell Flour Mills Company Ltd. In the course of their reports the legal advisers expressed great dissatisfaction with the treatment received at the hands of Mr. Justice Middleton, and both declared in favor of an appeal. The vote was seven to two.

Mr. Hall remarked that he had not until a few days ago had an opportunity to study the merits of the city's claim in demanding an investigation, but has since made an intensive study of it. He recounted some of the facts which he deduces that the city has an explanation due. George Ross in a sworn statement declares that he was a miller in the employ of the Campbell Flour Mills Ltd. during the period in which it is complained that power was used and not paid for. During that time, the witness swears, the mill operated substantially at capacity, only closing down for a few days in the month at the most. The mill runs as a unit, and the motors aggregating 290 horse power were utilized. Stripped of all its ambiguity, Mr. Hall said, the evidence of this witness, questioned very carefully, indicates that the mill took and used 150 or more horsepower that was not paid for. "And that is why," he declared, "this milling company do not want the investigation to proceed. If there was ever a case calling for an investigation, this is the case."

One of the strongest reasons why the city should combat the judgment, Mr. Hall said, was the inference from the decision that the City Council has no right to investigate the police commission, the school board, or other similar bodies. Section 248, he claimed, concerns the good conduct of the municipality and the council has inferred jurisdiction to inquire into the public business and the manner of spending public money. The City Council is not trying to root into the private business of the Campbell Flour Mills.

The milling company has a producing capacity of 750 barrels a day. The Hydro Electric Commission report says it takes one third of a horse power to produce a barrel of flour. Mr. Campbell said the written records of production were destroyed, but this sworn witness says the mill operated during practically all of the time at capacity. The city lost $3,000 to $4,000 in the raising of the peak load by that 150 horse power.

Urges Appeal.

Remarking that he did not know how Mr. Justice Middleton came to sit on the case, Mr. Hall said the usual course is for the plaintiff to state his case, but he was called upon first to show why the city council should not be restrained from proceeding with the inquiry. He called it "one of those peremptory police court judgments, where you are asked to show reason why you should not be sent to jail,' as it were.

The question as to future action was raised—how the city could prevent any consumer taking, wasting, or stealing power that is distributed through the public utilities. He had discussed the matter with engineers, Mr. Hall said, and was surprised to learn the ease with which power could be abstracted. A meter turned upside down will only register about one half of the power that passes through it. Then there are bridges and other methods of wiring to overcome registering. "We cannot afford to sit back," he declared, "and see an injustice of this kind

C.N.R. BOND ISSUE FOR $35,000,000

Part of Loan for Refunding and Rest for Construction Work.

SHORT TERM BONDS

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Public offering of a $35,000,000 loan for the Canadian National Railways was made today in the form of $18,000,000 five year, and $17,000,000 ten-year 4½ per cent. gold bonds, it was announced last night by Dillon, Read and Company, bankers, who head the underwriting syndicate. The short term issue will be priced at 99 7-8 to yield over 4.52 per cent. and the ten-year bonds at 97 5-8 to net over 4.80 per cent.

The present operation constitutes the first financing in the American market this year for the Canadian National system, which last year borrowed $55,000,000 here. The bonds are guaranteed by the Dominion government.

Return to Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, representing the Canadian Government, together with Major Graham A. Bell, Deputy Minister, returned to Ottawa Monday from New York where, with D. C. Grant, of Montreal, vice-president in charge of finance, Canadian National Railways, they succeeded in floating, on very advantages terms, a $35,000,000 bond issue on Canadian National Railway account.

The issue is guaranteed by the Dominion Government and carries interest at 4½ per cent. One-half of the issue runs for five years and the other half for ten. It was placed with the well-known financial house of Dillon, Read and Co., at a price well below 5 per cent. Associated with Dillon, Read and Co., in the flotation are a number of leading bankers and brokers throughout the United States.

The major portion of the issue is for refunding, and the balance will be used for branch line construction and Toronto terminals. These refunding arrangements are regarded as very satisfactory in that the new issue will carry considerable smaller interest charges than the securities which are being retired.

NEW OBSTACLES FACE CONFERENCE ON OPIUM

Various Countries Pose Reservations to U. S. Proposals.

GENEVA, Feb. 3.—Another serious crisis has arisen in the international opium conference as the result of announcements Monday among the various producing countries on the question of the cultivation of opium. India refused to accept the United States proposal that her production be limited to medical and scientific needs, while Persia, Turkey, Jugo-Slavia and Greece all entered reservations on one point or another to the proposed new convention.

The United States delegation seemed downcast after yesterday's session and there was renewed talk that it would be wise to adjourn the conference for a year in view of the difficulties in the way of obtaining results which would show any appreciable improvement over the present Hague convention on the subject.

WESTERN PARKS ARE PROFITABLE

Dominion Ethnologist Says They Yield More Revenue Than Wheat.

ATTRACT TOURISTS

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—The practices of medicine men of the Indians were not very different in some respects from those of some of the more modern healers, according to Dr. C. N. Barbeau, ethnologist, who addressed the Rotary Club here Monday. While modern practitioners and patients may be inclined to smile at the strange notions of the medicine men, Dr. Barbeau recalled the advent of Couiesm, and of Price in British Columbia, and he was not sure there was much difference.

The medicine men did at least give their patients confidence in their own vital strength as a factor in their restoration to health.

Dr. Barbeau was inclined to think that much more use might be made from a tourist point of view of the foten-pole villages of the West, as they proved a great attraction to those who knew of them.

Already some of the Western Canadian cities were adopting Indian days as a means of advertisement and attraction to visitors. Dr. Barbeau said it had been estimated that the Western parks were producing more revenue than the wheat fields. It is fortunate, he said, that a policy of conservation had been adopted in recent years. A greater interest has been created in recent years also in the past of the Indians.

PARIS CHAMBER VOTED AGAINST PAPAL EMBASSY

Division of 314 to 250 On Issue Pressed By Premier Herriot.

GOES TO SENATE

Credits for Alsace Concordat Will Be Included in Separate Budget.

PARIS, Feb. 3. — (Canadian Press).—Suppression of the French Embassy to the Vatican was voted by the Chamber of Deputies last evening, 314 to 250. It was the realization of part of the program upon which the Left groups of Radical Socialists were elected May 11, an d which Premier Herriot, refusing to accept advice from self-termed well-wishers or bitter criticism from his avowed political opponents, carried through with firm determination, "for the interest of France."

The Chamber's party lines stood out well defined, the majority following M. Herriot solidly.

The Premier pacified the opposition of the Alsace-Lorraine Deputies by giving an official undertaking that a diplomatic agent would be maintained at the Vatican to represent the recovered provinces, but he refused to accept the suggestion of Georges Leygues, former Premier, and Abbe Lemire, the latter speaking "not as a Catholic priest but as a Radical Deputy," who begged the Premier to reconsider his decision before it was too late.

The measure must be passed by the Senate before it becomes final. The vote last night was not actually obtained on the question of "suppression of the Embassy," but came upon the suppression of credits in the Foreign Affairs budget necessary to obtain a diplomatic mission to the Vatican. The credits needed for the Alsace-Lorraine representative in Rome will be included in the Alsace-Lorraine budget, instead of the Foreign Affairs budget, this technically doing away with any French representation at the Holy See.

BEER BARS FOR B.C. 'WET' SPOTS; NONE FOR 'DRYS'

Regulations Issued Monday Prohibit Brass Rails, Dancing in Beer Halls.

RELIEVE THIRST

Draught and Bottle Beer Up to 4 1-2 Per Cent. Alcohol On Sale.

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 3.—(Canadian Press). — British Columbia's new beer halls will operate from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m., there will be no bars or barmaids; dancing will be prohibited and the rules are designed to prevent any return to the "beer carabet" so prevalent in British Columbia some years ago, according to regulations announced by Attorney-General A. N. Manson, Monday.

"We have applied ourselves to the simple instruction of the Legislature. It is a straight case of relief to a parching thirst in the simplest manner possible," said Hugh Davidson, liquor commissioner.

The room will contain chairs, tables and chairs. Only young men who are British subjects and otherwise eligible to get on the voters' list can be employed. The commissioner thus hopes to head off an invasion of foreign ex-bartenders. The proprietor, likewise, must be British and eligible to vote.

No Brass Rails.

The outstanding bar and brass rail will be conspicuous by their absence, and this is expected to eliminate the system of wholesale treating in vogue in the old days.

Draught and bottled beer only will be on sale, with as high as four and one-half per cent. alcoholic content, and not lower than three per cent. will be sold.

Provision is being made for sale of beer in "wet spots" only of those electoral districts which voted for beer in the June plebiscite. Thus, whatever licenses are issued in Vancouver will be in downtown polling divisions, which voted "wet."

Twenty-three electoral districts in the province voted "wet," and seventeen voted "dry." There are no provisions in the regulations for the issue of licenses in any of the seventeen districts and there are some definitely "wet" sections in these dry areas.

$1,000 for Licenses.

Vancouver hotelmen must pay one thousand dollars each for beer licenses. It is unknown how many will be issued, estimates running from thirty to seventy.

Victoria, New Westminster and Kamloops voted against beer, so that the next class of city to obtain the class system will include Nanaimo and Fernie. They will pay $500 for license privileges. The $300 license class will include industrial towns up to 2,500 people. Then comes hamlets, whose fees will be as low as $150 a year.

BROCKVILLE FORCED TO USE STEAM AUXILIARY

St. Lawrence Water Supply at Extremely Light Flow.

BROCKVILLE, Feb. 3.—(Canadian Press.)—Due to extremely low water in the St. Lawrence river, which is barely sufficient to carry the ice over the spillways at the power plant at Cedar Rapids, Que., from which Brockville is supplied with electrical energy, the Public Utilities Commission found it necessary to generate power from steam.

Though sufficient power cannot be generated to fill the requirements, arrangements have been made with manufacturers to co-operate as far as possible in lightening the strain until normal conditions are again reached. No one can state how long conditions at Cedar Rapids will continue as at present. All the St. Lawrence system of Hydro is served from this source.

LAST DIRECTOR IN BANK TRIALS

F. J. B. Russill Became Home Bank Director in June, 1919.

END THIS WEEK

TORONTO, Feb. 3.—It is expected that the trial of F. J. B. Russill, the last of the Home Bank directors to face charges under the Bank Act, will be concluded this week. Six witnesses for the crown were examined Monday at the first session of the trial. Their evidence was all rpetition of what they had testified in previous trials.

Russill became a director of the bank in June, 1919, and is charged on three counts arising out of the annual statement for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1923.

Thos. Gibbs, assistant chief accountant, swore that he had made a verbal protest to his chief, Ocean G. Smith, that unpaid interest should not be put down as profits. Smith in the stand, denied having any recollection of these protests. E. A. Kemp, former chief inspector of the bank, said there had been no inspection of the Toronto office during his time, and Gordon L. Chapman, assistant manager of the Toronto branch, told of some of the accounts there. He admitted some of them were bad.

CRUSHED BY PLOW

C. P. R. Employee May Die of Injuries.

CARLETON PLACE, Ont., Feb. 3.—James Moulton, aged 48, a C.P.R. employee here, was seriously injured yesterday when he was crushed against the side of a snow plough in the shops.

He was engaged in doing repair work on the plough when in some manner the wing, which had been extended, closed in upon his body, crushing it badly. Little hope is held for his recovery.

MEN RESUME WORK.

Strike Affecting Royal Households Ended Monday.

LONDON, Feb. 3. — (Canadian Press).—The strike of public works office employees, which began several days ago, ended Monday when the men agreed to resume work forthwith.

London witnessed during this strike the unusual spectacle of pickets parading in front of Buckingham Palace and St. James' Palace, and voluntary labor had to be resorted to keep the services running in the Royal residences.

WANT THREE CRUISERS.

LONDON, Feb. 3—The British admiralty has asked the cabinet to authorize construction of three light cruisers to cost $10,000,000, in addition to five vessels of this type authorized by the late MacDonald government.

SUPPLY OF ANTI-TOXIN FROZEN; HEROIC TOIL TO NOME WAS VAIN

Efficacy of Diphtheria Serum to be Determined by Doctor After Thawing It.

AN ARCTIC EPIC

Relay "Mushers" Made Almost Record Time With Mercury 60 Below Zero.

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 3.—(Canadian Press).—Three hundred thousand units of diptheria anti-toxin which left Nenana, 650 miles to the east, at 11 o'clock Tuesday night, reached here at 5.30 Monday morning. It was frozen solid.

Dr. Curtis Welch, representative of the United States Public Health Service, the only physician in Nome, said that the anti-toxin would have to be thawed before he could tell whether it had retained its efficacy.

The final relay of the distance, all of which was covered by dog teams drawing sleds, carrying the twenty-pound package, was run by Gunnar Kasson.

A storm which raged over Norton Sound, on whose northern side Nome stands, abated in the night, Kasson reported.

Near Record Time.

The time made from Nenana on the Alaska Railroad whither the anti-toxin had been hurried from Anchorage, 300 miles south of Nenana to Nome, was a little under the best actual running time ever made in the Alaska derbies, formerly run on a 408 miles course from Nome to Candle City and return.

The record for this derby was made by Leonard Seppals, who, according to reports received here, drove his famous team on a relay in the last 300 miles in bringing the anti-toxin from Nenana. This record was 78 hours, 44 minutes, 57 seconds, but twenty hours and seven minutes of that time had been taken out for rest. For the actual running time this was slightly more than eight miles an hour.

Five Miles an Hour.

Not allowing for difference in longitude, the elapsed time from Nenana to Nome was 126 1-2 hours. Adding an hour for the difference in longitude gives 127 1-2 hours. For the 650 miles, estimated, that the anti-toxin travelled from Nenana to Nome, this would be more than five miles an hour.

The best run of the 650 miles was credited to Shannon, who made the first sixty miles from Nenana to Tolovana in 14 hours with the mercury sixty degrees below zero. Jim Kalland and his dogs carried it the next 65 miles to Hot Springs.

SHERBROOKE, Feb. 3.—(Canadian Press). — According to the annual report of the Eastern Townships' Immigration Society, made public Monday, 790 men have been placed on various farms throughout this district during the past year. Of this number, 319 were already naturalized Canadians who had become stranded in Montreal and were placed on farms by the society, while the remaining 471 were brought here from Europe mainly through personal correspondence. Of this number, Ireland led with 177, England was second with 99, and Scotland third with 23.

COMMITTEE FOR PROPOSED POOL

Saskatchewan Grain Growers Appoint Two Officers for Interview.

OTHER DUTIES

REGINA, Sask., Feb. 3.—George Edwards, president of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, and George Langley, vice-president, were yesterday named as a committee to interview the executive of the Saskatchewan wheat pool, with a view to securing a coarse grain pool in the province. The same two officials will also probe the trading department of the Association, and will report back to the executive on the advisabilnty of a re-organization of the department. They will also investigate the cattle pool proposal suggested at the recent annual convention.

While a committee of the Association executive will deal directly with the proposal to merge the S.G.G.A., and the Farmers' Union, the wider amalgation plan, which involves the co-operation of the S. G.G.A., United Grain Growers Limited, Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, and the three prairie wheat pools goes to the Canadian Council of Agriculture for further discussion, recommendation and possible action.

Copies of resolution, dealing with such matters as immigration, railways, tariff and Senate reform, will be sent to the Federal government, the Senate leader and others more or less directly interested.

FEW BIDS AT AUCTION

Properties of Winnipeg Packing Company on Market.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 3.—Not one of the ten valuable properties which formerly belonged to the Gordon, Ironsides and Fares Packing Company were sold when offered at public auction Monday. It is estimated that the properties are worth approximtaely $2,500,000 and that the reserve price on ten parcels was between $750,000 and $1,000,000.

Only one piece of property was bid on, this being the warehouse at Saskatoon. Eight bids were made, the highest being $20,000, which was not equal to reserve price set by the Standard Trust Company.

BLONDES FAIL IN CITIES.

Short, Dark-Haired People Do Best There, Says English Authority.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—W. J. Perry, a British authority on cultural anthropology, says that in the great urban centres, such as London, he has found that the tall blond peoples are dying out and that the race is not so much to the strong as to those who are short, dark-haired and brown-eyed.

The Nordic blond gets along all right in the country, he said, but the dark peoples thrive and multiply best in the city. They cope better with urban conditions. If this thing keeps on and England continues to become more and more urban, Mr. Perry seems to think that Alpine and Mediterranean folk will predominate in Britain as they did centuries ago.

IRISH NOT STARVING DECLARES COSGRAVE

But He Admits Distress in the West Is Acute.

DUBLIN, Feb. 3.—Both William T. Cosgrave, President of the Irish Free State Cabinet, and Eamon de Valera, the Republican leader, in statements said the talk of famine in the West of Ireland was unjustified, although the widespread distress in that section was abnormal.

President Cosgrave said that while the distress in the West was greater this year than normally, a comparison of the situation with that of 1847 was not justified, and that there was no general famine in that sense.

The counties affected are Cork, Kerry, Galway, Mayo, Donegal, Leitrim and Cavan. In places where there is a shortage of fuel in addition to crop failures the condition is serious. Those districts have long been recognized as congested, and constant relief is required, the President stated, but the problem could not be dealt with by the perennial relief measures hitherto adopted by the Government in the Land Act. The fishing industries measures handled it, but the effect would not be felt for some time.

Meanwhile, Mr. Cosgrave continued, 6,000 tons of coal are being distributed and meals provided for 18,000 children. The Government measures are being supplemented by private charities like Lady Dudley's fund, the Nurses' Association, the United Irish Women, and the Save the Children Society. The President said the Government would be glad to handle subscriptions sent in response to the appeals of these organizations.

WITNESSES TELL OF AUTO CRASH

Judgment in Civil Actions Reserved By Judge Huycke.

LAKEFIELD ROAD.

Judgment was reserved by Judge Huycke yesterday afternoon in the action for personal damages brought by Mrs. Olivine Brooks of this city against William Baker of Bowmanville, in connection with a collision in which the plaintiff was injured last October, also in the action for damages to his car brought by Michael Hickey, owner of the damaged automobile, against William Baker.

Returning from a trip to Buckhorn on October 7, 1923, the Hickey car, driven by J. McMartin, and containing as passengers Mrs. McMartin, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Brooks and M. Hickey, collided with the Baker car, driven by the owner's son, Walter Baker. Mrs. Brooks was thrown out and injured seriously enough to prevent her attendance to her household duties for several months. The collision occurred on the Lakefield Road, near Phelan's Corners.

Witnesses called by G. N. Gordon K.C., acting for the plaintiff, at yesterday afternoon's session, included Eugene Hurtubise, of the South End garage, Leo Ackford, another local garage man, and Harry Mather all of whom testified to the wrecked condition of the Hickey car after the accident.

Mrs. McMartin and her husband, James McMartin, were also on the stand. Both told of coming on to the intersection of the Lakefield road, where undergrowth (cut down the day after the accident) then obscured the vision for some yards, and perceiving the Baker car approaching at a high rate of speed Exclamations from the occupants of the Hickey car and his own perception of the danger caused McMartin he said, to apply the brakes immediately and come to a dead stop, turning the wheels in such a manner as to allow as free passage as possible to the other car.

In the defense action, the entire Baker party of six, with the exception of one young lady, were called to the stand. Walter Baker, the driver of the car, was first witness and received a warning from Judge Huycke, when it became apparent, through Mr. Gordon's cross-examination, that he had taken a false affidavit with regard to legal documents in the case, and had also been in the habit of swearing, when taking out a license, that the car was his property. The young man explained the latter procedure by saying that the Chevrolet car in question had been given by his father to his brother, but became his property in between times, when he wished to drive it. Carelessness and indifference as to the sacred nature of an oath were scored by His Honour.

Walter Baker, his brother, Sam Baker, his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Baker, all testified that their car, a McLaughlin seven-passenger, was proceeding at a moderate rate of speed. The driver only put on speed when he observed the approaching Hickey car, in an effort to allow the other automobile to fall in behind him, as he said. A touch of motherly solicitude was apparent when Sam Baker was testifying. His mother, from the body of the court, rose up to protest against Mr. Gordon's cross-examination of her son.

In formation elicited in the course of the testimony was to the effect that each of the Baker boys owns two cars.

Conflicting testimony was given by the several witnesses as to whether Walter Baker had sounded the horn before approaching the intersection.

Miss Hilda Pratt, one of the occupants of the car, suffered from lapses of memory. Most of her answers to Mr. Gordon's cross-examination consisted of "I don't know," repeated insistently.

The afternoon session was marked by occasional tilts between counsel, more or less good humoured, and the sharp replies by plaintiffs' witnesses to questions put by the defense counsel, D. A. J. Swanson, K. C., of Oshawa, who irritated the witnesses by the manner of his questioning.

John Hately of Bowmanville, a garage man who estimated repairs to the Baker car at $567 was the last witness called.

COMMUNISTS ARE NOT BIG DANGER

Caillaux Thinks Economic Interests Threaten Domination of France.

EX-PREMIER TALKS.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—(United Press).—The real danger to France is the growing influence of our economic power upon our politics, ex-Premier Joseph Caillaux, long an exile and recently restored to citizenship by a vote of the French Parliament, declared in an interview.

It was regarded as a significant pronouncement because Caillaux is expected shortly to return to political power, possibly as a Cabinet Minister. "I do not think Fascism ever can triumph in France," Caillaux said, reviewing the political situation. "Nor do I fear the Communists, many of whom merely represent discontented districts.

"The danger lies not in these extremes. It lies in not limiting the rights of our great economic interests. These must not be permitted to become the arbitrators of France's life.

JOHN R. THOMPSON SAYS RICH BOY'S CHANCES ARE LIMITED

Pity the Poor Rich Boy, Do Not Envy Him.

HAPPINESS BEST

Rich Man's Son Has Little Chance to Learn Self-Denial.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.— Don't envy the rich boy. Pity him instead.

His chances for success are limited because he hasn't learned the great lesson of self-denial.

If you are poor and made of the right stuff you'll pass the wealthy one on the road to worth-while attainment.

This, providing all things in the matter of heredity and character are as near equal as they can be.

So believes John R. Thompson, multimillionaire chain restaurant and grocery magnate, whose places of business to-day dot the continent

And significantly he is a parent, too. His body he calls "the best in the world."

"Yet," says Thompson, who 35 years ago possessed little more than a dollar and to-day thinks nothing of paying $250,000 for a famous painting, "the man who steps into another man's shoes has never learned the full value of money.

Must Learn Self-Denial.

"Success means self-denial. The rich man's son has little chance to learn this.

"Take any rich boy. He may be the finest lad that ever lived. Works hard and tries to learn a business.

"But what chance has he to succeed? How can he be taught the lesson of self-denial and the value of money?

"If he were poor he would be saving and denying himself. Because he is the son of a rich man he does a natural thing—he spends.

"In the true sense of the word conserving what another man has made is not real success. But it is a near equivalent. Success means creative work—doing the thing your self—building up from nothing.

"Poor boys need not envy rich boys. Inherited money holds back success.

Poverty inspires success. It provides the incentive—the push and go necessary for victory.

"The boy with everything needs nothing more. The boy with nothing, if he tries, can taste the fruit of victory. He can experience what the rich boy may not.'

Coffee Was Terrible.

Thompson's rise in the world of finance is one of the wonders of the past century. He came a poor young man from off a farm near Fithian, Ill., to attend the World's Fair in Chicago.

With his wife he dropped in at a tiny restaurant for breakfast.

The coffee was unusually poor. Thompson complained to the proprietor, saying: "I can make better coffee than that myself."

"Think so?" the proprietor challenged.

"Sure," Thompson shot back.

"Well, if you want to experiment you'll have to buy this restaurant."

So He Bought Place.

And that's what Thompson did. It was a shoe-string beginning and took every nickel that he had saved or could borrow to swing it.

To-day that original restaurant has developed into a chain system. You can find a Thompson restaurant in every big city of any importance any place in the country.

Thompson succeeded because he had vision. His motto has always been small profits on quality merchandise. He is ruled by the square deal.

To-day he is 58 and only recently spent $500,000 for a group of six early Italian paintings.

He is spry, kindly and is the first to work in his central offices housed in his own office buildings here.

Money has long since lost its meaning for him. It represents only success.

And that success came "because I once was poor and was urged on by the self-denial that few rich men's sons can learn," he says.

FROM WHITE HOUSE TO OLD LOG CABIN

John Collins Wright Died Alone in Fort William.

FORT WILLIAM, Feb. 3.—(Canadian Press).—Some men became Presidents of the United States who were reared in log cabins. John Collins Wright of this city was reared in White House at Washington and died a few days ago in a lonely log cabin raised by his own hands. He was aged 83 years, and alone at the time of his death.

The closing chapter in the old man's career was written yesterday when his remains were laid to rest in Riverside Cemetery, Port Arthur.

At the age of two months he was an inmate of the White House, where his parents were taken into the Presidential service. Later he came to Canada to sail on the lakes.

"Child's Eyelids Inflamed Stuck Together and Bled"

Mr. E. P. Kimball, Entwhistle, Alta., writes:

"Our little girl from birth was troubled with inflamed eyelids and in spite of several remedies, grew worse until at the age of sixteen months her eyes could not be opened after sleep without bleeding, a waxy discharge sticking the lids together and adhering with great tenacity. The child's grandmothers were consulted by mail, and both responded with a little sample box of Dr. Chase's Ointment. These were used as directed, and lasted until we could obtain a further supply from Edmonton. Improvement was very marked from the first application. The waxy discharge was easier removed and did not reappear. Inflammation subsided and has not returned."

DECLARATION OF STATUS MADE BY CAMPBELLFORD UNIONISTS

Cannot Pass the Opportunity Offered to Fulfil Scripture Teaching.

STRIKING DOCUMENT.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 3—The Unionist members and adherents of St. Andrew's church at their meeting on Sunday afternoon at half past three, which was presided over by Rev. C. F. McIntosh, with Mr. A. M. Rollo as secretary, opened with the hymn, "O, God of Bethel," reading of Psalm 121 and prayer by Dr. H. B. Longmore and Mr. P. B. Nelson.

Mr. D. W. Douglas explained that Rev. C. F. McIntosh was asked to assist in drawing up a statement of the present position of the Unionists.

At the request of the meeting this statement was then read as follows: First, we humbly declare our absolute trust in Almighty God and gladly acknowledge that our Lord Jesus Christ, the only king and head of the church, deserves the full allegiance of mind and heart.

Second—We are in fullest harmony with the testimony of the Presbyterian Church in Canada and of one of our parent churches, the Church of Scotland expressed thus: "Believing it to be the will of Christ that His disciples should be all one in the Father and in Him, that the world may believe that the Father has sent Him, recognizes the obligation to seek and to promote Union with other churches in which it finds the Word to be purely preached, the Sacraments administered according to Christ's ordinance and disciple rightly exercised." An opportunity to thus fulfil the mind of our Lord, having arisen, we dare not refuse to accept it.

Re-affirm Loyalty.

Third—We re-affirm our loyalty to the Presbyterian Church and stand behind the declaration of its highest court as it "denies the imputation that the purpose of Union is the obliteration of the Church and re-affirms the ideal that has, through the years, inspired our efforts and upheld our purpose, namely, that through Union our Church might enter into a wider life and more effective service for the kingdom." The majority of us by our ballots sanctioned this Union with its present basis. To allow inconvenience or hardship to hold us back now would be a betrayal of ourselves and of the Church to which, under God, we owe our nurture in spiritual things.

Protest Defamation.

Fourth—We desire to express the hostility of our souls towards the organized and persistent efforts to defame the leaders of our church, ministers and elders, who have promoted union.

We hereby bear witness concerning them of our trust and affection, honoring them with our words, as we continue to do in our hearts, for their Christian manhood and for their fruitful works of the spirit.

Fifth—We are convinced that anti-unionism has set its face in a direction without a future, except disappointment, restricted fruitfulness, and eventual disappearance. We have found nothing in the present anti-union movement to justify a belief that the new church to be formed out of non-concurring congregations will have a future less hopeless than that of sections of churches which in the past have refused to enter a wider fellowship and larger service.

Clear Call of Duty.

Sixth—It is with sore hearts that we contemplate the inevitable separation from our nonconcurring fellow members of St. Andrew's. We shall ever remember kindly the precious things of our past fellowship and service. We shall cherish the hallowed memories of this place of worship. Nothing but the clear call of duty and the convictions of prayerful hearts could have led us to take the course we must now pursue.

Revi wed Progress.

On motion of P. B. Nelson, Dr. H. B. Longmore was asked to review the steps leading up to the calling of this meeting. Dr. Longmore, in a very clear address explained, how having learned that a number of Unionists were considering withdrawing from St. Andrew's after the announcement of the recent vote of non-concurrence, it was arranged that the Unionists members of the session and board of managers would meet and consider unity of action. A meeting was accordingly held which faced three alternatives: first for the Unionist minority to simply ignore their conviction in the matter and remain permanently with the nonconcurring majority This was at once dismissed as unthinkable. Second, To decide to enter the United Church on June 10, 1925 with their mother church and until that date to continue worshipping as part of St. Andrew's congregation. This received some consideration but was finally considered as not in the best interests of either party.

Third.—To withdraw and make arrangements for a separate place of worship and to maintain separate finances, especially to support the missionary work of the Presbyterian church. It was agreed that the Methodist church should be approached to see whether arrangements could be made for worshipping there. The group met with the Trustee and Quarterly Board of the Methodist church on the 29th of January, and were very cordially received. At this joint meeting in the Methodist, the following resolutions were presented by the Presbyterian group as a basis of negotiation: At a meeting of the Unionist members of the Session and Board of Managers of St. Andrew's church, Campbellford, held on January 28, 1925, the following resolutions were passed: That the members of this meeting shall withdraw their membership from St. Andrew's church on June 10, 1925 and enter with the Presbyterian church in Canada, into the United Church at that date.

That after Sunday, February 1, and continuing until June 10, 1925, those members and adherents who decide to enter the United Church should worship in the Methodist church if satisfactory arrangements can be made and invite Rev. C. F. McIntosh, M.A., B.D., as soon as he is released from St. Andrew's church to undertake our pastoral oversight and to preach as frequently as may be arranged with the governing body of that church. Also that we make our own financial arrangements to provide as we may be able for our local work and for the missionary work of the Presbyterian church in Canada.

That the above members wait on the officials of the Methodist church as soon as can be arranged and present the above resolutions for their consideration.

Signed, A. M. Rollo, Secretary.

Methodists Act.

The following resolutions were passed at a joint meeting of the Trustee and Quarterly Boards of the Methodist Church, held in the school room of the church on the 29th January, 1925:

Moved by G. A. Payne, seconded by G. A. Kinpton and carried unanimously by a standing vote. That this board cordially accept the proposals on which the Unionist members of St. Andrew's Church desire to worship with us in this church, and heartily concur in having Rev. C. F. McIntosh as associate minister with M. Elliott until Church Union shall come into effect.

Moved by G. A. Payne, seconded by S. J. Abernethy and carried unanimously, That this board will conform to the requirements as set forth in Section B of the Basis of Union as soon after Church Union shall come into effect as possible, and be ruled and governed by the statutes and regulations of the United Church of Canada.

Dr. Longmore also pointed out that Mr. McIntosh, at the urgent request of the Unionists, had agreed to undertake their pastoral oversight and preaching as might be arranged, and that Mr. McIntosh had requested that the Methodist Church do not undertake any responsibility for his support, and that without any guarantee of stipend he had declared his willingness to accept any financial support that the Unionists might be able to give. Dr. Longmore also expressed a hope that the Unionists might be able to continue the support of St. Andrew's missionary at Formosa, Rev. G. A. Williams.

After the presentation of these resolutions an opportunity was given for discussion.

Declaration Adopted.

On motion of R. S. Southworth, it was unanimously agreed by a standing vote that the statement of the Unionist position as presented and the above resolutions be adopted by this meeting and that a committee be appointed to make arrangements to give them effect. It was then agreed, on motion of Mr. W. Henson, that all St. Andrew's members and adherents who are in sympathy with these arrangements be given an opportunity to declare their adherence and to pledge themselves to do their utmost to secure their fulfilment.

It was further agreed that the men of the signed list be a provisional committee and appoint a secretary and treasurer and to look after other matters. They are as follows: Elders D. W. Douglas, N. Thompson, W. J. Armstrong, H. B. Longmore, P. B. Nelson, Geo. U. Anderson. A. H. McKelvie, Managers and Trustees—A. M. Rollo, J. A. Stewart, W. Henson, J. C. Birmingham. Members—R. S. Southworth, A. Haig, E. H. Greig, J. McLean Haig, George Nelson, Robert Waddell, John L. Hay, Warrington Hay, J. E. Hay, Arthur Graham, G. A. Ironside, S. L. O'Hara, V. S., Robert W. Scott, A. J. Meyers.

Before the close of the meeting it was moved by W. J. Armstrong and seconded by A. H. McKelvie and carried with enthusiasm that a letter of appreciation be sent to the minister and official board of the Methodist Church, Campbellford, for the cordial response made to our suggestion that we confer on the possibility of making arrangements to worship together and for the generous manner with which they have furthered these arrangements by freely offering us the hospitality of their church until 10th of June 1925. It was announced at the close of the meeting that arrangements had been made for the Unionists to worship in the Methodist Church, beginning with next Sunday, February 8th., and Rev. Mr. McIntosh will be with them and preach at one of the services as arranged with Rev. W. Elliott.

If you like a porridge

If you like a hot porridge in Winter why not eat a real whole wheat porridge? Put several Shredded Wheat Biscuits in a small saucepan; add enough water to cover the bottom of the pan; add a little salt; stir and boil until it thickens, then serve with milk or cream. Not a pasty, mushy porridge. It is made of crisp shreds of baked whole wheat. Better for children than any ordinary porridge, and so easy to prepare.

CITY AND COUNTRY.

Down in Belleville they have for the last five years been carrying out a splendid plan, designed to bring rural and city residents of Hastings into a closer entente.

Each year the Hastings County Council are the guests of the Belleville City Council and Chamber of Commerce at a get-together banquet.

The result is that over one hundred representative citizens of the county and county town meet round the festive board, get acquainted with each other socially and discuss problems that are of importance to both rural and urban folk.

There is need of that kind of thing in every county in Ontario, and the Belleville plan could be followed generally with a great deal of benefit not only to particular localities but to the Province as a whole—and to the Dominion.

The city and the county, being so closely interdependent upon each other and the prosperity of one so obviously hinging upon the prosperity of the other, should know each other better, and no practical way of accomplishing this seems to suggest itself than the bonne entente dinner inaugurated in Belleville.

In Peterborough one link that holds the two sections of the county in closer relationship is the Industrial Exhibition, for the coming together of rural and city directors to discuss the welfare of the project in which they are mutually interested has had a most beneficial effect in giving each class a different understanding and appreciation of the other.

A REAL CONTRIBUTION.

That much can be accomplished by such gatherings as the "Bonne Entente" sessions in the direction of teaching Quebec and Ontario to pull together for the welfare of the whole country, is not to be denied.

But to the Examiner it seems that there should be something more substantial offered than words and good wishes.

Would it not be possible for Ontario, for example, to make a contribution toward the entente that would be received by the people of Quebec as concrete evidence of the good-will of this Province?

How about Regulation 17, that educational bug bear that has been a source of annoyance to the French-speaking residents of Ontario?

They are a unit in declaring that this regulation prevents the proper teaching of their mother tongue in their schools.

It is a source of friction and misunderstanding, and if we in Ontario really want to further the development of a genuine entente between the two Provinces we should be willing to throw this troublesome regulation overboard.

Frankly, Regulation 17 means nothing to the English-speaking residents of Ontario, and if it were scrapped tomorrow the difference would never be noticed.

It means much to the French-Canadians, however, and if we are sincere in our protestations in regard to the building up fo closer relations with Quebec we will gladly make this contribution to the cause.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

So far as the present unemployment crisis is concerned, the legislative programme of organized labour in Canada as presented in an interview between the Federal Cabinet and representatives of the Trades and Labour Council is disappointing inasmuch as it dealt largely with matters that are of no great importance.

True, Government insurance against unemployment was urged, but there was apparently nothing that suggested that the Federal Government should endeavour to relieve the present crisis by seeing to it that Canadian industries suffering unduly from foreign competition should be given a chance to get on their feet again.

One important point raised, however, was that of the immigration of industrial workers.

Organized labour in Canada has a right to view such immigration with alarm.

When thousands of Canadian workers in the cities are unable to find employment and many others are working short hours, the Government should be extremely careful in regard to the type of immigrant that is encouraged to come to Canada.

It is unfortunately true that no matter in what guise they came some of the immigrants who have arrived in Canada during the past year have either landed in the breadline themselves or have forced some Canadian worker into it.

THE HEALTH ASSOCIATION.

The annual reports of the activities of the Peterborough Health Association as published in the Examiner contain such a striking record of good work accomplished during 1924 that it is to be hoped that the citizens generally have read every line of them.

The sections dealing with the Jackson Park camp and with the activities of the association's nurses are particularly impressive in the light they throw upon the Health Association as a community asset of the greatest importance.

The nurses made no fewer than 2,036 calls during the year.

In sixty-three obstetrical cases the mother was taken care of until convalescent, and much of the care of the new-born babe was also looked after—a service of great value.

Tubercular and cancerous patients were visited systematically and with good results, and throughout the year the nursing service of the Health Association has many times over justified the general support for its work.

The Jackson Park camp report shows that the association was able to give more than 200 children a chance to win their way to better health, and this at a cost of under $600 for the summer, an evidence of good financing and careful management.

To the members and directors of the Health Association the thanks of the community should be gratefully extended for a year crowded with good works on behalf of suffering humanity.

COLOSSAL IMPERTINENCE.

Reports indicate that the communist party of Canada has had a "military or enlistment week for the party and the league of communist youths," and the following has been given as the official reason for the movement:

"During our existence as a communist party we sowed many seeds, and must now begin to build a real revolutionary strength in Canada, to be there 'when the time comes.' Revolutions are not unusual incidents. There must be an objective, plan and organization. Lenin taught that Bolshevik parties create and form themselves in daily struggles. Strong will and an objective are imperative in order to lift the working classes."

The communists in Canada state plainly here what they have in mind, says the London Advertiser. They desire to enlist the young mind in their movement, they want to build a body that will be capable of securing by force what they cannot secure in any other way.

Canada has certain parliamentary institutions, and it is through these that people have worked when they desired to bring about a change in conditions or government. That is the way we have done things in the past, and that is the way we shall do things in the future as long as these institutions stand.

There is no desire to deny to the communists freedom of speech or action in Canada, but they must fight according to the accepted rules of the game. If they come out in the open and convince, by means of argument or appeal, a sufficient number of people that they are right, then they will find the door open to go in and take possession of our parliaments and make the laws they desire.

If, on the other hand, they seek to build up a force that is prepared to strike" when the time comes" in order to bring about a revolution that defies law, and that would blast parliamentary institutions and all they stand for, then the communists are taking a course that this country cannot tolerate, and which it is colossal impertinence to imagine that it would.

PULLING TOGETHER.

Co-operation, patriotism in its loftiest sense, tolerance and appreciation of each other's problems; the development of the English and French races side by side, the free expression of the diverse culture of both races, and the determination of all to put forward every effort for the advancement of their common country—these were among the many splendid ideals enunciated in Quebec City and Montreal this week on the occasion of another epochal gathering of several hundred of the most prominent citizens of the two great Provinces—Quebec and Ontario. They found expression in many happy speeches uttered by leaders of various schools of thought. They came from representatives of the Crown, heads of the great political parties, leading churchmen and outstanding business and professional men. They formed another striking evidence of inter-Provincial amity and good will, another strengthening of the "Bonne Entente" which should mean so much to the future of this magnificent country of ours.

The reception tendered the Ontario delegates in the ancient capital of Quebec left nothing to be desired. The hospitality for which French Canada has always been noted was never more pronounced. No welcome could have been friendlier. No expressions of friendship and regard could have been warmer or more sincere. It was a delightful gathering, a wonderful drawing together in the bonds of mutual sympathy and respect. Out of it nothing but good can come. Forgotten were the petty differences of the past; remembered was the need of co-operation and neighborliness and the realization that, working hand in hand, the two great races of the Dominion may push forward to achievements, even greater than the splendid accomplishments of the past.

Visitors to Canada sometimes marvel at the ease with which the affairs of this country are handled despite the fact that the two largest Provinces represent a diversity of language and customs. It may seem remarkable to outsiders, but to us there appears nothing strange or unusual in the situation, because we have always been used to it. And perhaps one of the explanations may be found in the fact that Canada, the country, is bigger than any racial consideration. We think of ourselves as Canadians rather than as English-Canadians or French-Canadians. Our country is led by two races, but that is only a circumstance. The big thing is Canada!

There have been discords in the past, but such gatherings as those staged in Quebec City and Montreal should prevent them in future by providing for greater understanding and closer relations. After all, most human differences arise from misunderstanding. We do not always appreciate the problems and viewpoints of the other man, for the very good reason that we have not taken the trouble to familiarize ourselves with them. That is why the "Bonne Entente" is such a splendid thing for Canada. It brings the two great Provinces together and thus serves to sweep away many wrong impressions and to reveal each Province to the other as it really is.

Canadian unity is the ideal for which we must always strive. In no country in the world is it more important than in Canada, for the reason that this vast land represents such a tremendous diversity of culture location and interests. Not only is there the distinction of language, but by the very extent of area, conditions are bound to be widely varied. Just now, for instance, the Maritime Provinces are conducting a nation-wide campaign for greater recognition of Maritime rights. The Provinces down by the sea, more or less separated from the rest of Canada, feel that they have not been well treated, especially in respect of the use of their ports for the shipment of goods in and out of Canada. To this end they are sending their representatives up and down the country, detailing the situation in the Maritimes and asking for the sympathetic co-operation of other parts of Canada. The cordial reception given their spokesmen everywhere speaks volumes for Canadian national spirit and the ever-present desire of Canadians to stand together.—Border Cities Star.

A THOUGHT.

TURNING THEM IN

Reporting the impudent conductor, writing to the management about the careless waiter, "turning in" an inefficient employee, is not an uncommon practice, but is this procedure always fair?

The tin god of heathen mythology knows there are too many of the impudent, careless and indifferent. We all know this, but is it always best to "turn them in?"

The conductor may have children to support, the waiter may have a sick wife to care for, the employee may need the job badly, the trying-hard manager may need a rest from so many reports.

My experience is this: Firmly explain to the employee what you expect in the way of Service, then if you fail to get this Service, there is plenty of time to get action.

Any coward can "turn in" an employee, but it takes a brave man to stand up and demand service.

The kindest act that you can possibly do for an employee's dependents is to stand up and insist, face to face, that the employee do the right thing then and there.

During the course of several years I have only "turned in" one man, and this experience turned out to be most troublesome for me. On investigation I found that the man's family was in actual want and it took me three weeks to secure him another job, besides the cost in cash that was necessary to feed three hungry children; but when I did get this careless cuss another job, I took two hours off and gave him static, which was the kindest act of my life.—The Silent Partner.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, Feb. 2.—Steers were bought from $7.00 to $8.25 a cwt.; heifers cost $6.75 and cows $5 to $8 a cwt. There was a scarcity of good to choice butchers and these were eagerly sought after. For one load of handyweights the Canadian Packing Company paid $7.50 a cwt., and Frank Hunnisett paid $6.90 a cwt. for another load. These prices were figured to be 10 to 15 cents a cwt. higher than the best prices paid a week ago.

Poor and medium quality butchers were a very slow movement, but prices were no easier.

Butchers' cows and bulls were steady to firm and two good butchers' bulls brought $5.75 a cwt. For five choice baby beeves $10 a cwt. was paid. Others sold at $8.25 and $8.50. For the best load of export steers in the market Rogers & Maybee were bidding $8.35 a cwt. Most of the good butchers' cattle had been disposed of up till noon and the lower grades will be gone through later.

The calf market was fully steady but there was no disposition to add to the advances made last week. Top calves were 13 to 13½ cents; good mediums 11 to 11.50 and common and heavy calves 7 to 9 cents.

The lamb market is not too snappy, but the choice light lamb was wanted and one deck of these sold at 15 3-4 cents a pound. Other light lambs brought 14½ cents up. Heavy lambs were about 2 cents below these prices. Choice butchers sheep were scarce.

The packers have again set their bids down 25 cents a cwt. on hogs at $10.25 a cwt. f.o.b. A good deal of the morning was spent in grading but no sellers could be found who had accepted the lowest bid. The market in the country is said to range higher than here.

SOLUTION OF YESTERDAY'S CROSSWORD PUZZLE.

Canada's Railways Must Have a Living Profit

CANADA'S future development depends upon the ability of her railways to live.

If the railways can operate at profits sufficient to pay operating, maintenance and capital charges, leaving a fair amount for reserves and dividends, they will be enabled to maintain the position, stability and prosperity which have done so much to attract capital and immigration to Canada.

For years the success of the Canadian Pacific has been the barometer by which conditions have been measured in Canada and its success has been a magnet attracting to Canada hundreds of millions of dollars for investment in land, industries, mining, timber and fisheries.

Canadian Pacific success has been the biggest factor in peopling the west and bringing its production to a volume undreamed of twenty-five years ago.

But, if rates on the traffic of Canadian railways are reduced below the level of profit—if capital carrying charges cannot be met, if money for maintenance and improvement of existing lines is not available, if new necessary extensions cannot be undertaken, Canada would face a real crisis.

No greater catastrophe could overtake Canada than the weakening of the present strong position of the Canadian Pacific Railway. If conditions were set up which would impair the Company's position or the confidence of the investing public, incalculable damage would result to the country.

Canada must face this issue fairly and squarely. It would be supreme folly to cast away the bone of railway stability for the shadow of illusive advantages in low and unprofitable freight rates.

Canada and the Canadian Pacific Railway must continue to work together in a spirit of co-operation for the development and prosperity of all Canada.

Canadian Pacific management, financial policies, and the experience of forty years have given Canada not only the world's premier transportation system, but the lowest freight rates in the world.

Canada in the past has shown its confidence in the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian Pacific has honestly endeavored to merit that confidence by giving the Canadian public efficient service at low cost.

Unhampered in its operation, the Canadian Pacific will be enabled to continue those policies which have done so much for the advancement of Canada.

LOSE WEIGHT

One-half grapefruit, 1 cup navy bean soup, combination cabbage salad (1 cup), 1 broiled lamb chop, 2 tablespoons diced carrots, 2 tablespoons canned strawberries, 2 small nut cookies, 1 pint buttermilk, 4 thin pieces gluten toast, 1 gluten roll, 1 scant tablespoon butter.

Totale alories, 1049. Poterin, 206; fat, 306; carbohydrate, 537. Iron, .0212 gram.

Diet Bean Soup.

When the beans are thoroughly cooked and tender rub through a puree strainer.

To three-quarters cup bean puree add one-quarter cup boiling water and one teaspoon freshly tried-out bacon fat. Bring to the boiling point and add one teaspoon chili sauce or catsup. Stir well and serve very hot.

As the beans themselves are lacking in fat they will absorb the bacon fat and you need not worry about its adding many ounces to your weight.

The cabbage salad is seasoned with lemon juice and no oil.

The butter is planned for the carrots and the roll.

GAIN WEIGHT

One-half grapefruit, 2 slices broiled bacon, 1 fried egg, 1 cup navy bean cream soup, 4 tablespoons creamed salmon on toast, 1 cup combination cabbage salad, 1 breaded veal cutlet, 2 tablesopons creamed potatoes, 2 tablespoons diced buttered carrots, 1-6 lemon meringue pie, 1 tablespoon grape preserves, 2 toasted corn muffins, 2 slices brown bread, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon sugar, 4 tablespoons cream dressing for cabbage, 2 Parker House rolls, 1 pint whole milk, 2 tablespoons canned strawberries, 4 small nut cookies.

Total calories, 3521. Protein, 418; fat, 1514; carbohydrate, 1589. Iron, .0183 gram.

Since lamb is usually higher in price than veal, if economy is any object it's well worth while serving the family with the cheaper meat which is considered a "fat producing" viand.

If the egg is carefully fried it is not as indigestible as we have learned to believe it. When the fat is hot carefully slip the egg into the spider, reduce the heat and cover. The steam helps cook the egg and makes it the delectable pink over the yolk.

The sugar is planned for the grapefruit and the preserves to accompany the toasted muffins.

COMPOUND FRACTURES

Much More Dangerous Than Simple Breaks—Need More Care.

"I am pleased to see that it is not a compound fracture," the doctor said, as he examined little Johnnie's broken leg.

Johnnie is one of the youngsters of Mrs. Mann's neighbor.

"You see a compound fracture is where the broken bone sticks out through the skin," he explained as he prepared the splints.

"They are much more painful and make a more serious wound than a simple fracture."

Next to the flesh the doctor placed some layers of old cloth, and then on each side of the limb he placed the splints.

He bound them tight with a strong cloth.

"In a simple fracture it is necessary only to put the limb in splints," he said.

"But it will be some time before Johnnie will be able to walk again. And be sure to keep him quiet, so the bones can knit together," he advised the mother.

"If the bones knit properly in after years it will be difficult to distinguish the injured leg from the other one."

DOWNEYVILLE FARMER HEARD HOWLING OF WOLVES ON DRIVE TO HUNTSVILLE

John Lynch and Son Were Four Days on the Road. SOLD HIS HORSES

DOWNEYVILLE, Feb. 3.— Mr. John Lynch and son purchased two fine horses, one from Mr. Jos. M. Lucas and the other from Thos. Flynn and drove them to Huntsville, where he disposed of them. The drive there was a long and tedious one, taking them four days to make the trip. They could hear the wolves howling and the forest was so dense they had to lie down on their sleigh to get through the branches and let the horses get through as best they could. The horses failed in flesh after such a drive. Mr. Lynch would not drive it again. He purchased two more horses Saturday, a Percheron team of greys, one from Mr. Michael Clancy and one from Mr. Patrick Duffy, to take back to Huntsville, where he sold them. He loaded them on the train and left on Monday, returning on Thursday.

Euchre Party.

A social and dance was held in the Hall on Friday night, but the crowd was not as large as usual owing to the terribly cold weather and bad roads. Progressive euchre was played till midnight, when a dainty lunch was served by the ladies, after which dancing was indulged in for a few hours. The prizes for cards was won by Mrs. Geo. O'Donnell, ladies' prize, a silver spoon, and Wm. Flynn, Jr., gentleman's, a safety razor. The music during the evening was furnished by Messrs. T. J. Morrissey, Jos. Peggott and Chas. S. Lucas, violins, with the Misses Pearl Herlihey and Carmelita Morrissey at the piano.

Mrs. Alice Goselin, who has been soriously ill for the past few weeks, is somewhat improved.

Miss Phyllis Meehan is at present the guest of her uncle, Mr. Albert Ryan in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch were business visitors to Lindsay Saturday.

On Monday evening there was a meeting of the young men of the parish in the hall for the purpose of establishing a skating rink, which will be looked forward to by the young people with interest.

Mr. Ed. C. Hoolihan sold a valuable horse last week in Lindsay.

The Misses Mary and Marguerite O'Connell of Lindsay spent the week end at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis M. O'Leary had a few friends and neighbors at their home for tea in honor of the first birthday of their son and a pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

Mr. Philip Carroll of Rochester, N.Y., is at present the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Carroll.

Mr. Patrick Harrington lost a horse last week which was only sick a short time and was dead when the veterinary arrived.

The Misses Mary O'Connell, Catharine and Eileen Hoolihan spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Scully.

LAKEFIELD'S FIREMEN 14 HOURS AT HILL-FIRE

Remained on Duty as Faithfully as a Paid Brigade.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 2.—Fourteen hours on duty was the record of the Lakefield Volunteer Fire Brigade on Friday night and Saturday morning at the fire which destroyed A. V. Hill's store. In spite of the bitter cold they remained on duty as faithfully as any paid city brigade and gave an efficient service. Lakefield is to be congratulated on its brigade which only left the scene of the fire at 10.30 a.m. Saturday.

Arrangements are being made to assist the families who lost their household effects and their clothing in the fire.

Wood Loads Upset.

Wood is coming into the village in large quantities at present and the demand continues to keep pace with the supply. Several farmers have had the bad luck to upset in the drifted roads and the task of restoring the wood to its place on the sleighs is no light one.

Harvesting Ice.

The ice harvest is in full swing and Mr. W. J. Webster and his gang of men are busily engaged filling the ice houses. The ice is good as the lake had frozen before the snow came and there is no complaint as to lack of sufficient frost.

The roads are impassable for motors and traffic to and from Peterboro and through the country is entirely by means of horses and sleighs.

"BELL PANTS" TO GO.

Styles for Men's Spring Suits Are Announced.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 3.—Flapping extremely wide trousers are obsolete, according to the spring style edict announced here at the annual convention of the National Association of Merchant Tailors.

Spring suits must conform to this style:—

Wedge shaped coats, tighter about the hips, cut away in front and growing larger as they reach the shoulders.

Trousers a trifle narrower, worn well down on the shoe, with knee measurements of about 10 1-2 inches and bottom measurements of about 17 1-2 inches.

Vests possessing a forward slant, with points of modest size.

Grays running from silver to smoke predominate among colors, with a large sprinkling of fawns and tans.

CITY COUNCIL

done and the city deprived of $10,000 or more."

Turning to the Utilities Commission, Mr. Hall said the promised assistance had not been forthcoming. He asked for the original contract between the Commission and Campbell Flour Mills Ltd. but they would not give it to him. They would not even entrust it to Mr. Wearing to be produced in court yesterday under his care, but sent their special delegate, Mr. Henderson, to Toronto with it.

"Why all this caution?" he asked. "Mr. Robinson was there representing the Utilities Commission. He was not there to help us. He was there to put the blocks under the city."

The effect of the judgment is to make the city council a rubber stamp for the work of these other bodies; it cannot inquire into misappropriation of funds, or wastage by the school board, the police commission or the utilities commission. In fact, Mr. Hall said, under this judgment if the city council charged that power was stolen it has no right to investigate.

Outrageous Treatment.

City Solicitor Joseph Wearing said he considered the city had been treated in a most outrageous manner in the hearing yesterday. It was a curious coincidence that the man who sat on the case was the only man who has ever stopped an investigation. He gave as much attention to this important case as is given to a $10 action in division court.

Aldermen Crowe, Fife, Greene and Myers spoke briefly in support of the appeal, all touching on the importance of the issue looking to the future. Alderman Phelan made another effort to halt action, but his amendment, seconded by Alderman Stocker, was snowed under while Alderman Fife's motion, seconded by Alderman Greene, went through with flying colors.

Alderman Phelan, as usual called for the yeas and nays, with the following result:

Yea	Nay
Jones	Phelan
Fife	Stocker
Meyers
McIntyre
Crowe
Greene
Denne
The Mayor

Absent: Turner.

The Union of Canadian Municipalities and the Canadian Municipal Association will be asked to assist in fighting what the Peterboro Council believes to be a vital issue to every municipality. This is on suggestion of Alderman Crowe.

EGG PRICES.

OTTAWA, Feb. 2. — (Canadian Press).—Prices are easier at Ontario country points and shippers report paying, extras 52 to 55, firsts 42 to 47, seconds 35, and making sales of extras 58 to 60, firsts 50 to 55, seconds 40. Storage market continues firm. A car of British Columbia fresh and a car of Chinese fresh are expected to arrive at Winnipeg this week.

Toronto and Montreal unchanged. Winnipeg dealers quoting delivered extras 58, firsts 53, seconds 35.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2. — (Canadian Press). — World shipments larger than expected led to increased selling of wheat to-day and the market here suddenly fell as low at $1.99 a bushel, after having sustained itself above $2 since Wednesday last. Closing prices on wheat were weak at 1 7-8 to 3¼ net decline, May 1.99½ to 1.99 5-8, and July 1.68 5-8 to 1.68 3-4, with corn unchanged to ¼ off oats ¼ to 5-8 down, and provisions varying from 15 cents drop to a gain of 2 cents.

A break of 6 3-4 cents in wheat prices at Winnipeg had considerable to do with accelerating the downward tendency of the Chicago market. Before this break took place, however, it was known that world shipments had exceeded 19,000,000 bushels last week, that the amount of wheat on ocean passage had increased nearly 7,000,000 bushels and that European demand for wheat from the United States had apparently flattened out for at least the time being. Under such circumstances, numerous orders to sell at certain definite limits so as to stop losses were brought into play and the descent to below $2 a bushel quickly ensued.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—(Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here to-day as follows:

Sterling demand, $4.78 7-8.

Sterling cables, $4.79¼.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—(Canadian Press). — The export trade in all lines of Canadian grain here to-day was dull, there being practically no demand from foreign buyers owing to the erratic state of the markets here and the wild fluctuations in prices. The domestic business in coarse grains was also slow and the tone of the market was easier and prices for oats were reduced 1 cent per bushel.

A weaker feeling developed in the spring wheat flour market and prices scored a decline of 30 cents per barrel, which is the first change in this direction for over a month. Prices were fully maintained for winter wheat grades.

A fair amount of business was transacted in millfeed and the tone was firm. The demand for rolled oats was steady.

There was no change in the condition of the egg market, prices were steady and the volume of business fair. Extreme dullness marked the trade in butter, but the undertone was steady. The tone of the cheese market was firm, with No. 1 fodder-made goods quoted at 20¼ to 20½ per pound, and No. 2 grade at 19¼ to 19½ cents per pound.

The trade in crop beans was fair and prices were steady at $2.90 per bushel.

SEEK VARIETY

Yoke arrangement and slashed skirts are being advanced in an effort to bring variety in the spring styles and give some alternative from the chemise type of gown.

SNOWDRIFTS BLOCK ROADS TO CHURCHES

Rev. M. B. Williams Unable To Reach Home on Saturday.

CAVAN, February 2. — The roads have been very heavy all week but on Friday in many places they were dug out. However the wind got up on Friday and again on Saturday so that by Sunday there were only some roads at all passable.

St. John's Church, Ida, and Christ's Church, Bailieboro, had no services, the clergymen from Millbrook, being unable to get through.

Rev. R. T. Richards delivered a remarkably good sermon on "Excess Baggage" on Sunday evening. On account of the state of the roads the congregation was not large. Those of the congregation who were not able to get out were very sorry at not having the privilege of listening to the sermon.

Rev. M. B. Williams when returning from Ida on Saturday evening, found the road blocked just south of Mr. L. Hutchison's on the middle road and had to spend the night in their home.

Miss O. Gow of Peterboro, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gow.

Mr. F. Mitchell is visiting friends at Omemee.

Mr. Clifford Carr, of Detroit, is home for a vacation, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Carr.

A social evening was given in the basement of the church, on Friday evening, for the young people of the community. Unfortunately the roads made it impossible for some to attend, but those who were able to do so enjoyed a very pleasant time.

Rev. R. T. and Mrs. Richards provided the entertainment and it was a success.

Much merriment was caused by the different contests and the group singing. There was an abundance of "good eats" provided.

The Ladies' Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. J. Swain on Thursday afternoon.

Miss E. Preston spent the week-end at her home, Lakefield.

The dance in the community hall, Cavan, on Thursday evening, provided a pleasant evening. The attendance was not large.

HEART TROUBLE SHORTNESS OF BREATH

Mrs. Geo. E. Bowman, Morrisburg, Ont., writes:—"I am writing you a few lines to let you know of my experience with Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Two years ago I became very poorly with my heart and nerves and whenever I took the least little bit of exercise my heart would start to jump and flutter. I could not walk up-stairs without having to sit down and rest before I was half-way up, on account of my breath becoming so short.

I commenced taking

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

and in no time I felt a great improvement, and can now heartily recommend them to all those who are troubled with any affection of the heart."

H. & N. Pills are for sale at all drug and general stores; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

DISCUSSION OF FREIGHT RATES

Report of Industrial Traffic League of U. S. Applies Here, Say Traffic Men.

STATUTORY RATES.

OTTAWA, Feb. 3. — In view of the freight rate agitation in Canada and recent statements by Premier King that transportation questions would receive considerable attention by Parliament during the coming session, copies of a resolution by the National Industrial Traffic League of the United States, which have been received here, are of timely interest. Practically the same situation in regard to freight rates exists in the republic as in Canada at the present.

In the States the railways are regulated by the Interstate Commerce Commission, but a committee of congress proposes, by legislative enactment, to make a general rate practically putting a period to the operation of the commission.

Something of unlike this demand is being agitated in Canada, certain political sections demanding that the whole structure of freight rates be deal with by Parliament, and on the basis of a system of equalization.

The National Industrial Traffic League is an organization of traffic managers of industrial concerns throughout the United States.

Through them all matters relating to rates and railways in which their companies may be interested, are handled. These men represent the shippers of the United States exclusively. There is no membership of railway men nor any kind of railway representation in their organization. They speak for shippers only. So that their resolution will be a matter of great interest to shippers and the public generally in Canada.

This is what the League has to say in regard to statutory rate making and congressional interference with the Interstate Commerce Commission:—

"The National Industrial Traffic League is unalterably opposed to statutory rate-making, or congressional interference with the freight rate structure of the country. It is likewise opposed to any effort on the part of other branches of the government to compel a wholesale revision of freight rates.

"The freight rate structure has been developed gradually through natural economic processes, and through findings and orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission. This development is still going on through these proper channels and maladustments in rates are being ironed out in harmony with sound economic principles. Violent or sweeping general changes in rates have generally been, and should always be avoided. Attempts to pursue such methods are fraught with grave danger to business and agricultural interests. Better results can be, and are being, secured by the Commission, in adjudicating individual complaints, the investigating, from time to time, on the rates upon particular commodities or in particular sections."

What the National Industrial Traffic League of the United States says on this subject, traffic authorities in Canada claim is directly applicable to the situation in Canada today.

VAIN SEARCH FOR REALY FUNNY MAN

A Fortune Awaits the Right Personality—Scout Searches Scotland.

LONDON, Feb. 3. — The most-sought-after man in town to-day is Mr. Harry Mendorf, chief scout of the Keith Vaudeville Circuit, which controls about 300 theatres in America, who has arrived in London with the object of finding a funny man, for whim he tells me he will pay "any salary."

His special object is to find a funny Scot, a sort of second Harry Lauder, who will catch on in the States.

Mr. Mendorf stated that he may make a round of the Scottish halls to secure his man, and that a fortune awaits the right personality.

Queues of alleged funny people have been besieging the Savoy Hotel doors, but Mr. Mendorf believes he is far more likely to find the man he seeks in the small halls near the Scottish colliery centres than among the amateurs who have already applied.

Mr. Mendorf's quest is world-wide. He has twenty-nine countries to visit after he leaves these shores.

MILLBROOK PIONEER HAS PASSED AWAY

Mrs. Archibald Wood Came to District in 1844.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 3.—The late Mrs. Archibald Wood, who passed away following a lingering illness on Wednesday, January 28, in her 82nd year, was born at Keswick, England, on December 10, 1843, her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor, coming to Canada when she was scarcely one year old.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were among the pioneer settlers of Millbrook, choosing this as their place of residence upon arrival from the old country, and were always regarded as highly respected citizens. Mr. Taylor, who in his late years gave up his business to take the position of local G.T.R. agent, was an elder in the Presbyterian church, and for several years occupied the office of precentor. The frame church in the cemetery at the top of Dawson's hill and afterward the red brick church on Tupper street, since destroyed by fire, were in use during his time.

The late Mrs. Wood, whose maiden name was Susannah Taylor, was the last surviving member of her family, two brothers, William and John, and one sister, Mrs. Montgomery, having predeceased her.

Previous to her marriage, which took place in 1866, Mrs. Wood was the teacher at Whitfield's school north of the village, her husband, the late Archibald Wood, having also taught school at Fairmount. Later he removed to Millbrook where he was prominent first in the business firm of Wood & Kells, and afterward in the private banking business under the same firm name.

Identified with St. Thomas' church after her marriage, deceased gave to it continuously loyal support, and, as long as health permitted, a devoted service. In the early years of her married life she taught in the Sunday School, of which her husband was for some time superintendent, was an active member of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary up to the time of her last illness, and a member of the executive committe of the church. Though in failing health, Mrs. Wood was able to attend communion service on Christmas day, but since that time an increasing weakness,, accompanied by intense suffering marked the passing weeks until the final relef came.

The immediate surviving relatives are one son, Reeve W. T. Wood, Millbrook, and four daughters, Mrs. A. B. Lefroy, Toronto, Mrs. (Dr.) B. C. Whyte, Battle Creek, Mich., Mrs. (Rev.) Alexander Allen, Oaklands, Cal., and Miss. Margaret, at home. One daughter died in infancy, and two sons, Harry M. and Walter predeceased their mother. There are seven grandchildren.

The funeral took place from St. Thomas church an Friday January 30, the rector, Rev. Canon Allen, assisted by the curate, Rev. M. Williams, having charge of the services. The community's respect,, and sincere sympathy was evidenced by the large number of citizens who were present.

The pall-bearers were; Dr. G. H. Needler, and Mr. R. H. Kells, of Toronto; Dr. H. A. Turner, Messrs, A. A. Smith, G. Fowler, and H. B. Allen, Millbrook.

Many beautiful floral trlbutes were laid upon the casket.

Among those from outside points who attended the funeral were Mr. R. Fair, Peterboro; Mrs E. Gregory, and son, Lindsay; Mrs. (Dr.) Brand Dr. G. H. Needler, Mr. R. H. Kells, Mrs. A. B. Lefroy and her son, Mr. Eric of Toronto.

BEECHAM'S PILLS Safest and best family medicine

Says She Suffered For Seven Years

Then Dodd's Kidney Pills Relieved Her of Her Troubles.

Mrs. Nellie Bagan found no relief in her Hospital treatment, but Dodd's Kidney Pills brought speedy relief.

Gilbert Plains, Man. Feb. 2.—(Special).— "I have been using Dodd's Kidney Pills at different times and must say that they are the best for those who suffer from kidney trouble. I had a lot of trouble for 7 years and I was in hospital for quite a while, but it did not do me much good. I feel quite different now since I have been taking Dodd's Kidney Pills. I would advise every man and woman who has a trobble from head to knee to try them." This statement comes from Mrs. N. Bagan, a well-known resident here.

Dodd's Kidney Pills as a tonic and family medicine are without an equal. When you feel tired and run down the chances are ten to one that your kidneys are at fault.

When the kidneys become clogged or out of order, the circulation becomes sluggish, the impurities are not strained out of the blood, and the result is weariness and lack of energy all over the body. Give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial and see for yourself.

Every new school is a memorial to the future.

HOCKEY GAME

BETHANY, Feb. 3.—Mr. W. McMaster had the misfortune of having his house and contents destroyed by fire on Thursday evening. Mr. McMaster was engaged in watering cattle a short distance away, while his wife was in the barn. On returning with the stock Mr. McMaster noticed smoke coming from the house and immediately rushed to rescue it, but on trying to gain admittance, he was driven back by the flames as the interior had been burning for some time. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Bethany Won Game.

A strenuous game of hockey was played on the local rink on Friday afternoon between Nestleton and Bethany, the Bethany team winning by the one-sided score of 16 to 5. The score does not indicate the play as Nestleton had some fair players and their goalie, who practically remained on both knees for the entire game, was unable to stop the shots.

This is accomplished by combating a viscous film that covers teeth. A stubborn, hard to remove film that old type dentifrices do not fight successfully.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you can feel this film. Under it are the clear, attractive teeth you envy in others. Combat it, and your teeth become many shades whiter—more glistening. This offers you a 10-day test free. Mail the coupon.

The great enemy of teeth

Film is the great enemy of teeth beauty. And a chief cause, according to world's dental authorities, of most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs by the millions breed in it. They, with tartar, are the common cause of pyorrhea. It holds food in contact with teeth, inviting the acid that causes decay.

You can't have prettier, whiter teeth; you can't have healthier teeth unless you combat that film.

Ask your druggist or mail the coupon for Pepsodent. Don't expect the same results from old time dentifrices. Begin beautifying your teeth today.

MONTREAL JEWS CLAIM EQUALITY ON PROTESTANT SCHOOL BOARDS

Question is Referred to Quebec Court of Appeal After Commission Failed.

LAWYERS DISAGREE

Eugene Lafleur and Wallace Nesbitt Give Opposite Opinions.

QUEBEC, Feb. 3.—The court of appeal of the provinces of Quebec will be asked by the Department of the Attorney-General to decide as to the questions at issue, and legally be tween the Jews and Protestants of Montreal in the matter of schools.

The special commission which studied the matter did not agree as to the constitutionality of the act of 1903, which declares Jews to be Protestants for school purposes. EugeneLafleur, K.C., was consulted by three Protestant members of the commission viz, Sir Arthur Currie, E. W. Beatty and Walter Mitchell, and Wallace Nesbitt, of Toronto, was consulted on the same matters by the three Jewish members namely S. W. Cohen, Michael Hirsch, and Ald. Jos. Schubert. The lawyers gave contrary opinions hence the appeal to the Court of Appeal and ultimately in all probability to the Privy Council.

List of Questions

The questions asked the two lawyers and now to be carried to Court of Appeal, probably in a special term to be called for the purpose are as follows:

1—Does the Statute of Quebec, 1903, Chapter 16N permit the appointment of Jews to the Protestant Board of School Commissioners

2.—If the above question is answer edw in the affirmative, is the said statute to that extent unconstitutional?

3.—Would the Protestant Board ed in the affirmative, is the said of Montreal be found under the statute of 1903 to appoint Jewish teachers to their schools, and if so, would the provisions of the statute in that regard be unconstitutional?

4.—Would the apopintment of Jews on the proposed Metropolitan Commision outlined in the project submitted by Messrs. Hirsch and Cohen be authorized by the statute of 1903?

5—If the answer to Question 4. is in the afirmative, are the provisions of statute of 1903 in that regard constitutional, or would any new legislation by the province on the subject be constitutional?

6—Can Jews be lawfully appointed as advisory members of the Protestant Board of School Commissioners of the City of Montreal, or of the Protestant Committee of Public Instruction?

Mr. Lafleur's Opinion

The opinion of Mr. Lafleur is to the following effect:

A—That the Statute of 1903 is ultra vires. 1—In so far as it confers on the Jews equal rights with Protestants, depriving the Protestants of their undivided control in the administration of their schools;

2—In so far as it compels the Protestant Board of School Commissioners to recognize the qualifications of Jewish Teachers.

3—That the appointment of Jews on the Protestant Committee of Public Instruction would be unconstitutional.

4—That the appointment of Jews on a Central Board having the financial control of education, as proposed by the majority of the members of the Jewish Commision, would be constitutional.

Mr. Nesbitt Disagrees

On the other hand, Mr. Nesbitt's opinion, as embodied in the memorandum of the Jewish majority opinion states:

That the Quebec Legislation of 1903 is clearly constitutional. That its language was wide enough to cover the appointment of Jews to the Protestant Board. That if Jewish Teachers are appointed, such appointment would be legal, and if the Protestant Board refuse to appoint then simply because they are Jews that would be an undue discrimination. That the Jews can lawfully be appointed on the Council of Public instruction.

MEMORIAL WINDOW TO JOE JEFFERSON

To Be Placed in the Little Church Around the Corner in New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3, (Canadian Press)—A memorial window to Joseph Jefferson whose name stands with that of his contemporary, Edwin Booth, among the greatest actors of the world, has been completed in England and will be shipped to this country soon.

It is believed to be the first religious memorial window ever to include a secular subject in its representation. It depicts Jefferson in the long white bears and ragged clothes of Rip Van Winkle, the role which gave him his strongest hold on the affections of his public.

The window will be installed in the church of the Transfiguration, East 29 street, which Jefferson made famous as "The Little Church Around the Corner." By this name the church is now known in almost every part of the world and the act that led to its peculiar renaming is made an important part of the memorial window.

It was in 1870 that George Holland, actor and long a friend of Jefferson, died. Jefferson went to the Church of the Atonement, now extinct, and asked its rector, Dr. William T. Sabine, to conduct the funeral services for his friend. Dr. Sabine declined when he learned Holland had been on the stage. He referred Jefferson to "The Little Church Around the Corner, where they may accomodate you."

"God bless that little church around the corner," Jefferson responded. Holland was buried from that church, Dr. Sabine's refusal was a world-wide subject of indignation, Jefferson's remark gave the Church of the Transfiguration a new name and the church became the centre of the religious life of the theatrical profession.

The memorial window, conceived and designed by Walter Wilson actor, of No. 2679 Briggs Avenue, the Bronx, has this old story as its central theme. The left panel depicts Christ, standing at the lich-gate of the The Little Church Around the Corner, looking with compassion upon Joseph Jefferson in the right panel, in his role of Rip Van Winkle leading to the church a swathed figure which looks much like that of a woman but represents the spirit of George Holland.

Little vignettes of the career of Rip Van Winkle surrounded the centre panels. At the top left Rip is shown with his greatest friend, his dog Wolf. Next he is shown drinking deeply from the flagon which sent him upon his twenty years' sleep. At the right he is seen ragged and amazed, waking from his sleep.

Below the centre panels are shown the strange little men, in their grotesque costumes, whom Rip found bowling at ninepins in a ravine of the Katskill Mountains. The great flagon from which Rip drank is also to be seen beside some of the bowlers. Some ninepins have fallen. So has one of the little men. Below the figures are Jefferson's words "God bless that little church around the corner."

The window was executed by James Powell & Sons of London, noted for such work. Its cost being raised by popular subscription among the theatrical profession and laymen.

THE BEST GIFTS.

I. Cor. xiii.

Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal;

And though I have all faith, prophecy, and understand all mysteries and all know dge: so that I could remove mountains, and HAVE NOT CHARITY, I AM NOTHING.

And though I bestow ALL MY GOODS to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, I am nothing.

Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up; doth not behave itself unseemly; seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil.

Rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth;

Beareth all things,
Believeth all things;
Hopeth all things;
Endureth all things;
Charity never faileth.

MOTHERS LIKE TO TREAT COLDS WITH VAPORS

Direct Treatment with Vaporizing Salve Immediately Reaches Inflamed Air Passages.

It is no longer necessary constantly to dose the children in treating croup, bronchitis, sore throat or deep chest colds. Many Canadian mothers now use the 'outside' remedy, Vicks VapoRub, for the cold troubles of all the family, because it is just rubbed over throat and chest—there is nothing to take. When so applied Vicks gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled directly into the inflamed air passages, loosening the phlegm and making the breathing easier.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed and stimulates the skin like a liniment or plaster and thus aids the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

The NERVOUS WRECK

by E. J. Rath

©1924—by NEA Service Inc.

Even at that, she did not believe they would be caught. Surely, she told herself, there would be a way out of things. It was not pursuit and possible capture that disturbed her and awakened every absurdly conflicting emotion that lay within her: it was the fact that Bob Wells was the instrument of the law. That jarred her in a most illogical but effective fashion. Any other sheriff might do his duty without protest from Sally: but Bob Wells—why did he go and run for sheriff, anyhow? He had plenty of other things to keep him busy. If he had not hustled around and got himself elected sheriff, he could have ridden over to the railroad with her and she would have been on the train long ago. It was a fool trick for him to get into politics, thought Sally.

"Don't let it worry you," said the Wreck.

"It doesn't worry me: I'm perfectly calm," retorted Sally.

"You're nervous, anyhow."

"I'm not nervous!"

"I'm an expert on nerves," he said. "You can't fool me. I've spent my money on specialists and I know. Right now you're more nervous than I am— and I'm a wreck."

There was a good deal of that kind of conversation all afternoon. The Wreck had an idea that if he could get her really angry she might forget about the sheriff for a while. But the only times she got angry were when she thought about Bob Wells, and then she was just as likely to be laughing again the next minute. As for getting angry at the Wreck, she refused. It was a form of comfort that was denied her, for some unaccountable reason.

"Bob Wells ought to have more sense than to let anybody fill him up with a fool story about four highwaymen," she said, as she sat down to peel potatoes for supper. "Why, there isn't any such thing as even one road agent, nowadays."

"We even have 'em in Pittsburg, Sally."

"Pittsburg! I'm tired of hearing about Pittsburg. You'd think the sun rose and set in Pittsburg."

"Not if you lived there," said the Wreck.

"Well, don't be holding it up as a model, anyhow. It sounds—provincial."

He refused to be irritated, which did not help Sally at all.

"But you'll see the sun rise and set there before I get through with it," he remarked, with a confident jerk of his head.

"Now, what do you meant by that?"

He explained, with a sudden enthusiasm that surprised her, that as soon as he had his process finished he was going to take the smoke out of Pittsburg and take a lot of money away from the corporations that made the smoke. It was the first time Sally ever heard him talk much about himself, except the nervous part. They knew he was a chemist, and that was about all. Dad Morgan, not being qualified in chemistry and regarding it as something that existed only in text-books, had never pressed inquiries. He assumed that the Wreck was some kind of a professor and let it go at that.

But it seemed that the Wreck was a chemist who did things in steel plants and he had picked up a lot of information about smoke, as well as a good deal of smoke itself. He was going to make Pittsburg as smokeless as though it were run by electricity. It was only a question of time and patience and a little more research, he said. He explained the whole thing to Sally, with a lot of words that she did not understand: and while he was talking about Pittsburg and what he was going to do to it, she also learned that he was born in Yonkers, New York, had three sisters, was a graduate of a college, had been to Europe twice, had lived in Australia, could play golf, hated the movies, and was 32 years old.

"H'm," said Sally, who actually forgot about Bob Wells for a few minutes. "I thought you were older than that."

"That's because I'm all shot to pieces," he said, gloomily.

"What rank nonsense."

"Wait till you get insomnia."

"Bosh. You only think you're sick. Whatever made you nervous, anyhow?"

"Women."

She stared.

"Women?" she echoed. "Henry, are you joshing me?"

"It's a fact," said the Wreck. "I can't stand women. There's a pair of them in the laboratory. And three of them in the office. And seven in the boarding house. And thousands of 'em going to work, and coming home, and butting into you, no matter where you go. I haven't got anything against 'em, but I just can't stand 'em."

Sally continued to stare.

"Did you ever take one of them to a movie?" she asked, curiously.

"Once. But she got sore at it and cried."

"Did you ever learn to dance?"

"No!"

"Did you ever sit on a front porch and talk to one of them?"

"Not unless they nailed me."

"And you think you're a woman hater?"

He looked at her in surprise.

"I didn't say I hated them. I don't. I just can't stand them. They make me nervous. They act so——" He stopped and appeared to discover that she was a woman. "I—excuse me."

"Certainly I'll excuse you," said Sally, "because you're a big idiot. Put on an apron and help me with these potatoes."

He was obeying her when Charley McSween came into the kitchen, burdened with two medium-sized grips and a ridiculous little bag that belonged to the Wreck.

"Seein' as you've got convictions against rasslin' baggage," he said, "I fetched it up myself. Now, about accommodations." He scratched his ear. "When we have Chinks here, we sleep 'em off in a corner of the bunk house. But your wife ain't a Chink. We'd have plenty of room in the house, only the boss and family are here. There's one room left upstairs, but she's awful small and I don't figure that she'll do for two people. Looks to me like Williams here—what's your first name, anyhow?"

"Henry," supplied Sally.

"Well, it looks to me like Henry'd have to take the Chick corner of the bunk house. How about it, Henry?"

The Wreck said it would suit him exactly.

"The boys ain't like to bother you any, seein' as you're white" added Charley.

"They won't bother me," said the Wreck significantly.

Sally was not so confident: she knew how "the boys" sometimes behaved when they had a dude on their hands. But she hoped that Charley was right, because the Wreck was not a patient young man and there was no telling what might happen if they started to haze him.

Four of the boys came in at supper time: there were three more who were out having a look at the fences, and Charley said they might not be back for a couple of days. The quartet took one look into the kitchen and then made a quick start for the bunk house, where there was much scrubbing and shaving within the space of half an hour than Underwood's ranch had known since Charley could remember. Then they drifted into the kitchen and hung around.

Sally was always good to look at, even when she wore a big apron. If she was not downright pretty, she did not miss the mark by any noticeable distance. There was a smooth fluff in her brown hair that even Harriet Underwood might have envied. There was a steady, friendly look in her brown eyes, which were as fine and long-lashed as any pair that might have been found in the face of a beauty. Her lips had a pleasant curve when she smiled, showing strong, beautifully even teeth which even the Wreck had observed to be white beyond a fault.

The boys at Underwood's ranch even fell to cleaning their finger nails as they watched her. Somehow without even so much as suggesting it by word or look, Sally had a way of creating in others—men, usually—an impluse to be neat. She did not mind having the boys sitting around the kitchen, even though they did not belong there until they were told to come and get supper. There was, however, one feature that bothered her. She had chosen to be from the east, like the Wreck, and it was not easy to play the part. There were lots of things that a tenderfoot was not supposed to know, or say, and it kept her constantly on guard to remember the fact. She found it safer to confine herself to "Yes" "No," and "Really?" so far as it was possible. The boys laid it to shyness, although that was not one of her traits.

Just as she feared, they found the Wreck amusing. A good deal of the conversation centred around his spectacles, which he wore, except for excursions into the dining-room. But some rare policy of restraint seemed to have settled upon him: he calmly ignored most of what they said, and when he did answer it was with an apparent good nature that surprised Sally. She knew, however, that he was not bearing it as easily as he seemed to be; he was simply holding himself in. Evidently she had made him understand the need for caution and for that she was thankful.

CROWN LIFE HAS RECORD BIG YEAR

Annual Report Shows Biggest Volume of Business in Company's History.

With a record year of production behind it, and the largest volume of business in the Company's history on its books, the Crown Life Insurance Company entered upon its 25th or Silver Jubilee Year to-day, the annual meeting being held at the Company's head office, 59 Yonge street, Toronto, with President G. T. Somers in the chair.

The financial statement for the year 1924 was presented by Mr. H. R. Stephenson, General Manager.

In referring to the steady progress made by the Company during recent years, President Somers said: "Although this year has been a period of uncertainty and stagnation in some lines of business, yet the figures of our annual statement show that there has been no halt nor hesitation in the growth of our company The Crown Life goes "marching on"—ever rapidly enlarging its field of usefulness and public service."

A comparative table of figures presented by the President show that the Crown Life policies in force had increased from $21,338,339 in 1919 to $50,611,214 in 1924, the assets from $2,871,714 to $6,311,302 and the cash income from $880,260 to $1,999,081 in the same period.

The amount of new policies issued in 1924 was $15,594,184, the largest production in the history of the company. The total amount of policies in force at the close of the year $50,611,214, represents an increase of about 20% for the twelve months. The receipts for the year totaled $1,999,081.26, of which premiums accounted for $1,574,145.81, and interest, rents and profits $424,935.45. The net cash income over and above all disbursements amounted to $781,807.79.

The assets increased during the year from $5,472,666.94 to $6,311,302.57. The amount of bonds and debentures has remained practically constant, and stands at $1,360,724.56. Owing to the excellent opportunities for securing high-grade mortgages on attractive terms, the company's investments have been largely in this class of security, and the total mortgages on real estate now amount to $3,123,157.08. Although the trend of interest rates has been downward for the past year or two, the Crown Life reports a very satisfactory average rate of interest earned on its investments of 6.77%, without including the profit on sale of securities, which would increase the effective rate of interest to 7.79%.

With the world on wheels so much of the time it is not surprising some get into heads.

Those who have done great things had only one life in which to do them, which is the same amount of time you have.

While truth dwells in the inner man it is improved by a trip abroad.

PROPHET FAILED ON SUN'S ECLIPSE

Said It Would Be Obscured by a Storm in the Eastern States.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2. (Canadian Press).—After the eclipse of the sun on January 24, which brought about his most notable failure as a weather prophet, Andrew Jackson De Voe, the sage of Hackensack, N.J., died at the ripe age of seventy-seven. For the most part of his life, De Voe had been making weather predictions which he claimed were eighty-five per cent. correct. He made a business of prognostications and had an income of six thousand dollars a year from his own weather almanac and from the sale of his forecasts. But in the matter of the eclipse he failed. He said it would be obscured by a storm in the eastern states. De Voe, was too weak when the eclipse occured to observe for himself that he had been wrong.

Said to be the only individual in the United States, with the exception of scientists, who made a going business of prognosticating, De Voe began his career when a small boy, by informing his family, who made cane chairs, when it was necessary to bring in the cane to keep it from the wet. Andy was a wheelwright by trade and ran a mill for some years during which time he gained fame as an amateur prophet of the weather. Then he capitalized his reputation by selling a "weather letter" to Charles Dana of The New York Sun. Later he sold information to patent medicine almanacs, and finally started his own almanac. At first his predictions were based on observations of the sky, but afterwards he worked out a repetition system" and devised a scheme to forecast by observing relations of the earth and sun and moon.

Among his famous prophecies were those of the Charleston cyclone of 1885, the earthquake at Charleston the following year, the great blizzard of 1888 and the rain which caused the Johnstown flood.

SERIOUS TROUBLE IN RAILWAY RANKS

Union Secretary Predicts Trouble to Follow Wage Dispute.

LONDON, Feb. 3 — (Canadian Press).—"Trouble of the most serious kind" in the Railway World of Great Britain is anticipated by C. T. Cramp, Industrial Secretary of the National Union of Railway Men, as a result of the managers of the railways to-day refusing new wage demands of the union and the railway clerks association and submitting counter proposals for big reductions in wages.

ERECT STEEL HOUSES.

Proposal Opposed by Trades Unions But Minister of Health Continues.

LONDON, February 3. — Progress is being made with plans for the erection of steel dwelling houses in England. Specimens of the steel houses are being erected in London, and the main provincial centres of the country. The proposal was recently opposed by the building trades unions.

In reply to the unions Neville Chamberlain, Minister of Health, under whose department the plans are being carried out, in a speech last night, said the unions were not afraid of competition but the public was not going to tolerate obstruction in any form or from any quarter.

KILLED TWIN SISTERS.

Seven Year Old Girl Admits Three Slayings—Used Ground Glass.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 3 (United Press).—Confessing with a smiling assurance that she caused the death of her twin baby sisters and a woman, Alsa Thompson, 7-year-old school girl, was being examined by phychiatrists today, while the police sought to verify or disprove her story. The girl said she killed her baby sisters two years ago while residing in Dauphin, Manitoba, Canada, by feeding them ground glass.

Later here, in Los Angeles, she gave a Mrs. Pratt, with whom she was living, rat poison, and the woman died. Friends of the child's parents verify the fact that the twins and Mrs. Pratt died mysteriously.

"I guess I did it because I was so mean," Alsa explained. "I liked to see it hurt them."

NO OPIUM AGREEMENT.

Lengthy Session Fails to Find Ground for Compromise.

GENEVA, Feb. 3 — (Canadian Press).—A lengthy session today of the joint commission of the two opium conferences failed to result in any agreement on the problem of the suppression of opium smoking in the Far East—the principal sticking point in the long drawn-out conferences over the opium evil which have been in progress here almost continuously since November. A subcommittee was appointed to make a last attempt to find ground for compromise.

GREEK CABINET FACING CRISIS

May Fall Immediately—Report Says Turkey Refuses Arbitration.

PEOPLE EXCITED.

(By Anthony Papayanakis — United Press Staff Correspondent).

ATHENS, Feb. 3. — The Greek Cabinet is expected to fall forthwith as a result of the Government's stand on the subject of the expulsion of the ecumenical patriarch from Constantinople.

The Assembly gave Premier Michael Acopolis a vote of confidence but a general upheaval is almost certain because the word here is that Turkey will reject a proposal for arbitration by The Hague Tribunal.

Because of intense popular excitement and religious fervor Greece cannot recede from the stand she has taken, nor can the present Government go much further. Accordingly, Premier Michael Acopolis is expected to be overthrown and a coalition headed by General Condylis to take his place.

In that event General Pangalos, the fiery deputy who cried for armed force against the Turks last Saturday would be made answer for war.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

MILK QUESTIONS

To the Editor, Examiner,

Dear Sir,—Since Mr. Heard has started taking my milk there are a few questions that have been asked about this milk.

What is T.B. tested milk?

What does it mean by government supervision?

Are there many cattle effected with T.B.?

What is done with cattle that react to the T. B. test?

T. B. tested milk is milk from a herd of cows that have been tested for T.B. and found clean.

What is meant by Government supervision? When a man makes application for a test to the veterinary director general at Ottawa, he places not only his cows, but his whole herd under their supervision.

They test that herd and if any react to the test they are sent out. They test at different intervals. A clean herd is not allowed to associate with cattle that have not been tested for fear of infection.

Are there many cattle effected with T.B.?

The inspectors tell us there are very few herds that do not contain a few head and in some cases the whole herd has been wiped out.

What is done with cattle that react to the T.B. test?

They are slaughtered under government inspection.

Yours truly,
Harry I. Seymour.

IMPRISONED FOUR DAYS IN CAVE COLLINS IS NEARING BREAKDOWN

Constant Drip, Drip of Water Forms Torture for Helpless Man.

RESCUERS FAIL.

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 3.—Pallid of face, his lips purple, and his strength fast ebbing, Floyd Collins early to-day lay in a mole-like hole in Sand Cave, waiting for some one, something, to release his foot, held down by a huge boulder which fell upon it when he was exploring the cave on Friday morning.

For twenty four hours he was alone, the constant drip, drip, of water from the melting snow and ice on the surface growing more deadly monotonous hour by hour.

On Saturday he was found, and since that time scores of men have tried in vain to rescue him. Persons all over the country have been trying to help, too, for many suggestions have been received by telegraph—but the ingenuity of man has gone for naught. In a narrow crevice hardly large enough for a small man to squirm through, the boulder immovable, has held Collins while the constant dripping of water has created a torture chamber, such as was known only in ages past.

For hours men have pecked away at the bounder with cold chissels, others have tugged at a rope fastened about the body of the victim. He has been moved five inches in four daye.

But hopes, stronger than the jaded bodies of the rescuers, held out today and renewed efforts were being made to pull Collins from his living tomb.

Apparently only the most primitive methods will be successful if anything is to be. A compressed air drill was rushed here from Louisville, but experienced cave men said there was grave danger that the vibrations would loosen other rock and cause the narrow passage to collapse, so it was not used. Still optimistic, but himself facing a complete breakdown, Collins has entered into any scheme to extract him from the vice nature created for one who would dare to explore her sub terranean caverns. Once before he had ben a prisoner for two days, when another enormous boulder fell and blocked his egress from a crystal cave after he had penetrated newfound passages.

RACE WITH DEATH.

CAVE CITY, Feb. 3.—(United Press). — Crews of expert miners began drilling through 300 ft of narrow crevice in an effort to enlarge the passageway to the spot, where Floyd Collins has been entombed since Friday. Collins was given an opiate to quiet his nerves as the workers continued frantic efforts to rescue him.

Because of lack of room, the workers turned their whole attention to removing the debris about Collins and had succeeded at this hour so that the chiseling operation designed to remove the boulder pinioning his feet, were again possible on an effective scale.

STARVATION STORY OF IRELAND TRUE

London Correspondent Confirms Reports of Semi Starvation and Cold.

LONDON, Feb. 3—(United Press)—Half-starved families of six and ten crouched in the chill stone hovels trying to warm themselves around a smouldering bit of water-soaked peat are described by the Daily Chronicle correspondent who has returned from a visit to the distress areas in the west of Ireland.

The sufferers live on dry bread, tea and tiny potatoes and sleep on piles of damp straw and rags. This, the correspondent reported, is typical of the conditions where the distress is acute. He found none had starved to death, "but many are in a state of semi-starvation."

W. J. GREEN MARKS TWENTY-FIFTH YEAR

City Tax Collector Has Been Quarter Century in His Position.

A quarter of a century ago, on the same day that the bear came out to see his shadow, W. J. Green assumed charge of the collecting of taxes for the then town of Peterboro, and through rain and shine, and all the vicissitudes and changes that surround the office of civic employees, has continued at a post that garners little of grateful appreciation from the general public. Taxes to most people represent a burden, and they are not inclined to look too favorably on the officials who have to do with their collection. A tax collector stands between the devil and the deep blue sea, one might say. On the one hand is the municipality he represents, eager to gather in the money necessary for its smooth running, and on the other are the more or less reluctant taxpayers, carping at increases in the rates, but always in the forefront for grants to their pet endeavors or charities.

Yesterday was Mr. Green's silver anniversary. He entered office under Mayor H. Best, and has seen many mayors and councils come and go. The tax office was placed for some years in the premises now occupied by the City Treasurer, then removed to the building occupied by Mr. Pringle's fruit store, afterwards placed above the former feed store of Charles Brown on Simcoe Street, next door to the present offices, and then rotated back to the present premises, after the fire horses and apparatus which occupied them were removed to the Aylmer Street Fire Hall.

BUSINESS AT U. S. HARBORS DECLINES

Only Those Where There is Heavy Traffic in Iron Ore Have Grown in Recent Years.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(Canadian Press).—In a speech in the House with reference to commerce on te Great Lakes, Representative Peavey of Wisconsin has presented striking figures showing the decline of the commerce of most of the Great Lakes Harbours. According to Mr. Peavy, the business of only a few of the United States harbors on the lakes — those in which there is a large traffic in handling iron ore—has grown in recent years. The rest are on the decline.

Mr. Peavy declares that while he favors the St. Lawrence water-way yet if present tendencies are not checked, by the time the St. Lawrence route is opened and ocean vessels enter the Lakes by that rout, they will find the wharves of most of the harbors rotted.

He ascribes the situation to the fact that the Panama Canal act required railroads reaching the Great Lakes sold their ship lines to private concerns. Then the railroads, having no more interest in the ship lines, quit relation with them and the private owners, losing money, had to quit business.

Meantime, Mr. Peavy asserts, the Lake Carrier's Association, which he terms a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, has taken over most of the traffic on the Great Lakes. A few ore ports are doing most of the business, as he draws the picture.

With the railroads having no interest in the ship lines on the lakes and not doing business with them, the rates for freight on the railroads, it is charged, have gone higher. Today the Lakes states, the Northwest and Middle West, as indicated by Mr. Peavy are paying much higher freight rates than the rest of the country where there is genuine water competition. He asserts the progress of the states of the Lakes region, the northwest and middle west has been held back by the fact the Great Lakes have not been developed in recent years as the great channel of shipping traffic which nature intended them to be.

Mr. Peavey has offered a bill which provides for a government owned and operated fleet of freighters on the Great Lakes. He holds this would go far to remedy a condition which he contends is of far-reaching importance to a large part of the United States.

The subject is of special interest now in view of the agitation for a Lakes to Gulf waterway. It is held by those who advocate it that such a waterway would go far to restore the Great Lakes to the busy thoroughfare of commerce which they were formerly and for which they have the capacity. It is not likely that Mr. Peavey will realize his desire of a government owned line of shipping on the Lakes. Nevertheless, he has succeeded in arousing interest in the situation.

An honest man's word

MORE than three hundred years ago, Miguel de Cervantes said: "An honest man's word is as good as his bond." Advertisers must be honest men, if they would remain advertisers. Their announcements are signed. They must tell the truth in their advertising. For their own protection, as well as yours.

What would it profit a man to advertise "Pure, virgin-wool suits," only to have you discover they were shoddy? You would soon separate the sheep from the cotton. And you would never deal with that man again. And, further, you would tell all your acquaintances what a skinflint he was.

As a matter of business, if not of personal principle, an advertiser must tell the truth in his signed announcements. That's what makes the advertising columns of this paper such reliable guides to honest merchandise. The printed announcements are bonds between you and the advertiser.

Read the advertisements. Read them regularly. To be informed on the newest and best in everything. To save hours of shopping. To make the family purse do a bigger, better job To get goods of known quality at the most attractive price.

You would not plan a motor trip without first consulting road-maps and guide-books. Is it logical to plan a shopping trip without first consulting the advertisements? Read the advertisements. Then go to the stores with your mind more than half made up.

A signed advertisement is, in effect, a sealed bond between you and the advertiser.

JUNIORS TRIM HUSKY OUTFIT IN BOWMANVILLE

Take Nice Lead of Three Goals When Opponents Lack Punch.

PLAY WAS GOOD.

Petes Got in Each Other's Way in First, But Speeded Up Afterwards.

The Peterborough Juniors came home from Bowmanville with a nice lead of three goals from last night's game, when they beat the fast Bowmanville Juniors 5 to 2 on their own ice. This Bowmanville team is a bunch of big husky lads and the Petes looked like midgets beside them. They could skate and stick handle, but seemed to lack the final punch around the nets.

The score is really no indication of the play, as the home team were all over the Petes till the middle of the second period. Hoopr and Chartran were the stars and were constantly fed passes by their team mates for bulletlike drives that kept Le Barr hopping to stop. Gilfillan, the lanky centre man, combined well but spoiled several good plays by loafing offside. The rest of the team fitted in well on the attack and James was unbeatable in goal until the Petes got right in on top of him.

The visitors seemed to get off on the wrong foot. In the first period they were constantly bunching in each other's way and letting Chartan and Hooper away unchecked. When they settled down, there was no comparison between the two teams.

The Young Petes outskated and outchecked their opponents and showed much more combination when goals were in sight. After Le Barr, who saved the game in the early stages, McDougal and Salmon were the shining lights. They led rush after rush, taking and giving passes with accuracy. Ridpath and Milloy had a man-sized job holding the doughty Chartran in check and they skated and bumped all the hockey out of him. Milloy played a good game at left wing and he and Collins kept Hooper away from the danger zone. Johnson subbed the defence and played effective hockey.

Glenn Smith of Toronto, was the referee and made himself unpopular. He was impartial in his decisions but was so strict on offsides that he stopped a lot of good combination in the early part of the game. Very little rough stuff got away from him, and some of the seventeen penalties he handed out appeared undeserved. Twice in the last period the team played 5 men to 4, but no score resulted.

Hooper, the Bowmanville right defence man, collided with one of his own men near the end of the second period and fell striking his head on the ice. He had to be carried from the ice, but returned after the interval.

About 1,200 fans viewed the defeat of their pets and they are coming to Peterborough on Friday determined to wipe out the disgrace. They are noted as hard fighters and a hard game is expected.

Cheu, the Petes' regular left wing, has been sick and didn't go to Bowmanville, but Milloy filled the place to perfection. The teams:

Peterboro.		Bowmanville.
	Goal
LeBarr		James
	Right Defence
Collins		Hooper
	Left Defence
Salmon		Hughes
	Centre
McDougall		Gilfillan
	Right Wing
Ridpath		Lockington
	Left Wing
Milloy		Chartran
	Subs
Maudsley		Osborne
Johnson		Corden

Referee—Glenn Smith, Toronto.

First Period

When the game opened the Petes seemed all at sea among the bulky Bowmanville team and the homesters lost little time in opening the count on a nice play by Hooper. For a while the Peterboro youngsters forgot all they ever knew about back-checking but brilliant work by Jack LeBarr in the nets kept them in the hunt till they got settled down. It wasn't long, however before play was going from end to end and both goalkeepers were stopping shots from all angles but the period ended without any further score. In this period Referee Smith was very free with penalties handing out a total of nine for minor offences.

Second Period

The Lakeshore boys continued to press after the interval and one minute after the period opened Hooper added another on a nice combination rush. Play ranged from end to end, the Petes meantime getting their combination down pat and finally they were rewarded when Salmon bulged the net on a nice rush. Four minutes later "Shrimp" McDougall took a perfect pass in front of the net and flipped the rubber past James for the tying counter The score remained deadlocked till the period ended although both goals were threatened before the gong sounded.

Third Period

The third was the Petes big period Both attack and defence were systematic. The Lakeshore crew still displayed nice combination in centre ice but the lighter Petes worried them and spoiled their plays before they got close in. McDougall was the centre of some nice combination rushes and notched three counters. The Bowmanville team were all in and snubbed considerably. Most of their attempts were long shots which LeBarr handled nicely.

1st Period—1. Bowmanville, Hooper 2 min.
2nd Period—2. Bowmanville, Hooper 1 min. 3. Peterboro, Salmon, 10 min. 4. Peterboro, McDougall, 4 min.
3rd Period—5. Peterboro, McDougall, 7 min. 6. Peterboro, McDougall, 6 min. 7. Peterboro. McDougall 2 min.

Final Score Peterboro 5, Bowmanville 2.

Penalties— Peterboro, McDougall 3; Salmon, 2; Ridpath, 2, Maudsley, Collins, Total 9. Bowmanville, Hooper, 2; Corden, 2; Hughes, Gilfillan, Osborne Chartran. Total 8.

QUEEN'S MASCOT BEAR OF 1922 DIED IN 'ZOO"

Queen "Boo Hoo" Was Sent to Watertown, N.Y.

KINGSTON, Feb. 3—Queen "Boo Hoo," former mascot of Queen's University squad, died today of gastritis in the Zoo at Watertown, N.Y., according to word received by Trainer Billy Hughes. At the close of the football season of 1922 Queen Boo Hoo having attained a mature age, had to be sent away as she became slightly unruly. For a time she was kept on the farm of G. W. Cole of Cape Vincent, who had a number of animals there, and later she was sent to Watertown, where she was placed in a Zoo.

It is understood that since her removal from Kingston, Queen Boo Hoo had given birth to some cubs, and it is the intention of Billie Hughes to secure one of these as soon as it is old enough to introduce into Queen's circles, as a successor to the mother bear. In this connection it is interesting to note that King Boo Hoo, the bear who was secured to succeed the old favorite has been kept all winter in a special pen in Queen's grounds.

King Boo Hoo is still very wild and cross and it is doubtful if he will ever be tamed enough to become in any sense a mascot.

SHALK PREDICTS COLLINS SUCCESS

Famous Catcher Says Eddie Will Go Big as New Manager of the Chicago White Sox.

BY BILLY EVANS

"Eddie Collins is certain to be a big success as manager of the Chicago White Sox."

So remarked Ray Schalk, famous catcher of the White Sox, to me shortly after the announcement that he would succeed Johnny Evers.

"Collins has everything that goes to make a great manager," continued Schalk.

"His record as a player is an inpiration to every athlete. They know their leader knows his stuff.

"In addition, Eddie has the courage, proper temperament and the ideal disposition. Every White Sox will want to do his best for Collins, and after all, that is half the battle for a manager.

Sox Won't Be Last

"I am willing to go on record right now that the Sox won't finish in last place the coming season.

"My one hope is that I will be in good shape during the 1925 campaign, fit to give Collins my best and thereby contribute my mite to his success.

"Last season, during the month that he managed the club while Johnny Evers was ill, I was ony able to catch a couple of games, due to a broken finger. I never wanted to play more in my life.

"Just say for me that the White Sox are not going to be soft picking this year and that every player on the ball club will give his best. The team to a man is for Eddie."

I wasn't at all surprised by the remarks of the brilliant little catcher of the White Sox. That's the kind of a fellow he is.

Strong for Collins.

I seriously doubt if there was a single member of the team more pleased than Schalk over the appointment of Collins.

As a mater of fact, Collins is exceedingly fortunate in having so great a catcher to confer with on the many angles of the game that confront a manager.

Last seaso nseveral injuries handicapped Schalk in his play. If he can catch from 75 to 100 games for Collins this season, it will mean much to the team and the manager.

Collins is a protege of Connie Mack. The intruction he received as a player from Mack is certain to be of value now that he is a manager.

First Aid to Leaders.

At Chicago he played under Kid Gleason for several years. The two are the direct opposite as to types. so that Collins has had a broad schooling.

During the reigns of Gleason, Rowland and Evers as managers of the Chicago Club, Collins was first aid to them.

No brainier, more capable player ever wore a pair of spiked shoes than Collins. He should be a big hit and vie with the other star player managers, Cobb, Speaker, Harris and Sisler, for high honors.

CANOE CARRIED EXPLORERS TO CANADA WILDS

Fred V. Seibert Tells American Association of Its Possibilities.

HAUNTS REMAIN.

Still Many Miles of Lake and River Remain to the Canoeist.

The Canoe was responsible for practically all the early exploration of Canada and of a large portion of the United States. This was one of the outstanding statements of Fred V. Seibert, M.E.I.C., D.L.S., of the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior, when speaking at the annual banquet of the American Canoe Association in Chicago on Saturday.

The canoe was to the early explorers and pioneers of Canada what the covered wagon was to the Oregon trail. For centuries before it was to to the Indian what the camel was to the desert tribes or the horse to the Arab. Even to-day over half of Canada has no other means of transport, than the canoe in summer and dog team in winter, but this area is a natural paradise for canoeists, a country of countless waterways, beautiful lakes, winding streams and tumbling waterfalls, where fish and game abound. No other area on the face of the globe of the same extent can compare with this portion of Canada from the standpoint of the canoeist. Rich in historical canoe routes, it offers unlimited possibilities to the lover of the paddle, the rod and gun, and the camera.

The romance of Canada's forests, lakes and streams, however, does not rest alone on the history of our intrepid explorers and the early fur trade. Neither is it to be found entirely with the paddle, the rod, the gun and the camera, although each of these should furnish enough to satisfy the most fastidious. The romance of the commercial development of this district stands out preeminently above all else.

The friendly spruce, which forms such admirable shelter from rain and snow and which once protected the Indian braves and the early explorers, who travelled this country with the light birch bark canoes, now feeds giant pulp and paper mills supplying the very life blood to our newspapers and bringing into Canada each year over $120,000,000 in return for her exportable surplus, and representing, next to wheat, her largest single item of export.

It is but ten years since United States mills were able to meet all but a small percentage of the domestic requirements but the output has not kept pace with the rapidly increasing consumption. American newsprint consumers now import almost one-half of their requirements, and Canada's forests are being drawn upon heavily. Her exports of newsprint alone have risen from $4,000,000 in 1912 to $91,000,000 in 1924, yet one lighted match by a careless camper can destroy more potential newsprint than the press of Canada can use in a generation.

Mineral development holds no secondary position to that of forests. This area, admittedly weak in modern transportation facilities, offers prospects for the most extensive mineral development in the world. A large part of it is known on geological maps as the pre-Cambrian shield. This formation occupies more than one-half of Canada's total area and is the greatest single exposure — greater indeed than the sum total of all others on the face of the globe —of the foundation rocks of our geological structures in which we are finding our richest mineral treasures, gold, silver, nickel and other precious metals.

Prospecting in Canada has only begun. Already companies representing the leaders in each of the groups gold, silver, and nickel have paid enormous sums in dividends. The canoeist, therefore, in taking a trip into Canada's hinterland, will find a country admirably suited for canoeing, hunting and fishing; he will find forest resources of vast extent, and he will find an extensive mineralized area which even now is producing millions in wealth and which contains beneath the surface millions more of precious metals which have been waiting for centuries the first prospector's pick and magic wand of capital to develop.

The lark is an early riser among birds; not proving, however, that rising early is a lark.

CROWN PRINCE FORGETS.

Return to Germany Was Conditional on His Refraining from Active Politics.

BERLIN, Feb. 3. — (Canadian Press).—Apparently forgetful of his promise to refrain from active politics—made as a condition of his return to Germany — former Crown Prince Friederich Wilhelm has for the first time attended a purely partisan manifestation.

The occasion was a mass meeting of the Silesian Land League at Breslau, not far from the former Crown Prince's estate at Oels.

At this gathering the most reactionary among the agrarian junkers heard speeches and adopted resolutions denouncing democracy and demanding a protective tariff for agriculture.

The Hohenzolleron heir was met on his arrival at the hall by Reichswehr officers in full uniform, who bowed low and kissed once the Royal hand. Friedrich Wilhelm also received a tremendous ovation from his fellow land-owners.

BUILD LIGHT CRUISERS.

Britain Increases Naval Plans to Help Trade and to Strengthen Navy.

LONDON, Feb. 3. — (Canadian Press). — Great Britain intends to build three new light cruisers in addition to the five approved by the recent Labor Government, according to the Evening News. The article declares the expense will be £2,000,000 this year. All comment on the story was refused at the Admiralty. The argument for new cruisers is that they will help the shipbuilding industry besides strengthening the Navy.

MAJOR LEAGUE'S HALF CENTURY

National Moguls Meet in Hotel Where League Was Founded.

SOME SURVIVORS

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The National Baseball League paused in its schedule deliberations yesterday, turned back to the first pages of its history, and flashed on the screen of today the personalities, trials and triumphs of those who laid the corner stone of professional baseball.

Emulating a scene enacted a half century ago at precisely the same hour and on the same day, the magnates of the National League together with those players who have survived the flight of time met in the Broadway Central Hotel, the same hostelry which housed the first National League meeting February 2, 1876.

In the same room in which Morgan G. Bulkley, of Hartford, Conn., was elected the first president of the National League, the baseball men who have built upon the foundation of their predecessors, paid tribute to the character and courage of those pioneers of half a century ago.

Five of the seven surviving players who played in the National League in its first year when the catcher caught the ball on the first bound and the umpire rendered his decision from behind the catcher, attended yesterday's gathering. These include George Washington Bradley of Philadelphia, a pitcher with the St. Louis Club; Thomas Bond, of Boston, a pitcher with the Hartford Club; Alonzo Knight of Philadelphia, who pitched for the old Athletics; John Manning, of Boston, outfielder with the Boston club, and Tommy York, of New York, old time Hartford outfielder. George Wright of Boston, and Al Reach of Philadelphia, the remaining two, could not attend due to advancing ago. Calvin J. Stambough, of Chicago one of the first National League umpires, attended the meeting, as did Tommy Foster, the old Detroit shortstop; Sam Crane, former Detroit second baseman and noted sports writer; John K. Tener, former president of the National League and later Governor of Pennsylvania; Bill Clark, old time Washington catcher; John Ward, New York third baseman; Jimmy Mutrie, first owner and manager of the New York Giants; Joe Hornung, Boston outfielder, and others of prominence. Most of these men have reached the 70 mark in the matter of years.

No business was transacted, the meeting adjourned until today, when the magnates will sit to deliberate over the 1925 schedule.

200 RINKS IN 'SPIEL.

Winnipeg's Big Bonspiel Starts on Wednesday.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 3.—(Canadian Press).—With more than 200 rinks entered in Winnipeg's annual Bonspiel, promoters of the winter classic anticipate the keenest competition in the history of the event, which officially gets under way on Wednesday morning.

Nearly 100 outside entries have already been received and this number is expected to be increased materially before the opening draw. Several representatives from the United States will participate.

Rinks from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Eveleth have filed their entries. Clubs in Ontario and Saskatchewan have also entered.

TWO GIANTS AT SCANDAL PROBE

George Kelly Received Telegram of Brother's Death.

CAME FROM COAST

NEW YORK, February 3. — Arthur Fletcher, manager of the Philadelphia Nationals; Ross Young, outfielder of the New York Giants, and George Kelly, the Giants' first baseman, were examined on Monday by Assistant District Attorney Brothers in the state's investigation into the attempted bribery of Shortstop Heinie Sand of the Phillies before a game in New York late last season.

District Attorney Benton will receive a full report within a few days and information regarding the testimony must come from him or Mr. Brothers.

The three men named by Jimmy O'Connell, barred from baseball after his confession to Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, that he had made the proposition to Sand, have been questoned in the district attorney's office.

O'Connell, who was an outfielder with the Giants at the time, insisted that Frank Frisch, the second baseamn and Captain of the team, and Kelly and Young, had knowledge of the proposed transaction. Coach Cozy Dolan, whom O'Connell implicated, also was exiled from the organized game after investigation by the commissioner.

Kelly, who came here from his home in California to testify, said that when he arrived he found a telegram stating that his brother had died. He was questioned by Mr. Brothers for half an hour, but all information obtained from him was withheld, and the investigator expressed his regret at having brought Kelly all the way from the coast.

Retiring President Recommends That Association Drop the O.F.A.

JAS. WYLIE, PRESIDENT

The annual general meeting of the Peterborough and District Football Association was held last evening in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, President Cooke presiding. There was only 30 enthusiasts present, along with the Board of Directors.

Minutes and Reports Accepted.

The minutes of the previous meetings and reports were accepted as read. Medals will be presented to the Thistle F. C. as winners of the league chmapionship.

Retiring President's Address.

Mr. Cooke gave a resume of the year's activities in the 1924 season, and recommended to the new board to drop the O.F.A., which has been a detriment to soccer financially. "I would also suggest," Mr. Cooke continued, "that this board co-operate with the junior organization so as to get an excellent district association of their own. I thank you, every one of you, for your splendid assistance during my term of office. I am strong in favor of organized soccer, but we are better to run on our own because we get no return for the finance we send to the O. F. A., and recommend that the new Executive consider this very important matter immediately."

After a lengthy discussion by J. Stewart and Sid. Whatley, the association went on record not to join the O.F.A. on motion of Sid. Whatley, "That in view of the financial condition of past years, that the P. and D. F. A. do not affiliate with the O.F.A.," was seconded by Mr. Wylie.

As an amendment David Menzies moved "That the P. and D. F. A. affiliate with the O.F.A.," seconded by Hugh Richmond.

Meeting Next Monday.

The previous motion and amendment were withdrawn and the following motion, proposed by Jas. Wylie, was seconded by Hugh Richmond, "That we leave this matter with various clubs and players to take it up amongst themselves; also the representatives have a decided answer at next adjourned Monday evening meeting in Chamber of Commerce rooms." Carried.

OMEMEE COLTS TRIM BRINTON

Score Was 6 to 1 When Villagers Cleaned Home Ice With Visitors.

FRIENDLY GAME.

OMEMEE, Feb. 3.—In one of the closest hockey matches played in this town in years, the Omemee Colts defeated the Brinton Carpet Co. of Peterboro by a score of 6 to 1. The score, however, does not indicate the play. It was a great battle between two splendid teams, but the home crew had the edge on the night's play. There were thrills galore, especially when McMartin or Lackey, two of Peterboro's Intermediates, got the puck and started down the ice on one of their tours. The back-checking of the Colts was magnificent, as the whole forward line back-checked like fiends. In the first period Crafton uncorked a pile of speed, fooled the Peterboro defence, and notched the first counter of the game. In the second period each member of the forward line added a counter. Clemett scored the third counter of the game on a beautiful pass from W. Morten. During this period Lackey shone out for the visitors, and was always dangerous when he rushed. The period ended with a score of 4 to 0 for the home team.

The third period started fast and furious, as Peterboro were determined to pull through with a win, but soon Omemee adopted a defensive style and Peterboro was obliged to carry the play to them. Steve Clemett shone in this period, and scored two more goals. The second was a beauty, as he rushed through the visitors' whole team and shot back-handed into the net. For the visitors on the night's play Rundles, Lackey and McMartin were the best, while honors were most evenly divided among the home team, but the back-checking of Jack Crafton and N. Clemett was a feature. The game was clean and fast throughout, and Referee Mitchell only handed out one penalty.

The line-up:

Brinton Carpet Co.—Goal, H. Jenkins; defence, Lackey and McMartin; centre A. Rose; r. wing A. Rundles; l. wing, C. Shaughnessy; subs., C. Corbett and H. R. Martin.

Omemee Colts—Goal, G. Morten; defence, L. Adams and A. Clemett; centre, N. Clemett; r. wing, J. Crafton; l. wing, W. Morten; subs., C. Mackey and A. Stephenson.

Referee—R. W. Mitchell.

Kentucky Derby Winner Will Annex Big Purse

LOUISVILLE, Ky., February 3.—A record number of nominations for the fifty first renewal of the Kentucky Derby is expected by turf writers, who taking into account the large number of high class eligibles wintering at the Louisville tracks, and elsewhere, predict the 152 nominations of las year will be exceeded when the entries close February 21.

The race for three year olds, at a mile and a quarter, will be run at Churchill Downs, Saturday, May 16, the seventh d.. of the spring meet.

The purse, with $50,000 added by the Kentucky Jockey Club, may be the largest in the history of the half century old classic. Last year 19 of the 152 nominees, accepted the issue, making the purse $52,775 for the winner, Black Gold. The year previous when Zev, the Rancocas stable's colt, won, 20 started, giving the race a net value of $53,600. The starting fee, $500, is added to the $50,000 purse.

ST. PETER'S PLAYED.

Third Form Students Outplayed Second Formers.

St. Peter's School Third Form were too much for the Second Form team in a game played last evening. The elders won easily by a 4 to 0 score. The Second Form students put up a hard battle, but were never in it with the Third Formers.

Shorter Skirts Show Tennis Players' Knees

MONTE CARLO, Feb. 3.—Bare knees have appeared here among the women tennis players, who are wearing rolled stockings and skirts almost as short as bathing costumes. The abbreviated skirt and "plenty of knee room," add a lot to the play, the players say, and give much more freedom than formerly.

The skirts of new tailor-made ensemble suits worn in Monte Carlo and Nice are also much shorter than even a few months ago, and tight.

The skimpy skirt has come to stay, at least for this season, according to the tailors.

INTERMEDIATES' DEBUT THURSDAY

Grover Halpin's Squad Will Play Lakefield Here in O.H.A. Series.

Grover Halpin's Peterboro Intermediates will make their debut on Thursday night when they meet Lakefield in a sudden death Intermediate O. H. A. game at Brock Street Rink, the winner to meet the Trent Valley title holders, either Havelock or Tweed, also in a sudden death fixture for the right to go on into the O.H.A. play-offs. There is plenty of good material available for a team, and Manager Halpin promises to trot out a line-up on Thursday that will surprise the fans. Popular prices will prevail for this fixture, and hockey enthusiasts should turn out and encourage the Intermediates. It is the first time in years that Peterboro has been represented in all three series of the O.H.A.

Y.W.H.A. TEAM IS HERE SATURDAY

Girls Will Meet at Y.M.C.A. Gym in Fast Basketball Game.

Basketball lovers will get an unusual treat on Saturday night when the Peterboro All-Star Girls team will meet the Y.W.H.A. team of Toronto, headed by such well-known girl athletes as "Bobby" Rosenfeldt and Annie Miller. The game will be played in the Y.W.C.A. Gym., and should attract a big crowd of fans. The Peterboro team, which has been chosen from the local City League teams, includes four of the Y.W.C.A. team which won first place and the Gordon Cup in the League race, and one member of the Normal School team which finished second in the League, and captured the Harvey Cup. The girls have been coached by Mr. W. Perks and hope to make a good showing against the famous visitors. Their snappy work will be a revelation to the fans who attend.

Miss Rosenfeldt, the star of the Y.W.C.A. team is one of Canada's foremost girl runners, a crack hockey, baseball and basketball player, and a runner of great ability.

There will be a preliminary game between two boys' teams.

Turple's team from Big River, driven by W. A. Mahoney was fourth, and the Dupas-Campbell team, driven by Theo. Dupas, ten minutes late, was fifth. Bacon's team is the only entry having previously engaged in the contest.

TANKARD PLAY OPENED TO-DAY

Final Competition for Ontario Silver Tankard, Blue Ribbon Event in Curling.

PETERBORO OUT.

TORONTO, Feb. 3 — (Canadian Press).—With ideal curling weather provided by the weatherman for today's opening of the competition for the Ontario Silver Tankard, and the Burden Trophy, in which defeated rinks in the Tankard take part, the 16 clubs that emerged victorius in the various districts commenced play on four city rinks in the Tankard competition this morning. Play in the Burden Trophy competition commenced this afternoon, when the clubs defeated this morning carried on.

The draw for the Tankard competition, made last night is as follows.

At Lakeview.

Bala v. Brampton.
Stouffville v. Mount Forest.

At High Park.

Oakwood v. Barrie.
Paris v. Hamilton.

At Toronto.

Detroit v. Belleville.
Stratford v. Oshawa.

At Oakwood.

Peterboro v. Owen Sound.
High Park v. St. Thomas.

Many clubs conspicuous for their success in Tankard play in past years are missing in this year's competition. Lindsay, Dundas, Galt and Toronto Granites, all of whom have supplied strong rinks in the past, winning their way to the finals and carrying off the coveted trophy, failed to win district honors this year. Hamilton Victorias, one of the oldest clubs in the Ontario Curling Association, last year's runners-up to Lindsay in the Tankard, are contenders this year, as are also Stratford and St. Thomas, who have yet to have their names inscribed on the Tankard as winners of the competition. Paris, twice winners and on two other occasions runners-up, headed Galt in their district, and is on hand again to do battle in the big event.

Detroit, as winner of Group 16, lends an international flavor to this year's competition. On no occasion during its 50 years' history has the Tankard left the province, but in 1910 Grand Rapids, Mich., made a strong bid for it, reaching the finals, where it was defeated by Toronto Granites.

After the first and second rounds are completed, the scene shifts to Granite ice, where the semi-finals and final rounds will be curled.

The Tankard, which was donated by the Royal Caledonia Curling Club in 1875 and has been competed for annually, with the exception of 1877, has a most interesting history. More often than not the big city rinks have been laid low by visiting rinks from towns and villages throughout the province, Lindsay being the greatest stumbling block, with six Tankard victories to its credit. Not in many years have clubs east of Toronto, with the exception of Lindsay, been successful in their quest for Tankard honors, but this year Belleville, Oshawa and Peterborough, winners of Groups 1, 2 and 3 respectively, hope between them to restore prestige of eastern curlers.

PETERBOROUGH BONSPIEL GOT STARTED TO-DAY

Fifty-two Rinks Entered in Annual Affair—Eighteen From This City.

ICES PERFECT.

Dr. J. N. Harvey, of Orillia, Selected to Make Draw For Bonspiel.

Peterboro's annual bonspiel got under way this morning at nine o'clock with fifty-two rinks taking part. Perfect ice, both at the Curling Rink and at the Brock street rink greeted the curlers, and although there are four more rinks taking part this year than last, the bonspiel should be run off in good time, as there will be no time wasted on heavy ice, and the rinks are to be on the ice at the scheduled time, so that the games will not be held up by one rink failing to be on hand.

If a rink is late in getting started it will be penalized.

Twelve ices are being used, seven at the Charlotte street rink and five at the Brock street rink, so there should be no shortage of ices.

The draw for the bonspiel was made by Dr. J. N. Harvey of Orillia, who is the lone skip from that city.

The following are the rinks entered in the bonspiel.

MORROW TROPHY.

The majority of the games in the preliminaries for the Morrow trophy were finished this morning. So far in the race the Peterboro rinks have been very successful, six of the eight Peterboro teams who had finished at noon being credited with a victory. Some nice games have been turned in by both local and visiting teams.

One of the games that has been the subject of much comment was the one played this morning between George Morrow of this city and J. Steele of Millbrook. Morrow came out on top but not without a hard tussle. George claims that it was through skilful curling that he won out, coming from behind in the last couple of ends and piling up a big score, but his opponent, Steele, and a number of others claim he was aided greatly by Lady Luck.

The two features in this year's bonspiel are the large number of rinks that are taking part, and thta eight of the promising looking junior members of Peterboro Curling Club are taking part in the tournament.

Walter Rye is the youngest skip on any rink, and he is not only the youngest skip, but is skippnig a rink composed of junior Peterboro curlers. His rink is composed of Jack Amys, Bruce Fraser, Ward McDonald and himself.

The following is to-day's play in the Morrow trophy. Where no score is given the game was not finished in time for press.

BOWMANVILLE HERE FRIDAY

Return Junior Fixture Should Provide Fast Hockey For Fans.

Although the Peterboro Juniors succeeded in emerging from their game at Bowmanville last night with a three-goal lead, they had a tough argument, and the Rubbertown supporters declare that their husky team will make a much better showing in the return game here on Friday night. A big crowd of fans will accompany the Bowmanville team to Peterboro, and they expect to grab off the decision here. The young Petes are playing fast hockey, and deserve encouragement from the fans. Shrimp McDougall, their diminutive centre, should be a big attraction in himself, for he is proving one of the smartest stickhandlers in Junior hockey, and opposing defences find his style harder to solve than a 900 square crossword puzzle. Friday's game should be a memorable exhibition of fast Junior hockey. The winner goes into the next round of the series, meeting the Eastern representatives.

THEATRES

AT THE REGENT.

"BROADWAY GOLD," A ROMANCE OF NEW YORK'S GLITTERING GREAT WHITE WAY, WITH ELAINE HAMMERSTEIN IN THE LEADING ROLE, TO BE SEEN HERE.

"Broadway Gold," with Elaine Hammerstein in the role of a young show girl, and with Elliot Dexter and Kathlyn Williams in other important roles will have its premiere at the Regent Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

This picture which was produced under the supervision of Edward Dillon is a screen adaptation of W. Wonderley Carey's story which was a feature in the recent issues of Young's Magazine. It deals with the typical Broadway crowd of hard working chorus girls, and of the types known as gold diggers.

Mr. Dillon has skillfully used the glittering and frothy background of New York's night life as the setting for the unfolding of his tale, and if we may believe the critics he has successfully carried out his intention of making a picture, unusual for its dramatic elements, and at the same time kept it from overstepping the bounds of probability or possibility.

Miss Hammerstein never has looked lovelier than she does as the bright and particular star of "Broadway Gold." Kathlyn Williams is the embodiment of a wise veteran in ways of the stage and the tricks of stage door Johnnies. Elliot Dexter plays the part of one of those fabulously rich "daddies" who finds that the simple love of a plain little chorus girl is far better than the blandishments of the butterfly type.

The picture was produced with a lavish hand and certainly cost a pretty amount, but the results are evident. Rich scenes depicting many of the palatial dance and eating place are eye-ravishing in their detail and beauty. Swans proudly sail about under the gilded domes in ivory lined pools as the gay and garish throng sip forbidden waters or sway to the strains of the latest jazz on the dance floor. Certainly Mr. Dillon and his company have caught the note of glamour and fantastic atmosphere which is associated with Broadway in the popular mind.

In order to keep the movie spectator from being bored, there are two thrilling auto wrcks, a murder mystey and hosts of divinely formed stage beauties, who disport themselves for the edification of the Broadway habitue.

AT THE ROYAL.

"BORN RICH" IS UNUSUAL FILM

Picture is Simple and Unaffected—Contains Strong Appeal—Wonderful Gowns Worn by Claire Windsor.

"Born Rich," a First National picture which is now playing at the Royal Theatre, is quite out of the ordinary, and in our estimation, one of the finest of this season's cinematic offerings. While the setting is that of wealth, the picture is as simple and unaffected as a letter from home and it possesses an appeal that is as broad as the horizon.

In some mysterious manner the tale wriggled itself into our heart and succeeded in charming us and giving us more pleasure than has fallen to our lot in some time. Story, direction, acting—all were flawless; the combined excellence of it is responsible for a photoplay that is entertaining in the 'nth degree. It is a dramatic triumph, but it is just as noteworthy for its humanness and its bubbling humor—two ingredients that the perfect picture must possess to be successful.

Hughes Cornell, the author of the novel on which this production is based, has given us a pulsating story of the rich, colorful and enticing. In the competent hands of Director Will Nigh, who made the production for Garrick Pictures Corporation, the tale has been transferred into a screen classic. And considerable credit is due to the highly capable cast assembled by Mr. Nigh, the roll including Claire Windsor, Bert Lytell, Doris Sherry, Maude Turner Gordon, Frank Morgan and Jackie Ott.

"Born Rich" is a vigorously presented story, told smoothly and eloquently and swiftly. From beginning to end it is graphically portrayed, and we recommend it as one of the pictures that are well worth seeing.

ROYAL THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

As an added attraction to "Trifling with Honor," the big baseball drama, the Royal Management have secured the services of the Ferris Duo, two clever young singers, dancers and contortionists. They are on a visit to relatives in Peterborough and have kindly consented to appear at each performance Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

AT THE CAPITOL.

STRONG CAST IN GRIFFITH DRAMA

Broadway Celebrities Support Corinne in Her New Picture.

Hollywood and New York's Broadway unite their dramatic strength in "Love's Wilderness," in which First National will present Corinne Griffith at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow and Thursday.

Supporting Corinne in this picture are two prominent Broadway stage players, who were brought to Hollywood to create the leading male roles. They are Holmes Herbert and Ian Keith.

Another stage celebrity in the cast is Maurice Cannon. Cannon was brought over by First National from France, where he was leading juvenile with the Comedie Francaise in Paris.

Playgoers of older memory will recall two other faces in "Love's Wilderness," reminiscent of stage fame of two decades past. They are David Torrence, brother of Ernest, who was leading baritone in "The Geisha" and other comic operas that were all the rage a generation ago, and Emily Fitzroy, as well known in films now as a character actress as she was on the English and American stage twenty years ago.

This picture presents the lovely Corinne in a now dramatic element—totally different in spirit from that of "Black Oxen" and "Lilies of the field," in which she scored tremendously. It is the story of a young Southern girl who runs away with an adventurer and takes her through scenes in Canada and the South Seas. Robert Z. Leonard directed.

ADDED ATTRACTION.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next, the Capitol Theatre will have an added attraction to its regular picture programme in the form of a new one-act comedy, "Dumb Dora," written by Miss K. L. McCarthy (Jeanette), and staged under the direction of Mrs. W. McKee Bingham. Miss McCarthy's first one-act play, "Melange," enacted at the Capitol Theatre last March, met with much favorable comment, and this year's comedy is said to be better than that of last season.

One-act plays are growing in favor as supplements to regular picture performances, and they fit in very well with the type of programme given at the Capitol. An addition to the attraction of the comedy will be songs by Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, with accompaniment by Miss Marthe Baumer. Principal actors in the cast are Mrs. W. McKee Bingham, Mrs. A. L Amys, Miss Jessie Hodgson, Miss Edna Borbridge, Miss Mamie McCarthy and Mr. Frank Stenson. Spring costumes will be from the store of Barrie's, Limited, and stage furnishings from the Richard Hall establishment.

"The Turmoil," at the Capitol Theatre for the first two days of this week, is one of those pictures that has suffered irremediable damage from poor direction. It is one of the draggiest features seen here in many moons, and the majority of the audience yawned their way through a screening of episodes that were sublimely uninteresting, or at least, had been made uninteresting by improper methods of handling. As an example of what can be done with the plot of a good novel by bad direction of its filming, "The Turmoil" is outstanding. There is a good plot and an excellent moral, but it has been smothered under tiresome details. The posing of the main characters is drawn out in an extraordinary manner.

The Sheridan family represents the "turmoil" of the title. The father is masterful and ambitious and decrees a business career for his sons. Roscoe, driven to desperation by the loss of his wife, who turns against him when he fails to give her any of his time and attention, leaves the firm first. Then Jim, who is also bound up in business, is killed when the imperfect dam he has builded gives way and is destroyed in one of the best bits of the whole picture. Edith, the spoiled daughter, marries a parlor sheik, Bibbs, the uncounted son, who yearns for a literary career, is left to sustain the father. There is a heroine, Mary Vertrees, not very likeable, and an automatic mother. The villainess of the piece, the jealous Ethel, Roscoe's wife, is probably the most vital of the characters portrayed, at least, she does less posing and more work than the rest of them.

A Mack Sennett comedy, "Riders of the Purple Cow," is a funny cowboy mixup, with plenty of pep and action, and there is an added attraction in the very good playing of Arnold Spencer, violinist, whose excellent tone and careful technique won him much applause last night. The youthful violinist played the always popular "Souvenir" and Sevarn's bright "Polish Dance."

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.

The following are some of the most extremely erroneous doctrines of Christendom, that are taught now and for centuries in the past. The repetition of Satan's lie to Mother Eve, which is the same as saying man is immortal. Connected with this first error come the blasphemous doctrine of endless torment. Another error that is obviously and flatly opposed to truth is "the trinity." The word "trinity" cannot be found in the Bible. One of our Methodist ministers said if it was not there it ought to be. This egotistic statement can be taken for what it is worth. It is difficult to think how anyone, who has read the Bible carefully, can entertain the above erroneous ideas. Apart from the Scriptures, these false theories are such a combination of absurdity and contradiction, that man's reason and common sense (if allowed to act) must stand abashed. Imagine a son being his own son. We read father being his own son. We read in the Scripture, the "Father sent his Son." It would be absurd to conclude that the Father sent himself. The term "father" means life given, and the term son is one who has received life from the father. Jesus said, "My Father is greater than I." When Jesus was about to be crucified, his disciples left him and fled, but most trying of all was (while hanging on the cross) the realization that God had left him. Then Jesus cried out in agony "My God," "my God" "why hast thou forsaken me?" If the "trinity" theory was true, this was deceptive acting. Who can believe that Jesus was merely praying unto himself? Nay! He prayed unto Him who was able to deliver him from death, and he was heard. Then again it is erroneously taught that Jesus was like Jehovah God, without beginning and without end. The Bible says: "He was the beginning of the creation of God," Rev. 3:14; and that "he is the first-born of every creature," Col. 1:15. Frist-born implies the beginning of existence. Begotten son must mean there was a time when he was not begotten. If Jesus was Jehovah God, how extremely absurd about the idea of Jesus dying. We might go on to enumerate other errors, (but space and time does not permit), showing the folly and absurdity error leads to. There are those who are still preaching error (some honestly and some we are compelled to believe dishonestly, who flout the whole question by saying the writer and others are preaching a false "error." Better do a little investigating of Scripture truths, and exercise reason and common sense.

DELEGATES TO CITY COUNCIL ASKED GRANTS

Open Season For Requests For Help Comes Again—Estimates Next Month.

ROUTINE BUSINESS.

M. H. Gainey Appointed to Represent City on Suburban Roads Commission.

Peterboro City Council went into an overtime period last night to clean up its business, the session lasting from 7.30 to nearly midnight. Routine work claimed all its attention until nine o'clock, several delegations appearing to present their claims for pecuniary remembrance when the estimates are being drawn, and a big file of correspondence being disposed of.

Gordon Matthews asked for the privilege of using James Stevenson Park for baseball games this year, offering to pay the Council ten per cent. of the gate receipts. The club he represents would not even stick at paying ten per cent. of the grandstand receipts, also, he said, and certainly would not object to the Council's applying this on the liquidation of last year's indebtedness of $750 although the club that incurred that debt had no connection whatever with the organization he represented. His association would make no promises as to paying the deficit from last year.

H. G. McFadden pointed out that in addition to the ten per cent. from the Central Ontario League, the City Council would receive a considerable revenue from other teams. In 1924 the C.G.E. team paid $134 for the privilege of using the park for its play-off games, and the Juniors could be counted for about half as much.

The matter was taken under consideration.

Armour Hill Park

E. A. Peck asked a grant to the Ashburnham Women's Patriotic League towards paying the taxes on Armour Hill which the League is converting into a park. He detailed the work already done to beautify the park, which is used in the summer for baseball and in the winter for sliding and skiing.

Mrs. Harstone and Dr. Jessie Birnie were a delegation to ask support for the Well Babies' Clinic.

Fred Holmes, supported by Messrs. Nesbitt, Moncrief, S. Oke and Fisher asked a grant towards the work of the Poultry Association

All of these requests were referred to the Finance Committee.

Administration Cost

On discussion of a clause in a committee report recommending the increase of a stenographer's salary, Alderman J. M. Green led an onslaught on the expense of running the city offices. The per capita cost of city office administration in Peterborough is 1.70, whereas cities with the same population and higher have a per capita cost of only $1.25 for this purpose. There should be some system of co-operation, he thought, whereby help could be exchanged between the offices, releasing some clerks.

The clause increasing the salary from $40 to $50 was struck out, although passed by the Finance committee last Thursday night and strongly supported last night by Alderman Phelan. Mayor Turner urged referring the matter back to the committee and then decided it himself by breaking a tie vote.

Alderman Phelan, true to form, demanded that the members of the Council declare themselves on the question. He hoped, he said, that the council would not start saving by clipping the small salaries.

The division was:

To strike out— Meyers, Stocker, McIntyre, Crowe, Greene, Mayor Turner.

To grant the increase—Phelan, Jones, Turner, Fife, Denne.

Appointments.

E. A. Peck was re-appointed a commissioner of Peterboro City Trust.

M. H. Gainey was appointed the city's representative on the Suburban Areas Commission.

Ask For Report.

Alderman Stocker introduced a motion asking that the member of the Suburban Areas Commission representing the city be requested to furnish the Council a report each month, and that he endeavor to have a city representative appointed as the third man on the Commission.

Alderman Crowe moved the appointment of a committee to confer with the City Clerk and other heads of departments as to a more economical administration of city offices. The committee consists of Mayor Turner, Aldermen Greene, Crowe, McIntyre, Turner and Phelan.

The plans of the proposed sewage disposal plant are now in Toronto, awaiting the approval of the Provincial Board of Health. The City Engineer has authority to ask for construction tenders when the plans are approved.

With a view to having the work done at an early date Council asked the engineer's department for a report on a sewer on Bethune street between Dalhousie and Wolfe Sts.

In a further effort to provide employment, Ald. Crowe suggested that men be placed at work at street intersections on the lines of the radial railway, to reduce the mounds of accumulated snow and ice, thereby lessening the danger to vehicular traffic. He received little encouragement, the majority taking the view that work of this kind came under the Board of Work, and was receiving due notice.

Congratulate W. J. Green

A congratulatory resolution was passed in honor of W. J. Green, Collector of Taxes, who has just observed his 25th anniversary of his appointment as Tax Collector.

Ald. J. M. Greene was added to the membership of the Finance Committee.

When an applicant for a license for billiard tables asked permission to pay the license fee in instalments, Council declined to consent.

The toboggan slide at Hunter street Bridge cost $300 according to accounts presented last night.

Closing Quotations on Principal Active Stocks.

GRAIN JOLTS HOLDERS

WINNIPEG, Feb. 3 (Canadian Press).—Speculators on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange received another rude jolt this morning, when the bottom literally fell out of the wheat market at the opening of the session. The decline today like that of the previous week, was of a panicky character, May sliding back to the $2 level after opening quotations, for a loss ranging from 3¾ to 8¾ cents. The drop represents a recession of 20 cents since the peak was reached about ten days ago. July futures suffered a similiar fate with a setback of 8¾ cents at the extreme dip, which shoved the price below the $2 mark. October was 5½ cents lower at $1.56.

Coarse grains also were swamped in the flood of selling pressure; barley dropping 6½ cents; flax 4½ to 5¾ cents; rye, from 7 cents to 8½ cents below yesterday's closing figures.

STERLING'S RECOVERY.

OTTAWA, Feb. 3. — (Canadian Press). — The recovery of sterling exchange will re-open the London market to Canadian financing, and it is probable that the Dominion will try to obtain more of its money in the British capital from this time on, it is stated here. Prior to the war, Canada did practically all her outside financing on the London market. With the depreciation of sterling, however, it became necessary to seek money on this side of the water, and consequently the Dominion went to New York. Canada is now making arrangements on the London market to replace a loan of five million pounds maturing at the middle of this month with six months' sterling treasury bills.

Queen Alexandra School

Home and School Association Arranges Entertainment—Regular Meeting.

The Queen Alexandra Home and School Association held their regular monthly meeting Monday evening, the president, Mrs. H. G. Walker, presiding.

The telephone committee is showing its efficiency, as there were nearly fifty present.

Arrangements were completed for the teachers' entertainment, which is to be held Friday evening, Feb. 27th. There will be an oratorical contest by the pupils of the fourth forms.

The Association are assisting by a liberal donation to buy the lumber for a school rink.

Two vocal solos by Mr. Kenneth Jarvis, were greatly enjoyed. Miss Green was accompanist.

The English teacher, Miss Williams, substituting at King George, gave a most interesting and enlightening talk on schools and school management in England. Sewing and the home making arts are more stressed there than in Ontario schools. She congratulated the people of Peterboro on the splendid school buildings they enjoyed.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speaker.

The meeting closed by the singing of :God Save the King.'

The banner was won by junor and senior third, Miss Walker's and Miss Yelland's rooms, there being eight parents of each room present.

PARIS SHOWS SKIRTS SHORTER BUT FLUFFY

Spring Fashions of the Designers Reveal Continuance of Slim Body Line.

PARIS, Feb. 3.— Skirts shorter than ever, with trimmed fronts and fluffy effects, the back as straight line as last year and waists either very low or rather high are the main features of the spring fashions which were shown at openings last week by such of the great Paris houses as Paquin, Poiret and Georgette.

This week is the greatest week of the year for fashion displays, and from these general lines there may be some departures. But all are agreed that last year's slim body line will be kept. To it there has been added new gracefulness in the enlargement of the skirt in the way the apron enlarges it. These aprons can be a series of frills, a little, short, pleated affair beginning at about the knee or flowing panels like handkerchiefs hung by a corner, attached below the waist.

Behind the scenes in the workrooms of the great designers an interesting battle is in progress. All, after and during their labors, are trying to decide whether they should frame their fashions to the figure of the American or French woman. It would seem as if the former had won, for all the frocks shown are best suited to the longer limbed, slim, Anglo-Saxon. Jean Patou is one of those who believe in the ultimate victory of the figure of "Diana over Venus," as he phrases it.

Even in France, he says, the increased outdoor life of women and the development of their limbs by tennis, golf and swimming is causing the round, relatively short figures of the last generation to disappear. When he brought over his group of American mannequins his idea was not only that they should serve as models for his American customers. They are serving also as examples for French women. From America he brought back with him the greatest admiration for the skill and quickness wtih which American houses seize on the latest Paris fashions and reproduce them.

SPEEDY TICKERS NEW YORK DEMAND

Wall Street Insists on Increased Output by Stock Machines.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Plans of the New York Stock Exchange, announced for February 7, to abbreviate symbols on 100 important stocks are expected to speed up the stock ticker almost 20 per cent.

The ticker would then print an average of 55 transactions every sixty seconds upon the tape reeling from the familiar clicking glass hive into the basket, a quickening in pace almost 50 per cent. above that of two years ago. The change has been made necessary by the recent record-breaking bull market of 2,000,000-share days, during which the ticker at times has fallen as much as 15 to 42 minutes behind the actual trading.

Concurrently the Western Union Telegraph Company, the Stock Exchange agent for major distribution of stock quotations, is at work upon additional wire extension of the territory it serves direct. The Stock Exchange itself operates the tickers used by members in the financial district, south of Chambers Street. The Western Union supplies all non-members in this area, all members and non-members north of this line throughout the city, and the remaining tickers in the country at large.

The Western Union at present flashes stock quotations by automatic transmission as far west as Cleveland, supplying Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Albany, Syracuse and Rochester on the way. The company now aims within the next six months to push the western objective as far as Chicago, which is now fed by Morse relay, and also to embrace in this direct service Minneapolis, Omaha, Kansas City and St. Louis.

The new symbols will cause little inconvenience to the trading public. Seldom does a broker's customer, it is said, have more than 15 separate stock issues in his strongbox, and he can readily memorize their changed designations anew. The hardest hit will be the brokers themselves and the reporters on the floor of the Stock Exchange who pluck sales on the wing from the brokers milling around the score of trading posts, and to them it is all in the game.

What does your Bible mean to YOU?

IF YOU LOVE YOUR BIBLE, as Christians who draw daily messages of strength and inspiration from it do, and are called upon during the next few days by representatives of the Canadian Bible Society, it is hoped you will contribute to its funds as liberally as your means permit.

It is doing a great work. All over the world its colporteurs are distributing copies of the Scriptures. In this work they are co-operating with the missionaries of all Protestant denominations. The Society each year translates the Scriptures into many new languages.

Your co-operation in this great work will be appreciated.
